509 7th St., N. W., H. F. COLMAN, WASHINGTON, D. C.

cent die D, and 2c and 3c dies E and F (Bartels' 2841 excepted) are found in low back only.

In the 1c die D and 2c and 3c dies E and F low back envelopes, the ends of the side flaps, where they overlap in the middle of the envelope, are square, but in die A low back envelopes of all denominations the side flaps are rounded, except in the current size seven 2c envelope, in which a knife similar to that used in the obsolete 1c die B, and 2c dies B, C, and D is used. Bartels' 1924 catalog should be consulted concerning these various styles of envelope.

1c Green, Franklin Head. Four Dies:

A. Current. All watermarks.
B. Obsolete. 1915 wmks.
C. Current. All wmks.
D. Obsolete. 1915, 1919, 1921 wmks.

1. Difference between dies A and D.

a. At the back of Franklin's bust, more of his shoulder shows in die A than in die D. (See illustration.)

b. In die A, the O of POSTAGE is in line with P, but in die D it leans away from the top of the P. (See illustration.)

2. Difference between die B and all other dies.

In die B, the T of POSTAGE leans to the right, seeming to crowd the A over to the right also. In other dies, these letters are normal. (See illustration.)

NOTE.—In low back envelopes, side flaps are narrower in die B than in other dies.

3. Difference between die C and all others.

In die C, the E of POSTAGE is proportionately taller and narrower than this letter in all other dies. (See illustration.)

1½c Brown, Washington Head. Two Dies:

A and H2. Same as 2c dies.

2c Red, Washington Head. Nine Dies:

A. Current. All wmks.
B, C, D, G. Obsolete. 1915 wmks.
E and F. Obsolete. 1915, 1919, 1921, a few 1925 wmks.
H. Obsolescent. 1915, 1919, 1921, 1925 wmks. One variety of 1929 wmk. noted thus far.
H2. Current. 1921, 1925, 1929 wmks.

Dies A, B, C, D, H, H2 all have large heads.

Dies E, F, G have small heads.

1. For dies B, C, D, and G, see Bartels' 1924 or 1929 catalog.

2. Difference between die A and dies H and H2.

In die A there is more of a depression or dent in the back of the head, at the top, than in H and H2. (See illustration.)

3. Difference between die H and die H2.

The top bars of all the T's in die H2 have been lengthened. (See illustration.)

4. Difference between die E and die F.

In die E the N of CENTS is broader than in die F. (See illustration.)

3c Purple, Washington Head. Four Dies:

A, E, F, H. Same as 2c dies.

4c Black, Franklin Head. Only one die.

5c Blue, Washington Head. Only one die.

OFF-SIDE—

MR. L. D. PEASLEE, Cincinnati, Ohio, has sent in a copy of the Cincinnati Post of May 3rd, which incorporates a philatelic feature. As a border along the sides of one of the departments of the newspaper are two rows of ten inches, each of half-tones of the current adhesives and envelopes, the stamps overlapping each other.

MR. F. M. GILBERT, librarian of the Philatelic Club, Los Angeles, with the great accomplishment of the Collectors Club, New York, in creating its wonderful library, in mind is intent upon making his library the best in the west.

MR. JOHN JAY ABOTT, Vice-President of the Continental Illinois Bank & Trust Co., Chicago, has shown envelopes from Italy bearing the ornamental franked frames with the denominations in the center; and also a cover from China with the private label of the Peninsula Hotel, Hong Kong, which while only an engraved sticker has a stamp suggestion.

MR. LEONARD MICHAEL, New York, has arrived home from Europe, and has left for Cuba, and his return will be by way of New Orleans. Mr. Michael was once one of the stars of the Chicago philatelic firmament before he was drafted by New York.

MISS HELEN HIPPCHEN, Chicago, daughter of A. Hippchen, won the first prize for the best essay written on the Constitution of the U. S., in the competition sponsored by the American Legion for pupils in the eighth grade of the public schools.

WE have received a fac-simile stamp postal card from Mr. Lawrence Souder, Norristown, Pa., with congratulations on reaching our 200th number.

THE roster of the Long Beach Stamp Collectors Club, Long Beach, California, is a register of some of the first philatelists of that section. Thirty-eight men and women are rated philatelically in the membership list. The club was organized late in 1926 and became affiliated with the American Philatelic Society in 1928.

THE Chicago Aero Philatelic Society will hold a large auction of air mail at its meeting on June 4th, under the direction of Mr. H. Wasmer.

THE Morton High School of Cicero, Ill., recently held an exhibition of hobbies. According to R. E. Dunlop, stamp collecting was well represented by several of the best collections in Cicero.

LINDBERGH

carried the mail from Mexico City to Brownsville on March 9th and from Brownsville to Mexico City on March 10th. We had covers on both trips and supplied them to subscribers to our first flight cover service at only 65c for the two covers.

When the San Juan to Miami air mail route started on January 9th, we mailed first flight covers direct to our patrons from Santo Domingo and charged them only 35c per cover for them. In the March "Monthly Journal" these covers were listed at $4.00 each, more than ten times what they cost our FDC patrons.

There may be other bargains like these coming along, so you'd better hurry that request for the dope about our first day cover service.

We Want To Buy

Collections, accumulations, odd sheets of 20th Century stamps of the United States, particularly the pictorial commemorative issues. We will take either used or unused in practically any quantity and pay cash at the top of the current market.

Fancy Prices For Some of These

On our lists are many of the leading specialists in such popular side-lines as Civil or Spanish-American War Patriotic Covers; Western Express Franks; First Day or Special Flight air-mail covers; old covers bearing combination rates to foreign countries. Send us what you have to dispose of at your own price. If we can use it you'll be surprised at the promptness of our cash return.

A New Price-list for 1929 on the press. Gives prices in both very good and very fine condition for 19th Century stamps; for used and unused in 20th Century. Yours for a two cent stamp.

Great Commoner Among Stamps

AN ADVENTURE IN SPECIALIZING WITH THE UNITED STATES 3 CENT ROSE, 1861 ISSUE

A SERIES OF THREE ARTICLES

By Ralph H. Houseman, Syracuse, N. Y.

SECTION I—SPECIALISM AS IT RELATES TO THIS STAMP
SECTION II—CHARACTERISTIC CANCELLATIONS OF THE 3 CENT ROSE, 1861
SECTION III—DATE CANCELLATIONS OF THE 3 CENT ROSE, 1861

SECTION II.

This stamp offers a fascinating study because of the prolific variety of cancellations upon it. Its range of characteristic cancellations is excelled by no other United States stamp; only the 3c green, 1870-1882 approaches it.

Any attempt to classify the various types is quite baffling. One cancellation type shades into another so imperceptibly, and with such profusion of slight modifications, that to be definite and absolute in terminology is embarrassingly difficult. One type often partakes of the characteristics of two or more types.

Arbitrary classification of the cancellations, then, must call forth immediately strong objectors who will contend for yet another arrangement. Knowing this possible variant opinion it is with hesitation one gives a listing of types, but since no story of this popular stamp would be complete without such a listing, the task is undertaken with modesty. The list is open to both revision and appeal. Here is a suggested grouping, after a study of thousands of specimens:

Class 1—Plain smudge or blotch: representing no particular design (1).

Class 2—Fancy smudge: an attempt at a design, circular, square or oblong (23).

Class 3—Unequal segments: square or round obliterator; two, three or more unequal segments (3).

Class 4—Uniform segments: uniform-sized segments; square, round; two, three or more (4).

Class 5—Encircled segments: regular or irregular segments within circle or rectangle; two segments, three or more (16).

Class 6—Wedge segments: triangular or wedged shaped; points turning inward; regular or irregular; 4, 6, 8 or 10 segments (7).

Class 7—Fancy segments: each segment with hollow center; numerous small segments, with ring at a hub-centered effect (34).

Class 8—Irregular, unequal bar gridiron: parallels of unequal size, length and spacing; the design either round, square or octagonal, but without border (2).

Class 9—Uniform gridiron: parallel bars or lines of uniform breadth; even spacing between; bars may be of unequal length; design round, square, octagonal; without border (6).

Class 10—Framed gridiron: similar to last two, but with border or frame (10).

Class 11—Wavy parallels gridiron: lines wavy (42).

Class 12—Dotted gridiron: parallel lines composed of dashes or dots (24).

Class 13—Group parallels: parallels of uneven length, in groups; groups often at right angle to each other (52).

Class 55—Miscellaneous obliterations: of uncertain classifications.

The relative scarcity of the above types is indicated by the use of a numeral in braces following each class, beginning with (1) as the most common, the ascending numerals indicating increasing scarcity. This judgment does not profess to be the final word.

The proportion of blue cancellations and their value as compared with the prevailing black are matters for comment, in view of the pricing of these by Scott at 5c and 3c, respectively.

Such pricing would indicate that the blue was about twice or perhaps three times as scarce as the black. My observation does not bear out this conclusion. Rather, their proportionate scarcity might be rated as one to six, or even one to eight, though the value of the blue cancellation is not to be gauged in those proportions. This conclusion is reached after handling thousands of this stamp, from scores of sources, one dealer alone passing some 4,500 copies through the writer's hands.

The range of fancy cancellations in blue ink is less than this proportion would imply. Fancy cancellations in blue are now much, very much, more difficult to obtain than in black.

Ultramarine ink was not used frequently in the postmarks of Civil War days. Often one is perplexed in trying to distinguish the ultramarine from the many shades of blue approximating it. Red ink for obliterations was often used. Clear, clean cancellations in red are exceedingly attractive, and he who possesses an album page of such is indeed fortunate. Greens—mucky, faded, medium and bright—are next in scarcity among colored inks. The bright, easily distinguished, brown is seldom found, and its worth is more than the Specialized U. S. catalogue would quote. Faded, dingy browns are not so rare. Violet is distinctive in appearance, and is seldom seen. Purples are more common. Indisputable olive-green ink is very rare: while orange, when in reality it is the unmistakable orange, is absent from most collections.

It may be observed that there is possible a more highly specialized grouping of certain classes of cancellations than is provided for in the fifty-five classes indicated above. A subdivision of types may be pursued ad infinitum. For instance, the manuscript or pen type may be listed as one pen stroke, two, three, four, five, and six or more. Each of these, after the one stroke, may be farther classified as parallel and mixed strokes. Then finally there is the miscellaneous pen obliterations, as town, person's name, date, etc.

The numerous targets lend themselves to a diversified classification and make a beautiful display when carefully arranged by types. Beginning with the three concentric circles, one may segregate his specimens by number of rings, up to ten or twelve. Then, again, one may group according to regular and even-widthed rings; then again by the uneven and irregular thickness of the rings. Try assembling a page of targets where from ninety-five to one hundred per cent of each cancellation is distinct and well-centered upon the stamp, and the result will be highly satisfying to the eye.

(In the third and concluding article there will be discussed, "Date Cancellations of the 3 Cent Rose, 1861.")

THE PRECANCEL CATALOG

We have been favored by Hoover Brothers with a review copy of the Precancel Catalog published by the Rotnem Stamp Co., and now the property of Hoover Brothers. Instead of offering a set review of this catalog, we think it advisable to quote from the letter of W. B. Hoover in view of the fact that we can endorse all that he has claimed for this publication:—

"As a matter of information the catalog lists and prices upwards of 150,000 varieties of precancels that were known to exist at the date copy went to press, and in reality is a monument to the publisher who was responsible for other editions each year from 1924 or thereabouts, when it consisted of a bare 350 pages. The masterpiece in management is in securing the collaboration of the various men throughout the country who assisted in supplying the lists of known varieties from their respective states. These men are known as state editors and have in the majority of cases been specialists in their state and are the "last word" insofar as authority is concerned.

The method of describing and simplifying the identification of types on precancels is one of the copyrighted features originally worked out by B. G. Bushnell, and elaborated on by Mr. Rotnem.

Mr. Rotnem, during his five years as publisher, did much for the benefit of precancels and, as we understand it, with scant recompense. Whatever credit goes to him as the Scott of precancels is deserved, for in his heart we know he was sincere in his ambition to see precancels advance."

POPULAR IN DETROIT

As showing how alert Detroit is to philatelic procedure, a circumstance induced greatly, no doubt, by the activity of philatelic societies there, the following paragraph is taken from the Detroit News of May 4th:

"The most popular commemorative postage stamp sold in years at the Detroit Post Office is the George Rogers Clark stamp, of the two-cent denomination. Fifty thousand were disposed of a month ago, and so great is the demand that Peter Wiggle, assistant postmaster, was forced to order 20,000 more from Washington. William Corbett, post office cashier, said only 3,000 of the stamps remain. Eddie Wick, chief of stamp sales clerks, said stamp collectors and some merchants buy these stamps in quantities and that school children are liberal buyers."

EDITORIAL

THE United States Daily of May 6, 1929, contains a most interesting expression from the postmaster general, Walter F. Brown, who has literally broadcast the news that a new issue of United States stamps is impending, since he has invited suggestions for designs of a new set of stamps. Mr. Brown disclosed the intention of the department in a radio address over National Broadcasting system, and in view of the importance of the proposal, we quote his words: "The suggestion has been made that we issue a new series of stamps, possessing genuine, artistic merit and based upon some well-considered scheme, instead of the present conglomerate group of portraits of presidents, and other statesmen, monuments, animals, and scenic wonders. One scheme suggested would depict our natural history in a series of pictures of notable events. Another scheme would depict our agricultural development by a series emphasizing agriculture, lumbering, mining, manufacturing, fisheries and shipping, etc. Perhaps not to find the portraits of our glorious statesmen of the past on our stamps might be shocking to our people. Perhaps for a few years they would like a change that would combine novelty with artistic merit. We are inviting expressions concerning this suggestion from patrons of the Post Office Department."

HERE we have an implied promise that will be met with a buzz of excitement in the philatelic camp and that the news was not forecast in any way adds to its piquancy. Too, it is noticed that the new postmaster general asks counsel from all the patrons of the department, and this fact indicates that he wants the coöperation of the people in his procedure. This is commendable and we are certain that the public will respond in a way to convince the honorable gentleman that the postage stamp is a thing near and dear to many of the populace. Collectors now have the chance of their lives, and instead of tendering their ideas with a feeling of diffidence, they find the portals are thrown wide to admit their suggestions. We have reason to know that philatelists are prolific in their advice on the subject of stamps, and we are glad that the new postmaster general will be impressed by the number of opinions and range of views that will come from philatelists. It is natural that students of stamps have a more intimate regard for them than outsiders, and it would be pleasing to find that among the subjects chosen for stamp portraiture are some that originated in the teeming minds of our subscribers.

HERE is a story in two episodes. First of all, Mr. B. L. Voorhees sold a collection at auction, and the owner of the stamps wrote: "Received your check today for which I thank you. Permit me to say that I know of no way in which the sale of my stamps could have been improved upon. The amount received was more than satisfactory. I am returning the lots refused, and wish to accept your offer made by you. I have received a letter of inquiry from a Mr. ——— and have replied to him as favorably as I know how." The contented collector's friend proved to be a Tartar and the Tobasco Twins are as mild as a May morn in comparison with him. Here is the typographical display: "I am surprised at your treatment of my stamps. You evidently did not try to sell them; you only listed a few of them and lumped the rest as an inferior collection. When you wrote me that you thought you could get me . . . for them, I wrote you to do the best you could with them. If you did your best, I pity the one you do your worst for. Henry Ford says he never made a mistake, he only gets experience. Well, I have had mine and if I ever trust any stamp auctioneer again, it will be after I have found out whether they are honest people. I was a fool to expect honest treatment from Chicago, the city of murders, robbers, hi-jackers and political corruption. The whole transaction looks as though some one got some valuable stamps for a song. I honestly think that the U. S. Postal authorities ought to be informed of your business of using the mails as you do." Mr. Voorhees, like the victims in the comic strip who have been crowned by a brick, can only say, "Zowie!"

THE Chicago Tribune recently published the following letter in the Voice of the People department: "Oriental Lore. Chicago.—Am I being kidded? I was just asked by a friend to save cancelled stamps to be used for buying Chinese baby girls. I was informed that the Chinese threw their new born baby girls in the river, because they had no use for them; they preferred boys, so they could train them for their army. Several other people I know are saving stamps for the same purpose. If you could enlighten me on this in the way of a few lines in the envelope enclosed, I will appreciate it very much. I would like to have some written information to prove my statement, if this is correct. Virginia Green." We sent the following letter to the newspaper: "So long ago as in the '60's, the journals that were devoted to philately or stamp collecting published warnings against the practice of overly enterprising persons who promoted various schemes to enlist the public to gather stamps, ostensibly for philanthropic purposes. In reality, advantage was being taken of persons, charitably inclined, who were encouraged to collect cancelled postage stamps with the worthy object of saving babies from being thrown to the Ganges in India; or of selling them to the Chinese, who were alleged to have a mania for papering their walls with them or to civilize an African bushman. There were many variants of these proposals, including the million stamp mania which have had currency since 1860 when stamp collecting gained a commercial standing. The modus operandi of any of the plans was left to the imagination which easily was transported to remote countries and curious customs. Distressingly enough, the suspicion was aroused that the stamps that were obtained reached the channels of trade for the benefit of those who remained in the background, but sponsored the drive. In later years, what are commonly known as 'missionary stamps' are gathered at the suggestion of different ecclesiastical bodies, and those who send stamps for disposal may feel that these stamps are marketed in an intelligent manner and the proceeds applied to a deserving end. These stamps usually are sold to dealers by the pound. It is possible that Virginia Green has been asked to save stamps to save babies through the intercessions of missionaries who may derive a fraction of their funds through the sale of stamps."

IN the latter part of April or April 27th, to be exact, the third assistant postmaster general said that postmasters at offices that had been supplied with overprinted Kansas and Nebraska stamps are prohibited from having them re-cancelled locally as "sufficient stocks of regular issue stamps in the required denominations should be provided to meet the precancelling requirements at such post offices." In speaking of the Scott issues, the remarks of a Washington correspondent are given place here: "The correspondence received from collectors on the subject of the State overprinted stamps is of a variety and vivacity to use a mild term, to make the officers wonder if erroneous information about

Official Flights

This has been one busy week for this department, all right. These May 1st flights and extensions and night flights have been coming in the last several days, and, as was to be expected, there were some surprises for the foresighted who covered everything in sight. These notes will necessarily be somewhat incomplete as yet, for the only covers received so far are those addressed this way. Those outgoing have yet to be returned to me, for the most part.

Springfield, Ohio, received its first service on Route 16 May 1st. Cachet in black, same as used for CAM 16 opening. Southbound covers cancelled around 4.30 A. M.; northbound 8.30 P. M. The two northbound planes landed at Wooster airport in a storm on their way to Cleveland, and mail went from here by train. Express service also started from Springfield on the same trip. Covers received bear the usual first flight markings, and are signed by the General Agent.

The other first flight was the new CAM 28,-St. Louis-Kansas City-Omaha. Here too, colored cachets were conspicuous by their absence, and the Department is evidently enforcing the black only rule from now on. The cachet is pictorial—somewhat of the recent Canadian type—and very attractive, showing a plane flying over a farm scene.

The only cachet on CAM 26's change of schedule May 1st was the usual Ogden "Busy Hub" cachet in magenta—also used to backstamp covers received.On CAM 4 Los Angeles sprung a surprise with a round cachet, supplied by the contractors, and applied at the P. O. reading, "First Flight—Night Schedule, Los Angeles, California 7.00 P. M., May 1, 1929." I understand that this was decided on only at the last minute.

CAM 20 contractors applied a cachet for the afternoon and night flights May 1st. Design is the same for all cities—a circular cachet showing a beacon at work. Cleveland and Buffalo read, "First Night Flight" only, while the other cities have it "First Afternoon-Night Flight." Cleveland and Buffalo are black, Rochester purple, and the rest blue, on my covers at least. By the way, Albany shows an Air Mail Field cancellation that I hadn't noticed before.

The Transcontinental - Chicago - San Francisco, has its points of interest all right. Omaha, Des Moines, Elko, Cedar Rapids, Lincoln and Cheyenne came through with nothing more exciting than air mail field at Cheyenne. North Platte gives us that, plus "North Platte, Nebraska, Buffalo Bill's Home Town", whatever that may have to do with two trips of air mail per day. Reno comes in with a pink and robin's egg blue oval, "First Flight Night Air Service, etc.", that looks like the contractors' handiwork. A really original cachet showing a map, dark and light for night and day flying, was applied by the contractors to such mail as was sent to them at San Francisco. I have blue and purple. Oakland really blew itself. Some covers have the above cachet front or back in green or red; some have a cachet by the C. of C. showing an air view of the Oakland Airport, in purple, blue or black on the back or front; many have both, and we have cancellations from the Air Mail Field, Airport Sta., and the regular Oakland one.

******

Covers mailed from India on the first Karachi-London flight April 7 reached here the 25th, whereas one mailed the same date, but missing service for some reason arrived in the regular mail May 3rd.Many collectors sent covers for the first Japan-Korea flight April 1st, following a note in the A. A. M. S. Bulletin. These covers have just come back, attractively cacheted. About 1,200 each way.

******

Newspaper dispatches recently told of the arrival of the first Pan-American plane at Mollendo, Peru, with mail from the north. I wrote the Miami Postmaster, asking if any mail had been dispatched from the U. S. for points south of Canal Zone, and he says there has been none thus far. Evidently the P. A. A. has started local service south of the Zone of some sort or other, for the press story was quite detailed. I wonder what was done with point to point covers in the hands of agents and postmasters in Colombia, Ecuador, and Chile? I'd welcome any information on this. Postmaster Pittman states that he does not know, either officially, or unofficially when the service from the U. S. will begin, the points to be served, the frequency, nor the rates of postage required; so that's that. You know as much about it as I do.

******

Mr. J. P. Penning reports that on April 21st he sent out 425 sets of the autographed covers for the CAM 11 anniversary, and then had orders for 100 more. To those who got in too late he sent two from the air show May 2 and 3, and two on the first night flight on Route 11, all autographed by the pilots. There were about 1,100 unsigned anniversary sets mailed, also.The mail from the Pittsburgh Balloon Races was to be carried in one of the balloons, and mailed at the point of landing.The first official nonstop pick-up of mail will take place some place on CAM 11 in June or July. Ordinary air mail as usual, pilot signed covers 10c additional. This looks like a good one. Covers to J. P. Penning, 124 E. Eugene, Homestead, Pa. Do NOT send stamps for the 10c signature charge, but coin or money order. My thanks to Mr. Penning for an anniversary cover signed by all four pilots.

******

Toledo will celebrate the first anniversary of transcontinental air mail June 3rd, and the postmaster has announced that a special cachet will be applied to air mail on that date. Send them along. W. H. Wolfgang, 2274 Whitney Ave., says all covers sent to him will be cheerfully taken care of.

******

At the last minute the Boeing Co., contractors on route 18, sent to Perham C.

Careful About Condition

Considerable care should be exercised in the choice of specimens even if one's collection consists of only quite common stamps. The beginner in his haste to obtain so many hundreds or thousands is apt to include the first specimen that comes to hand so long as it is a new variety. And what woeful apologies for stamps some of these "undesirables" are! dirty, torn, dog-eared and weather-beaten they are fit only for the furnace. Badly torn or damaged specimens should be discarded at once as they will always prove an eyesore to the careful collector and even as "space-fillers" are undesirable. Dirty or heavily cancelled stamps should also be refused as even when they have no actual damage their presence detracts from the appearance of a whole page of other immaculate specimens. Unused stamps without gum, if clean, and thinned stamps, if the thinning is not apparent on the face, might be included if rare or until better specimens can be obtained. But as far as possible only clean, perfect stamps should be included.

A. R.

Certain countries have issued "Acknowledgment of Receipt" stamps which name is abbreviated to "A. R." The best known examples are those issued by Panama and Colombia. These stamps are attached to registered letters and the fee for them pays for the return of a receipt to the sender of the letter. In the United States, a notation is written or rubber stamped on the letter, and ordinary stamps are used for the return receipt fee.—A. C. LeDuc.

Question Box

By R. C. Young.

Will you kindly give a beginner some much needed information through the columns of your department in Mekeel's?

(1.) Stamps at the edge of a sheet have one, and sometimes two straight edges. Are such stamps considered undesirable by senior collectors?

Ans. Yes, but they rightfully have their place as U. S. varieties.

(2.) Large corporations sometimes perforate their initials in all stamps they use to prevent their resale by thieves. Are such stamps considered as damaged by collectors or are they of equal value as those that are not so marked?

Ans. These perforated initials depreciate greatly the value of the stamp.

(3.) Certain U. S. stamps are printed with ink that runs into the white paper when soaked to remove from envelopes. Are such stamps considered of less value?

Ans. Yes in proportion as they lose their color.

Ans. Use just enough of a hinge to steady your pair.

(5.) How should precancels and coil stamps be arranged in an album? Should they be mixed in with the "regular" stamps according to issue and denomination, or should they be kept in a separate part of the album? If the latter, should they be arranged according to issue, denomination or (in the case of precancels) according to locality where issued?

Ans. Suit your own fancy about this.

I trust that these questions will be considered of such general interest to Juniors as to receive answers on the Juniors' page.

Misinformed

A short time ago, I received a circular letter from the advertising manager of a weekly magazine, soliciting advertising for a special number in July. He mentioned the 154th year of American Independence and (get this) "154 years of Uncle Sam's stamp issue"! It doesn't seem possible that anyone can be so misinformed, certainly no one in a responsible position with a well-known magazine. I thought it would be time well spent, so I told him a few things about stamp issues, including the fact that these United States did not issue stamps until August 5, 1847, and that Great Britain had led the way and Brazil had followed suit only a short time before this.—A. C. LeDuc.

United States

"State" Stamps

It has just been learned that the requisitions from the Post Office Department to the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, authorizing shipments of the State stamps to the several post offices in Kansas and Nebraska, were dated April 11th. As the stamps had been previously prepared by the Bureau, this means that shipments, no doubt, started on April 12th and 13th. As a result, covers dated around the 14th or 15th, are likely to be first-day items.

Mr. William A. Temple reports quite a few denominations of both types being used on April 22nd and 24th. So far, the earliest dated cover that has been brought to our attention is April 15th.

Judging from the stock at the Philatelic Agency, only two plates were used in the case of each denomination, although it is quite possible in the stocks sent to the States that other plates of the 1c, 1½c and 2c may be found. The same plates were used for overprinting in the case of both states on all denominations from 1c to 10c inclusive, with the exception of the 1½c and 2c. Each state had different plates in the case of these two denominations. The plates noted are as follows:

KANSAS

The plate numbers are identical with those given above for Nebraska in the case of the 1c, 3c, 4c, 5c, 6c, 7c, 8c, 9c and 10c. The plates for the other two denominations were:

Denomination.	Plate Nos.
2c	19379-436

The first day over the counter sales at the Philatelic Agency, amounted to $6,000.00, and a notice was posted calling the attention of collectors to the fact that plate numbers were only furnished in half sheets of fifty. The same ruling applies in the case of those ordering through the mails. The demand for plate numbers has been such that the Department feels it necessary to take such a step to prevent the extra wastage in picking out from numerous sheets simply a plate number block.

The Postal Bulletin for April 30th, reproduces a communication of the Third Assistant Postmaster General, dated April 27th, instructing postmasters at post offices in Kansas and Nebraska not to precancel the State stamps.

In reply to numerous inquiries, we would state that these new varieties are good for postage throughout the United States and other points where our regular stamps may be used.

New Issue Coming

In our Chronicle of April 8th, we called the attention of the new Postmaster General to the fact that the time is now opportune for a new series of postage stamps, and suggested that instead of having numerous portraits as at present, that we follow the procedure of many other countries and depict natural scenes as well as scenes representative of industry. In view of our suggestion, the recent notice to the public in general by the Postmaster General is of interest. He now asks for suggestions from the public as to new designs and wants to know what scenes should be depicted on such a new series. Under the circumstances, the public is invited for the first time to make suggestions, although the stamp collecting fraternity has taken it upon themselves many times to advise the Postmaster General, and in a good number of cases, the suggestions have been favorably acted upon.

Should you address the Postmaster General on the subject, we would like to have copies of your letter, if not too much trouble, in order to see what the public desires.

Suggested New Issues

As previously mentioned, the Department has decided to issue a stamp commemorative of the Ohio River engineering projects, and the variety will appear early in October.

Congressman Eaton has introduced a bill in Congress, authorizing the Postmaster General to issue a new 2c postage stamp bearing a picture of the Mount of the Holy Cross in Colorado. Mr. J. G. B. Grimes submits a clipping wherein it is stated that such a stamp is in no way tainted with commercialism, as Mount of the Holy Cross is one of the most inspiring scenic attractions in the world.

A further bill has been introduced au-

THE CHRYSALIS EMERGES

For many years—aye, 42 of them, Mr. Krassa backed and still backs his belief in stamps as an investment by putting every Dollar he had to spare in the "Sound Old Issues."

In time the safes began to get overcrowded and it used to be a well known Nassau Street saying, "Krassa has it but can he find it?" This has all been changed now. The stock has been sorted and filed in stock books. Hundreds of rare and desirable classics can now be inspected by local buyers. Either Mr. Homan or Mr. Krassa will be found ever ready to display stamps to collectors.

All collectors cordially invited to visit us.

thorizing the Postmaster General to issue a stamp commemorative of the hundredth anniversary of the death of the great Polish soldier, General Pulaski, who lost his life in our revolution.

The Post Office Department is receiving numerous letters recommending new varieties, and with the new invitations of the Postmaster General, everyone will be given an opportunity, in fact is invited, to make suggestions, as what we should have upon our stamps.

In mentioning the designs, it may be also of interest for the Department to consider the bi-colored stamps now being used by a number of countries which are no doubt being produced almost as cheaply as our own one color varieties. This is a new process whereby the border and center are printed at one time.

Receipts for Domestic Mail

Under date of May 2nd, the Postmaster General issued an order No. 8813, effective July 1st, reading as follows:

"Upon request and the payment of 1 cent for each piece of mail involved, the postmaster at the mailing office shall furnish a receipt (certificate of mailing) to the sender of domestic ordinary mail of any class, and shall furnish the sender as many additional receipts (certificates of mailing) for the same article as may be requested upon payment of 1 cent for each piece of mail described on each receipt. Uncancelled postage stamps to cover the charge of the receipts shall be affixed to the receipts and cancelled by the postmark of the mailing office."

We wish to thank Messrs. Hiram E. Deats, D. R. Hetherington, Willis M. Pott, Albert N. Brown and J. H. Brackett, for notes of interest.

Australia.—We have received from Mr. R. Roberts copies of the 9p violet, small multiple watermark, perf. 12. The inscription at the foot is "John Ash, Australian Note and Stamp Printer".

Czechoslovakia.—A set of four values of line-engraved stamps bearing the Shield and Arms of this country have been sent for chronicle by Mr. R. Roberts. They are unwatermarked, perf. 10, and of the following values and colors: 20h scarlet, 25h blue-green, 30h mauve, and 40h brown.

Dominican Republic.—It is reported that a special issue of postage stamps is imminent to commemorate the signing of the Boundary Treaty between San Domingo and Hayti. Five values will comprise the set, viz., ½, 1, 2, 5 and 10 centavos, which will be circulated concurrently with the present stamps showing the Columbus Palace. This information comes from a correspondent of Stamp Collecting.

Dutch Indies.—Several changes in the current series are foreshadowed according to Stamp Collecting. New stamps of the 15c blue and 35c brown are on the point of being issued. The color of the 3c is to be changed from rose to green, that of the 4c from green to yellow bistre, and that of the 20c from blue to orange. The 30c postage due stamp, obsolete for some years, is to be re-issued in its original shade, viz., vermilion.

ZEPPELIN FREIGHT

New York Times states that a pair rillas, a genuine Rubens and a Ger-grand piano are slated to be among raf Zeppelin's freight cargo when rigible takes off on its second trans-ic flight.

ZEPPELIN TO CIRCLE GLOBE

After Present Round Trip will Return to Lakehurst

The post office department has been advised that plans are being made for the Graf Zeppelin airship to make a round-the-world trip, starting and ending at Lakehurst, N. J.

A trip from Germany to the United States and back is due to start May 15, after which the post office department was advised the airship would return to this country to start circling the globe.

The commander of the Graf Zeppelin, Dr. Hugo Eckener, was said to have stated to American representatives in Germany that he wishes to make the round-the-world trip an "all American affair" and that he hopes to carry considerable mail to far eastern points for the United States.

NO ZEPPELIN CACHET

There Will Be, However, an Official Marking of Some Kind

In announcing regulations for sending mail via the second trip of the Graf Zeppelin to Germany the P. O. Dept. has stated that no special cancellation would be used. This was a consistent ruling inasmuch as obviously no first flight cachet could be used as the flight in question was the second crossing.

Replying to suggestions made by the American Air Mail Society through its Secretary, Hon. W. Irving Glover stated that the Department would arrange to use some official marking to identify the nature of the mail and to eliminate as far as possible the great number of private markings, which no doubt would be used should no official marking be provided. This official marking would either be in the form of a rubber stamp or perhaps a printed label, probably the former, the text being "United States Mail via Graf Zeppelin", or words to that effect.

Of equal importance is the announcement by Mr. Glover that the Department has been advised by the Zeppelin authorities that the start and finish of the Zeppelin Around-the-World trip starting about July 8 will be at Lakehurst, and that U. S. A. mail will be carried on this occasion. As this will be a real first flight, Mr. Glover states that it is practically certain that the Department will coöperate by providing a first flight special cachet for this mail. Rates have not been determined as yet.

L. B. GATCHELL.

NOTES FROM SO. AMERICA

Paraguay recently issued a provisional set of air mail stamps consisting of 3.40, 6.80 and 17p. 10,000 of each were printed. A new permanent set has appeared consisting of the following values: 2.85, 5.65, 11.30 pesos.

Uruguay has issued postage stamps $2, $3, $4, $5, all in the Artigas type.

The air mail route from Buenos Aires to Asuncion, was opened March 22, but mails have been carried in the opposite direction since January.

A. H. DAVIS.

OMAHA PHILATELIC SOCIETY

The Omaha Philatelic Society will have an exhibition of stamps May 29-June 14, inclusive, at the Omaha Art Institute. Between forty and fifty frames of stamps will be shown. During the week of May 6 several frames will be on display in one of the downtown windows, showing just how the balance of the exhibition will appear. The Omaha Philatelic Society now has a membership of ninety members, and new members are being added at almost every meeting.

CARL E. LUNDGREN, Sec.

AIR FLIGHT NOTES

"The expected happened. The Postal Bulletin of May 9th announced that the first trip of FAM 9, Cristobal-Mollendo, Peru, would leave Miami May 14, Cristobal May 17, the first flight cachet to be applied at Cristobal only. San Juan, Porto Rico, also dispatched first mail on the same date, and will doubtless prove the sleeper on this flight. No service for Colombia and Chile yet. Rates as previously announced—from Cristobal, 15c to Ecuador, 30c to Peru; from Miami or U. S. points, 25c additional. Obviously, due to the short notice, only those who heeded former rather indefinite announcements, and got in covers, will have any mail on this flight. In the meantime, covers sent to Guayaquil, Ecuador, have been returned with the information that the first flight to Canal Zone took place April 10 or 11; with Pan-American Airways, Inc., disclaiming any knowledge of such a flight. Covers also received cancelled Tolara, Peru, April 11, backstamped Guayaquil, April 12. What's the answer?"

Effective with the flight from Miami May 21, delivery of air mail on FAM 5 will be made at Belize, Br. Hond.; Tela, Rep. of Honduras; and Managua, Nicaragua, as well as Cristobal, Canal Zone. Rates per ½ oz. are 15c to Br. Honduras and Republic of Honduras, and 25c to Nicaragua. A special cachet will be used at Miami on all mail dispatched for these points. Mail will doubtless be picked up from these points, also.

have heard of them being offered in many places, but I have never seen a genuine one yet and I would warn collectors to be chary of buying this stamp."

Netherlands.—In type A23, the 10c has been issued in mauve shade and the 60c in black. Both stamps are watermarked circles and perf. 12½. Copies are to hand from Mr. R. Roberts.

Turkey.—Two more provisionals have been received from Whitfield King & Co. They are the 1gr surcharged "20 Paradir" in black and the 10gr surcharged "6 kurustur" in red. Regarding the 2½ kurustur on 5gr mentioned last month, Stamp Collecting is advised by Lieut.-Colonel O. K. Tancock that this stamp is of special interest because it is the first appearance of the new Turkish alphabet on the stamps of Turkey. "It is a pity," writes Col. Tancock, "that the type used is not more worthy of the occasion. The 's' of Kurustur should have a cedilla below, to give it the sound of sh, but in the few surcharged stamps which I have seen this seems to have been omitted. Kurustur is our old friend, Anglice, Ghurush, which appeared in the Frenchified form, Grouch, in the 1926 issue, and is now re-edited in the new alatourga Latin characters, with the addition of the termination 'tur' ('it is')."

Vatican City.—Arrangements have been made for the first issue of stamps for the new emancipated State of the Vatican City. The Daily Telegraph states that a full postal series of 20 values, ranging from 5 centesimi to 10 lire is anticipated. The design will include the triple crown and cross keys of the old States of the Church stamps, and will be inscribed "Citta del Vaticano". To expedite delivery of the first printing paper used for Italian stamps and watermarked with crowns will be used.

Malta.—Mr. R. Roberts in a recent letter writes, "I should like to warn collectors against some forgeries of certain values of the Malta, 1926 issue with the surcharge 'POSTAGE' inverted. I have seen very good forgeries of the 3p and cachets in connection with the Aeronautic meeting, May 27-30.

—We have here in San Francisco, a very active stamp club, in the Lick and Wilmerding schools. Meetings are held every Thursday and our Pres., M. Kert, is proving a very capable leader. Exhibitions are held every ten weeks. The last one May 9, and was a great success.—VERNON KELDSEN, Sec.

PIKE'S PEAK A CANDIDATE

WASHINGTON, May 13.

Postmaster General Brown has notified Senator Phipps of Colorado that he will give "the most careful consideration" to the senator's proposal to put a picture of Pike's Peak on some forthcoming issue of 2c postage stamps. The senator said today that he had suggested a picture of Pike's Peak, and added that the postmaster general had received the suggestion favorably.

"AIR MAIL BEACON"

A new publication called the "Air Mail Beacon" has been launched by the Berkshire Exchange, Cummington, Mass. It is a mimeograph venture, but will prove of interest to all air mail enthusiasts. It will be advertised in our next issue, but we give this "Stop Press" notice with the suggestion that interested parties, request a sample copy.

CENTENARY OF THE "HONORARY POSTMAN OF SPAIN AND COLONIES"

By FRED. J. MELVILLE.

The centenary of "Dr. Thebussem" has passed unnoticed in the British stamp journals, but his countrymen have not forgotten him, and the Madrid Filatelico devoted a special article to him in its November—December number. The famous pseudonym is, I fear, unknown to the rising generation of philatelists, and many might see his stamps today and not realise their curious place in the philatelic history of Spain.

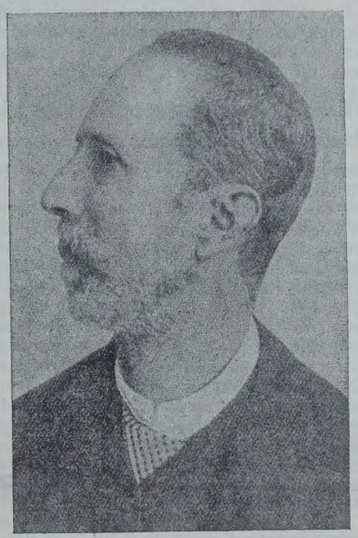
"Dr. Thebussem" was the whimsical pseudonym of a scion of a noble Spanish family; his proper name was Mariano Pardo de Figueroa, and he was born at the picturesque mountain city of Medina Sidonia, about 20 miles from Cadiz, on November 18, 1828; he died there on February 11, 1918, at a time when active preparations were being made to render him national homage on his ninetieth birthday. He was a sort of Admiral Crichton of science and literature, and wrote on countless subjects of Spanish associations, and contributed largely in later years to the revival of interest in Cervantes.

But his special claim upon our attention is the part he took in stirring up the postal administration in Spain, by pamphleteering and other forms of propaganda.

In 1871 Spain decided to adopt the post card, then a novelty but recently introduced in Austria-Hungary (1869), and followed by Britain (1870). But it was one thing for the Spanish administration to decree the issue of post cards, and an altogether different matter for anyone to act upon the order. Two years elapsed and the cards had not materialised. Dr. Thebussem, we must give him the name of his choice, printed a million cards at his own expense, with the inscription: "As the Government objects to provide post cards, Dr. Thebussem has prepared the present issue for himself and his friends. It will be considered a mark of good taste to put a stamp in the right-hand top corner."

Still the national shibboleth "mañana" (tomorrow) held the authorities back, and our hero produced another million cards "for the use of those who are not friends of Dr. Thebussem." Four million post cards in all were printed and distributed by the Doctor before the Post Office made a move, and the first official post cards of Spain were issued in December, 1873.

At intervals between 1870 and 1900 Dr. Thebussem published pamphlets of postal and philatelic interest, of which Mr. E. D. Bacon gives a list in the Crawford library catalogue. More accessible to English readers are his papers read before the London Philatelic Society, printed in the Stamp Collectors' Magazine, XI (1873), p. 51, and his Spanish Postal (or Philatelico-Legal) Chronology in the same volume, pp. 100 and 161.



MARIANO PARDO DE FIGUEROA
"Dr. Thebussem"

The Spanish Government wanted to confer some distinction or honours upon Dr. Thebussem for his work—independent and unofficial as it was—in improving the postal administration. They invited him to be "Jefe superior de administración," a kind of honorary P.M.G., but he replied in his whimsical way that as the Count de Villamediano had been the first Postmaster-General, he would be content to be the last postman.

On April 14, 1880, he received an ornate diploma making him "Cartero mayor honorario," i.e., "chief honorary postman," of Madrid. This was followed by the extension of his honorary postman-ship to Spain and the Colonies, accompanied by the privilege of franking his letters and receiving letters free.

This honour, so far as the franking privilege was concerned, was not a new one in Spanish postal literature. In 1869 Diego Castell was accorded the privilege of franking his book "Cartilla postal de España," and issued the blue stamp (S.G.

Dr. Thebussem provided himself with stamps, adhesive and impressed, embodying an anagram "KRTRO" for "cartero" and the inscription "Dr. Thebussem KRTRO honorario de Espano" [Madrid, Habana, de España y de sus Indias] and the word "Correos."

Writing in the Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly (April 30, 1898), Mr. J. H. Chapman describes the several varieties of the Doctor's stamps. He says:

"He now enjoys entire postal freedom throughout Spain and her Colonies not only for sending, but also for receiving correspondence, and in this latter respect he has the advantage even of the Members of Parliament, who can only send their letters free. Of course, Foreign Governments do not recognise Dr. Thebussem's position and stamps.

At first, the stamps he used were adhesive and pin-perforated, the design being applied by a hand stamp usually on yellow-brown paper; at present, the letters are simply franked by the application of a hand stamp.

In Moens' splendid work on Spanish stamps ("Histoire des timbres-poste d'Espagne") he refers to these stamps, but only mentions three, where there are in reality five of them.

As will be seen from the accompanying illustrations, although the stamps slightly differ from each other, they consist of a double circle, containing the words "Dr. Thebussem KRTRO honorario de Madrid, etc."

The letters "KRTRO" are an anagram of the word "cartero" (postman), and were intended as a satire upon the many orthographical mistakes made by his countrymen, the phonetic pronunciation of the Spanish language readily lending itself to errors of this description.

Macon, Georgia, Daytona Beach, Orlando and Tampa, Florida, were added to C. A. M. 25 on March first, and all four offices used an official first flight cachet on covers dispatched on that date.

The southbound plane, just after taking off from Daytona Beach, made a forced landing in the Halifax river. The pilot swam ashore and the mail was recovered after having been soaked in the water for a couple of hours.

Covers which were on this plane are very much the worse for the wear. Most of them lost their stamps and had their cancellations badly smeared and faded by the water. But, notwithstanding their condition, they will no doubt be of increased value because of their experience.

We offer a set of four covers, one from each of the four cities of the extension, including one which went into the river, for $1.75.

SOMETHING UNUSUAL

A complete International Philatelic Exhibition sheet of 25 of the 2c White Plains stamp on a registered air mail cover. Mailed on the day of issue at the International Philatelic Exhibition in N. Y., cancelled with the Exhibition cancellation, and flown to Los Angeles. Price $4.00.

A cover bearing this sheet, mailed in White Plains, N. Y., on the day of issue and flown to Chicago. Price $3.00.

A similar cover, mailed in White Plains and flown to Los Angeles. Price $4.00.

NORSE-AMERICANS

Complete set of seven first day covers, one each from the seven official cities, each cover bearing the set of 2c and 5c. Price $10.00.

LINDBERGH AIR MAIL STAMP

Complete set of four first day covers, one each from Detroit, Little Falls, St. Louis, and Washington. The St. Louis cover bears the only official cachet ever authorized for first day of issue covers. All four covers are actually flown. Price for the set, $2.00.

U. S. Plates and Plate Markings

R. A. BRYANT, Editor,
Box 64, West Somerville, Mass.

Readers are requested to send in notes and data on errors, shifts, defects and all plate markings; also color varieties and new numbers for chronicle. The editor will gladly answer all questions on these subjects.

Lists of Vincennes combinations continue to come in, many readers reporting good progress in their search for the elusive numbers. The lists come in many forms: charts, blueprints, graphs, etc., many finely done in colors. Wayne E. Kuhn, our Ithaca correspondent, submits an interesting oddity for examination. This is a block of six, from the right pane, numbers 19720-19730, with the letter "F" missing before the red number. Starting at the top rim of the drum in No. 4, and curving downward through the letters "V" and "C" is a fine black hairline. This continues across the space between the subjects and enters No. 9 passing through the letters "P" and the first "M" in "commemorative," and ending in the tree just above Clark's head. This was caused by a hair no doubt adhering to the plate at the time of the center printing. Several other minor varieties have been reported and sometime we will present a list of all if interest warrants.

Mr. V. W. Tuttle kindly sends for inspection several specimens of the 1912 Parcel Post issue on which appear small white dots and a small white line directly over the column on the right side of the frame. The dots are in the labels reading "U. S. Parcel Post", and "Cents". Concerning these oddities, Mr. A. E. Owen remarks: "The cause of all these white spots is probably due to the accumulation of dried ink in the sections of plates which were not so deeply recessed as other portions of the background of the labels. A single die was used for the frame of all Parcel Post values. The so-called 'Right Cap' varieties of the 2c 1890 and similar defects around the numerals of the 1c 1890 were caused in like manner." The white line referred to is quite plain and appears on several denominations. Some of the specimens examined were from plates 6179 and 6338, other copies not having the number attached. No doubt other plates will show the same line. Mr. Tuttle adds that in his specialized collection of nearly 3,000 specimens of this issue, but very few are found. I was unable to locate any in the few sheets I possess.

Several readers have made inquiries concerning the lack of initials on the current rotaries, and the following comment in a recent letter from our Washington correspondent, Mr. H. M. Southgate, will throw some light on the subject. "I have not investigated but I should say that the transfer men and the plate finishers whose identification initials are on the right and left lower corners, respectively, of the plates must put their initials on when making the plate. The official proof of each plate is made before the plate is curved and trimmed to fit the press, and inspection of the proofs would doubtless show these initials. But when the plate is finished, i.e., curved and trimmed to fit the rotary press, very likely the initials may be cut off. In any event the margins on the paper are so narrow that the initials would not show."

Continuing our list of Canal Zone surcharge on U. S.: Postage due; flat "A" 1c (No. 301) 5510; 2c (No. 302) 6704; 10c (No. 316) 6556; 1925 provisionals, 1c (No. 318) 15334-339-437; 2c (No. 319) 15632; 10c (No. 320) 15510-511-512. The following have the sharp "A." 1c 13844-846-847; 2c 14026-027. Plates with the famous "inverted zone" variety; 1c (No. 67b) 15334-358-359-437. The recent air mail surcharge, 25c on 2c (Goethals) 115187. The following numbers were taken from various sources, but definite information is lacking as to proper classification: 6555-14029-14596-15351-15571 and 18985. No doubt both flat "A" and sharp "A" specimens are included in this lot. Perhaps some reader can help place these.

Again we present a fine list of contributors who have sent notes and data on many different subjects for the column. Here they are: Mrs. J. W. Lundy, F. J. Stillman (2), Francis Hartzell, Rex L. Bell, James R. Marshall, Wayne E. Kuhn (3), Benjamin Cadbury, Thos. C. E. Hunter, Roy A. Barton, Russell Barker, Harold W. Holmes, E. B. Lorenzen, A. E. Owen (2), Sam T. Vary, Frank E. Johnson, R. W. RUTHERFORD N. J.) STAMP CLUB

By W. O. STAEB.

Although our name has not appeared in the advertising columns of the philatelic papers for some time, we might say that we are still going strong. Our meetings are well attended and every Monday night something of interest is offered to the members, in the form of exhibition of collections belonging to the membership, free drawings or discussions. We are now located in a very fine room at 54 Park Ave., were there is someone in attendance through the day.

On June 12, W. L. Kinkead, Glen Rock, a member, will show his large collection of Charity stamps and Tuberculosis Labels. The Sales Dept. for 1928 shows that sales exceeded $20,000. The club has a paid-up membership of over 400, and our books are seen by over 60 clubs throughout the United States and Canada. Any collector passing through our town should make it a point to visit us and get acquainted.

THE AIR MAIL BEACON

Issued two or three times a month. First issue was mailed on May 15th. It will contain: last minute news for airpost collectors, summary of auctions, market trends and official forecasts of catalog prices. Also illustrations of new cachets, special bargains and supplements to the American Air Mail Catalogue.

The next issue will feature the Steinmetz Auction.

Subscription is 25c for the Summer Series, ending Sept. 1st. You cannot afford to miss this.

KARL KOSLOWSKI

By HERMAN W. BOERS.

It is a pleasure for me to have the opportunity of introducing Karl Koslowski, of Detroit, to those readers of the WEEKLY who may possibly not know him. He has a very wide acquaintance among the philatelic fraternity, and this article will possibly convey information that will be read with interest. When I first approached him, for particulars as to his philatelic career, he flatly refused, in fact he frankly told me that he was not looking for publicity. However, I got hard-boiled and would not take no for an answer. After a month had elapsed I succeeded in gaining my point.

Mr. Koslowski was born in Grenzwald, Courland, formerly under the old Russian empire, but now forming the main portion of the Latvian Republic. He was born July 13, 1877, is now 52 years old, and still a bachelor. His boyhood days were spent in his native town, and upon leaving school he took up the building trade.

Our friend has traveled extensively in Europe, but fired with an ambition to see the United States, a much talked of country, in the early part of 1902 he crossed the briny deep, and after successfully crashing the gates of the famous Ellis Island, he located first in New York City, and later in Atlantic City. However, a voice whispered in his ear, "go west, young man", and a year later he bade good-bye to the Atlantic shores and pitched his tent in Detroit, where he has resided ever since.

There may be some who may wonder as to his profession. The Detroit City directory says "Builder," and this rightfully belongs to him, for whether it be a builder of buildings, or a builder of stamp collections, or of stamp societies, his rating according to contractors or philatelists or society workers is A1.

Mr. Koslowski's stamp collecting activities dates back to his early days when in school. One of his early experiences was in swapping stamp for stamp when he parted with Russia Scott's number 36 invert for Salvador Scott numbers 13-17, and many other swaps that make a long tale of woe.

Mr. Koslowski is also the party who discovered the 4c imperforate 1902 issue. Having arrangements made for a trip to Europe and dropping in to see a [illegible] to bid him good-bye, he was sho[wn] batch of these stamps in sheets o[f] fo[ur] hundred, also allowed to buy a sh[eet] face, but—says he, "the sixteen [dollars] needed to buy this sheet seemed t[o be] more fun in store for the trip," a[nd] lieving there would be more wher[e] came from, the purchase was not [made]. The following day before leavi[ng] called on his friend again and fou[nd] stamps all cut up and Schermi[ck] Pocketing some fifty copies, he dep[arted] and was surprised to learn upon h[is] turn some six months later that n[o] was known about this stamp, and s[even] years later, when the news leake[d] there was a scramble from all si[des] find this variety.

Some older collectors will have [a] collection of these, regretting tha[t] were not among the lucky ones. [As] in that group. He is a real collect[or] loves his stamps, always looking fo[r] ities. At the present time he is cl[ose]ing U. S. general issues and speciali[zes] in cancellations, frequently exhibi[ts] these at various club meetings. H[is] vorite country is Latvia, of whi[ch] has a wonderful collection in fo[ur] bums dating from the World W[ar] date. He is considered an expe[rt] these stamps. Through him, several [years] ago, the U. S. Government was [en]ble[d] to complete its collection in Washing[ton] of Latvia.

Mr. Koslowski's collection was [shown] at the Montreal exhibition and [was] awarded a bronze medal, and at [Cleve]land in 1928 it received similar distinc[tion]. At the Michigan Stamp Club exhibi[tion]

SENORITA TULA SERRA

A Living Woman Whose Features Are Shown on a Stamp

A recent visitor to New Orleans was Miss Tula Serra, who is pictured on the current 35c Salvador stamp. Who can tell us more about this young woman?

HERE AND THERE—

A GENEROUS gift has just been made to the New York Public Library by Theodore Clauss of Ozone Park, N. Y. It consists of a miscellaneous collection of literature comprising 1,365 pieces. In the number we note files of MEKEEL'S from 1906-28.

WE learn that F. S. Eaton, of New Haven, Conn., has been in an automobile accident, and the attendant difficulties have prevented his prompt attendance to philatelic matters.

WE have been favored with a copy of the booklet, "William H. Russell, Originator and Developer of the Pony Express", reprinted from the Collectors Club Philatelist. It is written by Victor M. Berthold with a Foreword by Henry C. Needham. This book has already been referred to in the WEEKLY and it is needless to say that it is written with the thoroughness for which Mr. Berthold is so well known.

THE latest stamp club is the Charlotte (N. C.) Philatelic Society. It has eleven charter members. The officers are H. W. Blanks, Pres.; J. B. Shatzer, Salesman; Edw. C. Lovell, Sec. Meetings held alternate Friday nights, 1402 Independence Trust Co. Building. Visitors will be welcomed.—E. C. LOVELL.

WE are advised by Henry G. Lang that he has the new Nebraska stamps on covers postmarked "Beatrice, Nebr.", April 15 at 10 A. M. We have heard of no earlier dates than April 15 for either Nebraska or Kansas.

NEW ENGLAND STAMP CO. buys million dollar mine. Tom V. Binmore, treasurer of the New England, bought this blind, says he doesn't care whether there is such a mine or not. The title transfer deed carries, among other things, 26 copies of the $20 Probate, a flock of $25 and $20, $10 perf. and imperf. of other classes. It was a beautiful old thing or parchment and illuminated by hand.

EDITORIAL

TO those who have asked what progress has been made in our petition to have the duty removed from United States stamps imported into this country, the news that appeared in the WEEKLY two weeks ago, as wired us by Congressman Ernest R. Ackerman of New Jersey, was very acceptable. There is reason to believe that many collectors took the trouble to write to their Washington representatives to tell of their belief that the change be made, and they have the satisfaction of knowing that the House has the recommendation of the committee to include U. S. stamps in the Free List. It is needless to say that Mr. Ackerman's interest in the bill is a happy circumstance for all philatelists.

WHEN the hopeful first flight patron decides that he will avail himself of the opportunity to get examples of an advertised flight, he carefully attends to the preparation of the covers, which he addresses (or not) to the postmasters at the cities on the route and sends them on. They are sent in a cover to the postmasters aforesaid, and as the purpose of the sender is self-evident, no letter may be enclosed, and what is more to the point no return card is placed on the package in some cases. The postmaster does not know to whom to return the envelopes, in consequence. Time passes and the awaiting cover man finally loses hope and is convinced that his envelopes have been lost in the shuffle. Perhaps he makes no further inquiry and accepts his ill-luck with a sigh. The Superintendent of the Dead Letter Office at Chicago, Illinois, has in his department, 180 souvenir letters of the kind that are not to be identified that in a recapitulation fall in the following years: 1926, 37; 1927, 15; 1928, 122; and 1929, 6. All these letters are foundlings as their originators are not of record and their contents practically nix. It would be folly to dump them on Washington or in the waste paper; and so, the superintendent of the dead letter office at Chicago has decided to hold a sale of these covers on Monday, June 10, 1929. He has made 68 lots of the envelopes, with data: Date Mailed: Route: Where Mailed: Postage Attached: Occasion: Remarks. What could be fairer? Certainly a vote of thanks is in order. Those who want to hear further about the forthcoming sale should address: Superintendent of Dead Letter Office, Chicago, Illinois. As said before, the sale is to be held June 10, 1929.

THE following information comes from the post office department at Mexico under date of April 11, 1929: "Possibly due to the movement of the tri-motor aeroplane Mexico, three sacks of mail, sent by the Post Office of Brownsville, Texas, U. S. A., the day of the inauguration of the aerial postal service, Matamoras-Mexico, went into the interior of one of the tips of the wings, remaining there until the 9th instant when it arrived in Merida, Yucatan. In the mail, the enclosed were found which you will observe were backstamped March 10th, ultimo, in order to preserve their philatelic value." Those who understand the construction of the particular plane will realize how this mysterious disappearance of mail for the time being happened; and it is to the credit of the Mexican postal administration to preserve the philatelic fitness of things by turning back the time of the postmark, although collectors would prefer that the lapse of time had been indicated by the marking.

A BOOK reviewer in the Chicago Journal of Commerce in noticing Vachel Lindsay's recent work, "The Litany of Washington Street," says that the author speaks of his volume as being a work of imagination "somewhat in the spirit of state house and court house and dollar bill mural paintings and engravings, somewhat in the spirit of the design of postage stamps and of the best Fourth of July decorations and speeches." Without trying to interpret the subtle shades of Mr. Lindsay's sentiment, we prick up our ears when he speaks of postage stamps. We wonder if he has come under the spell of the recent commemoratives or whether the regulation issue was referred to, which gives so much Americana in a few feet of postage stamps. Our recent special issues must make a deep impression on those of the public who have imagination, but here and there a soulless one will be found that is dead to their suggestions.

A READER calls attention to the desirability of issuing a commemorative for the Battle of Bunker Hill, of June 16, 1776, and in view of the fact that "there is no split centennial that would give title to the 103rd anniversary as a cause for stamp celebration, the idea is not likely to be accepted," a voice from Washington admonishes us. With the Dam stamps and the new general issue in prospect, the attention of collectors is fully occupied and it is just as well that collectors apply themselves to proposing subjects for inclusion in the new set that Postmaster General Brown has been speaking about.

A CORRESPONDENT writes from New York, as follows: "I was interested in your editorial in which you said that a reader who signed himself 'Behind the Scenes' thought that he gave you some inside information about manufacturing philatelic opinion. In reply you said that propaganda is almost wholly absent in the stamp world and that no organized effort is made to create public sentiment, meaning, of course, that we are not conforming to the wishes of 'master minds' but follow our own will. I do not contradict you exactly, but I'll bet a cookie that fashions in collecting are made just as they are in clothes, else why the 'urges' to collect precancelled, air mail and such things that are played up for the consumption of readers. I could tell you of cases where drives have come to your notice that must have had their inception in conference rooms, rather than in the minds of collectors, who strangely enough are seized by the same idea at the same time!" Our critic should know that the secretive scribe who wrote before was an anonymous contributor and his words supplied an excuse to say something that we believe is true. That coteries of collectors who think alike do gather around the table and plan how to encourage interest in their specialties is admitted, and it is granted that the object in view is selfish at times. What are tantamount to pools in the stock market have centered on making a demand for certain stamps and that means have been taken otherwise to make popular certain kinds or classes of stamps, we may believe. We have had letters occasionally telling of cabals and conspiracies that flourished in the dark of the moon. Collectors were to be preyed upon, but the beasts must have stayed in the jungle as casualties were not reported. Rightly, we exempt the pressure for philatelic publicity from the propaganda charge. If the activities of the dealers' organizations are fraught with any subtle implication, we do not know that such is the case. There are no lobbies, supported by philatelic funds, that are pressing for their own ends. There are no paid press agents working for the "interests" nor "planted" correspondents who are drilled to descend by letter on the philatelic citizens. The stamp press does not make the fashions in a collecting sense; it follows them after the pioneers clear away the trees. Precancelled and air mail get attention because so many are interested in these branches that these collector c not be ignored in a newspaper sen specific case of the machinators at vo pulling "strings to make the pp dance" would be interesting if sub by a correspondent who signed his a new U. S. Envelope Die has recenten discovered by A. G. Potter. So t has only been seen size 13 on white, watermark 28, high back. It will nown as Die I and is very easily recized. Description:—

NEW 2c ENVELOPE DIE

By J. M. Bartels.

rge ear as in Die A. Letters C, D G are very narrow compared with ther dies. Letters in CE and NT ly spaced. U and to some extent N I are tall and thin. The most easily nized distinction is the narrow C in TS, and the narrow D in UNITED.

e only 2c dies in use at the present are Dies A, H, and H2. The last appearing only on high backed enpes. Die I makes a new addition collectors will await developments interest.

e 1c dies now in use are Die A for back envelopes, Die C for high envelopes, while for window envelwe may still find Die D in use. Die s become very scarce and on amber a decided rarity. It appears that one small lot of 25 or 50 of the latwere originally received from a er's firm in New York City, and e were mostly distributed as new is in the beginning. The present quoon is $7.50, but with no supply in it must soon go much higher.

Air Mail News

BY DONALD E. DICKASON,
Wooster, Ohio

(This department covers air mail news from the purely philatelic standpoint. Coöperators will find their names listed each week. If your letter calls for a reply please enclose a stamped, addressed envelope. This is your department, so make your contribution as generous as possible.)

Official Flights

See last week's "Stop Press" item for information on the FAM 9 flights. I'll try to tell you more about this soon. The following are the quantities of mail despatched and cacheted by the Colonial Western Airways, Inc., on the first flight of the new schedule May 1st, as described last week: Albany, 3,000; Schenectady, 3,000; Utica and Rome together, 2,500; Syracuse, 8,000; Rochester, 9,000; Cleveland and Buffalo, figures not given.

George H. Kieley, Air Mail Section, Boston Post Office, and a rabid collector, has gotten out a revised schedule of all routes, as of May 1st, and will probably be glad to send you a copy if you request it, with postage enclosed.William H. Myers reports one that some of the rest of us might have thought of but probably didn't—a first day cover with the Nebraska stamps, cancelled Wahoo, with the first flight cachet from Omaha. Nice!

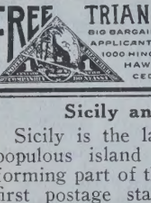
Sicily and Sierra Leone

Sicily is the largest, most fertile and populous island of the Mediterranean, forming part of the kingdom of Italy. Its first postage stamps appeared in 1859. These were superseded by the stamps of the Neapolitan Provinces in 1861, and in the following year these, in turn, were replaced by the general issue for the kingdom of Italy.



Sierra Leone is a British colony on the west coast of Africa which issued its first postage stamps in 1860.

Aden

Aden is a British protectorate on the southeastern coast of Arabia, and includes the island of Perim. Although this region has been under the British rule since 1839 when it was captured from the Turks, and is separated from India by the Arabian Sea, it has been ruled as a part of India. For that reason we find that its postal system has been the same as for India. It seems strange that Great Britain has not issued special stamps for this outlying protectorate which would seem to warrant a special set of its own, more than some of the colonies of lesser importance.—A. C. LeDuc.

Some "C" Notes

Carlist Stamps.—Stamps issued in Spain in 1873-4 by the orders of the leaders of the Carlist Insurrection and suppressed in 1876.

Carnes' City Letter Express.—A local post of San Francisco established in 1854 by George A. Carnes. Two stamps were issued in connection with this post.

Caritas.—The inscription shown on the Charity stamps issued in connection with the Brussels Exhibition of 1910. It is the Latin word for "charity."

Caroline Islands.—An archipelago of 680 islands and islets in the Pacific Ocean between 1° and 10° north latitude and 131° and 163° east longitude. Stamps were first issued in 1899 with the inscription "Karolinen."

Carol I, Rege Al Romaniei.—An inscription shown on the 1903 stamps of Roumania in the small medallion containing the King's portrait.

Brunei

From the appearance of the stamps of Brunei (brōō-nī), things look pretty wet, This British Protectorate is located between British North Borneo and Sarawak on the northern side of the island of Borneo. The only town of importance is also called Brunei, and pictures of this town are shown on the two large oblong stamps of the 1924 set. The town is shown as several rows of native houses built over water close to the shore.

Except for the surcharged set of 1906 and the two stamps of 1924 previously mentioned, the stamps for this colony have been of a standard type showing a native in a canoe and four native houses built over the water.

The population consists of 35 Europeans and the balance of the 24,454 is composed of Chinese and natives. It would seem that stamps of $1, $5 and $25 would be quite unnecessary, but such have been issued. The stamps of this colony have always been popular with collectors and it is possible to obtain a complete collection without a big outlay of money. However, to obtain all of them on entire covers would be another story.—A. C. LeDuc.

Tit for Tat

Tat affirms:—
With stamps, my dear, thy head is turned;
By many, such an art is spurned
As being cause of loss of time
For cancelled things not worth a dime.
I wonder thou enjoy'st such trash,
Discarded as 'tis with a dash
Of pen and ink, and then 'tis cast
Into the paper basket, lost
To view of all, till some poor guy
Perceives it as he passes by,
And gathers it safely as a stone
Whose value is to him unknown.
Quit, then, O Friend, this crazy lore,
E'er death will knock upon thy door.

Tit replies:—
Toward stamps, indeed, my head is turned,
Although by many they are spurned.
I really think it's well spent time
To cull such gems worth many a dime.
I wonder why you call them trash!
Because they're cancelled with a dash?
Why, man alive! know'st thou the cost
Of gems in baskets so often lost?
Thrice happy aye! the lucky guy
Who chances as he passes by
To cull them as a precious stone
Whose value to the few is known.
Name not this hobby crazy lore
Lest death should knock upon your door.

King George is able to go auto driving once more. That's ripping. We like the King over here, and his illness has aroused popular interest and sympathy. Stamp journals especially have shown their good-will, and expressed earnest hopes for His Majesty's early recovery. We fancy that the cat who looks much at the King these days is also getting an eye full of superb adhesives.

"State" Stamps

We are pleased to be able to furnish a detailed and complete list of the quantities contained in the first printing of the Kansas and Nebraska issues. These are the official figures and include not only those sent to the two states, but those received by the Philatelic Agency as well. It will be noted that nearly a quarter of a billion stamps in all have been prepared. The information is received through the courtesy of the Third Assistant Postmaster General, Mr. R. S. Regar, to whom we extend our thanks.

Odd Varieties

Mr. A. H. Benners calls attention to the fact that there is a slight break in the inner frame line on the 2c "Vincennes" right red pane 19741, stamp No. 50. Mr. Benners writes that this was located by Dr. F. I. McAlpin and that he has found the oddity constant on a number of panes.

Mr. C. W. Haynes submits for inspection a horizontal pair of the 1917 1c No. 498 with a very distinct crack in the gutter between the two stamps.

Mr. Theodore Kemm reports that he has located the S. E. pane of the 5c International Civil Aeronautics Conference stamp from Plate 19661, wherein the plate number is left off. Mr. Kemm does not state whether it is the right or bottom plate. We have not checked this plate up with the Bureau and cannot say if it is simply a question of the plate number being uninked at the time of printing, or whether it was actually omitted.

Mr. George W. Linn writes that the albino Air Mail Envelope was reported in his paper, the copy having been located by Mr. L. K. Robbins.

The 2c black Harding rotary with a complete vertical gutter between a block in which complete stamps were on both sides of the gutter was recently described in this column. The 1½c in similar condition has since been noted.

New Envelope Die

Mr. P. R. Crooker kindly sends for inspection a copy of the 2c red current circular die envelope size 13 on white, watermark 30, highback. On first glance this appears to be Die A, as the head is the Die A head. On closer inspection, however, it is noted that it differs in the lettering from the former variety. The "U" is tall and narrow, the "N" taller, the "S's" well formed with both ends turning up instead of open, the tail of the "G" is distinctly formed and the "C" like the "S" is well formed and the ends tend to close. Until some better classification is found, I will refer to this variety in the future as "Die A2."

We wish to thank Messrs. George P. Brockway and Lewis Glassman.

Australia.—Gibbons' Stamp Monthly says that it is indebted to Messrs. W. J. Hayres, F. J. L. Hedges, and Kingsley Laffer for illustrations of the design, which is that accepted for the Western Australia Centenary stamp. Mr. G. Pitt Morrison is the artist, and he must be congratulated on having produced what should be quite a handsome stamp. Our only criticism is that the design appears slightly unbalanced, due to the white oval not being in the centre of the stamp. The date of issue will be, it is hoped, the 1st June—the exact anniversary of the arrival of the first colonists—and the color, a shade of red.

United States Stamps

From 1847 to 1890 are in profusion in our stock. Just as a passing example we count 200 copies of the 5c 1847 and so on all down the line. It is not our policy to issue cut rate price lists based on one or two copies—it is our policy to give absolutely complete satisfaction to serious buyers.

Brazil.—Copies of the 50rs maroon, type of A75, watermarked with the new all over watermark "EU BRAZIL" multiple in large sans serif capitals repeated all over the sheet have been received from Mr. R. Roberts. The letters in the watermark measure 8mm high.

China.—A new set in commemoration of the unification of China has been issued and Mr. R. Roberts submits copies of the four values for chronicle. The central figure of the stamp is a portrait of Kiang Kai-Sheik, and the type is similar to the Chang Tso-Ling set. They are perf. 14 with no watermark and consist of a 1c orange, 4c olive, 10c blue and $1 scarlet.

Egypt.—Mr. R. Roberts advises that the 5m has been issued in a deep brown and the 20m in deep olive, both being new shades of remarkable depth of color. Whitfield King & Co. report the 10m King Fuad has appeared in a lake shade, and the 10m postage due stamp in bronze red.

Gold Coast.—According to information received from this colony Whitfield King & Co.'s Bulletin reports that all the old issue of 1921 have been withdrawn from sale and the remaining stock has been destroyed. The withdrawal and destruction includes the higher denominations, 10sh, 15sh, 1 and 2 pound stamps, so that there are no higher denominations above the 5sh now in use in Gold Coast.

Honduras.—The following information is reported by Stamp Collecting:—
Commemorative stamps in a limited edition were issued at Tegucigalpa (Honduras) February 25 in honour of the installation of President Mejia Colindres. The 1c value, lithographed in transverse rectangular format, bears portraits of the new Vice-President (Ing. Rafael Diaz Chavez) together with the date, "1° de Febrero 1929," in the upper corners. The companion 2c stamp, in the form of an upright rectangle, portrays Don Vicenti Mejia Colindres, alone, with his title of "Presidente Constitucional."

POSTAL UNION CONGRESS

The new Postal Union Congress stamps are at hand, at least four of the values, ½, 1, 1½, and 2½d. There is a fifth value £1. We are indebted to W. T. Wilson and Frank Godden, for May 10 first day covers with specimen sets. Evidently the new stamps were placed on sale simultaneously throughout the country. The designs of the ½ and 2½d are unusually striking with a colored oval upon a background of white. A colored frame surrounds each stamp and they are suitably inscribed. The profile of King George is on all the stamps.

SULLIVAN COMMEMORATIVE

WASHINGTON, May 17.

I am told today by Mr. Sanders who is acting chairman of the committee on Post Offices and Post Roads, and also author of the Sullivan Bill, that the new 2c commemorative will probably appear June 15, and 100,000,000 will be printed. Gen. Sullivan's great exploit was the opening up of Western New York in the Revolutionary War to civilization.

NEW DOMINICAN REPUBLIC SET

NEW YORK, May 18.

Some time ago I reported the proposed issue of a special series for the Dominican Republic to commemorate the signing of the treaty of boundaries on January 21 last, between the Republic of Haiti and the Dom. Rep. I now have the 2c value with the portrait of Don Horacio Vasquez, the President of the Dom. Rep. The stamp is of oblong shape ⅞" wide by 1⅛" high, red color, and bears the following inscriptions: at top over the President's picture in a curved band the words "Republica Dominicana," at bottom the value, the numbers "2" in each corner in color in a white, double framed hexagon tablet and "Centavos" in between; above the value appears the map of the Island comprising the two Republics; the picture appears in an oval frame, surrounded by oak and bay wreaths, the latter being crossed by a ribbon bearing the names Horacio and Vasquez, and underneath in a curved band the words: "Conmemorativo del Tratado—De Limites del 21 Enero De 1929." As previously reported the series consists of 5 values, ½c, 1c, 2c, 5c and 10c, and as soon as the remaining four are received I shall give further details.

DEATH OF COL. J. K. TRACY

PHILA., May 20.

I have just learned of the death of Col. J. Kennard Tracy, which occurred May 11. Col. Tracy was especially interested in the U. S. 1851-57, 12c black, and wrote a well-known monograph upon the subject. He was buried on Monday, May 13, at Portsmouth, N. H., with full military honors. Mr. Frank Clark Cosby writes that death was caused, he believes, by brain tumor.

NEW EDISON STAMP JUNE 5

PHILADELPHIA, May 17.

The design submitted to the Postmaster General for the new Edison stamp is of a 2c denomination, similar in size to our current emission and shows an incandescent lamp in the center. "United States Postage" is in a plain label across the top, instead of the regular "U. S. Postage." "Fifty years of golden light", or some similar slogan, will be at each side, with the value at the bottom. This stamp is the fore-runner of a new policy on the part of the Post Office Department, in which peaceful achievements are being commemorated.

PHILADELPHIA, May 20.

The Edison stamp will first appear at Menlo Park, N. J., on June 5, and will be available at the Philatelic Agency and elsewhere on the following day. They will be available from the flat plate, rotary plate and in coil form.

PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

NEW ½c ROTARY FOR TWO CITIES

In my Chronicle several months back, attention was called to the fact that several new rotary plates for the ½c denomination had been made. The Bureau is now about to use these for making precancel stamps for New York and Chicago. It is to be hoped that we can prevail upon the Department to issue a quantity in behalf of collectors without the cancellation.

AIR FLIGHT NOTES

—J. P. Benning, Homestead, Pa., writes that 750 letters posted during the balloon races at Pittsburgh, May 4, are unaccounted for, and collectors in Penn. and N. Y., in the districts traversed by the balloons are urged to report the finding of these letters, made up originally in bundles. They bore instructions to be mailed at the nearest post office.

—The following special Canadian air mail flights with cachets will take place June 4 in commemoration of the opening of the Kingston, Ont., airport; Montreal-Kingston; Kingston-Montreal; Toronto - Kingston; Kingston - Toronto. Covers should be sent to postmasters, accompanied by money orders for the necessary postage, same rate as the U. S.

—Coming cachets: June 5, C. of C., Kansas City, Kans., Fairfax airport dinner. (Covers to A. P. Harding, 640 W. 58th St. Terrace)—June 4-7, C. of C., Charlotte, N. C., Confed. Vet. Assn. (Covers to C. of C.)—June 6, Hamilton, Ont., airport dedication (Covers to P. M. with M. O. for postage at usual rate.)

$5,700 FOR MILLBURY COVER

PHILA., PA., May 20.

At the sale of the Green Collection, by D. F. Kelleher, Boston, May 17, the very wonderful item, the Millbury Postmaster Provisional on the entire cover was sold to Judge Robert S. Emerson at the highest price which the stamp has ever brought, $5,700. I was the runner-up. Complete details of the sale will be given later.

VATICAN CITY STAMPS

First Issue.—We now learn from Champion's Bulletin (April), which in turn quotes an Italian newspaper, that a series of stamps bearing the portrait of the Pope as recently photographed, will be issued preparatory to a permanent series, now under discussion. These "stop-gap" stamps are to be printed at the State Printing Works in Rome.

Permanent Issue.—Continuing, Champion states that the permanent series will show views of the Vatican City and will remind philatelists of the "Holy Year" issue of Italy in 1924. "POSTE VATICANE" will appear across the bottom of the stamps in white on a coloured ground. The value is placed in tablets at each bottom corner. The series will consist of 6 values, including an express stamp.—"Philatelic Magazine."

NEWS FLASHES

—We are indebted to Erwin Strasser for a "first amphibian flight" cover. The route was Detroit to Cleveland, CAM 27. The cover bears a pretty cachet in green. It is dated May 14, but due to stormy weather the Cleveland postmark on this particular cover is May 15.

—We have received from Hermann Focke a stamp that is being used in the Mexican mails. It is the 1c brown, surcharged. It reads, "Proteccion a la Infancia," meaning "protection to childhood." Evidently it represents a sort of tax for charitable purposes, and further information will, doubtless, be shortly available.

—Robson Lowe, London dealer, has arrived in New York and will make a two months' tour of the stamp centers, going as far west as the Pacific coast.

—June 14, St. John's, Nfld., 10th anniversary of Alcock and Brown's Transatlantic Air Mail Fight. All G. P. O. mail will have cachet.—FRANK F. WILLS.

ANNUAL BANQUET OF THE BORDER CITIES STAMP CLUB

Again Windsor, Ont., Society Is Off On High

By A. E. Edgar, Publicity Manager.

The Second Annual Banquet of the Border Cities Stamp Club, Windsor, Ont., Canada, was a most gratifying success, and a tangible proof of the growth of philatelic interest in the community. Reservations were ordered for fifty plates in advance, but at the last minute a round dozen had to be added. Visiting collectors were present from Detroit, Flint, and Ann Arbor, Michigan. Tickets were sold to cover the cost of the meal, and the committee in charge was able to report a surplus realized from drawings, and an auction of stamps.

Mayor C. Jackson of Windsor gave a short address of greeting, expressing his surprise at the enthusiasm and extent of the interest of so many people in the hobby. C. L. Brisley, Detroit, a Canadian specialist, exhibited his wonderful collection of Canadian stamps, and gave an instructive address on the minor varieties to be found in the Canadian issues, especially those of the earlier days. He held his audience spell-bound by recounting in a very interesting way some of his exploits in the pursuit of the illusive label. Mr. Brisley stated his interest in Canadian stamps lies in the fact that the Canadian Post Office Department has never exploited the stamp collector, and has issued stamps purely for postal needs, making them a good investment, as well as an interesting study.

Mrs. Brisley, who accompanied her husband at the banquet, told the ladies that she was as eager to attend stamp functions as her husband, and indicated her interest in stamps was second only to that of her husband. She advised the ladies to encourage their husbands in the pursuit of their hobby, because it was so easy for men to have other pursuits that were not quite so worthy. She said it was not only a duty of a wife to be interested in the things their husbands were interested in, but it was good policy. She laughingly said that if she wanted a new hat, and her husband wanted a new stamp, her husband got the stamp, and she waited for the hat, or went without it altogether.

President H. A. W. Turner presided, and Mrs. E. A. Leakey sang entertainingly. Good fellowship prevailed and the banker rubbed elbows with the mechanic, a sure indication of the universality of the stamp hobby.

Several drawings were held, one purely for the ladies, two beautiful prizes being presented to the lucky ticket holders. A drawing was also held for the men, and the irony of fate was seen in the capital prize, a stock-book, going to a stamp dealer. Much fun was manifest as others drew prizes consisting of a (rubber) stamp catalogue, a rare (photostatic reproduction of a) stamp, and a millimeter scale (yard stick).

This second annual banquet, with an attendance double of the first, held a year ago, has set a new quota for the Border Cities Stamp Club for next year.

FIRST FLIGHT INDIA

The Cedar Rapids Gazette and Republican, Iowa, for April 28, 1929, pictures an air mail cover that was sent to a member of its staff from India on April 3, 1929, with the explanation that it was received at Cedar Rapids on April 26th. The letter was sent to Ray Anderson, farm editor of the newspaper, by his brother, a missionary, from Khanna, Punjab, India; and we quote as follows:

"Although the time for the passa mail between Iowa and India has been cut down to approximately weeks by the plane service, further terial reductions are expected, as t traffic and service are developed an tended. Eventually the inaugurati air service across the Atlantic will a vast step forward, it is anticipat

OUR REVIEW

We have just received what is termed "A Guide to the more than 370 Stamp Issuing Countries." It is a result of the study and skill of Edward L. Bell, 395 Worcester St., Wellesley Hills, Mass. The Guide is dedicated not only to the Junior but to the advance collector, and they will be able to quickly locate any country wherever it may be. The author offers his thanks to Oscar Hill, a member of the B. P. S., for his interest and assistance. Mr. Bell's hope is that the charts will arouse a keen interest to know more about the countries and peoples back of their postage stamps. In the scope of this review it is not possible to do justice to the mass of information that these charts contain, and we suggest to our readers that they write Mr. Bell, and he in turn will send a prospectus that will give full information with prices. Continental maps are also furnished at a very low price. If you do not know the location of Castellorizo or some of its brothers and sisters, Mr. Bell's Guide will in an instant give you the desired information.

BARREL TESTER FOR STAMPS

Experiments have been continued at the Bureau of Standards, Washington, D. C., with the barrel tester to find an envelope paper that will shed a certain proportion of stamps when subjected to very rough handling. Several kinds of kraft envelopes were tried using different methods of affixing. In all, tests involving more than one thousand stamps have been made and although the envelopes were worn out in the barrel tester, not one stamp was shed. In the future, this testing device will be used in connection with testing stamps received with complaints as defective. If, with a standard method of affixing, the stamps are not shed from kraft envelopes in a test that wears out the envelopes, sticking qualities would not be considered bad enough to justify a complaint.—Paper Trade (courtesy of Roger Hugh Pease).

STYLES IN PRECANCELS

By A. F. GAMBER, Precancel Editor, Valley City, No. Dak.

We often hear it said in speaking of women's clothes, "there's no accounting for styles." True, of course, but no more true of women's clothing than of collectors' whims. The heavy bull market in all United States postage, covers, patriotics, and the like, is but one angle of the prevailing heavy demand for all Americana. As long as this demand remains what it now is, our own stamps will continue to top the market, the Scott people will continue to raise the prices on them annually, and we shall be treated to more and more surprises in the way of auction prices.

This same tendency to follow styles is evident among us precancel collectors. Five years ago it was Commemoratives, everybody was after them. Then certain unhealthy factors began to manifest themselves, supply became a great deal heavier than demand. To combat these factors, considerable plain talk and summary action was necessary, with the result that today that once desirable class of stamps is at the bottom of the precancel scale, a mighty cheap drug on the market. Anyone wishing to receive heaps of mail need only advertise to buy liberally of all kinds of Commemoratives, and he'll have to employ a flock of clerks and arrange for liberal credit with his banker.

Today Bureau Prints are the reigning dynasty. It would be interesting, instructive, and probably amazing, to know just how many are collecting them. It would be even more so, and in addition, amusing, to know the names of all that many. I've an idea we'd all get the surprise and kick of our young lives if we could peruse a list of all the serious Bureau collectors and accumulators in this country. How the skeletons in many a non-precancel collecting closet would rattle, were such a list made public!

But why this popularity of Bureau Prints? Why isn't it something else in the precancel line instead? One reason for this popularity is the fact that, the overprinting being done at the Bureau, there can be no more favoritism in them than there can be in the issues of paper money, playing card stamps, or liquor permits. Thus is removed from one whole section of precancels, the heaviest indictment that the carping non-precancel collector can bring against them; an indictment which contains just sufficient truth to make it impossible for us precancel collectors to quash it wholly.

Another reason for their popularity is the fact that but relatively few cities use them, hence the prospect of acquiring a very comprehensive showing of them does not seem so hopeless as it does in regular precancel collecting. This reason has already lost part of its force, and will lose still more if more cities continue to join the ranks of Bureau users, and more especially if the Postmaster-General's recently radioed remarks regarding a whole new set are borne out.

But I think the chief reason for Bureau popularity is that it's the style to collect them. Why, a collector might as well drive a 1915 model, or wear peg top pants as to admit that he doesn't collect Bureaus. Everybody's doing it, that's all! Which is just as sufficient a reason for one's doing it as are the words, "it isn't done", the reason for not doing a thing among our English cousins. So there!

The result of all this has been in general just what the result always is when some particular thing is the fad or style, i.e., demand is heavy and prices are good. In proportion to the actual scarcity of these stamps, they are too good. I say this with all due respect to Dr. Mitchell, and to everybody else, and I repeat it for emphasis: in proportion to the actual scarcity of these stamps, the prices are too good. There are exceptions to this, as there are to everything. The exceptions are the Experimentals most certainly, and possibly the Liberty 1½c coil.

What makes me think prices are too good? In the first place, I think we will all agree that when anything is in great demand, price is a secondary consideration, i.e., there is present an element of artificiality in all prices for all such goods. Suppose 50% of the present Bureau collectors should make known their intention to stop collecting at once. I won't tell you what would happen to present prices, for you know. Even a difference of 10% would make itself felt, it might be enough to break the back of the present market, so large is the element of artificiality.

In the second place, although some few Bureaus are hard to get, practically all of them can be found by diligent search. Excluding those specified above, I challenge anyone to name fifteen real rarities among the 1,500 now out. I said real rarities. Sure there are scarce ones, but they can be found.

In the third place, I have a very well-defined hunch that many non-precancel and non-Bureau collectors are laying aside copies of the reputed scarce ones, both in coils and in ordinaries. I know this to be a fact in some cases, and I more than suspect it to be a fact in many others. You'd be surprised at what one's advertising tells him, if carried on long enough and persistently enough. Just because a man doesn't collect Bureaus is no reason why he shouldn't salt down all the nice copies of the scarce ones that he can find, or that he can buy at low face value from permit holders. You might ask the postmaster at Liberty, Mo., what he thinks of such a possibility!

In the fourth and last place, prices are too good because other precancels which are much scarcer and harder to find don't bring anywhere near the prices that the far easier to find Bureaus do. For examples, city type coils. If you really want to collect something in the precancel line that is scarce, go in for them! I can name you at least 100 real rarities among them, every one much more of a rarity than any Bureau you can name outside of the few specifically excepted. Why don't these city type coil rarities fetch the prices? Because they're not the style, of course.

In conclusion: don't write and accuse me of knocking Bureaus, for I am doing nothing of the sort, I collect them and am proud of what I have. Don't write and call me a liar, because that isn't nice. Furthermore, I haven't said a thing here that can't or won't be borne out by the facts, present or future. I suppose there is a moral to all this, but I am not sure just what it is. Let's let it go at this: Keep on collecting Bureaus. My small son throws his balloon up in the air and plays the game of "keep it up." Keep the Bureau balloon up and chock full of gas, or we'll all faw down and go boom. And then something else will be in style.

PHILADELPHIA PROGRESSES

Plans for new and larger quarters and an increased membership were announced at the 20th Annual Dinner of the Philadelphia Stamp Club, held on Tuesday evening, May 7, at Mosebach's Restaurant.

Following an excellent menu, R. D. McGuffin of Narberth, Pa., newly-elected president of the organization, made a short talk, at the close of which he announced the appointment of the new Finance and Expansion Committee as follows: Chairman, Mr. A. B. Levy, Harry L. Jeffries, Fabian Levy, Richard Peters, Henry Pepper Norris.

Mr. A. B. Levy made a stirring speech of some length concerning the proposed expansion and financing plans, and asked for suggestions from any member which might be of service to the newly appointed committee.

The keynote of President McGuffin's talk was the necessity of governing the club in accordance with the wishes of the majority, and the abolishing of two evils which have acted to retard the progress of the Club. The first of these is card playing in the club room, and the second is the pressing need for larger and better quarters.

After the speeches Mr. Harry Jeffries gave the club a sight of selections from his well-known collections of U. S. He displayed 1851's on cover, a magnificent assortment of telegraphs and revenues, and a complete pane of the imperforate 3c 1851 in mint condition.

DEATH OF J. C. MORGENTHAU

A host of readers of the WEEKLY will hear with keen regret of the death of Julius C. Morgenthau, dean of American stamp dealers, and known internationally for his high class auction sales. Mr. Morgenthau passed away Wednesday, May 22, after an illness of several weeks. He comes from a family of prominence, his brother, Henry Morgenthau, being a former U. S. Ambassador to Turkey. Another brother is Maximilian Morgenthau.

Mr. Morgenthau was a member of all the leading philatelic organizations, and took a very active part in the New York exhibition of 1926. He was seventy years old. It will be remembered that upon the occasion of his seventieth birthday, Herman Toaspern favored our readers with a glowing account of his work for philately. His loss to the fraternity will be a severe one.

The following sketch of Julius C. Morgenthau, New York, who for so many years has added acclaim to the ranks of dealers appeared in the New York Times for May 23, 1929. It was written, no doubt, by Mr. Crane, who so ably covers the philatelic field for the Times, and is an interesting review of the philatelic and other activities of our lamented friend.

"Julius C. Morgenthau, celebrated philatelist, and a dealer in rare stamps under the firm name of J. C. Morgenthau & Co., died in his seventy-first year yesterday at his residence, 161 West Ninety-first Street, after an illness of four weeks. Death was due to cancer.

Mr. Morgenthau was the brother of Henry Morgenthau, former United States Ambassador to Turkey, and Maximilian Morgenthau. Besides them, he is survived by a widow, Mrs. Regina L. Morgenthau; a daughter, Mrs. Lucy M. Heineman, and three grandsons. Funeral services, which are to be private, will be held at the residence, where he had lived for twenty-nine years.

Born in Mannheim, Germany, on Aug. 2, 1858, Mr. Morgenthau was the son of Lazarus and Babette Guggenheim Morgenthau, coming to this country in his youth, he graduated in 1878 from the College of the City of New York, where he later was a teacher of Latin and logic for about ten years.

Mr. Morgenthau began dealing in rare

NEW CONGRESS STAMPS

By PERCY C. SMITH.

(Foreign New Issues Editor)

On May 10 last a set of stamps was issued to commemorate the Universal Postal Congress in London, opened by the Prince of Wales. They consist of the following denominations: ½p green, 1p red, 1½p brown, 2½p blue, and 1 pound black. The low values are surface printed by Messrs. Waterlow & Sons, Ltd., in sheets of 240, perforated 15x14, watermarked GvR multiple, block type. The ½p and 2½p, according to Mr. R. Roberts are about the feeblest design he has seen, and it is difficult for the mere philatelist to understand how they could have been chosen by the Committee. The ½p is ill-balanced and ugly, and has the appearance of being odd and out of proportion. The lettering, "Postal Union Congress 1929", is too large for the space allotted to it and the word "Postage" above the crown breaks into the feeble frame which surrounds the label. Our correspondent believes the 2½p is not much better, and to use his description "the design is something like a diminutive Bass's beer label," the figures again being altogether too large for the space allotted. I quote from Mr. Roberts description:—

"In both these stamps we are not told whether the denomination is pence, shillings or pounds. The only redeeming feature is His Majesty's head, the die of which was taken from the previous issue. The 1d and 1½d designed by Mr. Linzel are a little more pleasing, the head of His Majesty having the background of the Union Jack, which is quite an innovation in design.

"The set has one redeeming feature and that is the beautifully executed and artistically designed stamp of the £1 denomination, which is engraved and printed by Messrs. Bradbury, Wilkinson & Co. (the printers of the present 2/6, 5/- and 10/- stamps). They are printed in sheets of 20, perforated 12x11½, watermark big GVR cipher, one watermark falling on each stamp, the size of the stamp being 45mm x 38½mm.

"This stamp was designed by a well-known English black and white artist, Harold Nelson, whom I had the pleasure of interviewing in his old world studio in the Temple. Mr. Nelson is a well-known artist in "line drawing," and he has devoted himself largely to designs for book plates, exhibiting his first drawing, a "St. George" in the Royal Academy, 1899. He seems always to have had a love for St. George, which he has combined in this stamp with respectful loyalty to His Majesty King George.

"Mr. Nelson is well known in the field of commercial art and has lectured to art students on posters and decorative illustration. He is best known to philatelists for the design of the Wembley Exhibition stamp, 1924. He is on the Council of the Society of Graphic Art, and a member of the Artworkers Guild. I understand that on the strength of the design of this new stamp, Mr. Nelson has been invited to do something of much greater importance for the Government, in the way of designing, which we shall hear about later."

20TH CENTURY BRITISH COLONIES AT AUCTION

By PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

On May 14th and 15th, Messrs. J. C. Morgenthau & Co., sold at the Collectors Club, one of the finest collections of mint twentieth century British Colonials that have been offered in recent years. The collection was in mint condition throughout and contained practically all of the rarities.

The outstanding piece was the famous Newfoundland 3c Hawker Airplane, and this stamp which lists at $500, reached $970. A mint copy of the De Pinedo was sold to a dealer at $260. A mint copy of the Aitutaki 1920 6p inverted center, of which eight copies are known, sold at $250. An Antigua 1911 2s brought $4.10, an Australian Commonwealth 1915 £2 $21.50, the 1925, same denomination, $11.25. A Bahama 1902 £1 touched at the top, sold at $8.25, while the same stamp of 1921 reached $6.10. The War Tax 1s No. 305 sold at $3. The Barbados 2s6p of 1903 sold at $2.20, the 2s and 3s of 1912 at $3.10 and $7, while the 3s of 1916 and 1917 sold at $7 and $4.60, respectively. The British Honduras 1904 $5 sold at $12.95, the First Issue of British Solomon Islands complete at $4.30, while the 1914 £1 found a new owner at $6. The Brunei 1908 listing at $30, sold at $28.

There were several rarities in the Cayman Islands, the 5s of 1907 selling at $10.50. Among the 1907 Provisional surcharges, the ½p reached $12.75, the 1p $10, and the 2½p on 4 pence $41. The 1p on 4p cataloguing $60 sold at $55. This stamp, by the way, is decidedly scarcer than No. 20, which catalogues more. The Cook Islands 1920 1p inverted center, of which eight are known, sold at $260. The Cyprus 1922 10s sold at $14, and the £1 of 1928 at $6.40. The high value of East Africa and Uganda brought from a half to three-quarters of catalogue or more. The Fiji 1903 £1 reached $10, while the Postage Due 1917 ½p Type II off center, sold at $31, the 1p at $7, the 2p at $6, and the 3p at $19. The lot of Gambia cataloguing $153.97 were bunched and sold as a whole at $97.50.

Among the Gibraltar, the 1903 2s, 4s, 8s and £1 sold at $4.70, $3.80, $5.75 and $40 respectively. The 1904 2s, 4s and £1 went at $2.70, $5.10 and $39 respectively. The 1907 2s, 4s and 8s sold at $3.30, $5.25 and $14, and the 1912 4s, 8s and £1 at $1.70, $3.70 and $6.60, with the 1921, £1 going to $6.25. The Great Britain Officials brought very good prices for the scarcer ones. The Grenada 1902 10s sold at $5.60, whereas the same stamp in the 1904 series reached $10.75. Hong Kong did not seem to be much in demand and went at most reasonable prices. The 1903 $5 at $3, the $10 at $8, whereas the same two stamps of 1904, very slightly off center, were sold at $2.50 and $10.25 respectively. The demand for the Irish Free States has very materially fallen off, the 1922 2s6p, 5s and 10s, Nos. 12, 13, 34, selling at $2, $3.10 and $2.75 for fine copies. The same denominations Nos. 56 and 57 in one lot reached $1.65, while the 10s No. 58 sold at $3. As a whole, Irish stamps averaged under a third catalogue. The scarcest Jamaica item, namely the 1905 2s brown, reached $9.25. The 1919 3s No. 85 sold at $4.70, while two copies of the 5s No. 86 brought $4 and $3.70 respectively. The Lagos 1904 1s, 2s6p, 5s and 10s, sold at $2, $5.50, $2.60 and $32 respectively. The 10s of 1905 reached $4.10. Among the Malta the 1919 10s No. 65 listing $175 was sold at $152, while two copies of the 1921 10s No. 76 sold at $31. The same stamp overprinted "Self Government" N sold at $22, whereas No. 96 sold at The very rare Natal £1.10s No. 1 wonderful condition brought $1 New Britain overprints brought reasonable prices, whereas in Niu 1903 1s error No. 11, always a stamp reached $41. The 1920 6p wi verted center of which but eight are known sold at $332.50. A 1901 2s6p sold at $28.50. A Pe Island 1920 1p inverted center, eigh ies known, found a new owner at St. Kitts 1923 10s, two fine cop shades, brought $17.50 and $15.5 spectively. The 5s No. 61 sold at Stamps in the later colonies brou proportion. Southern Nigeria, pou 1902 and 1907, first and second Nos. 20, 31 and 43 respectively, re $28.50, $19 and $14.25. A Straits ments 1915 $25 sold at $30. The rare Transvaal 1908 1p, Anchor mark, lightly cancelled, and by th it is not known in any other con cataloguing $100, sold at $202.50. Zanzibar high values reflected thei ity, the 1913 20R going at $20, th at $35, and the 100R at $47.50.

The entire sale totaled upwa $10,000. Judging from the prices whole, one would conclude that twe century British Colonies are not in the demand that was prevalent a y so back. Rarities bring good fi but the general run seem to be plentiful, and as a result, dealers the largest buyers.

M THE "FAMILY MAGAZINE"

e following clipping was cut from py of the Family Magazine, New , 1840, and is interesting, even if not rtant, in a postalic sense:

n 1754 Benjamin Franklin was post- er-general, with permission to make housand pounds continental money, could, out of the whole post office tment in America. The very next he gave the astounding notice that mail, which had before run once a ight to New England, would start a week the year round, whereby ers might be obtained to letters be- Philadelphia and Boston in three s, which before had required six s. In 1774 it was announced in all apers of the colony, that 'John Per- engages to ride post, to carry the once a week between Philadelphia Baltimore, and will take along or back led horses, or any parcel.' a postrider proposed starting, no- was given of his intention by ad- sement, also by the town-crier, for al days in advance. In 1790, the er of post offices had increased gh the country to seventy-five."

THE GREAT FERRARI

We are given the privilege of reproducing an autographed picture of the greatest of philatelists, in many respects, Marquis Ferrari de la Renotière. So much glamor attaches to the name that a photograph of this insatiable collector will be scanned with much interest. It comes to us by courtesy of E. Luder-Edelmann & Co. of Zurich, Switzerland, who recently sold at auction a portion of the Ferrari stamps.

BY WAY OF CLEVELAND

The Garfield-Perry Club News has been running an interesting history of the society by Mr. W. H. Barnum, who, as a boy and man, has been a pillar of the club for over thirty-eight years. The members are making things hum and their programs are attractive. We notice that Mr. John Rust, whose name latterly has been missing from the public philatelic prints is slated to show his early U. S. on May 31st. The members of the club and their friends have been invited to a "get-together informal weekend" by the brethren of the Philatelic Society of Pittsburgh, A. P. S. Chapter No. 6, at the Roosevelt Hotel, Pittsburgh, on June 8th and 9th; and report has it that the Cleveland contingent is pawing the turf in its eagerness to be off. The program includes a dinner, an informal auction sale, and an exhibition with prizes in the form of a special chromium shield; and at least seven awards will be made. As well, invitations were extended to organizations at Sharon, Butler and Harrisburg, all in Pennsylvania; Detroit, Michigan and Akron, Dayton and Youngstown, Ohio. We take no chances in saying that those present will have something to talk about. The committee chairmen are: Executive, Dr. K. M. Day; entertainment, O. L. Smith; publicity, B. V. Imbrie; finance, Frank Shute; and the auctioneer is O. E. DeSio.

ODDS AND ENDS—

THE Yorkville (N. Y.) Stamp Society has just observed its sixth birthday with a big celebration. Nearly everyone present received a philatelic gift. A donation auction followed, and refreshments were served. Pres. Louis Benz and Sec. E. A. Weston, spoke briefly on the history of the society, which starting with a handful of members in 1922 now boasts nearly a hundred. Officers reelected include Louis Benz, Pres.; Armin Zahn, Vice-Pres.; E. A. Weston, Sec.-Treas.; H. Traumm, Sales Mgr.; Ignatz Reiner, Dr. E. W. Lawrence, and Herman Rosenthal, Trustees.

AT a meeting of the Grand Forks (N. Dak.) Philatelic Society held May 14, the Rev. S. E. Halfyard of Laramore, showed his collection of Newfoundland and Canada; Dr. Stangebye, United States postage and also a number of very choice items of old and rare Newfoundland; Mr. Hagen, U. S. Bureau Precancels, and Mr. Squires, U. S. postage, especially strong in mint 20th century. Dr. Stangebye told of some interesting and humorous stamp hunts.—E. C. BUNDLIE, Pres.

THE Fort Orange Stamp Club of Albany, has just held its third annual banquet at the University Club. The guest of honor was LeRoy C. Brown of Olean, specialist in the 3c U. S. 1851-6 issues. Mr. Brown supplemented his talk with a display of stamps and covers. The Committee of Arrangements consisted of Theodore Horton, W. L. L. Peltz, George R. Cooley and Richard Walton.

A VERY successful stamp exhibition was given by the Hartford (Conn.) Juvenile Stamp Club, May 17-25. We would like very much to publish a list of the classes that were entered. Mrs. Louise W. Kellogg, well and favorably known to many of our readers, was the moving spirit in the enterprise. A copy of the prospectus is of marked interest. There were classes for exhibits of animal, boat, air mail, scenery, children, rulers, precancels, etc. In addition awards were made for essays on, "Why I collect stamps." We wish we had space to give ample justice to this largely attended and very successful exhibition.

THE Atlanta (Ga.) Collectors Club, at its annual meeting recently, elected the following officers: Pres., C. A. Carroll; Vice-Pres., L. B. Seal; Sec., C. R. Bense; Treas, Thomas Fielder. The organization, now in its seventh year, maintains club rooms in the Walton Building, and meets every Friday evening. Visitors are welcome.

A TRIBUTE TO DR. BABCOCK

By H. W. BOERS.

Detroit is working on a $3,000,000 charity fund, and a recent gift of $5,000 from Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Bloomer honors Dr. Warren L. Babcock, the well-known Detroit philatelist, in a very substantial manner. The donors wrote:—

"Dr. Warren L. Babcock, director of Grace hospital, has devoted the larger part of his life to a very unselfish, painstaking and successful work in behalf of Grace hospital and in behalf of hospital work generally in the city of Detroit. He is very much beloved by the staff of Grace hospital.

We have felt that because of his outstanding work and because we are assured that it will meet with the general approval of every one connected with the hospital, we would like to designate our subscription to Grace hospital for the purpose of naming one of the new solariums to be built into the additions to the hospital, 'The Warren L. Babcock solarium'."

EDITORIAL

IN view of the interest that collectors, and to some extent the general public, are showing in the reports of new U. S. issues, commemorative and otherwise, we have tried to obtain information of the policy that has been adopted by the new postmaster general in considering the subject. The following letter has come from Washington: "Of course I cannot commit the department in any way, but as for any 'policy' that has been adopted formally, I think that I can say that there is none in the particular to which you refer. Postmaster General Brown certainly has a comprehensive view of the subject since he has publicly invited suggestions for designs for a new set of stamps, and it may be that his consideration of ideas for special issues will be guided by a broad understanding." Now we know all about it.

"POSTAGE & THE MAILBAG" for April calls the current one cent stamp "A Government Antique," and italicizes its demand that its color should be changed at the earliest possible moment. The green one cent is alleged to be an invitation to the one who receives it on mail to throw the piece in the waste basket unopened. The "archaic" stamp is said to drive many of the direct-mailers to go to "the extra expense of using two ½-cent stamps." The claim is made that the green one-cent stamp was "used by our great, great grandfathers," and that it should be banished. Too, "discontinue the ½-cent stamp, if government economy demands it, and give us a brown one-cent stamp." The editor of our esteemed contemporary is well-meaning, but his request for a brown one-cent would have disturbed the serenity of the deliberations of the recent London postal conference. At the postal congress in Rome, in 1906, the ruling was made that the equivalent of the one-cent stamp should be in green; the two-cent in red; and the five-cent in blue, and while the exigencies of the war and post-war period caused violations of the understanding, the old schedule was re-adopted at the Madrid meeting in 1920, if memory serves us right.

WRITING of early Chicago, in a recent issue of the Chicago Tribune, ex-congressman J. Frank Aldrich recalls incidents of his boyhood. He says: "My father's place of business in 1865 was on the River Street side of the government enclosure (Fort Dearborn), and the one remaining block-house of Fort Dearborn was still standing near by. A curio shop was in one corner of it, and here we boys purchased coins and postage stamps during the years when that craze was at its height." This is an "early date" stamp shop.

WITH regret, the death several weeks ago of Joseph T. Lively, Chicago, is announced. Mr. Lively died at an advanced age, and his fine personality will be recalled by those who were active in affairs at the time Mr. Lively was to the fore. For many years, he was a factor in Chicago's philatelic circles and in his unassuming way, he did much to encourage an interest in stamp collecting. He was interested in books as well as stamps, and as a store-keeper he had both in stock. He had many friends, and several ex-Chicagoans always made a pilgrimage to his store when they re-visited their old home. Mr. Lively, who came from London, Toronto, was a resident of Chicago for many years, and his death breaks a link between the old and the new philately in the city of his adoption.

IN Sinclair Lewis' latest book, "Dodsworth," Sam Dodsworth returned from his first trip to Europe to the city of Zenith, where he had prospered as an automobile magnate. In his simplicity of heart, he sought to provide entertainment for the little guests at a children's party by gifts from the 5 and 10 cent store that he intended to distribute. When he found that the sophisticated little men and women were showered with French perfume, "packets of a 1,000 stamps," riding crops and portable phonographs, engraved stationery, and a pair of love birds, he guiltily concealed the tissue hats, false noses and other frivolous fripperies that were once sure-fire sensations. Poor Dodsworth, who felt so out of tune with the present-day universe. He should have had a hobby as an antidote for his bewildered mind. In his stamps, he would have had a solace for disappointment and disillusionment, and they would have saved him a world of worry when the threads of existence became tangled. He found that money and leisure were not the open sesame to happiness. Stamps provide a field for work without worry.

THE following notes on the new Chinese issue have come from Mr. W. J. Tarrant, Hollywood, California: "Tsiang-Kie-Che. A new commemorative set of stamps was issued in China the latter part of April bearing the picture of the Nationalist leader, Tsiang Kie Che, to celebrate the unification of China by the Nationalist forces and the overthrow of the Northern armies. The new issue consists of four values, as follows: 1c, brown-ochre; 4c, olive-green; 10c, deep blue; and $1, carmine-rose. For use in Kirin and Heilungkiang, Sin Kiang, and Yunnan, there are the three customary overprints, meaning 'Limited for use in —— province.' The stamps are the same size as the recent Chang Tso Lin issue, but the engraving and design are more pleasing and the colors are very attractive. The central design is the portrait of Tsiang in uniform surrounded by a wreath. The inscription is in Chinese and English, and reads, 'To Commemorate Unification.' The values are in each corner in Chinese at the top, and English in the lower corners."

THE British set of special design to commemorate the Postal Union Congress in London was on sale on May 10, 1929, the day the ninth convention of the U. P. U. was opened. Mr. F. Hugh Vallancey, London, favors us with a first day cover bearing the ½, 1, 1½ and 2½d, respectively, and likewise, a cover sent May 10 by Mr. Frank Godden was handed us by the recipient, Mr. S. Newbury, Chicago, with its enclosure of the four stamps unused. The one pound is to be had in London, of course, but only at the principal offices in the provincial towns. The stamps are attractive and the ½ and 2½ are noteworthy as emphasizing the use of white space to advantage. The inclusion of a stamp of the value of a pound in contrast with the other values of modest denominations in the set has excited comment of uncomplimentary kind in the British press and some plain speaking has been indulged in by those who see a disposition to exploit collectors in consequence.

THE correspondence that we have received on the subject of the Kansas and Nebraska overprints reveals that some confusion attended the handling of the stamps that were ordered by collectors from the offices in the states. No good purpose is to be served by reciting the story of the different cross-currents that involved the issue, of the different readers. Speaking of first day covers of Nebraska, Dr. Chas. N. Olsen, Hartington, Nebraska, says: "The 2c stamps arrived at Hartington at 2 o'clock, April 15th, and I bought a sheet and put ty-five covers through the same noon." The cover submitted by D sen is dated April 15, at 7 P. M.

Air Mail News

BY DONALD E. DICKASON, Wooster, Ohio

(This department covers air mail news from the purely philatelic standpoint. Coöperators will find their names listed each week. If your letter calls for a reply please enclose a stamped, addressed envelope. This is your department, so make your contribution as generous as possible.)

Official Flights

First night flight on No. 11, postponed from May 1st, took place the 20th, cachet in purple almost exactly like the Lincoln, Nebr. one.If you're lucky enough to have any May 1st covers from the transcontinental route, Lincoln and points west, you may get the official contractors' cachet applied by sending them, with return postage, to Perham C. Nahl, 6043 Harwood Ave., Oakland, Calif. Send a stamped and addressed return envelope, please.The May 1st cachet described as used at Reno was applied to just 600 covers, by authority of the postmaster, and with the coöperation of the Chamber of Commerce.Don't send covers to Porterville, Cal., for a rumored air mail stop. Postmaster will simply return, as there's nothing definite on this yet.

First service to Honduras, British Honduras, and Nicaragua via FAM 5 commenced from Miami May 21st. A very attractive cachet, palm trees and plane, was applied in purple. It was rumored that additional stops might be announced at the last minute, as happened on route 9.The new Mexican route, Tejeria-Tapachula, was inaugurated May 15 and 16. A highly ornamental cachet was used in magenta or purple. I note two slightly different sizes of design and lettering on cachets on letters sent me.

Here's one that was almost too good to be true—but it is, just the same. A. E. Koestler of Portland, Ore., had mailed last winter a number of letters addressed to himself at the various dog team mail stations along the north shore. As he wasn't there, they were naturally returned to the sender. The two for Long Point, post office for Greenely Island, arrived April 18. The postmaster, just to be nice, sent them over to the island to the plane, as that would be the next transportation outside. The covers are postmarked there, at Murray Bay and Montreal, and came all the way with the Bremen fliers. Mr. Koestler even saw a news reel showing these two letters being handed into the plane. Some people surely have the luck!

This page is primarily for you, the Junior collector. We are interested in what interests you and we want you to take possession of it, if in any way it can serve you.

We also invite the Senior collector to extend words of advice, encouragement and stimulation and thus develop in the Junior a real passion for Philately.

Bear in mind that two short articles of from 50 to 75 words read better than one long one. Address all communications to the Beverly office.

Some Short Items

Shanghai-China. — This surcharge found on U. S. stamps used in China is accompanied by the new value at double the face value of the stamp. These stamps were used by the U. S. Postal Agency at Shanghai and sold at their surcharged value in local currency, but valid to the amount of their original value for the payment of postage to the U. S. The overprinting was made necessary by the fluctuations in the value of silver.

Shanghai Local Post.—The inscription shown on the 1890-93 postage stamps of Shanghai.

Shanghai L. P. O.—The inscription shown on all the stamps of Shanghai issued prior to 1890. The letters "L. P. O." signify "Local Post Office."

Shanghai Municipality. — The inscription shown on all Shanghai stamps issued since 1893.

Vazoff

In 1920, Bulgaria issued a set of six distinctive stamps to commemorate the 70th anniversary of the birth of the famous Bulgarian patriot and author—Ivan Vazoff. The 30s shows a picture of his birthplace at Sopot. The 50s and the 5L show famous characters in Vazoff's writings. The author's pictures are found on the 1L, one showing him as he was at the age of 20, and the other at the age of 70 years. A larger picture of him is shown on the 2L stamp, while the 3L shows pictures of his homes in Philippopolis and Sofia. He died in 1921, just one year after his country had honored him so well.—A. C. LeDuc.

Algeria

Algeria is a French colony and territory of Northern Africa containing nearly 6,000,000 people. This colony was without stamps of its own until 1924, when the then current stamps of France were surcharged "ALGERIE". Since 1926 a regular issue has been current. Previous to 1924 the colony of Algeria had used the regular stamps of France and these can only be told by the postal markings.—A. C. LeDuc.

Azerbaijan

By A. C. LeDuc.

Azerbaijan—there is a name that has only been in stamp catalogs and albums a short time. We find that the catalog lists 126 varieties of stamps for this erstwhile stamp issuing country and that prices for them range from two cents to thirty dollars each, with several not priced at all.

Turning to a recent map of Russia, it will be seen that Azerbaijan occupies a frontier position beyond the Caucasus Mountains, and borders on the Caspian Sea and Persia.

Until 1813 it was a part of Persia, when it was acquired by Russia. It remained a part of Russia until the breakdown of the Russian monarchy in 1917. Azerbaijan, in common with its neighboring provinces, formed a republic in 1917. This republic had a stormy career due to the variety of interests and religions of its peoples. As soon as the Bolsheviki came into control of Russia they forced a Soviet government onto the people of Azerbaijan, and this state became again a part of Russia.

During the year 1919, the first stamps for Azerbaijan were issued and consisted of ten pictorial lithographs, each stamp in three or four colors. The two low values show a soldier with flag, while the next three higher values show the setting sun. The 2, 5, and 10 rubles show a fort at Baku, and the 25 and 50 rubles show pictures of the Temple of Eternal Fires. The 1922 issue is also a pictorial issue and shows various points of interest in and around Baku. The most interesting of these is the spouting oil well shown on the 2 ruble stamp. This stamp depicts the present industrial importance of this province. This and the 1919 set were also issued with various new values surcharged, to take care of the depreciated paper currency. For a short time in 1923, the stamps of the Trans Caucasian Federation were used in Azerbaijan, but these were withdrawn and the regular stamps of Russia put into use.

The unsurcharged stamps for this state are all modestly priced, but many of the surcharged varieties are expensive and practically unobtainable. Therefore, the idea of general collectors making a complete collection of Azerbaijan is out of the question. Any values of this country, used on entire covers, would be good items to own. Certain labels showing pictures of an old man, a bear, scenery, etc., and inscribed Azerbaijan were never issued by that country and can at best, only be classed as souvenirs.

Shanghai.—The most important seaport of Central China. Its first postage stamps were issued in 1865 and it continued to issue its own stamps until its post office was taken over by the Chinese Imperial Post in 1897.

PERSIA

recent advertisement, I had the pleas- offering most of the U. S. postage evenue stamps with inverted center and emand was so great that practically thing was sold almost as soon as the tisement appeared. As a result, I am mely anxious to make purchases of in- d centers and solicit selections of any- fine in the way of these stamps.

ave recently had the pleasure of ac- ng a unique complete sheet of the a, 1911 5 krans ultramarine and red, s No. 492, with inverted center. These printed by a Dutch firm noted for its lness and are much more desirable some of the later issues, which are cat- ed up to $250.00 by Champion. If these os were a U. S. variety, they would and upward of $2000. each. Being Persia, they are, of course, not as able but are exceedingly rare, and the vailable are not likely to last long, as elongs in every twentieth century col- n. A single mint copy is available at Blocks of four at proportionate rates. tamps were issued eighteen years back here is little if any likelihood of any being found. It is the only denomi- a of the entire series that has been d with the center inverted.

ou are a collector of inverted centers, e other choice and magnificent foreign of this type to offer. Next to our U. S issues, I know of no error or of stamps more popular or more in nd than the inverted center. They excellent opportunity for satisfactory tment.

FROM ONE GENERATION TO ANOTHER
A new feature of the stamp game is the number of fellows who are building up collections for their sons or grandsons. They get a lot of fun out of it themselves and in the meantime are creating valuable property investments for later generations, for stamps do rise in value, if you buy wisely, and give them time to mature.

New Edison Stamp

Through the courtesy of the Third Assistant Postmaster General, Mr. R. S. Regar, we are able to further confirm my recent notes in the "Stop Press" department, wherein the announcement was first made that a new 2c red, known as the "Edison" stamp, commemorating the fiftieth anniversary of the appearance of the incandescent lamp would be placed on sale. The Postmaster General has approved the design showing an incandescent lamp in the center and printed in the same size as our current emission.

The die is practically completed, the plates will be laid out in short order and a supply will be available at Menlo Park, N. J., the home of Thomas A. Edison on June 5th. Supplies will be on sale in numerous other offices, including the Philatelic Agency at Washington, on the following day. The department has decided to issue in excess of one hundred million of which about one-third will be printed from the flat plate, about one-third from the rotary press, and the balance in sidewise rotary coil form. The flat plate will, of course, be perforated 11, the rotaries 11 x 10½, and the coils 10, as in the case of our current series. Quite a number of plates will be made in view of the large number to be printed and distributed.

It is requested that orders addressed to the Philatelic Agency calling for this stamp be confined to the one stamp alone and that a separate order for any other varieties wanted be sent. It is also suggested that where possible, collectors obtain their supply from the local office as the Agency is still greatly behind in completing their orders.

Plate Numbers

Through the courtesy of Mr. A. W. Hall, Director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, we are enabled to bring our list of plate numbers up to and including May 16th. It will be noted that our list gets smaller and smaller, due to the fact that plates under the new process are lasting very much longer than ever before, thus cutting down the cost very materially of our stamp production. There is no new variety in this list which has not been noted heretofore.

New Series

We mentioned in a recent Chronicle that the Postmaster General had solicited suggestions for a new series stating that he was inclined to favor an issue without portraits, differing from any that we have had heretofore, with the possible exception of the Parcel Post series.

Mr. P. R. Hough, one of our readers, has addressed a communication to the Postmaster General suggesting that in issuing a new series that our many native wild flowers not be forgotten, that we should also remember the numerous animals that are native to America only, and further calls attention to our natural scenery and wonders, such as the Grand Canyon, Niagara Falls, Yosemite Falls, etc. It is believed that in such a series several of our present scenes will be permitted to remain, such as the Capitol at Washington, which now appears upon the $2, the Lincoln Monument on the $1, the Golden Gate on the 20c, and possibly Niagara Falls on the 25c.

Consideration certainly should be given to what is possibly the foremost building in America, namely—Independence Hall at Philadelphia. Besides the natural scenery, we should call attention to some of our wonderful bridges and other engineering feats and remember the numerous industries which have placed us in the forefront as a nation, such as the airplane, the radio, the telegraph, the automobile, the electrical, the steel and iron, etc. No doubt, the Postmaster General will receive thousands of suggestions, and it is to be hoped that over the summer months the Department may find the opportunity of going over these suggestions in detail and reach a decision as to such a series of stamps which will be ready for the early fall.

In the meantime, the Department is still receiving numerous suggestions for individual commemorative stamps, commemorating events and scenery of local as well as national importance.

Philippines

Messrs. Charles Blum and Walter Bruggmann kindly send copies of a new error which has been found in the Philippine Air Mail series of 1926. They have now located the 26c, blue-green, perforated 12, instead of 11, as heretofore. In other words, Scott's No. 269 of the 1911 series has been overprinted in addition to the perf. 11 No. 298. Possibly one sheet was overprinted, distributed and mostly used before being discovered. Mr. Bruggmann writes that only fourteen unused copies and one used copy have been found, after a thorough search was made of those that could be examined in Manila. Quite likely some of these rare errors are reposing in the collections of those who obtained copies of the normal stamp.

Chile.—Whitfield King & Co. advise that the 5c green has been issued watermarked star in shield.

Cuba.—We have been shown by Hermann Focke a set of the new stamps showing the new Capitol building. The stamps are indeed handsome, and will prove very popular with the average collector. We have already illustrated the design in an earlier number of the WEEKLY.

Falkland Islands.—We learn from Stamp Collecting that the forthcoming semi-pictorial issue has been designed, engraved and printed by the old established firm of Perkins, Bacon & Co., Ltd., making the third change of printers since postage stamps were first introduced into this colony half a century ago.

Finland.—A total of one million sets is to be issued of the three stamps commemorating the seventh centenary of the port of Albo. The design of the 1m value shows shipping leaving the harbor, that of the 1½m a view of the Cathedral, while the 2m has a vignette of the ancient Castle. The trio is inscribed with the dates of the centenary "1229 1929." Towards the end of the year Finland is to have a new general issue of postage stamps of which the denominations 50pf and 1½m will bear the familiar "Lion of Vasa," and the 5, 10 and 25m pictorial subjects carried out in rectangular format. Stamp Collecting furnishes the above information.

Hungary.—Whitfield King & Co. advise that the 1 filler grey and 3 filler orange have been issued on the new watermark paper.

Italy.—We illustrate the six designs of the new issues chronicled last week.

Portugal.—The following figures of recent Portuguese provisionals are from L'Echo de la Timbrologie: 4c on 8c, 1,024,480; 4c on 30c, 629,620; 40c on E1.10, 526,360; 80c on E1.50, 1,911,[illegible] and 1.60 on E3.20, 41,440. Overprint "Revalidado" 15, 1,913,000; 10c, 2,577,[illegible] 40c brown, 2,748,000; 40c green, 4[illegible] 000; 96c, 364,680; and E1.60, 713,64[illegible]

Tripoli.—We illustrate two types of the recently issued stamps placed on sale for the benefit of the Third Trade Exhibition. They are similar to the [illegible] issued for the Second Exhibition in 1[illegible] but the subjects of the design are different and the amount printed consists [illegible]

65,000 sets. We understand the characteristic vignettes were designed by Aldo Terzi, and offset printed at the Stabilimento Poligraficio per Amministrazione dello Stato, in Rome, in sheets of sixty for the 30 and 50c, and L1.25, in sets of fifty for the remaining values.

Stop Press News

NEW ½c ROTARY

As announced in the "Stop Press" department of the WEEKLY the Department has decided to fill two very large orders recently received from New York and Chicago for ½c stamps in precancelled condition, by means of the rotary press. While the orders to the Bureau call for the precancel stamps only, I have had the pleasure of discussing the subject with the Third Assistant Postmaster General and requested that collectors be favored to the extent of running off a good supply without cancellation, so that they might have the stamp in their collection in an unused condition. He has assured us that we would be favored and that the stamps when ready will be available at the Philatelic Agency. It is doubtful whether any large supply will be made for general distribution, as the demand for this denomination is limited.

PHILIP WARD, JR.

The ½c Rotary was placed on sale May 25, and we have a first day cover by courtesy of A. E. Gorham. He reports plate numbers 19650 and 19651.

RE-SALE OF WASHED STAMPS

Postal inspectors believe that they have broken the nation-wide ring engaged in the re-sale of washed, cancelled postage stamps. It is said that this practice has been the means of defrauding the Government of a million dollars yearly. Recently twenty-two persons residing in Chicago were arrested and it is reported that a total of two hundred have been apprehended in the alleged conspiracy of re-use of cancelled stamps. The dealings have been so extensive, especially in the parcel post business, that the P. O. Department has been considering the doing away with stamps, and substituting the use of labels. We are indebted to D. B. Damon for the above particulars.

STOCKHOLM-NEW YORK FLIGHT

N. Y. CITY, May 27.

Capt. Albin Ahrenberg has been commissioned by the Swedish Government to make a three-stop flight, Stockholm to New York. There will be a quantity of mail carried, limited to sixty pounds. The Capt. will be accompanied by Lieut. Axel Tloden and Hans Ljunglard. They will stop at Reykjavik, Iceland, Ivigtut, Greenland, and Belle Isle, Newfoundland. The trip will take three days, and is scheduled to start June 3.

LOUIS J. GUENZEL.

AIR MAIL NOTES

—Air Derby, Buffalo, N. Y., June 8-9, cachet. Letters to C. J. Martin, 489 Dartmouth St.Airport dedication, Coshocton, O., about June 15, cachet. Covers to Coshocton Flying Service.

—The first amphibian air mail was carried between Cleveland and Detroit May 14 and 15, leaving Cleveland the first day, and due to stormy weather, returning May 15. Amelia Earhart piloted both planes. A special cachet was provided. 469 letters left Cleveland, and fewer than that number from Detroit. J. T. Schweier, Railway Express Co., Cleveland, will supply the cachet on any covers missed. Forty express covers each way were flown.

—We urge our readers who are interested in air mail to write Henry O. Meisel, Clintonville, Wis., Sec. of the American Flying Association, for details of the organization. Mr. Meisel claims that he has a good thing and he wants others to realize it.

—We have already acknowledged the receipt from Mr. Strasser of air mail cover from the first amphibian flight bearing Cleveland cancellation, and now we have one from the Detroit end from the same source. We thank Mr. Strasser for his courtesy.

DONALD E. DICKASON.

$1,000.00 STOCK STAMP

ALBANY, N. Y., May 28.

One thousand dollar stock transfer tax stamps will be issued by the State Department of Taxation and Finance on or about July 1. These stamps, as all similar paper, will be handled by the state's fiscal agent, the County Trust Co. of New York; its agent, the Empire Trust Co. of New York, and various sub agents.

The New York stamp act imposes a tax of two cents a share on the sale of, or agreement to sell, shares of stock of $100 face value or fraction thereof and on every share of stock of no-par value. The $1,000 stamps will cover transactions of 50,000 shares of these classes of stock. The highest denomination stamp now used is for $100 and has been used since 1928.

THE 2c EDISON

The Edison lamp commemorative will be issued perforated, imperforate, and in coils.

THE NEW CUBAN STAMPS

By courtesy of Hermann Focke, we have been shown the set of the new Cuban Capitol stamps. There seems to be a shortage of the 20c value, and it appears that the entire issue of this stamp has been cornered. We take the liberty of printing Mr. Focke's observations upon the situation:—

"The entire sets, including the 20c violet, have been for sale by local dealers since yesterday, but if they were not obtainable at the General P. O. at Habana, where did they come from? Maybe that this particular value was not sold to the public at all, and will become another candidate of the "rank speculative" list; who knows? Perhaps I shall have more to say about it later on. Since 50,000 were printed of this value, it would not be easy for one or a few dealers to corner the entire supply."

A SPLENDID BINDER

At last we have a spring back binder for WEEKLY subscribers. It is made of cloth, with name of the paper in gilt letters on the cover, and will hold the entire year's issues. Weight, 2½ lbs., and will be sent carriage prepaid for $2.00.

OUR REVIEW

Elsewhere in this issue is advertised a Coin Index, a very handy guide to the identification of postage stamps. The beginner who finds the word "Auksinas" on the stamp before him, will get the desired assistance by looking the word up in the coinage book published by Natalie Newell, 3768 Stewart Ave., Coconut Grove, Fla. The price of this index is only 10c, and will be found very convenient and very helpful to the ordinary collector.

NEWS FROM GREECE

By P. J. DROSSOS, Athens.

A post office decree has just been issued putting the four different Navarino five drs. out of use. No mention is made of the 1½dr, the supply of which has long been exhausted, nor of the 4dr. These two values may still be used and it will not be long before the 4drs, used for foreign postage, will soon be used up, also. The reason that the 5drs has been taken out of use is that it is to be surcharged 1½drs each (which is the inland postage), as there is a considerable stock on hand. Details as to the surcharge are not available at this writing.

There is a rumor that the 80 lepta of the current set will be surcharged 75 lepta, so that inland letters may be franked with it. This value, as collectors know, conforms to no postal tariff except that on foreign printed matter, up to 50gr. If the 80 lepta is thus surcharged, the formation of the 1927 set will not be easy in the future.

The number of letters carried on the Orient Flight of the Graf Zeppelin has been given as 17,000, which is correct. Of these, however, only 3,000 are backstamped (Rome, Athens, El Ramle, Spalatto and Vienna): the remainder which were thrown off in Palestine and addressed to German towns, being a rather roundabout way to get there from Friedrichshafen, were not backstamped where they were thrown off, and this omission caused many complaints. The foregoing information is gathered from different sources, especially from the Postmarke-Wien, Nos. 189 and 190.

ITALY'S NEW SET

From Mr. S. Bayer of Rome, we have received six different designs that make up the new definite set of Italy of nineteen stamps ranging from 5 cent, showing the wolf of Rome to the 50 lire, with the king in profile. The stamps were to be on sale April 21, 1929, to commemorate the anniversary of the building of the city of Rome. The stamps are examples of rotography by the Poligraphic Establishment. Clippings from the Italian newspapers show cuts of the new stamps which are receiving a warm welcome. The stamps are an impressive set and their historical suggestions will make them favorites with collectors, we have no doubt.

Green Sale of Original Covers

A SUPERB LOT OF DESIRABLE ITEMS BROUGHT INTERESTING PRICES

By PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

On Friday, May 17, 1929, Mr. D. F. Kelleher sold in Boston, the well-known collection of original covers, gotten together over a period of a number of years, by Mr. L. L. Green, of the same city. Mr. Green devoted his entire activities to the entire covers of the world and amassed a wonderful lot. The condition throughout was unusually fine and covers which are seldom ever noted, were to be found in this lot. As a result, the sale was well attended and numerous out-of-town bidders were represented. Good things brought good prices, especially among the U. S. issues.

The most desirable item in the sale was a beautiful copy of the 1847 5c Milbury, nicely tied to the entire cover with a red "PAID." While the stamp was slightly creased, it was an unusually fine piece and now graces the collection of Judge Robert S. Emerson at the highest price the stamp has ever brought, namely —$5,700. A copy of the 5c New York used on a letter which was written from Cuba and addressed to London, and which was later stamped and postmarked at the New York post office, reached $206. A very fine horizontal pair on cover lightly pen-cancelled sold at $156.

Carriers and Locals, especially when tied to the cover, commanded substantial prices when in fine condition. A Baltimore 1c black, nicely tied with the 3c 1857 sold at $18, while copies of the New York 3c blue on cover, but not tied, brought $26 and $27. A dark blue, tied, sold at $32. A City Dispatch Post Local 2c green No. 6451 cancelled "FREE" in red sold at $32, while a Mason's New Orleans Express 2c black on yellow, reached $116. A Floyd's No. 6512 sold at $20, and a pair and single of Hussey No. 6561, described as "decidedly rare in other than a single" sold at $14.25. A Swart No. 6766 nicely postmarked brought $19.

Railroad and Packet cancellations on early covers mostly with 3c 1851 to 1857 brought prices ranging from $4 to $37, the latter being paid for a 3c 1861 with cover postmarked, "Steamer River Queen" in circle. One of the well-known New Orleans "N. O. U. S. City Post" in green on a 3c 1851 brought $42.

Patriotic covers ranged in price from $1 to $5, with one exception, namely—a Jeff. Davis, colored picture, showing him going and returning from War. This now graces a prominent New England collection at $15.50.

The 1847 issues on covers brought what might be described as enormous figures, the outstanding price being $325 for a single copy of the 10c cancelled with the well-known red St. Louis postmark. The piece, however, was unusually fresh and attractive, but these figures are not a criterion for future pieces of the same type, as the cancellation is readily found upon covers bearing this stamp. The same stamp with U. S. Express Mail on cover sold at $15, and a further copy on a small Valentine envelope showing a really attractive flower pot design on the envelope, sold because of this embossed design, at $183. A second copy with the St. Louis postmark remarkably fine sold at $137.50, while one from Montgomery, Ala., sold at $80. Among the 5c issues, a nice 5c orange-brown from Kingston, N. Y., sold at $32, while a superb copy tied in red to a small cover bearing Bloods No. 6260, in addition to ter price being paid for a seal postmark, Philada. Railroad sold at $49. Two copies of the 5c deep orange in the printing from the so-called second plate, on what some describe as pelure paper, reached $130, while two similar copies on a second cover brought $67.50. Magnificent pairs neatly tied with unusual margins sold at $80 and $81 respectively. Two copies of the 10c with the red St. Louis postmark both on one cover reached $92.

Among the 1851 1c single fine copies of Type II brought $2.25 up, pairs going at $17.75, and strips up to $22. The choicest item among the 3c was a copy cancelled "Way 6", which sold at $20, a cracked plate variety tied to the face of cover only selling at $17. A magnificent 5c tied with a Boston British Packet postmark stayed in Boston at $188, whereas a 10c Type III with New York July 5th postmark, in addition to "clipper ship" cancellation, reached $20.50. A 12c black used on cover showing Hawaiian postmark was a sleeper that slipped through at $47, catching us all napping, as it was certainly worth much more. A single copy on the cover, and singles by the way are much scarcer than pairs when tied to the cover, brought $50. A single used with a 3c making 15c rate to Bordeaux sold at $41. A 3c and a 12c along with a vertical strip of three of the 1857 Type I, used on small cover to London, sold at $180, while $92 was paid for a fine pair of the 12c on a small cover from Waterford, N. Y. The lower left diagonal half of 12c used as 6c evidently mailed from the far west and carrying the New York ship postmark in addition to "Via Nicaragua Ahead of the Mails," reached $305.

A somewhat choice copy of the 1857 1c Type II showing the major crack and nicely tied to the cover brought $152, while three copies arranged horizontally on a neat cover showing three cracked positions brought $157.50, in spite of the fact that the copies were badly off center. A 3c cancelled with a "Man in the Moon", from Mason, Ohio, sold at $27. A 5c Type I vertical strip of three with perforation partly clipped reached $37, while a nice vertical strip of three of the Type II sold at $46. The choicest of the lot, namely—a horizontal strip of three Type II, used to Paris with blue postmark, stayed in New England at $89. A pair of the same stamp showing part of imprint sold at $21.25. A "Noisy Carrier" from San Francisco on the 10c Type II was knocked down at $68, while a similar stamp with Yankee Jims, Cal., postmark reached $12.50. Off centered copies of the Type IV sold at $28 and $11. A 10c Type V and horizontal pair of the 1c Type V used together on cover from Hawaiian Islands was sold to Mr. Stephen Brown at $160. A horizontal pair and strip of three 12c on small cover from Washington with horizontal pair of 3c was purchased by the same buyer at $87. A strip of five of the 12c along with a 5c, but unfortunately time-stained, sold at $32. Two copies of the 30c orange used to France, but not especially choice looking, sold at $115. The 90c blue used on a large piece of wrapping paper along with two 1c and a 3c, together with a pair of the 12c, sold at $340. This cover will be remembered as the one found in Richmond a few years back, and which has been pretty extensively offered on numerous occasions since.

A horizontal strip of three of the 10c August with one stamp defective sold at $100. A superb pair of the 5c buff brought a record price of $561, while a single copy along with the 10c sold at $220. These two pieces, however, were magnificent, and left nothing to be desired. A 24c steel blue to Scotland sold at $90, whereas a horizontal strip of three of the 30c together with the 24c reached $25. A diagonal half of the 2c black selling at $102, a 5c brown used with Hawaii 5c blue at $36, and a very choice pair of the 24c to England at $24.

The grilled issues of 1867, like in most collections were usually few, the finest piece being a 10c green No. 96 from Shanghai, at $31. A similar stamp tied with Worcester and Nashua cancellation sold at $48. Among the 1869 issues, the nicest thing was a 15c Type II used with 3c green. This sold at $20.50. A vertical half of 2c 1870 reached $225, being the choicest item among the later issues.

An Express cover of the Confederate type brought $74, while a vertical pair of the New Orleans 5c brown showing sheet margins nicely tied sold at $76. A 2c brown used on drop letter in Richmond in remarkable condition sold at $120, while a copy of the "TEN" with margins, none too large, reached $46. A privately perforated No. 210d reached a record price at $39.

Among the foreign issues, the Green collection contained practically everything previous to 1850, cataloging up to $20 and $25, and these brought well over half catalog in all cases and at times well over full catalog. Some of the outstanding pieces were:

Baden, 1864, 18k with several other stamps—$50; Brazil, 1843, 30c, pair on back of cover—$53; 60c magnificent pair—$36; 90c, pair on back of cover $106; Bremen Superb, 1866, 10g, $39; Canada, 1852, 3p and 6p, used on 1 penny rose on Great Britain envelope making up 10p rate to England, $79. The 1859, 10c black-brown No. 17, cataloging $25 sold at $35.50 and $53 respectively. A Cape of Good Hope 1p triangle No. 3 in superb block of four lightly cancelled but not tied sold at $81. A copy of the same stamp with two 4p, a beautiful cover cataloging $16, sold at $38. A 6p and 1sh each in block of four on large cover sold at $150, while a 4p (wood block) with 1sh brought $149. An Hawaiian 2c black No. 16, cover slightly soiled, $81; Japan, No. 2 and No. 4 tied to native cover $42. A Newfoundland, 1857, 4p scarlet vermilion, from the famous Tucker correspondence, sold at $258, while a magnificent horizontal strip of three of Nova Scotia No. 1 sold at $206. Two pairs of the 3p on the same neat cover wonderfully fine reached $250.

THE NEW 20c CUBAN

(Clipping from Eugen Le Blanc)

The new Cuban Independent stamps were put on sale May 18, at the general post office and branch offices throughout the island. The 20c denominations were in more demand than the others, and shortly after they were put on sale in Havana, the supply was exhausted. At the central office several extra windows were opened to accommodate the public. Orders had been received from dealers in many countries, and these orders were dispatched. The sales of this special issue amounted to $38,000. The 20c issue was all sold out at 8.30 A. M., and those remaining in the line could not obtain any. Some people were offering a dollar to any who would sell them a 20c for their collection, but could not obtain it.—Havana Post.

A BOLT FROM THE BLUE

On May 25, 1929, with no advance notice, a new half-cent stamp was placed on sale in Washington. The design is the same as has been used since 1925, but the stamp is printed by the rotary press and is perforated 11x10½.

Subscribers to our first day cover service received a cover of this stamp mailed on May 25th, which was charged to their accounts at the usual 20c service charge plus the face value of the stamps on the cover. The cover was mailed direct to the patron, as usual. That gives 'em a thrill.

For five years, every time a new stamp has been issued, first day cover subscribers have had a cover mailed direct to them. We hope to continue the service ad finem.

If you want to know about a good thing, ask for FDC circular.

If you want a cover of the ½c rotary press, send one dollar and, while the few on hand last, we shall send you a first day cover of a block of four and an unused block of four. An entire unused sheet of 100 of the ½c R. P. will be sent for one dollar.

MODERN COLONIAL ISSUES

MARKET MOVEMENTS BETOKENING CHANGES OF VALUE

By Douglas B. Armstrong.

Few philatelists can resist the lure of a mild speculation and in this respect the modern British Colonial issues have proved particularly profitable investments for the very considerable number of enthusiasts who affect them.

Whilst any tendency to reduce the pleasant pursuit of philately to the level of a Stock Exchange gamble is to be deplored, one is naturally satisfied to find one's cherished specimens appreciating in value and interest.

An official announcement of the destruction of the whole of the remainder stock of the former Gold Coast stamps of the series in 1921-25 as reported in The Bazaar some weeks ago, has already started an upward movement in stamp market prices of the now entirely obsolete high values 10s, 15s, £1 and £2. In the latest Supplement to Whitfield King's "Standard" Catalogue, the last-named stamp has been doubled in price and is now quoted at 100s.

The near-by Crown Colony of Gambia having decided to discard its postage stamps of 2½d, 5d, 7½d, 10d and 1s6d, collectors are hastening to complete their sets before the inevitable advance takes place. On the strength of local reports that the 4d and 4s denominations will also not be re-issued these too, are in keen demand.

Sierra Leone is likewise on the point of reducing the number of denominations in her postage and revenue stamp series with the result that there is much call for the disappearing values of 2½d, 7d, 9d, 10d, £2 and £5—all of which now stand at a premium upon their former quotations.

In the West Indian group Grenada is discarding her 4d, 5d, 9d, 2s and 3s values, which except for the two shillings were only issued last year. Consequently prices have been advanced in anticipation of the speedy exhaustion of existing stocks.

The withdrawal of the picturesque Jubilee series of Cyprus and the official destruction of remainders at the end of January is reflected in rising quotations for these attractive and popular stamps.

An elusive, but highly speculative stamp of the moment is the 7s6d St. Helena, which was recently reported as obsolete and its price deleted in the current stamp catalogues. It is now being offered, mint, at prices ranging from 15s to 21s, but whether it will go higher or not remains to be seen.

Now that the old printing of the 5s stamp of St. Kitts-Nevis with Multiple CA watermark in use since 1920, has been superseded by a new one on Script CA paper, its market price has been advanced to 10s.

The impending replacement of the 4s stamp by one of 5s denomination in the Nyasaland Protectorate has created a brisk demand for the latter, which is changing hands at 7s6d a copy, mint.

Further changes are heralded in the May issue of the Philatelic Bulletin (Whitfield King) which states that the 8 cents stamp of Mauritius is already obsolete and that as soon as existing stocks are used up no further printings will be made of the values 1, 6, 12 and 50 cents. In the case of Northern Rhodesia the 8d, 10d, 2s and 7s6d stamps now current are to be discontinued when the present supply is exhausted.—Bazaar.

TREASURE HUNTING

By CAPTAIN A. C. TOWNSEND.

IV.

Well, as I said, I began dealing in stamps in Washington, D. C., with H. F. Colman as a silent, but very active, partner, and we did a lot of business and found a lot of good stamps. A bit later J. M. Bartels opened an office near me and we became good friends. The Washington Stamp Club, of which good Billy Johnson is still the president, was organized and used to meet in my office. I remember that one of our members, W. L. Drury, made a collection that we looked on as rather foolish. He got a big blank book and collected shades of old U. S. stamps. I remember he had two long rows of the 24c 1857 delicately shaded from very light to very dark, and he complained that the different colored cancellations made them difficult to shade up properly! He sold that collection some years ago, Colman told me, for about one-tenth of what it is worth today.

The great adventure came along. Phil Ward will remember this, and Murray Bartels has already written part of it after an exchange of letters with me, but the full story is interesting. I put an ad in a Washington theater program saying I would give $100 each for 5c Baltimores, and "much more" for a 10c one. Soon after a quiet, little old lady in black came into my office, said she had seen the ad, and asked if I would really pay $100 for a 5c Balto. When I said yes, she asked what I would give for a 10c one. I replied that it was hardly worth talking of as one had never been found.

But what would I give for one, she persisted. I answered that it would depend entirely on how wealthy a collector I could find to sell it to—but what was the use of talking? Then she opened a rusty little reticule and laid before me a perfect cover with a perfect 10c Baltimore on it. Can you imagine the thrill? The first 10c Baltimore!! I handled it reverently and asked for its history. Her father had been a Baltimore minister, and I found she was teaching a little private school that was dwindling away, and money meant a good deal to her.

I asked for a day or two to think it over, before making a price. She readily consented, said she would return, and started away, leaving the cover on the table. Being told to take it along, she said oh, no, she would leave it with me, and off she went. Five minutes later I flew down to Bartel's office to show it to him and gloat over it, and when Colman came to our office later we had a grand whoopee over it.

It was at once photographed for MEKEEL'S, and I expected to be flooded with offers. Also I wrote to a number of collectors offering it, but without fixing a price. When the lady came in I offered her $1,500 in cash, or a sale of 10% commission. She asked which would be best for her, and I told her frankly that I did not know; it would all depend on how big a collector could be found to buy it. She decided on the latter course and left it to be sold. Strange to say, no one seemed to recognize its value here, and it finally went to Von Ferrari for $3,300, our commission being $300 on a rarity like that!

Less than six months later the second copy turned up at Louisville, and C. H. Mekeel and I had a battle royal over it, he at last getting it. The party would not fix a price to either of us, but kept wiring each how much the other fellow had offered. I tried to sell it by wire and phone to J. C. Ayer, but Mekeel went down to Louisville and I stopped bidding when Ayer quit at $2,500, and Mekeel took home the bacon. You, of course, know that the Ferrari copy sold for $6,000 when his collection was sold by the French officials after the World War. Why an old book is worth $50,000, and such a rarity only $6,000 is a mystery to me.

METROPOLITAN STAMP COMPANY

Here is another story of a find, more amusing than anything else. I had a good friend working in the basement of the old Post Office Dept. Going in there one day he told me that the evening before he had run across a big case, "bigger than a coffin box", that had been lying around for no one knew how many years. He had it taken to his office room and opened up, and it proved to contain 500 pasteboard boxes of complete sets of Plimpton envelopes, beautiful, and with the word SPECIMEN printed across the middle of the envelopes, not across the stamp itself.

I asked if he had reported the matter to his chief yet, and he said no, that he was just going to when I came in. I asked him to wait until the next day, which he promised to do, and I hustled over to the Land Office to see Colman. We held a council of war and got busy. The next morning, soon after 9, a certain P. O. official was surprised to have a Congressman's secretary appear and say: "The Congressman hears that you have some sets of envelopes to distribute, and would be very glad to have one." He was about to ask how the Congressman knew of it when he himself only heard of it half an hour before, when two pages came in with similar requests, and more and more came, so he never did ask the question, but by night over half the sets were gone.

Colman and I had told some Capitol Pages that we would pay $5 each for the sets, and they spread the news. It was comical! By noon Colman had no room under his desk for his feet and was piling the boxes into a barricade. At the office I was growing a similar pile, and by the time the envelopes were all gone at the end of the week, we had secured 240 of the 500 boxes.

EDITORIAL

WE are told that one of the small European countries is to have a sort of air mail jubilee, attended by a stamp issue and representatives from over twenty different countries who will have their expenses paid to the scene by the governmental host. The stamps that will loan distinction to the occasion are to be made in this country, we have been informed by the U. S. representative.

LETTERS have been drifting in whose tenor ranges from grave to gay discussing the impending new issues for us. They exhibit an interesting cross-section of opinion from philatelists, but their general average is favorable to the enterprise of the department. We shall print some of the comments and begin by quoting Mr. Geo. T. Bush, Bellefonte, Pa.: "Some few days ago when I first heard of the P. M. G.'s suggestion I wrote to him that undoubtedly, a new issue depicting the scenic wonders of our national parks and representations of monuments would show the beauties of our country not alone to us here but to people abroad. . . . I trust that philatelists will settle on some suggestions such as indicated and press the same on the government for adoption and use. Why could not the subject of the new stamps be brought up at the conventions and some action be taken?"

THE visit of Mr. Rothchild, the able and engaging lecturer on stamps, to Chicago, under the auspices of the great department store of Carson, Pirie, Scott & Company of that city was an important event on the philatelic calendar. Mr. Rothchild's talks were generously advertised by the store, and the result of the attractive publicity was favorable, indeed. Hosts of young folks gathered on the floor where the entertainer held forth and that the hearers were impressed there was no doubt. Two lectures were given on Saturday, and a stamp collectors' club was organized in the morning. Chicago will feel the impetus of the work that was done by Mr. Rothchild, and all philatelists are indebted to him for the stirring appeals that he is making to the young folks on behalf of their pursuit. The advertising department of the store deserves to be complimented on the novelty and intelligent setting of its announcements; and we have been given to understand that the firm is satisfied with the results of its "philatelic days." We regret that we were not able to interview Mr. Rothchild on this occasion, but hope that his visit will be repeated in Chicago.

THE death of Julius C. Morgenthau, New York, became known to readers in the large cities through newspaper announcements. The passing of this philatelist was considered worthy of notice by the larger world, and so, it may be said, that not alone did collectors bear the loss but that it was shared by the nation. We remember when Mr. Morgenthau became interested in stamps in Chicago, as a dealer in 1895, and we recall that he attended the convention of the American Philatelic Society in 1896 at Lake Minnetonka, Minnesota, with members of his family. Recognizing the possibilities of stamps as commercial commodities, he sought the more inviting and expansive field of New York soon after, where his business ability would have wider scope. The story of his success is one that proves that philatelic acumen and an acute sense of proper merchandising are a combination that brings a reward materially and renown in reputation. As a dealer Mr. Morgenthau soon had a name that stood for fairness, and when he became an auction specialist, he at once took a position in the minds of buyers and sellers that in time developed into a commanding one. The number of important collections that he dispersed at auction was a large one, and his monthly sales were of a quality to attract a loyal following. His 269th sale was held on April 29th, just at the time his fatal illness was approaching. Mr. Morgenthau in the course of his long career established many personal contacts, and in recent years he was singled out for attention as a consequence of his personal prestige and his labors for the advancement of philately. His work in promoting the great International Philatelic Exhibition in New York several years ago may be said to have been the capstone of his endeavors; and his associates in New York were glad to pay him high tribute. Mr. Morgenthau was strongly individual and was outspoken in his opinions. There are stories of his helpful attentions to humble collectors as well as of admonishment to collectors who were in a position to be assertive. He was a vital force in philately and his personal friends were loyal to him in all respects; and they feel their loss keenly. However, collectors everywhere realize that their ranks cannot easily close the vacancy that has been made in them, but the comfort is that philately has been the better for having been enriched by the presence of Mr. Morgenthau for a long period of time, and his memory will be treasured by those who were close to him, and respected by those who knew him by name only. We sympathize with those who mourn him and have a share in their grief.

THROUGH the kindness of a correspondent, the information comes that the state department of taxation and finance of New York will issue a thousand dollar stock transfer stamp for use in the state. The highest denomination now in use is one hundred dollars, but there has been a demand for a stamp that would apply to 50,000 share transactions, as the $1,000 stamp will.

THE postmaster at Adelaide, Australia, notifies us under date of April 29, 1929, that the air service between Adelaide and Perth was to be started "early in June" and that the stopping places en route will be in all probability, Forrest and Kalgoorlie. He says that "a special issue of air stamps (3d) will be made." This service was the subject of a departmental notice in the Postal Bulletin, Washington, of May 17th, wherein it was said that the air mail fee in addition to the regular postage is six cents for each half ounce or fraction, prepaid. Mr. J. H. McCann, Chicago, shows an earlier Australian flight, Charleville, April 21, to Brisbane, April 22, 1929, with a pair of the six pence blue "birds."

FROM Mr. Frederick R. Saÿen, Hamilton Square, Mercer County, New Jersey, we have received a photograph of an envelope bearing an adhesive label that may prove to be an important contribution to the issues of Bermuda. Taken at its face value, the "stamp" has every appearance of a provisional issue. The envelope is addressed to a resident of Hamilton and bears in addition to the regulation postmark, "St. Georges, Bermuda, Jy. 4, 1860, Paid," the label in red, in two circles broken at top with a crown, St. Georges, Bermuda, Paid, with a date or other wording crossed out, evidently on purpose, with a heavy pen stroke. Frame lines are to be seen that evidently boxed in the stamp. While the envelope was not used during the stamp era of Bermuda, whose first issue was in 1860, in the month of September, yet that fact alone is not depended upon for contributory evidence of provisional use. Certain suggestions carried by the label make out a strong case in favor of the stamp which antedates the engrav[ed] of September, 1860. We understa[nd] an authority has expressed the bel[ief] the label will prove its title to a [place] the category of provisionals; an[d] possible that the Perot provisio[nal] have company in some of the futu[re] cialistic catalogues of Bermuda [issues]. At any rate, Mr. Saÿen has unea[rthed] bit of interesting postal lore and i[nfor]mation may be secured that will g[ive] label a full postal standing.

Dealers — Traders — Investors

as well as Collectors will be greatly interested in my next Public Auction Sale Without Reserve to be held Wednesday Evening, June 26th. Besides including the Chicago 19th Century collection of Mr. Arnold Shircliffe, there will be several hundred lots of desirable Wholesale, Large Lots by Countries, Mixtures, etc. There are many items included not now offered by wholesale dealers.

..ECENTLY Charles S. Reese called .. our attention to the fact that he had ..egistered cover from Vincennes, Ind., ..ring the new George Rogers Clark ..mps and postmarked Feb. 23. We have ..n a letter from the Vincennes post..ster in which he states it may be pos..le that some letters were postmarked .. 23rd through error, as the clerk made up the registers then on hand at that time, and failed to change the date in his stamp. He also adds: "I believe that if you examine either the letter or the receipt, you will find that the date is changed with a pen."

THE New Jersey Philatelic Federation met May 23, Y. M. C. A., Newark, N. J., Stephen G. Rich presided. Elliott Perry gave a talk on early U. S. stamps and covers, illustrating it with several of his collections. The Constitution and By-Laws adopted provide a Board of Governors consisting of one delegate from each member-club, and all officers are ex-officio members of the Board. A general meeting is to be held every three months. Membership is open to clubs as well as individual collectors. The list of charter members closes in December. Clubs and individual collectors desiring particulars about affiliating, should write Wm. C. Steiger, 400 Lookout Ave., Hackensack, N. J.

R. BORHEK of Washington, D. C., has sent us a photograph of the lower half of the Vincennes stamp in which very poor registration is seen. The centre is printed so much out of place as to almost obliterate the word "Vincennes".

THE following nominations have been made for officers of the S. P. A.: Pres., A. W. Deas, N. Y., Albert E. Gorham, D. C., Dr. N. P. McGay, Ohio; Vice-Pres., E. W. Heusinger; Sec., Wm. Lycett; Treas., Dr. Dallas G. Bray, Dr. E. W. Lawrence; Board of Governors, A. W. Deas, Wm. Lycett; Directors at Large, F. L. Coes, P. P. Gray, Col, W. N. McKelvy; Int. Sec., C. W. A. Braun; Ctft. Detector, Gustave Larson; Atty., T. V. Morgan, V. W. Rotnem; Pub. Mgr., J. R. Huston, E. C. Pierce; Lib., Wm. R. Ricketts; Asst. Lib., H. V. Backman; Historian, N. R. Hoover; Trustees, Samuel Bennett, J. L. Dawson, C. C. Millar, M. S. Petty.—Official Organ, Stamp Collectors Magazine.

IN your issue of May 6 Samuel J. Smith mentions a variety to be found on the 29th stamp of red plate 19721 right pane, black plate 19729. I have examined many sheets of the 19721 with various other black plates, and find this variety on all of them. I believe this and the dot in circle found on the same sheet, should have a place in the U. S. Specialized, as they are as pronounced as the Walloon broken circle.—C. A. PLOCH.

THE English papers are dissatisfied with the new Postal Union Congress stamps. The London Times says that "collectors are beginning to despair of the country again producing a stamp design of real merit such as the black penny of 1840." For our own part, we feel that it is a very easy thing for a person to find fault. The ½ and 2½ are strikingly original and unique, and in our opinion, will prove attractive to collectors. The only real criticism that can be made of the set is the issuance of a one pound value.

Air Mail News

BY DONALD E. DICKASON,
Wooster, Ohio

(This department covers air mail news from the purely philatelic standpoint. Coöperators will find their names listed each week. If your letter calls for a reply please enclose a stamped, addressed envelope. This is your department, so make your contribution as generous as possible.)

Two recent airmail auctions have given assurance of the prosperity of airmail collecting. The Eugene Klein sale of the Steinmetz collection was almost complete in many early U. S. items, and had a fine lot of foreign. Early U. S., and Newfoundland in particular also, brought excellent prices, often far above catalog. Space does not permit a detailed review, but a reading of the prices realized list is enlightening. * My own little sale, consisting mostly of the everyday run of Zeppelin, Ile de France, First overnights, Contracts, Airports, etc., items that the average every day hard-up collector is getting together, was equally encouraging. The precontracts brought practically full catalog, and contracts, both early and late, ran from around half to well over catalog, and even the despised airports brought excellent prices, running to several dollars each in a number of cases.

OFFICIAL FLIGHTS

Houston, Texas, started using an Air Mail Field cancellation Mar. 24th, and E. C. Cantrell kindly sends me a first day cover. * I have been shown by P. R. Hudson a letter bearing a Cleveland Airmail Field cancellation of Apr. 2, which also bore the C. A. M. 27 cachet. This answers my question as to whether all mail for this first flight was cancelled the first, though the flight was postponed till the second.  The flight of Capt. Ahrenberg, Sweden-U. S., announced for early in June, was made an official mail carrying flight by the Swedish P. O. Word came too late for any but cabled orders from this side, but if the flight is successful, we'll doubtless have another interesting trans-atlantic.

Since last week's mention, I have received covers from the Tapachula end of the route from there to Tejeria, which left on the first return flight May 21st. Service is planned for 3 times weekly, with stops also at San Jeronimo and Arriaga. I especially appreciate the good correspondents who send me covers from these routes, as I've mentioned before. * Route 11 first night flight covers from Cleveland were cancelled either late the night of the 19th, or early A. M. 20th. Pittsburgh mail either 20th or 21st, as flight was postponed a day from there due to bad weather. Other 2 P. O.'s on the route do not receive night service, though some McKeesport mail was brought in and sent from Pittsburgh.

F. A. M. 9 seems likely to replace our old Brownsville-Mexico friend for complications. P. O. Bulletin announced its inauguration from Miami, May 14, Cristobal May 17, with mail for Ecuador and Peru only. The afternoon of the 13th a wire came from Washington to include the Colombia stops, and go on for the full route to Chile. 5000 letters left Miami for the two announced countries, and only 750 for all points in the other two. No official mention, however, till Bulletin of the 21st, which says that effective immediately, or May 24, the next trip, mail would be sent to Colombia over F. A. M. 9. Did the Dept. authorize the extra stops for the first trip only, and begin regular service later? We'll know more about it when covers come back.

I have received letters, May 27th, mailed from Belize, Br. Hond., May 22, over the extended service on route 5. In the same mail were letters from Lima, Peru, dated

Stamp News for the Juniors

This page is primarily for you, the Junior collector. We are interested in what interests you and we want you to take possession of it, if in any way it can serve you.

We also invite the Senior collector to extend words of advice, encouragement and stimulation and thus develop in the Junior a real passion for Philately.

Bear in mind that two short articles of from 50 to 75 words read better than one long one. Address all communications to the Beverly office.

Buiten Bezit

The last word is a contraction for "Bezittingen" and the whole means literally "outlying possessions." These words were overprinted on the then current stamps of the Dutch Indies in 1908, and they were issued for use in all the islands with the exception of Java and Madura which had a separate series. The object of the overprint was to ascertain the volume of correspondence within the group with the object of reducing the postal rates and these overprinted stamps were only in use for a few months, from June, 1908.

Bank Note Issues

By PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

Not only the Junior collector, but the advanced collector as well, has difficulty in distinguishing the soft and hard paper issues of 1870-79. It is difficult to describe the two papers in words and one should actually inspect copies in order to become familiar with the differences.

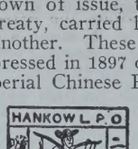
The hard paper of the 1870-75 issues is brittle, has a hard surface and stamps printed upon the paper which is even in texture, stand out clearly.

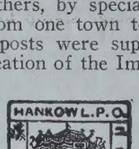
The soft paper of 1879 is porous, is more on the order of a thin blotting paper, and if held to the light, shows light and dark spots. Printings upon this paper usually soak in and do not stand out as clearly as in the case of the hard paper printings.

The best way for an amateur to study the papers is to obtain a copy of the 1870 7c No. 149, which is only known on hard paper and then obtain a copy of the 5c brown of 1882 No. 205, which is only known on soft paper. An examination of the two will aid greatly in recognizing the differences.

Chinese Locals

These were stamps issued by various towns in China and though some of them may have had a limited postal use it is to be feared that the majority were made simply for sale to collectors. Most of them had franking power only within the town of issue, though others, by special treaty, carried letters from one town to another. These private posts were suppressed in 1897 on the creation of the Imperial Chinese Post.





Marienwerder

One of the results of the Great War was the issuance of a set of stamps for the territory called Marienwerder. This region contained 24,000 Polish people and 114,000 Germans. It is located along the Vistula river in West Prussia. In order to settle a dispute as to whether this area should go to Poland or remain a part of Germany, a commission was appointed by the allied nations. During the time that the commission was in charge, special stamps were used by the public. The first issue appeared March 12, 1920, and consisted of fourteen values showing a figure of Justice surrounded by the flags of the allied nations. A few days later several values of the regular German postage stamps appeared with the surcharge, "Commission Interalliée Marienwerder". Then, toward the middle of the year, the first design was reissued with altered inscription.

On July 11, 1920, a vote was taken (plebiscite), which showed that 92% of the people were in favor of remaining as a part of the German instead of the Polish republic. As soon as matters were settled the plebiscite stamps were no longer needed and the regular German stamps are now in current use in this area.—A. C. LEDUC.

n a recent advertisement, I had the pleas- of offering most of the U. S. postage d revenue stamps with invertd center and demand was so great that practically rything was sold almost as soon as the vertisement appeared. As a result, I am remely anxious to make purchases of in- ted centers and solicit selections of any- ng fine in the way of these stamps.

have recently had the pleasure of ac- iring a unique complete sheet of the sia, 1911 5 krans ultramarine and red, itt's No. 492, with inverted center. These e printed by a Dutch firm noted for its efulness and are much more desirable n some of the later issues, which are cat- gued up to $250.00 by Champion. If these mps were a U. S. variety, they would mand upward of $2000. each. Being m Persia, they are, of course, not as irable but are exceedingly rare, and the available are not likely to last long, as belongs in every twentieth century col- ion. A single mint copy is available at). Blocks of four at proportionate rates. stamps were issued eighteen years back there is little if any likelihood of any e being found. It is the only denomi- ion of the entire series that has been ited with the center inverted.

you are a collector of inverted centers, ve other choice and magnificent foreign ies of this type to offer. Next to our U. S. issues, I know of no error or s of stamps more popular or more in and than the inverted center. They r excellent opportunity for satisfactory estment.

MOLLY PITCHER HAD A GUN

St. George and Don Quixote used the lance; "doughboys" and "Tommies" were equipped with a miscellaneous assortment of hardware; none of these fighters, mad or sane, went into action without a weapon.

Are you in the stamp battle with bare hands, or are you equipped with the most up-to-date weapon? Is your knowledge right up-to-the-minute, or will you learn next week what the other fellow knew five months ago?

Read Gibbons' Stamp Monthly, the worth-while stamp magazine, and you'll be able to tackle the hobby with a flying start over those who don't take it.

A specimen number costs you nothing but the trouble of writing for it. For 75 cents you get it for a year, while a dollar bill covers sixteen months, and we pay postage.

New ½c Hale Rotary

On May 25th, without any advance notice, the new ½c Hale, printed from the rotary press, which we described in this column a couple weeks back, was placed on sale in Washington for the first time. The plates for printing these stamps were made a number of months back, but were only recently used in order to fill requisitions from Chicago and New York for precanceled ½c stamps. The plate number that has been noted is No. 19651.

We wish to thank a very valued Washington correspondent for sending a first-day cover, which was the first notice that we had that the stamp had actually been issued in unused condition.

New Edison Stamp

A communication dated May 20th in the Postal Bulletin of May 25th, announces to the postmasters of the country that the new 2c Edison stamp commemorating the fiftieth anniversary of the invention of the incandescent lamp, would appear early in June. The official communication is as follows:

"Postmasters and others connected with the Postal Service are notified that the department is about to issue a new 2-cent postage stamp to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the production of the first incandescent lamp invented by Thomas Alva Edison.

"The new stamp is the same size as the 2-cent ordinary stamp, 75/100 by 87/100 inch, and is printed in red ink. The central design is a picture of the original lamp with rays issuing therefrom. Immediately above and partly encircling the lamp is a ribbon with the words, 'Edison's First Lamp'; above this and reaching the top of the stamp is a semi-circular panel with the words, 'United States Postage,' in white Roman letters. In both upper corners are ribbon scrolls with the year '1879' at the left, and '1929' at the right. On either side of the lamp and through the rays of light appears the following legend: 'Electric Light's Golden Jubilee.' The white numeral '2' appears in both lower corners within dark circles, which are connected by a dark panel forming the base of the stamp and containing the word 'Cents' in white Roman letters.

"The new Edison commemorative stamp will first be placed on sale June 5, 1929, at the post office at Menlo Park, N. J. The stamps will be available at other post offices and at the Philatelic Agency, Post Office Department, Washington, D. C., as soon after that date as production will permit.

"This stamp will also be issued in coils of 500, sidewise perforated. The coils will not be available on the first day of sale, but will be issued to postmasters having need for that variety as soon as they can be manufactured.

"Central and direct accounting post-

DIFFICULT STAMPS

Hard to find stamps, seldom seen stamps —early classics in imperf. pairs—proofs— essays—rare cancellations—all these charming little side roads off the highway of Philately are the things we stock and sell to serious collectors. If specialists will kindly give us the name of the country they collect we rather suspect we can produce some unusual items for them.

NEW SULLIVAN-CLINTON STAMP

PHILA., PA., June 1.

The Post Office Department has decided to issue a further revolutionary commemorative stamp, to commemorate the Sullivan-Clinton Campaign of 1779, this year being the sesquicentennial of the event.

Through the courtesy of Mr. Paul Ziegner we quote from a clipping from the Morning Herald of Gloversville, N. Y.

"Word has been received from Washington by Dr. A. C. Flick, state historian, that the postmaster general has given favorable consideration to the request of the board of regents and the governor and legislature of the state of New York for the issuance of a special postage stamp commemorating the Sullivan-Clinton campaign in 1779. Pennsylvania, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, and New Jersey, whose troops took part in the expedition, have seconded the effort of the Empire state.

"The design of the stamp, the date of issue, denomination, color, and quantity are now being considered by the post office department.

"The issuance of this anniversary stamp as a part of the New York state program for the observance of the 150th anniversary of the important campaign in 1779, which was planned by George Washington, authorized by Congress, and executed by General John Sullivan and General James Clinton.

"Under the auspices of the state, major celebrations are being planned at three places.

"September 14th, for the Genesee country at Geneseo.

"September 21st, for the Finger Lakes region at Geneva.

"September 28th, for Southern New York at the battlefield of Newtown.

"Historical addresses and impressive realistic pageants will be given at each of these places.

"Minor observances will be held at many other places along the routes of the armies, including Syracuse, Canajoharie, Cooperstown, Cherry Valley, Unadilla, Minisink, Binghamton, Endicott, Owego, Montour Falls, Union Springs, Seneca Falls, Waterloo, Canadaigua, Honeoye, Kershong, and Salamanca.

"About 35 beautiful historic monuments will be erected and dedicated to mark the course of the campaign in New York state.

"Joint observances will be held with Pennsylvania at Athens, Pa., and Salamanca, N. Y."

I am informed officially that the stamp will be available, Monday, June 17th, and will be placed on sale on that day at two post offices only—Geneseo and Perry, New York.

The stamp will be similar in size to our current issue, will be printed in red and show portrait of General Sullivan in Continental uniform. Above the top will be "Sullivan's Campaign", together with the usual markings. The design has only been approved during the last several days, and the Bureau will have to move promptly to have the stamps ready.

LE HAVRE EXHIBITION

The international exhibition at Havre, has passed into history, and hope to publish next week, the name the prize winners. A. W. Batchel formerly one of the proprietors of New England Stamp Co., attended, sends the WEEKLY greetings, includ Frank Godden and Fred J. Melville, the brief word sent us. The letter franked with the exposition stamp sisting of the current 2fr France o printed as follows:

EXPOSITION

PHILATELIQUE

We are informed that this stamp sold only to those paying the 5fr entra fee, and Mr. Batchelder writes, "with compliments of Mr. Godden. It is n to impossible to get more than one w out influence, and he evidently had s cient to thus favor the WEEKLY. supply of the stamp was extrem limited."

A set of five exhibition labels in mine, green, blue, purple and brown also sent us, and we expect to illust this beautiful label next week.

NEW HAVEN SOCIETY BANQU

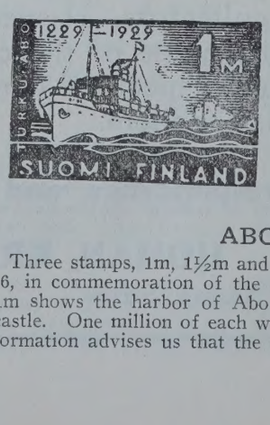
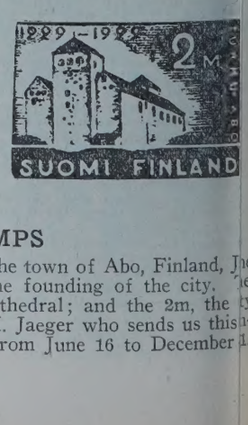
PRECANCELED INQUIRY

The newspapers have been raisin hubbub over the charge that a cer type of business man has run afoul of postal authorities as a consequence of irregular use of precanceled post stamps, in different cities, warrants ing been served on several score of leged transgressors. It has been obv that the authorities have suspected some time that precanceled stamps been misused, and it is apparent that are now making a stand. Stamp cl ing, too, has been charged and "rin are said to have been uncovered in eral cities that handled the docte stamps. An Associated Press disp with New York date line says that investigator claims to have caught Brooklyn philatelist," who is named William H. Hale, at the job of was stamps in a bath tub at a hotel. results of the trials will speak for th selves.





ABO JUBILEE STAMPS

Three stamps, 1m, 1½m and 2m, will be issued by the town of Abo, Finland, Ju 16, in commemoration of the 700th anniversary of the founding of the city. 1m shows the harbor of Abo; the 1½m, the city cathedral; and the 2m, the castle. One million of each were printed, and Geo. H. Jaeger who sends us this information advises us that the stamps will be in use from June 16 to December 1.

S. Local Posts and Independent Mail Routes

Probably only three or four dealers in the world have a really comprehensive stock of e rare and interesting stamps which played such an important part in the develop- t of the mail service in the United States before the Civil War and during part of the War period.

I am breaking up a collection of which the total price is in five figures, and can supply y varieties not obtainable elsewhere and not represented even in the most complete ctions. Some of these rare stamps have not been available for many years and when I do not expect to live long enough to replace them. The best time to get them is n you can!

"WHERE THE BARGAINS COME FROM"

rs desiring a supply of the new s may draw requisitions for limited ities on Form 3201, the words 'Edi- Commemorative Stamp' to be writ- lainly on the blank. District post- rs may obtain small quantities of stamp to meet the local demand by ition on their central accounting asters.

amp collectors desiring first-day lations of the Edison stamp at Park, N. J., on June 5, 1929, may a limited number of addressed en- s, not in excess of 25, to the post- r at that office, accompanied by a ance covering the value of the s, which will be affixed to the en- s prior to mailing on the above order to take care of first-day re- s, at Menlo Park, the Department ranged to have Mrs. M. C. Shaugh- Assistant Philatelic Agent, in e of the sending out of first-day s at that point. Mrs. Shaughnessy, ual, will extend every courtesy to ollector and every effort will be to take care of all inquiries for covers. Mrs. Shaughnessy will be nlo Park a day or two in advance ler that stamps might be affixed to arriving early and everything on the first day, June 5. The r of stamps to be issued will ex- ceed one hundred million, so that there is little likelihood of the variety becoming scarce.

1870, 2c Split

Mr. C. W. Jasperson has shown me a split of the 1870 2c National, consisting of the lower horizontal half used on a locally addressed cover from West Williamsfield, Ohio. The cover is dated August 29, 1871, and is nicely tied with a blue concentric cancellation, the town portion falling on the cover. Accompanying the letter are several other covers from the same correspondence, including several from the same city. This is the first time that a horizontal split has been noted, although the stamp is known split vertically and diagonally.

Perforated 10 Revenues

We had the pleasure recently of chronicling one or two of the late revenues perforated ten instead of eleven, as heretofore. Coming out at this late day, lead us to believe that new perforating machines were being used on the revenue stamps at the Bureau. An investigation at the numbering division where the revenue stamps are perforated brings the information that they have been doing this work for the last four or five years on the identical presses and with the identical perforating machines, which are being used at present. An impression of these machines show that they perforate eleven, proving pretty conclusively that the perforated ten varieties were printed and perforated several years back, although they may have just reached the hands of the public, recently. The demand for certain of these stamps is not large and it would not be surprising if several years' stock happened to be on hand, especially when it is considered that the tax laws were somewhat changed.

New Die A2 Envelopes

In a recent Chronicle, we had the pleasure of informing our readers of the location of a new revised die of the 2c envelope, similar in head and general make-up to the heretofore known die A, but which had been sufficiently changed to warrant a designation as die A2, as was the case with the earlier die H2.

Through the courtesy of Mr. P. R. Crooker, we are able to add five new envelopes, which have just been located in die A2.

2c Red, Die A2

Size 5	White	Low Back		Wmk. 28

" 13	"	"	"	" 30
" 13	"	High	"	" 28
" 13	"	"	"	" 30

We recently had the pleasure of giving Mr. Crooker credit for locating this new die, but he now writes that credit should go to Mr. A. G. Potter, who brought the variety to Mr. Crooker's attention.

Postal Receipts

In a recent Chronicle, mention was made of the new postal laws and regulations, authorizing post offices to furnish receipts for any class of mail on or after July 1st, on payment of 1 cent for each piece of mail involved. When we wrote the information we were under the impression that this was an innovation on the part of the Department, but now learn through the courtesy of Mr. C. C. Damon that this is not the case. Mr. Damon has shown us two postal receipts issued from Elkton, Ky., during July, 1919. These are small green cards about 3¼ by 2 inches, in printed form acknowledging receipt of a parcel with the name of the address and addressee given. In the upper right corner is placed a 1c stamp, which has been cancelled, and on the back of the card, which is blank, a further postmark. The cards seem to be rough at one end, hence, we are of the opinion that they have been torn from a booklet from which a record had been kept. There is a further space for the signature of the postmaster or clerk.

New Playing Card Discovery

Mr. H. C. Buttermore has submitted for inspection a copy of the class "A" Playing Card, small size, which has not been noted heretofore. This is the stamp showing the letter "A" in the center, and instead of being rouletted as previously known, is perforated ten at the sides and imperforate at top and bottom. It looks to be a coil stamp, but as it is of the flat plate type, it is a question as to whether the Bureau has taken the trouble to coil flat plate stamps. Investigation is being made at the Bureau with the hopes of throwing more light upon the subject.

Abyssinia.—Information received by Stamp Collecting is to the effect that a new issue of stamps, both for ordinary postage and postage due, is under consideration by the Director-General of Posts. It is probable that the design will show portraits of the two Regents.

Australia.—The 2sh maroon, Kangaroo type, has been issued with the new watermark, small A and Cr. multiple. Copies have been received from Mr. Roberts for chronicle.

Belgium.—According to information received from L'Echo de la Timbrologie two additional denominations of the Parcel Post type are impending. They are the 1 and 3 francs both picturing a view of the General Post Office at Brussels. Also four postage due stamps are expected of the following values: 70 centimes, 1fr20c, 2fr and 3fr20c.

China.—Copies of the Chinese Unification set have been received from Mr. R. Roberts with the surcharges for use in Yunnan, Sin-Kiang and Kirin.

Czechoslovakia.—A set of five values issued as the 1,000th year Jubilee Commemorative series has been sent for chronicle by Mr. R. Roberts. The central figure of each value is within a circle with the name of the country at the top and the dates "929" and "1929" just below. The 50h green and 60h purple are of the same design and picture a Saint on horse carrying a banner in his right hand. The 2kr blue shows another religious scene, while the 3kr brown and 5kr mauve is an allegorical type. Stamps are perf. 13½ with no watermark.

Stamp Collecting reports that a new definite stamp of 2.50kr is announced for early issue bearing a view of the National Museum at Prague with the equestrian statue of St. Wenceslas in the foreground.

Dominican Republic.—We are informed by Whitfield King & Co. that they have received a 2c carmine stamp issued to commemorate the signing of the treaty with Hayti.

France.—It is anticipated that a new recess-printed pictorial for the high values will be ready for issue to the public next August, Stamp Collecting informs us. Meanwhile advance proofs are to be displayed by the Ministry of Posts at the Le Havre Philatelic Exhibition held during the month of May.

Iceland.—Whitfield King & Co. advise that a provisional stamp has been issued recently. The 2kr blue and olive-brown has been surcharged "10kr".

Italy.—The new set of Italian stamps mentioned in our issue No. 2003 and illustrated last week were issued to commemorate the founding of Rome, and also the seventh anniversary of the march on

H. AND G. H. JOPLING,
44 Risca Road, Newport, Mon., Eng.

Rome by the Fascisti. There are nineteen values of postage stamps and they were placed on sale April 21st.

Latvia.—Whitfield King & Co. send for chronicle the 1s purple, watermarked swastika.

Liechtenstein.—The Journal Philatelique de Berne announces that the first stamps with the portrait of the new Prince will be ready in August. A youthful likeness will appear on the values 10 and 30 cents, and a more up-to-date one on those of the 20 and 70 cents, all surface-printed and in single colors.

Lithuania.—Copies of the 30c blue, type of A31, watermarked parquetry, have been received from Whitfield King & Co.

Panama.—The Economist Bulletin states that two new special delivery stamps have just been placed on sale. One of them has already appeared, but surcharged for air mail usage, and it now comes in its intended form. The central design is a mail carrier on a bicycle inscribed on top "REPUBLICA DE PANAMA", and at the bottom, "ENTREGA IMMEDIATA", with value beneath, large numerals of value at left and right centre respectively. The values are 10c orange and 20c brown.

Roumania.—Copies of the 3 bani black, 60 bani green and 6 lei blue, design has Scott's A54, have been received from Whitfield King & Co. with the surcharge "Ajutorarea Infometatilor Basarabie", the first value being overprinted "1 Leu", the 60 bani green "Lei 3", and the 6 lei, "Lei 5." The surcharge is in four lines, the 1 leu on 3 bani, and Lei 5 on 6 lei being in red, while the Lei 3 on 60 bani is in black.

Ruanda Urundi.—From Mr. R. Roberts come copies of the 10c green stamp of Belgian Congo with the surcharge for use in this colony, but with the space 19mm between the two words of overprint. We understand a very small printing of these provisionals has been made, the number being 3,000 odd stamps.

Spain.—La Suisse Philatelique reports with reserve that 50,000 sets of contemporary Spanish postage stamps are to receive a commemorative overprint on the occasion of the meeting in Madrid this summer of a convention of the League of Nations. It is suggested that the stamps thus treated will be those of the 1, 2, 5, 10, 15, 20, 30, 40 and 50 centimos, 1, 4 and 10 pesetas.

Turkey.—Commenting on the recently issued provisionals Whitfield King & Co.'s Bulletin prints the following:—

Our agent at Constantinople informs us that a complete new set of stamps will be issued some time in June next showing the values in Latin characters. The stocks of some of the denominations of the 1926 issue are running out and pending the receipt of the new stamps provisionals are being made by overprinting certain denominations, of which large stocks exist. We have received the 1 grouch stamp overprinted "20 paradir," the 5 grouch stamp overprinted "2½ kurustur" and the 10 grouch overprinted "6 kurustur," the words "paradir" and "Kurustur" mean "paras" and "piastre" respectively. We are further in that other provisionals of higher nominations may be expected shortly.

Great Commoner Among Stamps

AN ADVENTURE IN SPECIALIZING WITH THE UNITED STATES 3 CENT ROSE, 1861 ISSUE

A SERIES OF THREE ARTICLES

By Ralph H. Houseman, Syracuse, N. Y.

SECTION I—SPECIALISM AS IT RELATES TO THIS STAMP
SECTION II—CHARACTERISTIC CANCELLATIONS OF THE 3 CENT ROSE, 1861
SECTION III—DATE CANCELLATIONS OF THE 3 CENT ROSE, 1861

SECTION III

The relative scarcity of year dates appearing upon this stamp is of special interest. For the past three years Scott's U. S. Specialized has priced the 1861 year date at 50c, the year 1867 and 1868 at 25c, and the five intervening years at 15c each. This gauging of prices on this cancellation is a general thermometer of relative values, but only general. If one tries to obtain clear-cut specimens of 1861 from leading firms he will discover but few, if any. Choice 1861's are worth fully the catalogue price. 1868 year dates are still scarcer, mainly owing to the fact the grilled stamps of this same plate type overlapped for almost a year's time, the grills being the prevailing stamp on sale at the larger post offices during 1868.

The writer has found the ungrilled stamp of 1868 three times as rare as the year date 1861. Because of this fact he confesses surprise at the 25c price in the catalogue. Even good specimens of the 1867 year date are equally scarce with those of 1861, though quoted at one-half the latter's price.

When in the year 1863 the Civil War was at its height, and when perhaps the greatest number of men were engaged in the struggle, letter writing seemed to be at its maximum. The 1863 date is the easiest to gather.

In contrast with this year, when it appears there was an exceptionally free use of letter postage, occurs the year 1865, when, following the disbandment of the armies, and when the whole country was exhausted and tired from the strain of four years' conflict, the use of postal facilities fell off measurably. This year date is little more than half as common as that of 1863.

The order of prevalency is estimated to be, first, 1863, then 1862, then 1864, 1866, 1865, 1867, 1861 and 1868, in descending ratio. Using 100 as a baseline percentage an estimate of the relative availableness of these dates is about as follows:

1862,	20
1863,	22
1864,	17
1865,	12
1866,	14
1867,	7

Grilled stamps do not share in this tabulation, or in these comments.

The writer has had the delight of his stamp experience of forty years in trying to assemble a full year's dates of this fascinating stamp. After three years of intensive pursuit the goal is in sight. In his particular specialization of date cancellations no year date whatsoever appears, either plainly impressed upon the stamp or obscure. Admittedly he collects year dates, but as yet another sideline. These he classifies by months in each year of issue.

The month and day-of-month is the only portion of a date permitted. It is to be noted, then, that this family of day cancellaions is quite exclusive. By eliminating the year from the cancellation these 365 days will accommodate themselves to any year in which this stamp was current. The assemblage makes a unique and interesting display, mounted with the dates for an entire month on a separate page of an album, eight horizontal rows, and four vertical. This arrangement permits spacing for data at either side of the stamps.

UNITED STATES USED BLOCKS OF FOUR

We list below a nearly complete list of used blocks from 1917 on. Blocks in used condition are very much scarcer as a general rule than unused, although they sell at much lower prices. We have noticed quite an increase in the demand recently for used blocks and hope that the offering below will prove of interest. We hope later to be able to offer a similar lot of blocks before 1917.

Any blocks not satisfactory may of course be returned for full refund.

One is promised genuine philatelic exhilaration in bringing together a group of date cancellations like this, providing he is willing to exercise almost unlimited patience and pains. It is the old story of the pursuit being of equal pleasure with the possession.

Doubtless the time was twenty to forty years ago when it would have been feasible to have attempted to assemble every date of each of the months and years from September, 1861, when the stamp was first issued, right through to the close of 1867, during the latter year the grills began to prevail. Few, very few, among advanced collectors, have succeeded in bringing together such a complete array of dates. Today, when so many hundreds of thousands of dates repose securely in oldtime collections—collections which seldom are disturbed or offered for sale—any attempt to collect all these days of all these years would be almost a fool's errand. The only hope of success one might hold for collecting complete the days of these years would be in buying ready-made collections assembled in decades of yore.

In bringing together such a specialization one naturally acquires many duplicates. These duplicates accumulate from several sources. Frequently dates submitted for approval contain days one wants, but the stamps are inferior, owing to poor centering, nibbed perforations, indistinct impression or soiled surface. Fearing one may not soon again have an opportunity of securing this or that date he purchases it. Many of these specimens are good or fine, but fail to grade very fine or superb. When the better grade is available one gladly substitutes it for the less attractive specimen. Duplicates accumulating by this selective process often become of service to other collectors pursuing a similar side-line.

A second source of duplicates is occasioned by the habit of trying to be courteous and fair. For instance, here is someone to whom you have submitted your list of date wants. At his leisure he examines his surplus stock. Perhaps by the time he offers for your approval two or three dates you once wanted you have acquired them from prompter sources. However, as a reward for his interest and time you buy his offerings.

Dates without the year as a part of the cancellation are about one-third as common as with the addition of the year. This makes a collection of this day-date type more attractive because more difficult to obtain. Some cancellations appear with a solid blur filling in the space where the cancellation stamp provided for a year date. For appearance sake we have assigned this type to the obscure year dates rather than allow them a place among the exclusive day and month dates.

The bringing together of complete collections of dates like this will disclose the fact that the summer months lessened the quantity of letter writing, or at least letter postage. June and July dates have been noticeably more difficult to obtain than have other months, particularly those in winter and spring. September and October yielded the next fewest dates. November, on the other hand, supplied the most. Next in order of commonness have been January, April and May. Day dates toward the close of a month, excepting the 30th and 31st have as rule been scarcer than those earlier.

The five dates from June 25 to 29, inclusive, have been the most elusive series of successive dates to secure in quantity, at least in sufficient quantity to enable one to select fine specimens. No other series of successive dates, beyond two in number, have occasioned a like search. There are possible reasons for these five dates eluding finding in as plentiful numbers. One cause lies in the fact that thousands of young people then were home from academies and colleges, so there were thousands less letters of parental solicitude, and the cause removed for writing dad for money. Second, this period represents a very intensive agricultural season, and in the Sixties the proportion of those following the farm was greater than today. Folk were simply too busy to write. Third, it is the between-season in the business world. Orders for goods and supplies for the summer were practically all in and filled. Orders for the winter were not in those days made so early. The business world had reduced correspondence in consequence.

Numerous "finds" in the future of large quantities of this stamp are less and less probable. Poor specimens off cover, or poor and ordinary covers, will increase in value but slightly in the next twenty-five years, whereas fine stamps off cover, and neat covers with clean-cut date cancellations wholly upon the stamp, are possessions worthy one's treasuring.

Recruits in specialism with this stamp are sure to multiply with the years. He who holds a liberal quantity in his own personal collection will have increasing satisfaction. If, at the same time, he holds a liberal surplus for distribution, he acts with prudence and foresight. Such an one is laying up in store against times of comparative famine, when he will have the joy of supplying many an urgent need in years of certain demand.

A BOLT FROM THE BLUE

On May 25, 1929, with no advance notice, a new half-cent stamp was placed on sale in Washington. The design is the same as has been used since 1925, but the stamp is printed by the rotary press and is perforated 11x10½.

Subscribers to our first day cover service received a cover of this stamp mailed on May 25th, which was charged to their accounts at the usual 20c service charge plus the face value of the stamps on the cover. The cover was mailed direct to the patron, as usual. That gives 'em a thrill.

For five years, every time a new stamp has been issued, first day cover subscribers have had a cover mailed direct to them. We hope to continue the service ad finem.

If you want to know about a good thing, ask for FDC circular.

If you want a cover of the ½c rotary press, send one dollar and, while the few on hand last, we shall send you a first day cover of a block of four and an unused block of four. An entire unused sheet of 100 of the ½c R. P. will be sent for one dollar.

PRECANCEL JOTTINGS

By A. F. GAMBER, Precancel Editor, Valley City, No. Dak.

Methinks non-precancel collectors with a lot or accumulation of precancels on hand sometimes take a peculiar attitude toward the precancel collector who would buy what they have. Every miscellaneous lot of precancels, like every similar lot of postally used, contains much common stuff. This is especially true since Bureau Prints came into such general use.

Now when the non-collector of precancels gets an offer for his lot, before he turns it down in disdain and orders the return of his stamps, let him reverse the situation and imagine that some precancel collector had sent him a miscellaneous lot of postally used, for an offer. Suppose this hypothetical lot contains, let us say, 25 stamps he needs, the rest of it being only average mine run, which is certainly not an unreasonable supposition as to most miscellaneous lots of any kind. His offer for the lot to the precancel collector would be based largely on that 25, not on the rest, would it not? He would know for a certainty that he could use the 25, the rest would be a rather large question mark, even if he were a dealer, and we're speaking of collectors. He could not very well offer more than the 25 would cost him if bought from dealers, and he ought to be allowed some margin on account of the common character of the large number that he does not need, but must take to get the rest. Isn't this fair, or is it?

Let us take a typical case, the amounts only being changed, for obvious reasons. I receive a miscellaneous lot of say 1,500 precancels, mounted on album sheets of a quality far superior to the stamps. Of the 1,500 I find 100 that I need, the rest are average mine run, my only outlet for them is through a small credit advance with a large precancel dealer, or direct sale to a small firm at wholesale rates. I offer the owner $5 for the lot. He orders the return of the stamps, saying my offer is impossible, but not stating his idea of what is possible. I look the lot over once more, see among the 100 a few that I'd especially like to own, and raise my original offer to $7, at the same time asking the owner what is his idea of their worth. He replies to the effect that they are worth at least $15, and concludes with the tart footnote, "and you have the crust to boost precancels!"

Now I ask you, which of the two parties concerned is afflicted with astigmatism? Had I submitted to him a lot of general postage of the same general quality as these 1,500 precancels, out of which he could have used 100, would he not have been outraged at my estimate of an average of 1c each for the lot as a whole?

Think it over, Mr. non-precancel collector, before you accuse the precancel collector of trying to flim you, or of acting contrary to his faith. If you know enough about precancels to feel competent to set a price on your lots when you send them out, do so. If you don't, then let him set it; unless you have a hunch you are being deceived, be governed by his estimate. The world is liberally supplied with short changers and tin horn sports, it is true, but they are usually detected without much trouble. It seems to me it's a matter of give and take. We can't all know everything in these days of philatelic specialization. If Mr. H. collects Civil War revenues, and if I have something in that line that he can use, I feel content to let him set its value, unless I suspect him, because I know nothing about the revenue market. Conversely, I collect precancels, and know a little about their market. When someone submits a lot to me, without an estimate attached because he knows but little about them, he should be governed by my estimate unless he suspects that I am not trustworthy. The rule certainly works both ways, or should, at any rate.

The Hoovers announce that the state controls will not be included in the 1930 precancel catalog. This will prove welcome news to most of us, I think, personally I have never heard an argument for including them that would hold water for a moment.

The following is taken from one of the Hoovers' circular letters to those working up copy for the next catalog, and faithfully portrays these two men's attitude toward the matter of getting out a catalog: " * * * All of this means that, try as we may, there are bound to be defects in the next job. So be patient if you see things that aren't right. We expect to catch up on the missing items and will right the typographical errors as much as possible. It's in the 1931 book that we hope for as nearly perfect a product as may be put out. * * * Let's get as near perfection in this next one as we can, but don't call us dubs if it isn't perfect in every respect. We are all doing our best." So, all you who buy the 1930 book, please bear in mind these words when you look thru your purchase: "Man's reach must exceed his grasp, else what's Heaven for?"

WEEKLY readers are slow to report new types, or we would have had a lot of new illustrations in print ere this. But we are accumulating some, before long we'll have a review for you. This is catalog-making time, and everybody is busy working up his part of it. So if the precancel news runs a bit thin, lay it chiefly to this.

"ODFJELL" NORWAY AT AUCTION
THE FINEST COLLECTION OF THIS COUNTRY CONTAINING MANY SUPERB PIECES

By PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

Through the courtesy of Mr. W. T. Wilson, we are enabled to review the auction sale on May 13th of the wonderful collection of Norway gotten together by Consul Abr. Odfjell of Bergen. The sale was held by Mr. H. R. Harmer in London, and in giving quotations, the pound will be figured on the basis of $5.00.

The most popular stamp of the country to collectors on this side, is the 1855 4sk, No. 1. A superb unused copy with full gum sold at $60. This has always been a most difficult stamp to obtain in fresh mint condition, for fully 90% of the unused copies that are offered are without gum. An unused copy with part gum showing sheet margins at left and bottom reached $37.50. An unused copy without gum sold at $30, while a similar copy with extremely large margins reached within a dollar of the same figure. An apparently unused copy with so-called double foot stamp, not guaranteed as to being unused, sold at $60, while a brilliant superb used copy lightly postmarked with enormous margins found a new owner at $80. Three other used copies sold at $17.50 to $55. Single used copies of the normal stamp reached prices ranging from $5 to $32.50, the latter price being paid for a seal postmark, showing a cross in the center surrounded by dots. Two copies with cracked plates brought nearly $20 each, while a similar copy on the front of the cover sold at exactly this figure. A block of four, described as extremely fine, but from the illustration it is noted that it is cut in at the left, with a slight vertical crease between the stamps, changed hands at $95. A magnificent strip of five in a beautiful deep color, lightly postmarked and no doubt, much superior to the block, sold at $115. A vertical strip of five badly cut into at one side and at both top and bottom, sold at $40. Two extremely fine horizontal strips of three, one showing "town" postmark and the other black grid, sold at $27.50 and $23.75 respectively. Magnificent pairs brought in the neighborhood of $10 to $18, the latter being paid for a pair postmarked "Arendal."

There were eighteen lots in the sale, each containing three fine picked copies showing three different postmarks, namely—bars, towns and circles. These lots were described as the finest of the single copies and ranged in price from $7.50 to $15. A fine collection of town postmarks consisting of forty-five stamps, including two pairs, found a new owner at $95. A collection of ring cancellations totaling 101, several described as especially rare, sold at $190. Three covers used before the issue of stamps reached $12.50, foretelling what might be expected in the future in the case of our own pre- varieties.

In the second issue, 1856-57, an standing piece was a magnificent block of nine of the 2sk, selling at A mint block of similar size of th which like the 2sk was described a largest block known, sold at $8 mint block of six of the 4sk die 2 at $65, while an unused horizontal mint of the 8sk mentioned as the known pair, originally in the Ack collection, sold at $42.50. A used zontal strip of three of the same reached $10, while a block of six celled, sold at $7. Single copies several denominations in magnificen dition brought substantial quotatio

In the third issue, a complete unus of the five values in perfect con with full gum, sold at $20. A s mint block of four of the 2sk sh four types, sold at $90, while a s block not so well centered, sold a These blocks were described as the two known unused blocks existin mint block of the 3sk sold at $65, w block of thirty-eight of the same in superb mint condition, was not evidently not reaching a reserve upon it. A complete original sheet full margins of the 4sk catalogue Gibbons at $625, brought $425. A block of ten of the same stamp sheet margins, sold at $100. A co mint sheet of the 24sk was not again evidently not reaching a limi sibly placed upon it.

In the fourth issue of 1866-68, b of four of the 1sk, 2sk together w block of six of the 4sk sold at $23.7 complete sheet of the 1sk sold at while a similar sheet of the 2sk sh the variety of postmark of Lion w tail, sold at $21. A sheet of the 2sk slightly off center reached $16.25, a superb horizontal pair of the 3 red-lilac, sold at $32.50. A block a off center sold at $22.50, showing condition is now beginning to mean thing even abroad. A superb blo four of the 4sk, as well as a co sheet, were not sold. A block of th changed hands at $42, while a blo fifteen of the same stamp, sold at A complete sheet was withdrawn.

An outstanding piece in the 1871 horn series, was a complete mint sh the 1sk, deep green first setting, sh all varieties, cataloguing at $520, s at $155. Quite a few mint sheets i series were withdrawn for reason stated. A block of fifteen of th carmine-lake reached $31.50, with a complete sheet of the deep carmine selling at $37.50. A block of the 6sk sold at $30, while a block of fifteen of the same stamp and a block of twelve, said to be the two largest blocks known, reached $92.50 and $77.50 respectively. A complete sheet of the 7sk sold at $50, while an imperforate copy of the same stamp of which only a few were known reached the same figure.

In the 1877 post horn shaded blocks of four of each of the 1, 3, 5, 10, 12 and 30 ore with full gum sold at $35. A block of twenty, consisting of the two bottom rows of the sheet of 3 ore sold at $23.50. A complete sheet of 5 ore, ultramarine, cataloguing $150 reached $50, while two blocks of four of the 10 ore Plate I sold at $12 each. Numerous blocks and sheets from this point on are without prices, the lots evidently being withdrawn, something which seldom happens with sales on this side of the pond.

Some outstanding pieces which were sold were—the 1882 10 ore imperf. in fine mint pair at $85, and a similar used pair at $55. A further pair on cover sold at $50, while a single imperforate of the 20 ore with corner sheet margins, sold at $40. An unique block of four of the same stamp in perfect condition was one of the outstanding pieces of the late issues, which brought $315.

Every specialist in the stamps of this country should certainly have a priced copy of the catalog, for this was possibly the finest collection of Norway ever gotten together and contained outstanding pieces which possibly will never be brought together again.

BUREAU PRINT CHRONICLE

Akron, Ohio, and Jackson, Mich., make their first appearance this week in the list of Bureau Print ordinaries, the former with the 1½c, and the latter with the 3c. Girard, Kansas, proves that the old type ordinaries are not exhausted by coming out with the one cent. The list of new and previously unreported varieties are: Old type, ordinary—Girard, Kans., 1c. Old type, coils—Pawtucket, R. I., 1c; Schenectady, N. Y., 3c.

B-11, ordinary—Akron, Ohio, 1½c; Battle Creek, Mich., 1c; Denver, Colo., 5c; Jersey City, N. J., 1½c; Jackson, Mich., 3c; Nashville, Tenn., 1c, 5c; Newark, N. J., 2c, 6c; Syracuse, N. Y., 3c; Warren, Pa., 1c; Worcester, Mass., 10c.

B-11, coil—Akron, Ohio, 3c; Boston, Mass., 5c.

4c 1902 IMPERFORATE
By KARL KOSLOWSKI.

I recently acquired a collection of U. S., and on the page containing the 1902 issue, I found a clipping that by all appearances came from MEKEEL'S. In this article Henry Schumacher gave some statistics of the 1902 issue of the U. S. imperforate, "as obtained from the Post Office Department, there were issued as follows:—

1c 1902,	Imperforate,	5,015,500
2c 1902,	"	10,685,000
4c 1902,	"	10,000
5c 1902,	"	13,000

We have no information as to who obtained the 4c lot, and it is no doubt true that some speculator is waiting for a favorable opportunity to unload. All the other values were legitimately sold and accounted for."

Had this gentleman gone into the details of this matter, this supposition would have faded away, and I would like for once and all times to make the facts clear. It was my good fortune to see this lot in its entirety in imperforate condition on May 27, 1908, and again on the following day, May 29, all perforated in Schermacked condition. This will leave the speculator out of the scene.

For the good of any pessimist, I deem it wise to state that outside of the 50 copies originally bought by me, there were five others found used on the large envelopes of mailing companies that were using the Schermack mailing machines. Moreover, as some of those held by me were destroyed, counting those found in the hands of others, not over 50 are known today, including several pairs and strips, and no speculator will ever release any of these stamps upon the market.

WARM WEATHER NOTE

Some time ago, we announced that the enterprising London Stamp Club, England, ever solicitous of the welfare of philatelic visitors from this shore had provided ice-water for those who thirsted. Not long ago, a contributor to the "Hit and Miss" column of the Chicago Daily News conducted by Gene Morgan sent in the following bit of fancy: "Yes, It Will Keep Americans Out of the Basement. I read where the London Stamp club moved and it was announced: 'For American visitors there is ice-water in the basement.' Why they specified 'American visitors' I don't know. Do you? Dolores." Not so funny.

EDITORIAL

WE have a suggestion to make that may be adopted with some beneficial results to philately. Aside from one's opinion as to the propriety of commemorative issues, denial is not to be made of the advertising advantage that comes from them. We are sleeping on our rights if we do not use our recent issues of the kind as a text for engaging the interest of outsiders in stamps. The donation of a little collection of recent special issues to a boy or girl, not to say an adult occasionally, has been attended with a happy outcome in several instances in our own experience recently, and we believe that if many of us would distribute little gifts of the kind, a number of new collectors would be added to the swelling list. Special issues are a fact, and there is good reason for them to be capitalized in our interests through their novelty and their historical lessons. A huge volume of general publicity is being given to recent commemoratives and the newspapers and magazines describe the new stamps in ample space. One of the best descriptions of a new stamp that we have seen appeared in the Electrical World of New York when it announced the Edison special with unusual attention to the details of the design of the stamp.

THE Saint Paul Pioneer Press of June 2nd printed a half-page article, by a special writer, O. N. Sullivan, describing the stamp affiliations of one of the leading citizens of the town, Olaf J. Olson. A cut of Mr. Olson shows him true to life and there are plates of stamp illustrations to keep him company. Here is the style in which the "feature" was presented in type: "O. J. Olson Builds Stamp Collection on Barn Loft Find. Dusty Old Trunk, Too, Gave Rare Treasures to St. Paul Collector. Business Man's Hobby Has Developed Into Sixty Volumes With Many Varieties of Large Value — Specializes in United States Issues and Those of Norway, Sweden, and British North America." Dost like the picture? Certainly it will catch the eye of the man whose ideas of stamp collecting are nebulous or nil.

A NEW FEATURE

"The Air Mail Chronicle"

As an added service to its readers, there is listed in

in the issues from April to June, inclusive, a complete chronicle of all air-mail stamps issued by Governments (excluding private and semi-official labels) from 1917, date of first issue, to April 1st, 1929.

These stamps are listed, priced and described according to the system established by Scott's Standard Stamp Catalogue.

Sample numbers of these issues can be furnished while they last for 10c per issue.

SCOTT STAMP AND COIN COMPANY

1 West 47th Street, NEW YORK, N. Y.

ONE of the newsgirls at the old Waldorf-Astoria, New York, which is now being wrecked, having been built in 1893, pays her respects to some of the permanent guests of the hostelry in a recent number of Liberty: "Not one of the group possessed sufficient imagination to collect postage stamps, let alone cultivate a genuine cultural interest of any kind." Then, there was the dealer who was dissuaded from using the warning as an advertising slogan: "Collect stamps and keep out of mischief."

THE Danville Commercial-News of May 26th contains a very interesting column in its Sunday edition, under the heading of "The Stamp Collector," and Jack Williams, who is the intelligent conductor of the section, provides the best of fare for the philatelic palate. At a recent meeting of the Mid-West Stamp Club, Danville, Dean H. H. Schroeder of Normal, Illinois, spoke before the club on U. S. stamps, in which he has specialized for many years, and Jack Williams finds good copy in the Dean, who is acting as president of the great Illinois Normal School, we may add. The Dean is an accomplished speaker on a variety of subjects, chief among which is stamp collecting.

MR. E. A. DIESTLER, Chicago, says that he has heard from the St. John's, Newfoundland, postal administration to the effect that no information is available as to the date of a first aerial postal flight. However, the following notice was sent: "General Post Office. The Minister of Posts has arranged for a special dial to be used for defacing postage stamps on letters mailed at the G. P. O. on June 14th next, the tenth anniversary of the first successful trans-Atlantic air mail by Alcock and Brown, June 14, 1919. The exact reading will be as follows: 'Commemorating First Trans-Atlantic Air Mail, June 14, 1919,' in five lines."

SUPPLEMENTING the notice in our issue two weeks ago of the Stockholm-New York flight, Mr. K. W. Wallquist, Chicago, writes: "I have just received notice from the Philatelic Agency of Sweden that the first official trial flight Sweden-U. S. A. will take place June 4th with the aeroplane, Sverige, under the guidance of the two well-known Swedish flyers, Messrs. Ahrenberg and Floden. The plane will carry no passengers, but 25 kilograms (about 55 lbs.) of mail will be transported. The postage required for each letter of 10 grammes (.35 oz.) is 20.25 in Swedish kroner or $5.50 in U. S. money. Each letter will be marked with a special date-stamp, showing the Statue of Liberty in New York harbor, the town hall in Stockholm, an aeroplane, and the words: 'Stockholm-New York, 1929'."

TO those who sent us Walt Mason's rhythmical rhapsody on postage stamps that appeared in newspapers as syndicated matter, we wish to say that the text is copyrighted and unavailable for that reason. However, Walt knows something about stamps and he descants about commemoratives in a way to show that he is not ignorant of recent philatelic developments.

THE prospectus of the First Annual Stamp Show, Minneapolis, August 19-24, inclusive, is a pamphlet of twenty pages devoted to the details of the coming exhibition, and has as a frontispiece the fac-simile of a label advertising the event that was tastefully conceived by Paul Reichstein, St. Paul. The description, "show," seems to be a most fitting appellation for the display as it is seen by reading the regulations that the whole structure of the enterprise is based on simplicity. Thus, a popular appeal is sounded and a democracy, rather than an autocracy of exhibitors is encouraged. The show is for the philatelic masses, and the support of all whose stamps are of interest is sought. A foreword dwells upon the attractions of the competitive exhibitions in what may be called their social aspects as well as in a philatelic sense. The exhibit will be a compact one, as there are only ten sections in a range that covers the world, although there are numerous groups under each heading. The judges are named and they are men of experience who will render just verdicts, we are sure. By a division of the exhibits into classes called Juvenile, Junior, Novice, Winners and Open, respectively, a gradation of merit is assured, thereby giving those who are eligible for entry in any given class a chance to meet rivals on fair terms. Ribbons or rosettes will be the awards and there are two championships: one for the best exhibit and one for the best exhibit in each section; and since there are eleven sections, the result will be that eleven marks of preferment will signalize this championship division. The twenty-eight rules and additional special notices give the particulars of the contest, and the questions of frames, insurance, booths, etc., are carefully explained. While the exhibition is "a joint enterprise conducted by the stamp collectors of Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minn.," and embodies departures that are original, yet the projectors of it acknowledge that the Cleveland exhibition of May, 1928, furnished some of the ideas that have been adopted. While the affairs of the exhibition will be administered by a corporation, the show is sponsored by the American Philatelic Society, and the National Philatelic Exhibition, as the incorporated company is called, will offer underwriting shares to the public. The show will be open to all collectors; it will be held in the Hodgson Building, where Mr. Hodgson has donated one entire floor embracing 9,450 square feet for its use. There is much more to be said of the forthcoming exhibition and it behooves all to give our undivided support to the intelligent efforts that are being made by the Twin City men.

OFFICIAL FLIGHTS

Effective June 1, CAM 16 operators instituted a noontime passenger service between Cleveland and Louisville. Although I didn't see any Postal Bulletin notice of mail on this day trip, newspaper clippings state mail was carried, and a good coöperator sent me covers from each end. No cachet; Louisville postmark 11 A. M.; Cleveland—1 P. M.  The other Alaska cover, sent in for the ice break-up service this spring, has turned up, postmarked Nenana, May 9th, no backstamp. Reached here the 29th.  Speaking of CAM 16, lots of folks took care to write me that Springfield did not apply its first flight cachet to ALL mail received via the first incoming mail. Guess I was just lucky on mine.

Night flying between Chicago and Kalamazoo started on schedule May 27th, and was only one way service, eastward. South Bend was hoping to get in on this service, but didn't receive the official O. K.  First Canadian flight Grande Prairie to Edmonton, took place May 21st. Commercial Airways, Ltd., have the contract and attached their new black stamp.

About all you can do is heave a few sighs of regret on this one. About June 1st, newspaper clippings came in stating that another ship to shore mail attempt would be carried out from the Leviathan on her next westward trip, June 7th. A non-stop pickup by the Adams system was planned. I doubt very much if any collectors' mail could have gotten on this, but someone may have worked it.

Now for our old friend, FAM 9. First mail left Miami May 14, cancelled Cristobal May 16 and Esmeraldas the 18th. Several of my covers were returned at once via air, were again cancelled Cristobal, May 20, and were back here the 28th. Covers addressed to Truxillo, Peru, have also come back, backstamped there the 19th. And here's a point. Covers mailed from Miami bear a small cachet showing a plane flying over water, with mountainous background. Those mailed at Cristobal have a larger cachet showing a map of FAM 9. Both in black, and decidedly messy. Advance word was that all covers would be cacheted at Cristobal, and not at Miami, so the two cachets come as a surprise.

My covers sent to Esmeraldas for the first north trip didn't make it. They are interesting, however, though not cancelled till May 25th. Each bears a 10c stamp, plus the typed inscription in Spanish "Paid 30c gold in place of stamps." Must have had a run for the first trip.  Covers are reported from Lima, Peru, dated May 16, but 1st trip left the 18th, and reached Cristobal the 20th, as above mentioned. But—the P.

Let's Go Fishing

Yes, let's! But the only stream that runs near by is one which I have never seen, for it buried itself long years ago, and all it is good for now is to burrow away the foundations of my neighbour's houses until they have to be amputated and supplied with crutches. So we'll fish, if you please, at home—indoors.

The fishing is good in Newfoundland, whether for business or pleasure. You will find fisherman bringing gifts of fish to Britannia (30 cents) and some of them working their nets at sea (8 cents) on the Jubilee issue of 1897, while on the 24 cents of the same issue are some sportsmen fishing for salmon. On the 1 cent green stamp of the 1923 issue is a picture of the Tor's Cove, one of the favourite haunts of anglers who visit the Dominion, and most of the other views in that series take us to the river's brim.

There is a good picture of a codfish on the early 2 cents stamps of the same Colony, together with pictures of seals on the stamps of 1866, 1880 and 1897. A curious blunder was made by the artist who engraved the seal on the 5 cents, 1866, for he showed this amphibious creature in possession of fore-legs instead of flappers. The design remained in use for many years—although the colour was changed from brown (1866) to black (1868) and blue (1876)—but at last, in 1880, the design was re-drawn and the seal is presented in the orthodox manner.

Other fish there are among British stamps include the dolphins on our ½d and 1½d English stamps of the present reign, a pair of fish swimming in opposite directions on the stamps of Stellaland, another pair (very like whales) on the 1908 issue of the native Indian state of Bhopal. There is, too, something fishy about the sea-horses which Britannia is driving on the current British 2/6, 5/- and 10/- stamps, and which are much the same class of neither fish, flesh, fowl, nor good red herring that are drawing King George V in a chariot on the stamps of Barbados.

No, I have not found an oyster on a stamp, but there is a winkle; I beg its pardon, it is really a conch, which my dictionary tells me is a "large marine gastropod," on the stamps of Travancore.—Stamp Lover.

Allenstein

Eight districts in East Prussia make up the region called Allenstein. After the World War the people of this section were in a dispute as to whether they should remain a part of Germany or become a part of the new Republic of Poland. In the districts there were approximately 268,000 Poles and 288,000 Germans.

An interallied commission was empowered to settle the dispute. During the period when the commission was in power special stamps were placed in use. The first set of stamps consisted of fourteen values of the then current German stamps surcharged in three lines, "Plebiscite Olsztyn Allenstein," which appeared April 12, 1920. This set was followed the next month by an oval design surcharge on the same varieties of German stamps as the first issue.

A vote was taken July 11, 1920, and the result showed that 98% of the ballots were in favor of a union with Germany. The region was, therefore, turned over to German control and regular German stamps were put into use.

For the collector who desires to get the stamps of a country complete, at a modest outlay, he will find one in Allenstein. Only two of its stamps are at all elusive, and those are the two 15 pfennige stamps in the violet-brown color.—A. C. LeDuc.

Mint

A stamp collecting expression constantly met with is mint or mint condition. A stamp is said to be in mint condition when it is in precisely the same state as a specimen newly issued from the stamp manufacturers' premises. That is, it must be unused, perfectly clean and fresh-looking, have full gum and be without any defects. An unused stamp without gum, even if in the most perfect condition otherwise, cannot be properly described as mint except in the case of those stamps which were never issued with gum.

LAMENT

Alas for him who never sees
The foreign stamp from overseas!
Who, careless, throws his mail away,
Nor stops to think perhaps they may Bring joy to some stamp nut some day!

Of foreign mail there is no dearth,
But halves of stamps are all we get.

AIRPORTS AND UNOFFICIALS

The mail this week has been full of c bearing all sorts of cachets. A lot of are turning up to celebrate or advertise events which are interesting enough in t selves, but haven't the slightest conne with aviation, let alone airmail. I'm a airport dedications, air derbys, avia shows, famous aviators, etc., as occa for special cachets, but I do think th lot of conventions, special days, etc. getting cachets for airmail covers that deserve them. I repeat, and I'm goi continue repeating it—Leave the spo ship of special cachets to some proper or aviation organization; and don't pro cachets for events which haven't any nection with the development of aviati airmail.

have recently had the pleasure of acing a small but very choice lot of cerearly U. S. issues in magnificent used ition. They come from a well-known ern collection, and in accumulating e it was the idea of the owner to make ndy of the several stamps in which he especially interested. The lot consists noice singles, pairs and strips and has mounted in small booklets for conence in sending through the mail. Exnt copies in most cases are priced at off with extremely fine specimens ing unusual cancellations or the like, d in accordance with rarity and desirty. If you are interested in any of varieties, I will be glad to submit the ps for your inspection.

5c—About fifty singles—fancy cancellations.

5c—About fifteen singles, beautiful pair and strip.

10c—Types II & III. Singles, pairs and strips with one used block.

12c—A choice lot of singles, pairs and strips of three, four and six. Some with sheet margins. Two blocks of four.

30c—Unusual lot of cancellations. Japanese Cow's Head, Shields, red, brown and blue towns, stars, etc.

6c, 10c, 12c—Unusual cancellations.

there is anything else that you desire, likely to have two or three on hand if a rare variety and a much larger numif not so scarce.

im also negotiating for a magnificent ction of mint U. S. in blocks of four rger, valued at upward of $100,000.00. am so fortunate as to acquire this, it possibly be the second largest collecof blocks that I have ever had the ure of handling.

rther details next week.

New Sullivan Stamp

The new 2-cent stamp, bearing a portrait of General Sullivan, which was recently described in this column, is officially announced by the Third Assistant Postmaster General in a letter dated May 29th, to be found in the Postal Bulletin of June 1st. We quote the official description given:

"Postmasters and employees of the Postal Service are notified that the department is preparing to issue a special 2-cent postage stamp to commemorate the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the Sullivan expedition in New York State during the Revolutionary War. The new stamp is the same size as the regular issue, 75/100 by 87/100 inch, and is printed in red ink.

The central design is a three-fourths length portrait of Major General Sullivan in continental uniform over which in a semi-circular panel appear the words 'United States Postage' in white Roman letters, on a dark background with white edges. This panel is supported on either side of brackets of scroll work forming the upper part of a narrow panel and ending at the base in dark circles with white borders. Within the circles in each lower corner appears the numeral 2 in white Roman letters. Across the top of the stamp is a ribbon bearing the title 'Sullivan Expedition' in dark architectural Roman letters. Below, in similar lettering, on either side on extensions of the ribbon panel are the dates 1779 at the left, and 1929 at the right. A dark panel with white edges bearing the word 'Cents' in white Roman letters connects the circles inclosing the denomination numerals. Above this base in a ribbon panel appears the wording, 'Maj. Gen. Sullivan' in dark Gothic letters. The entire stamp is enclosed in a narrow white border.

The new Sullivan expedition commemorative stamp will first be placed on sale June 17, 1929, at the post offices of Geneseo and Perry, N. Y. The stamp will be placed on sale at other post offices and the Philatelic Agency, Post Office Department, Washington, D. C., as soon thereafter as production permits.

Postmasters at direct and central accounting post offices may submit requisition to the department for a limited supply of this stamp, using Form 3201, indorsed across the face, 'Sullivan Expedition Stamps.' Postmasters at district post offices may submit requisition on Form 3338 to their central accounting postmasters for a small quantity as required to meet the local demand.

Stamp collectors desiring first day cancellations of the Sullivan expedition stamp at Geneseo or Perry, N. Y., on June 17, 1929, may send a limited number of addressed envelopes, not to exceed 25, to the postmaster at either office, accompanied with a remittance covering the value of the stamps, which will be affixed to the envelopes prior to mailing on the above date."

The Postal Bulletin of June 5th further announces that the Sullivan expedition commemorative stamp will also be placed on sale on June 17th at Canajoharie, N. Y., as well as the other two cities mentioned.

General Sullivan, the subject of this stamp, was born at Somersworth, N. H., February 18, 1740, studied law, became a member of the New Hampshire Provincial Assembly and later the Continental Congress. In 1774 he was commissioned a major in the New Hampshire militia, and in December of the same year, led an expedition capturing Fort William and Mary. He was made a Brigadier-General in the Continental Army in June, 1775, and was promoted to Major-General the following year. He was present at the siege of Boston, commanded the American troops in Canada, was present at the Battles of Long Island, Trenton, Staten Island, Brandywine and Germantown.

In 1779 he defeated the British at Newtown, now Elmira, New York, for which he received the thanks of Congress. He died in 1795.

New Edison Stamp

The new Edison stamp previously described in this column was placed on sale as announced on June 5, 1929, at Menlo Park, N. J., the home of Thomas A. Edison, inventor of the incandescent lamp. The stamp is most attractive when one considers that the designer had to make a stamp out of little or nothing for a subject, as an incandescent lamp is a thing of utility and not beauty. It was placed on sale during the week of the National Electric Light Convention at Atlantic City, and no doubt a good supply will be available at that point after first appearing at Edison's home. This is the second stamp issued by the United States upon which the name of a living man has appeared, the other stamp being the Lindbergh variety, issued shortly after his famous flight.

The first cover mailed from Menlo Park enclosed a communication from the Postmaster General addressed to Mr. J. F. Quinlan, Executive Secretary of "Light's Golden Jubilee."

The department has now placed orders for in the neighborhood of 180 million stamps, so that the issue will possibly be the largest commemorative issue that has as yet appeared.

DIFFICULT STAMPS

Hard to find stamps, seldom seen stamps—early classics in imperf. pairs—proofs—essays—rare cancellations—all these charming little side roads off the highway of Philately are the things we stock and sell to serious collectors. If specialists will kindly give us the name of the country they collect we rather suspect we can produce some unusual items for them.

WALCOTT CONFEDERATES

The half-page advertisement of Chas. J. Phillips elsewhere in this issue cannot fail to attract the attention of every reader of the WEEKLY. The superb collection of Confederate States, local adhesives, formed by Mr. Geo. Walcott, has been purchased by Mr. Phillips, and is now offered for sale. A perusal of the advertisement will give an inkling of the extent of the collection. Our New York dealer friend certainly has the happy faculty and good fortune of handling some of the choicest of collections.

Beaver Dam, Wis., 6-5-29.

Gentlemen:—

Enclosed find $10.00 in payment for subscription to the WEEKLY for TEN years.

Respectfully,
A. E. HUTTER.

A great Tribute to Our Paper.

POTPOURRI—

ON May 28 pursuant to a call the Richmond (Va.) Stamp Club was organized with 30 members. Officers:—Pres., August Dietz, Sr.; 1st V. Pres., Chas. L. Hofmann; 2nd V. Pres., J. M. Wellford; Sec.-Treas., A. E. Royer, 1207 Mutual Bldg. This Club expects to grow very fast. It has been nearly 30 years since Richmond had an active club, but at that time it was a real one. Meetings will be held every Tuesday for the present, at the Y. M. C. A., after which time we expect to have a club room for use at all times.—A. E. ROYER, Sec.

WE have a letter from J. B. Shastid who advises us that his uncle, Dr. Thomas H. Shastid, is entitled to a large share of the credit of the Edison commemorative. Our friend claims that Mr. Shastid has for several years been urging the P. O. D. to honor both Edison and Dr. Mayo. The Duluth News Tribune, May 29, says that Shastid "deserves credit for his share in bringing out the stamp."

WE have received from Albert L. Stokes and Bill Schneider, Jr., details connected with the first day sale of the Edison stamp at Menlo Park, June 5. Space will not permit giving the details, which were not unlike those of other first days.

ACCORDING to Geo. T. Bush the Kiwanis Club of Bellefonte, Pa., has adopted a set of resolutions endorsing the proposed new set of U. S. Stamps.

A HOUSE organ called the "Colonialist" is published by E. C. Cantrell, San Antonio, Texas. The June number lies before us, and it is interesting enough for us to suggest to our readers that they apply for copies of the same. Any who are interested in air mail stamps or covers or British Colonials will particularly appreciate the publication.

IN Colliers' for April 27 appeared an article dealing with the Nicaragua volcano stamps, written by Edwin E. Slosson. This story is quite familiar to our readers. Clipping from R. C. Davidson.

THE C. C. Stamp Co., has issued a very complete price list on British Colonials. It consists of forty pages, and the line of offerings will furnish much of interest to any collector of British Colonial stamps.

REV. E. A. BUTLER has issued a very nice retail catalog of the stamps of Newfoundland. It is nicely gotten up, fully illustrated, and will be sent to anyone upon request.

A NEW forty paged bargain list is just being published by the Red Star Stamp Co., Box 496 Grand Central Sta., N. Y. City. It is illustrated, has many attractive offers, and is recommended to our readers.

THE attention of dealers is called to the fact that H. E. Pohlmann, 1409 2nd Ave., New York City, has just issued a catalog of what he terms the "Most Popular Line of Stock Books and Albums on the Market." Looking through the list, which is finely illustrated, one may imagine that Mr. Pohlmann can easily meet the needs of dealers for accessories of the kind mentioned above. List will be sent upon request.

RE-USE OF PRECANCELS

As a result of the fraudulent use of precancelled stamps recently disclosed by U. S. postal inspectors it is reported that this privilege will be drastically modified or abolished.

Despite warning circulars sent to business houses, inspectors were able recently by marking stamps inbound on the undeliverable mail of twenty-one Chicago firms to identify the same stamp outbound later. Several corporations were fined $1,000 and the directors $250 each. A number of trials are still pending.

In the present investigations many stamps were discovered so dilapidated that officials believed they must have been used several times.

NEW SULLIVAN STAMP

PHILA., June 7.

Through the courtesy of Mr. Warren Irving Glover, Second Assistant Postmaster General, we are enabled to inform our readers that since the last official information was available, that the Post Office has decided to issue the new 2-cent "Sullivan" stamp at fifteen cities in New York, instead of the two cities originally decided upon. The stamp goes on sale June 17th, and will be available at Auburn, Canandaigua, Elmira, Geneva, Horseheads, Owego, Penn Yan, Seneca Falls, Waverly, Watkins Glen, Waterloo, Binghamton, Perry, Geneseo and Canajoharie.

PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

We are indebted to L. B. Gatchell and Fred W. Church for the information that the list of cities for first day sale of the Sullivan stamp was to be extended. Both wired the WEEKLY, and we deeply regret that the news arrived too late to run June 10. Tuesday is the last day that "Stop Press News" can be received.

FORT ORANGE CLUB VISITS N. Y. C.

On June 5, the Fort Orange Stamp Club of Albany, N. Y., returned the visit of the Collectors Club of New York City. A delegation of nine members made up the party, which dined at the New York Athletic Club, and was then escorted to the Collectors Club where nine exhibits were shown by E. R. Ryder, Wendover Neefus, G. L. Habbert, W. L. L. Peltz, Richard Walton, Warner Bates, J. I. Wyer, G. R. Cooley, W. W. Reynolds. The visit was a very profitable one.

varieties of unusual interest, namely—a sheet of one hundred of the 9c Nebraska, plate 18744, wherein the surcharge on the entire top row is missing, giving us ten vertical pairs with one stamp only, surcharged.

The same correspondent has located a sheet of the same stamp, plate 18742, showing a wide spacing between overprints of 32mm instead of the normal 22mm. This, like in the case of the similar error found in the Molly Pitcher and the 2c Hawaiian variety, is due to the fact that the plate for printing the surcharge did not synchronize with the plate printing the stamps, and as a result the gap in the surcharge which is supposed to span the gutter between the panes did not fall in the right place, resulting in the two varieties above, of which the first described is a most important addition to twentieth century stamps.

Miscellaneous Notes

The Third Assistant Postmaster General advises under date of May 29th that the ½c rotary precancel varieties have been issued at intervals for the past three weeks and that the uncancelled stamp was placed on sale for the first time at the Philatelic Agency as we previously announced, on May 25, 1929.

Mr. Robert Richardson reports the finding of a coil of three thousand of the 1½c sidewise varieties, in which the perforations were not clearly cut out, giving us what is known as a blind perforation.

Mr. Thurman Woodruff has sent for inspection a block and strip of the 2c "Vermont" in which the left inner frame line is almost completely missing. These pieces were taken from plate 19037, and may be readily noted by the naked eye.

Mr. George P. Brockway calls attention to a variety to be found on the 16c air mail stamp. A horizontal line under the inscription "U. S. Postage" runs through both stamps. This is a plate line placed upon the plate when it was first laid out and was not finally erased.

Mr. Samuel J. Smith kindly sends two air mail covers from Shamokin, Pa., sent out as a farewell testimonial to Captain H. C. Richardson. The covers were mailed from Richardson Field, Shamokin, Pa., and bear a concentric marking showing a plane in flight, together with date, etc.

We thank Mr. R. H. Langdon for showing us copy of the new Playing Card stamp.

Mr. J. C. Long has written to the Postmaster General relative to the new series of postage stamps and suggests several western scenes of well-known importance, such as—Mount Whitney, Bridal Falls, Mount Holy Cross, etc. He also asks for an 18-cent stamp to be added to the series.

Antigua.—Copies of the 1½p puce brown and 1sh black on emerald, script watermark, have been received from Mr. R. Roberts and Whitfield King & Co.

Belgium.—Stamp Collecting state that they have received information that the forthcoming issue in commemoration of the Centenary of Independence will contain the following values: 60 centimes, 1 franc (or 1.50fr) and 1.75fr. The first two values will show portraits of Leopold I (after the well-known painting by De Winne) and Leopold II, whilst the third will present the likenesses of King Albert I and Queen Elizabeth, in two medallions. It is anticipated that a special printing of the latter stamps will be made in miniature sheets for sale at the International Philatelic Exhibition to be held at Antwerp in July, 1930.

Bulgaria.—We have received from Mr. R. Roberts a new issue of stamps commemorating the millenary of the Great Tzar Simeon, whose kingdom stretched from the Adriatic to the Black Sea, and also the fiftieth anniversary of the Independence of Bulgaria. The stamps are surfaced printed on highly surfaced paper perforated 11½ with no watermark. Values and shades are 10st dark purple, St. Clement Ohreda, The Bishop of Tzar Simeon's capital; 15st mauve, Khuladinoff; 30st carmine, Rakovski; 50st sage green, Drenovsky Monastery; 1L red-brown, Father Paissy; 2L dark blue, Tzar Simeon; 3L olive-green, Liuben Karaveloff; 4L grey-brown, Vassil Levsky; 5L brown, George Beukovsky, and 6L Tzar Alescander II.

Canada.—Whitfield King & Co. submit for chronicle the 1c orange, perf. vertically, imperf. top and bottom.

Italy.—A correspondent of Stamp Collecting advises them that the Montecassino commemoration stamps will be on sale during the first fifteen days of June only. Four values will be included in the issue of which the highest, 10 lire, will be engraved. Ten thousand sets will also be overprinted for circulation in the Italian Colonies of Cirenaica, Eritrea, Somalia and Tripolitania. New Italian stamps for Express Delivery, Pneumatic and Aerial postage are in course of preparation by the rotogravure process.

New Guinea.—The Nassau Stamp Co. have sent a photograph of the current stamps with handstamp surcharge "O S". The 3p has a double overprint one of which is handstamped and the other the printed surcharge. Also the 1p, 4p and 1sh values appear with the surcharge inverted. Our correspondent adds that while Scott's catalog lists some officials under Nos. 202 to 209, they believe these refer to the printed surcharge and not to the handstamped.

Roumania.—Whitfield King & Co. send for chronicle a very attractive set of six values known as the Transylvania Commemoratives. The values are 1 leu purple, 2 lei green, 3 lei brown, 4 lei carmine, 5 lei orange, and 10 lei blue.

South Africa.—In a letter just received from Mr. J. Robertson of Johannesburg we learn that, owing to leakage of unused official stamps, the Union Government has decided to make these available to the public in unused state at face value. They will not be on sale at the Post Offices, but may be obtained from the Postmaster General at Pretoria on special application. The 2p King's Head Official stamp is now obsolete, having been replaced by the 2p pictorial, the current series now consisting of the ½p, 1p, 2p and 6p, all pictorials. The same applies to the South West Africa overprints.

POSTAL UNION MONUMENT

IN HONOR OF THE INTERNATIONAL POSTAL UNION ORGANIZED AT BERNE IN 1874

By PLEASANT A. STOVALL.

(Cut and article by courtesy "All About Switzerland")

One of the most interesting points in the historic capital of Switzerland is the little park known as "Kleine Schänzli." It is surrounded by an iron railing and bordered with rows of linden, poplar and fir, and lined with lilacs. The eminence, now crowned with a bandstand, where music is dispensed three times a week, is faced with a rocky cliff out of which water percolates into a little lake. It is the resort of people living in the central part of the town and one side of the park is walled up and commands a beautiful view of the river Aar as it bends around the city. Way beyond is the chain of the distant Alps.

The pièce de resistance of this park, which is one of the beauty spots of Berne, is the World's Postal Monument. This exquisite piece of art was unveiled some 20 years ago. It was modeled by a Parisian sculptor and symbolizes in a striking manner the great work of the International Postal Union. It is wrought in bronze and riveted to the rocks at its base and seems to rise naturally out of the basin of water and stone. The round globe is encircled by several figures, representing the human races encompassing the earth, while the airy figures are belting the world. These forms barely touch the sphere and seem to be flying through space. The Indian, of course, represents America, the comely Caucasian is Europe—then come the Malayan, the Mongolian and last the African—all combining to put a girdle around the earth.

The monument was put up to celebrate the establishment of the Postal Union, held at Berne in 1874—and the statue of Helvetia (Switzerland) enthroned at the base—just above the surface of the water, is graceful and commanding. The cloud effect, which really supports the huge globe and connects it with the rocky pedestal, is light and firm and comports with the whole work of Morceaux, the French artist. For Switzerland is the official headquarters of several international agreements, commercial treaties and unions. It made the initiative for the International Telegraph Union, dispensed with a central administration whose main office is in Berne. Then came the Postal Union, now comprising the coöperation of fifty modern administrations. Under this union a letter mailed, say, in Africa, will be transported by all the nations and landed in Oregon or Siam, with equal facility. So the design of the huge figures handing on the letter to his neighbor, floating over the surface of the suspended globe memorializes one of the most important world monuments ever inaugurated.

Around the base of this monument visitors linger, reading the motive of the sculptor and marveling at the poise of the metallic creation and the graceful swing of the human figures as they scarcely touch the surface of the globe, and seem to be expediting the delivery of the missives which they are passing around the terrestrial sphere. Over all the structure falls the deep shade of Swiss verdure and at its feet flows the tireless current of a Swiss stream, as it filters through the rocks of the Kleine Schänzli and passes into the little basin below the rocky throne of the complaisant Helvetia.

COLOMBO-GERMAN ASSOCIATION OF AERIAL TRANSPORTATION

By HERMANN FOCKE.

(The history of Air Mail progress must necessarily include the interesting stamps described in this article by Mr. Focke. They are pioneers and worthy of the consideration shown them by our faithful correspondent.—EDITOR.)

These letters are the initials of the Sociedad Colombo-Alemana de Transportes Aereos, or the Colombo-German Association of Aerial Transportation in our Southern Sister-Republic of Colombia, which has functioned for almost ten years and brought to the country a never dreamt of progress in transportation of passengers, mails and, to a moderate degree, freights. Instead of a tedious trip by river boat and mule-back, consuming under most favorable conditions two weeks, the distance is now covered by hydro-aeroplane and railroad from the coast to the capital of Bogotá in the interior in less than two days, including an overnight stop at Girardort, the terminal station of the aerial voyage, reached in eight hours' flying time. It is noteworthy that in all these years there has not occurred one single serious mishap to an airship, while in service, while only three serious accidents are to be recorded.

While one of the main objects of this enterprise is the transport of the mails between the Coast and the Interior of Colombia, and to the original river route to Girardot, others have been added to the important commercial centres in the interior, and more recently to the Canal Zone, the Pacific Coast of Colombia, and finally to Ecuador.

As was to be supposed, the Company issued from the start of the air mail service special postage stamps, but these have been refused, so far, space in several of the more important catalogues, because, it was contended, the stamps had not been issued, nor were being sold by the Colombian Government Post Offices, and were, therefore, not official; however that may be, anybody familiar with the Colombia air mail knows that the air mail stamps, the same as the regular postage stamps, are invariably cancelled by the same postmark, indicating that the "SCADTA" must have some rights conceded to it by the Government, as far as mail matters are concerned. If we want to go to the bottom of the matter, I believe that in every country where there exists air mail service, it is handled by more or less private undertakings, and if the government issues and sells postage stamps for that particular purpose, a good part of the fee reverts to the owners of the planes; if I am not grievously mistaken, the same conditions exist today in our own country.

There is no doubt that the "Scadta" Air Mail Service is today the most practical and efficient one in existence, and for anybody to exclude its stamps from a collection of air mail stamps is a mistake which will sooner or later be regretted. Up to the present there have appeared three distinct issues of these stamps, and while I myself have not a complete collection of them, in fact the first issue is about as scarce as the famous hen's teeth, I have at least a good number of them, referring interested parties to the catalogues of Yvert & Tellier, and various other European concerns which have given these stamps the recognition they deserve.

The first issue, appearing in 1920 when the service was inaugurated, consisted of large oblong "pasters", about 50x25mm, crudely lithographed on white or colored paper, with inscriptions, at top: "Sociedad Colombo-Alemana", at bottom: "De Transportes Aereos" and value in the two lower corners, the centre showing a picture of the Magdalena river with the familiar flat-bottom river steamer and an aeroplane aloft; on either side of the picture which is in a semi-circle frame is a sort of a cherub or young maiden with outstretched arms, as if awakening from a sound sleep, or doing a dance of joy. The postmark on these stamps consisted of an equally crude rubber stamp in violet with the name of the Company, the town of origin and the name of the agent. Several of these stamps were surcharged with new value, such as VALOR 30 CENTAVOS on 50c (black on white paper) again with a rubber stamp in the same purple color.

The second issue consisted of a elaborate affair, the stamps being graved on white paper, the centavo ues showing again the Magdalena with aeroplane above and snow-c mountains in the distance, while the values have a picture of the Capit Bogotá, with the main plaza and cathedral in the fore, and the two tains of Montserrat and Guadalu the background; the inscriptions on were: "Servicio Postal Aereo de Co bia", with value and S. C. A. D. at bottom. The cancellation on consisted at first of a postmark wit same wording as the stamps, with of town at bottom and SCADTA in c while later the word SCADTA was tuted by the date. Of this second there exists also at least one provis stamp, the 60c orange having been charged in black diagonally "PROVI AL" and "30—30" over the old value

The third issue, now current, is similar design, but on white paper watermark crosses and circles (S type 116) and the inscriptions cha to read "Servicio de Transportes A en Colombia," to comply with an of the Colombian Govt. The post now being used has again the same ing as the stamps, with date in cent

At the recent inauguration of the vice to Ecuador a number of the Co bian stamps were surcharged with words ECUADOR at top, PROVISIONAL onally across the centre, and the E dorean currency at bottom, e.g.: SUCRE on the 30 centavos blue, but provisional issue was short-lived and recently been superseded by a perma issue, of which I have seen the 1½ S in grey-blue, quite a little smaller the Colombian stamps, with the façad some building, apparently a church, the inscriptions: ECUADOR at top in

U. S. Plates and Plate Markings

R. A. BRYANT, Editor.
Box 64, West Somerville, Mass.

Readers are requested to send in notes and data on errors, shifts, defects and all plate markings; also color varieties and new numbers for chronicle. The editor will gladly answer all questions on these subjects.

Through the courtesy of R. W. Becker we are able to present the latest and most complete list of air mail combinations having the error on center plate 19597, and which is so widely sought among collectors of this issue. Mr. Becker writes: "As you know, the center plate 19597 had the word 'TOP' engraved on the left side of the plate instead of the right side, resulting in the 'TOP' of this plate, which prints with blue ink, falling on the 'TOP' of the frame plates printed in combination with it which are printed with red ink. The result is a double 'TOP' printed on the left sheets and the omission of any 'TOP' on the right sheets. This center plate was probably used more than any other, resulting in a large variety of combinations with it." Combinations with the following border plates are all in Mr. Becker's collection: 19585-587, 19605-606-612-613-614-615 - 620-622-623-624-625-626-627-629-630-631-632-633-634-635-670-671.

Several readers have also reported right panes having this center plate (19597) in combination with borders: 19605-606-608-613-615-619-624-630. No doubt the others will be reported soon.

Mr. A. E. Owen, president of the PPNA, has kindly sent for our files a complete list of all postage due plates issued by the Bureau, to date. There has been some confusion concerning these plates among collectors, due mainly to their trying to definitely place certain plates with particular issues. As one authority remarks: "It is futile to try to say definitely to what issue a plate belongs to when stamps are classified in issues on watermark and perforation differences." Some of these plates run through three, four and even five issues, for instance, printings from 2c plates 6703-04-05-06 are found with single line watermark, perf. 12; s.l. wmk., perf. 10; unwatermarked, perf. 10, and unwmk. perf. 11. The only sure way to determine the issue of certain postage due stamps is to check carefully the watermark and perforation. I will appreciate readers sending in lists of plate number stamps of these issues, taking care to give proper classification.

Letters containing information on various subjects are acknowledged from Wayne E. Kuhn, R. H. Mason, Theodore H. Ames, Mrs. O. W. Mott, J. Hartley Bowen, Jr., Robert Richardson, J. B. Bogne, Dr. Richard A. Metcalf, A. E. Owen (2), R. W. Becker (2), J. L. Keffer, Dr. Fletcher J. Towlerton, Arthur W. Line (2), Frederick A. C. Strubel, F. J. Stillman and Walter W. Hopkinson. Many long lists were included. Many thanks.

At the request of a reader asking for information concerning a certain plate and possible printings therefrom I sent the query to H. M. Southgate, chairman of the Plate Number Committee of the PPNA, who has generously sent the following reply: "Plate 8336 was used for sidewise coils, i.e., perforated vertically—1c. It may have been in use when the watermark paper was in production, as well as no watermark. Coil waste was perforated making the 11x10 compound. Some may have made the 11x11 rotary. The plate may have been used for:

No. 452—single line watermark, perf. 10 vert. coil.

No. 490—no watermark, perf. 10 vert. coil.

No. 538—no watermark, perf. 11x10 coil waste.

No. 545—no watermark, perf. 11x11 coil waste.

I got my copies, 11x10 coil waste in June, 1919, and probably it was not used on watermark paper and may be called a 1919 issue if No. 538 or No. 545 or 1916 if in coil form." Other readers having printings from this plate will find this report interesting.

Walter W. Hopkinson writes that he has all 144 Vincennes combinations now represented in his collection, and 667 5c air mail combinations! This is the largest amount reported to date. He adds that two other west coast collectors have succeeded in getting 556 and 584 combinations, respectively. These are record holdings I feel certain.

CHINESE UNIFICATION

Whitfield King & Co., Ipswich, Eng., state that a set of four stamps has been issued for China in commemoration of its unification and they are very similar to the Chang Tso-lin stamps of 1928. The new ones show a portrait of the President of the Republic, Kiang Kai-Sheik. The denominations and colours are as follow:—1c orange, 4c sage-green, 10c blue and $1 carmine. These stamps have also been overprinted with four Chinese characters for Kirin and Heilungkiang, Yunnan, and Sinkiang (Chinese Turkestan) respectively.

CANAL ZONE NOTES

By HARRY E. HUBER.

The permanent series of postage stamps for the Canal Zone (replacing overprinted United States stamps) was inaugurated with the 1c green, and 2c carmine rose, bearing portraits of General Gorgas, and General Goethals, issued on October 3rd (the anniversary of the birth of General Gorgas, on Oct. 3, 1854), and October 1, 1928, respectively. Booklets of 2c stamps (25c and 49c) were issued November 5, 1928.

In January, 1929, order was placed with the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, for two additional denominations in the same size as the 1c and 2c, i.e., 19x 22mm, these being the 12c brown-violet, bearing a portrait of Col. David D. Gaillard, and the 50c lilac, Gov. J. C. S. Blackburn—these gentlemen having been former members of the Isthmian Canal Commission. Of the 12c 500,000 were ordered, and of the 50c, 250,000.

At the same time an order was placed with the Bureau for a commemorative stamp of 5c denomination, blue, which in size will approximate that of the air conference stamps of the U. S. A., issued December 12, 1928. The vignette will be from a photograph of a steam shovel operating in Culebra Cut, opposite Culebra, about the time that the dry excavation was completed. Of this stamp, 1,000,000 copies were ordered.

It was desired to have these new stamps in issue before the close of the fiscal year (i.e., June 30, 1929), but at last word it seemed hardly probable that they would arrive in time.

Canal Zone On U. S.

The 14c American Indian (50,000) in the shipment of Sept. 26, 1927, with the sharp "A" overprint, was issued about December, 1928.

According to the list (dated Jan. 9, 1929) of stamps available at the Philatelic Agency, Balboa Heights, the ½c, 2c, 3c and 10c flat plate printed, were exhausted, although the 2c, 3c and 10c were still to be had in rotary form.

Canal Zone Stamped Envelopes

Since writing the article which appeared in MEKEEL'S WEEKLY of August 13, 1928, the following stamped envelopes have been manufactured by The Panama Canal Press, at Mt. Hope, Canal Zone—

	1c, No. 6.	2c, No. 6.	2c, No.9
Jan., 1929,	10,000	10,000	5,000
Jan., 1929,			25,000
Feb., 1929,	15,000	45,000
March, 1929,			10,200
March, 1929,			25,200

Air Mail

The 2c air mail envelopes in the first printing (May, 1928), bore in addition to the blue, white and red horizontal stripes on the face, a single lined box, 32x32mm, in the lower left corner, with the instructions, in blue "Via—Air Mail —Envelopes of this—design to be used—exclusively for air—mail.—Sender's address—must be shown on—envelope." In the January and March, 1929, printings, the box is omitted, and the words "Via Air Mail" (70x6mm) are printed in blue, just above the colored horizontal stripes, at the left of the envelope.

25c on 2c Air Mail, Jan. 11, 1929

For use in connection with the air mail service between Cristobal and Miami, over FAM No. 5, inaugurated from Cristobal on Feb. 10, 1929, a special air mail stamp of 25c denomination was manufactured, to be added to the 2c air stamped envelopes, to express the 27c rate (per half ounce).

The overprint "AIR MAIL" at the top, and "25 CENTS 25" at the bottom, was applied in blue, to the 2c rose carmine, Goethals, issued October 1, 1928, in Post Office sheets of 100 (10x10), by the Panama Canal Press, Mt. Hope, Canal Zone. All four plate numbers are known with the overprint, i.e., 115184, 115185, 115186 and 115187.

The first printing consisted of 500 sheets (50,000 stamps), which were first placed on sale January 11, 1929. (The inauguration of the air service was first reported for Jan. 11th from Miami, and Jan. 19th from Cristobal.)

The demand for the overprinted stamp was great, and with the postponement of the first flight north from Jan. 19th to February 10th, large quantities of co were presented additional to those pared with ordinary Canal Zone (1c 2c), or U. S. overprinted stamps.

Just previous to the dispatch of first mail north, a second printing 20,000 was made, and on February a third printing of 20,000 was compl During April, 1929, an additional 10(were manufactured, making a total the four printings) of 190,000. O printings will be made as needed.

The use of the overprinted air stamp was not compulsory at first, towards the end of March, 1929, the rector of Posts ruled that only mail paid with the special 25c air mail st would receive air treatment over Cristobal-Miami route, and that ordi stamps would not be accepted, eve totalling the proper amount. The re given is that this is necessary for counting purposes.

Subsequently, by a notice of M 20th (Postal Bulletin of Mar. 21st), air letter rate over FAM 5 from M to Cristobal (and vice versa, of cou was reduced from 27c to 25c per ounce. The first mails dispatched a new rate were on April 2nd north south.

Jan. 11, 1929. Provisional air mail st Permanent series (2c) line engr and recess printed (from flat pla by Bureau of Engraving & Prin Washington, D. C., and overprinte the Panama Canal Press, Mt. H Canal Zone, in blue, in two lines, MAIL—25 CENTS 25." Unwatermar perf. single line 11.

METROPOLITAN STAMP COMPANY
1482 BROADWAY NEW YORK CITY

Sevard's Twinkles

Mr. R. L. Bell rings a carillon from Fort Dodge, Iowa, that our remarks on the word MILITARY on stamps is quite off in that he submits specimens picked up at random. All were from the Chicago Universal cancel. He remarks that this has nothing whatsoever to do with Chicago gunmen. This summer we are going to Random where so many chaps pick up stamps.

Summer is here. It is just that heat of the sun that comes along and tries to make you forget stamps. It lends you that flaccid philosophy of Omar to sit under a tree and do nothing. You are entranced to dream in the shade and waft a Nirvana of selfish idleness, as if such a philosophy were ever practical in America. If summer brings to you an unconsciousness for the occlusion of your doubts, forget it. Stamps are stamps in summer as well as in winter. Remember the ant who worked all summer while the grasshopper rubbed his elbows. In the winter, the ant was selling stamps while the grasshopper still had blank spaces. Let Omar go around in his nightshirt with his bunk philosophy, but you dear friend, cast your fly at plate numbers, churn up the dust with post office cancels, do eighteen holes at perf. 10 or perf. 11, or either mixed, but sit down every now and then, and keep after those blank spaces. Stamp collecting is 100% perpetual motion. I second the motion.

MR. RALPH W. PORTER WRITES US THAT HE COLLECTS STAMPS FOR THE FUN OF IT AND SELLS STAMPS ONLY TO BUY MORE FUN. THIS IS AN ETERNAL CIRCLE, AND WE BELIEVE HAPPINESS IS ONLY WHAT YOU SHARE WITH OTHERS. PERHAPS THIS IS WHY STAMP COLLECTING HAS AND ALWAYS WILL BE OUR MOST PLEASING HOBBY, FOR IT IS ONE IN WHICH ALL CAN SHARE.

It surely is a surprise that someone hasn't started a Stamp-of-the-Month club. Perhaps we can inveigle the Post Office Department to issue a new stamp the first of each month. This will save time, bookkeeping, cataloging, and spasmodic production. Each collector will get a few sheets of new stamps direct by mail the first of each month. This will be mass production for everyone all the year round. Thus we can eliminate equalization fees, the debt of the Allies, Teapot Dome, Muscle Shoals, and the origin clauses. And how happy we shall be to receive our bills for the first of each month?

MEXICAN CHARITY STAMPS

By DONALD D. SMYTHE.

The present law requires that all mail originating in Mexico and addressed to points within the country shall carry, in addition to the regular rate of postage, 1c for each 20 grams or fraction thereof. The 1c may be paid with ordinary stamps or with the new charity stamps. Thus, strange as it may seem, a letter addressed to the next town requires 11c postage while a letter sent anywhere out of the country requires only 10c.

Parcels post requires quite a string of stamps, sometimes a dozen or so. I asked the postmaster if other denominations would be issued to care for this mail and he told me no. There is a new order out and in two weeks the P. O.s will be supplied with hand stamps in place of adhesives for use on papers and parcels. I presume that the adhesive will still be used on letters.

The first stamp to appear was a provisional made by overprinting the 1c "Proteccion a la Infancia" (For the protection of the Children). Judging from the supplies that reached here (only 10 sheets of 100 each) the issue was a small one. The permanent stamp has now arrived, showing mother and child, and is inscribed "Proteja a la Infancia" (Protect the Children). There are plenty of these.

EDITORIAL

THE postmaster of Geneseo, New York, is living and learning, and moreover he has attained an ease of expression that makes him a man among men. He says that he "didn't know there were so many nuts in the world," and his access of knowledge is the result of his recent experiences with collectors of stamps who have written him on the subject of the Sullivan sesquicentennial stamp which is to be placed on sale at Geneseo on June 17th. Not unnaturally stamp collectors from all over the country have written him to have his coöperation in obtaining their beloved first day covers. Our information is gained from the columns of the esteemed Rochester Democrat of June 7th, and further the postmaster of Perry, New York, has his tale to tell, and we learn that the first sheet at Perry is reserved for "Guy Comfort, president of the Genesee County Association, which association was instrumental in getting the new stamp." To revert to the Geneseo postmaster and his swelling correspondence: "When the first batch of requests arrived, Shepard stacked them on one corner of his desk. The next mail indicated that a desk basket would be needed for them; then a double-depth drawer was designated as the receptacle. The drawer is full and the post office force is getting out cardboard cartons to hold the stamp-fan letters until the 17th. Some of the requests are for blocks of four. Many of the envelopes are addressed to the senders. Only one collector has offered to pay any one for the job of licking the stamps that he wants in his collection." The shipment to Geneseo is 200,000 of the Sullivan stamps.

THE Rules and Classifications Governing American Philatelic Exhibitions as Adopted by the American Philatelic Exhibition Committee, consisting of the findings of the committee appointed to formulate a scheme for general usage has appeared in pamphlet form. The committee has done its work with careful attention to the development of a practical plan for the furtherance of stamp shows, and the whole subject seems to have been handled with a proper view of the perspective. The committee is: Gustave M. Mosler, Hugh M. Clark, Alfred Lichtenstein and the sub-committee: Charles J. Phillips, J. J. Klemann, Jr., Albert J. Squier, Walter Scott and Harry M. Konwiser. The plan of operation recommended has been adopted by the Minneapolis exhibit and what we have said before in praise of the scheme is strengthened by a reading of the rules and classifications which are designed to make the stamp show a personal rather than a remote object for the collector as we know him.

LITERALLY clippings by the score have descended on us describing arrests in New York and elsewhere or persons concerned in alleged stamp frauds. Lacking details that give warrant for plain speaking on the subject, we reserve hasty judgment and can only say that the colors in which the picture has been painted may be too somber. Opportunely, Franklin P. Adams in his Conning Tower in the New York World contributes the following sapient observation: "Postal Inspector Shea reminds us of the man who said somebody had been talking in prose all his life without knowing it. Commenting on the fraudulent trade in stamps, he said, 'Some who got in late also said that they were philatelists, but they didn't even know how to spell the word.'" We take the liberty of reading into these lines that some may have used the cloak of philately to cover a multitude of sins; and it is well for us to remember that the self-styled philatelist may be one who merely assumes the role of respectability to cover unworthy aims.

WE cannot dismiss the brilliant "F. P. A." before adding the following observation that proves that he is a kindred soul; and we respectfully suggest that instead of loitering on the banks that he again plunge in the philatelic pool and be refreshed. He says: "Why, inspector, most of us were philatelists before we knew that there was such a word, let alone how to spell it. More than that, many of us were engaged in the stamp business. We were in it ourself on rather a grand scale, getting sheets to sell on commission from the C. H. Mekeel Stamp Company of St. Louis and the Scott Stamp and Coin Company of New York, whose International Album we used. We still know the difference between buff and mauve, and can tell the flag of Ecuador at sight." Mr. Adams then makes his contribution to the list of light occupations: "We are no professional stamp washer but our notion of the world's easiest job would be that of washing the adhesive stuff from the stamps."

THE following note appears on a letter bearing a 3c and a 6c War Department, addressed to an army officer in Kentucky from the Quartermaster General's Office, Washington: "A. B. Masoner to whom this letter is addressed committed suicide in Cincinnati, Ohio, several years ago and none of his relations are residing within the delivery of this office." The statement is signed by the postmaster at the office of address.

THE following is a copy of a letter from the Hon. W. Irving Glover, second assistant postmaster general, Washington, in reply to an inquiry as to the authenticity of certain so-called first flight covers from Miami to Central America. The covers submitted showed no postal evidence of having reached Honduras, to which they were addressed, and the owner had certain misgivings about them as having actually completed the journey. Mr. Glover writes: "Returning the seven covers submitted with your letter of June 5, you are informed that the fact that they do not bear the Miami-Central American special cachet indicates that they were dispatched on the first flight from Miami to Central America. Many, if not all the covers sent in the first dispatch to Tela are being returned from Tela by steamship via New Orleans without being delivered (even though they are addressed to bona fide addressees at Tela and other places in Honduras). There are also being returned from Tela many letters addressed to the postmaster at Tela which were sent thereto in the ordinary mails (as well as by air mail) and which are thought to contain international reply coupons for return of first flight covers. Some of these letters were marked at Tela as 'Rehusada (refused)', others, as in the case of yours, were not marked to show why they were not delivered. A sack of first flight covers sent to Managua has been returned to Miami by air. These are largely letters addressed to the name of the sender, c/o the postmaster at Managua which contain international reply coupons to prepay postage for their return by the ordinary means of first flight covers sent in his care. Since these first flight covers are being returned to the senders without their being obliged to pay return postage, the advantage is theirs and Nicaragua and the Republic of Honduras have lost the postal revenue that would have accrued to their services in exchanging the international reply coupons sent to the postmasters at Managua and Tela to prepay such return postage."

MINT ONLY NEW ISSUES ONLY MINT

One of the first NEW ISSUES that we distributed was Belgium's famous 2FR HELMET OF 1920, which we sold for .35 — Another EARLY SUCCESS was LUXEMBURG'S ₴138, for which we received 1.35 — RUSSIA ₴353-358 we first sold for .80, later for 1.95; it is now reasonably priced when sold at full catalog — In February we distributed the ALCAZAR DE COLON ISSUE OF DOMINICAN REPUBLIC for 2.85; we recently tried to get a few more, and were quoted 12.80 per set by our agent — We have just sold out our COMPLETE CUBA "CAPITOLIO" SETS to our customers at .68, which we considered a fair advance over our cost; we could have sold every set wholesale at more than double that price —
WE BELIEVE IN THE INVESTMENT VALUE OF NEW ISSUES — The best investment for the dealer is to PLACE THEM IN THE COLLECTIONS OF HIS CUSTOMERS AT A FAIR ADVANCE OVER HIS COST — We are still furnishing the New Issues to those lucky Belgium and Luxemburg customers — NO DIVIDEND CAN SATISFY US BETTER THAN THE CONTINUED PATRONAGE OF OUR CUSTOMERS — This we seek to merit by the FAIRNESS OF OUR PRICES and the QUALITY OF OUR SERVICE — You CAN buy at lower prices than ours, BUT YOU CANNOT BUY FINER QUALITY —

Air Mail News

BY DONALD E. DICKASON,
Wooster, Ohio

(This department covers air mail news from the purely philatelic standpoint. Coöperators will find their names listed each week. If your letter calls for a reply please enclose a stamped, addressed envelope. This is your department, so make your contribution as generous as possible.)

AN EDITORIAL

The June issue of the "Airmail Collector" carried an announcement of great importance to all collectors of airmail. The editor of the American Airmail Catalog gives detailed information as to plans for the new World Edition, which will appear this fall, and which will catalog items from all over the world, instead of just from the U. S. and a few surrounding countries, as heretofore.

Due to the increased range of the catalog, its sponsors have decided to list only official flights and cachets hereafter. I don't know how far this will affect certain early items, now in the classic group, which were really not in the least official at the time of flight. However, it will mean certainly that many modern covers of a historical, though unofficial nature, will be omitted, and that Airport Dedications, Aero Shows, etc., will be dropped entirely.

The editor of the catalog is entirely within his rights in this decision, and I do not question it. I do insist, however, that the large group of collectors who have been getting together these interesting covers, whether Byrd Polar, or Pasco Airport Dedication, have a right to expect some sort of organized list of these covers. They are eminently collectible, highly interesting, and the vast majority are entirely clean from any hint of speculation or private enterprise.

If the American Catalog does not list these covers in its future editions, some other catalog will have to take up the task. I should like to hear from interested collectors, or from any professional who thinks he has the time, inclination, and equipment to tackle such a piece of work.

OFFICIAL FLIGHTS

While not necessarily airmail, the first day covers of the Edison stamp, singles, pairs, blocks, airmail letters, and one signed by the P. M. came rolling in. Some must have arrived late, and been postmarked the 5th anyway, as I received 2 covers on the 10th with the proper 1st day cancellation. James J. Maye, who sent the autographed cover, says that when he asked the P. M. to sign some covers he replied that he was busy, and, says Mr. Maye, "He was, too!" At any rate, Postmaster Shepard did sign six covers, one for each mile Mr. Maye drove to mail them.

By this time, you know of the much augmented list of first day sale cities for the Sullivan stamp the 17th. Mr. W. Irving Glover was kind enough to wire me this information several days before it appeared in the Postal Bulletin, and we appreciate his thoughtfulness even though the first paper we could make was the one dated the 17th.

Guess here's an Airport Dedication that has to come under the officials this time. The opening of the Kingston, Ont., airport June 4th was the occasion of special official flights to and from Montreal and Toronto, and four typical Canadian cachets were applied. On June 6th, the airport at Hamilton was opened with similar flights between Hamilton and Toronto. And I do like those pictorial cachets.

More FAM 9 and 5 covers back this week. Covers on route 9 to Guayaquil reached there the 19th. Mine to Lima were not backstamped. Those to Truxillo were backstamped the 19th, and front stamped the 20th.  And I have just received covers sent to Tumaco, Colombia. It was reported that Colombian mail was included at the last minute in the first dispatch from Miami. The Miami postmark of May 14th bears this out. BUT, while the letters are backstamped Cristobal the 16th, they did not reach Tumaco till the 25th, or the date of the first official dispatch announced in a subsequent Postal Bulletin. Covers evidently left Miami with the Ecuador-Peru lot, but were held at Cristobal. Wonder how they handled the Chilean lot. Ought to know soon. Incidentally, these covers bear the same first flight cachet as applied at Cristobal for the Peru and Ecuador mail, but in blue instead of black.

First mail south on Route 5 from Nicaragua has a map design cachet in purple directly over the P. A. A. surcharged stamp. This mail left Managua May 16, and is backstamped Cristobal the same day.  Several folks have reported that mail directed to various points on this new service, southbound from Miami, received no terminal backstamps. Evidently these countries are following Uncle Sam's lead in some things we'd rather see them pass up.  Covers recently received via SCADTA from Colombia bear a new 30c stamp for this company, the same size, and more of the appearance of the regular Colombian postage stamps.

AIRPORT DEDICATIONS, ETC.

Miniature Aircraft Contest at Kansas City, Mo., June 8th, brought out a purple cachet sponsored by the Aviation Club.  The United Confederate Veterans reunion at Charlotte, N. C., was commemorated by an appropriate cachet in various colors June 4-7.

The second "Birthplace of the Republican Party" celebration and cachet came June 8th at Ripon, Wis. See by the paper that some place in Michigan also claims it's the REAL birthplace, and is going ahead to plan a celebration just as if the other two hadn't happened.  Here's another one. Sunnyside, Wash., broadcasts its Annual Ford Day with a cachet June 7. And yhat's that, now?

Toledo used an attractive first anniversary cachet June 3rd, a year after the inauguration of mail service there. Colors were green, blue, violet, and magenta, and W. H. Wolfgang persuaded Postmaster Huntsman to sign one for me with all four on it. Thanks!  The St. Marys, Kans., dedication last week is the first dedication of a College Airport, so says Todd Fagan. The legend on the envelope reads, "Dedication St. Marys College Airport". Covers sent in to be mailed received no cachet but somewhat over 300 of the special envelopes were mailed.  And of course these deserve full rank as dedication covers, too. A cachet does not make the cover—the postmark of the proper dedication date on an airmail letter does that. The cachet simply adds decoration and identification.  Ryder, N. D., dedicated June 8, magenta cachet by C. of C.

The Kansas Air Tour came to an abrupt halt at Wichita, due to bad storms which damaged many of the planes, and any further cachets in connection with it were thereby eliminated.  Wichita will dedicate in August; cachet by and covers to the C. of C.  Grinnell, Iowa, dedication and Diamond celebration of the settlement of Grinnell Oct. 1st. Cachet by C. of C.  Fairfax Airport dinner and cachet, due June 5 and K. C., Kans., postponed a week.  Kansas City, Mo., C. of C. will have a special cachet July 1st in connection with the first stop there of the new air-mail service.

For new official routes or first flights, covers should be sent ready to go to the postmasters of the various cities affected, accompanied by the request that he hold and mail for the first flight. For covers coming your way, simply have them addressed to your own address. For the opposite direction, send either to some correspondent, or to yourself care the Postmaster of the terminal city, and send him return postage with the request that they be returned to you. Ready to go means cover should be sealed and stamped, all ready to go in the mail. It is advisable to put at least a few thicknesses of filling inside the envelope, to give it stiffness and keep it from being bent.

For other events, of an unofficial nature, directions are the same, except that your covers are sent to the Chamber of Commerce, or individual mentioned as looking after the job. Simply fix up your covers, stick them in a big envelope, write a polite note of instructions to accompany them, put on enough postage to carry the lot, and you should get your flown letters in due time.

Stamp News for the Juniors

This page is primarily for you, the Junior collector. We are interested in what interests you and we want you to take possession of it, if in any way it can serve you.

We also invite the Senior collector to extend words of advice, encouragement and stimulation and thus develop in the Junior a real passion for Philately.

Bear in mind that two short articles of from 50 to 75 words read better than one long one. Address all communications to the Beverly office.

Bits of Information

Bridgeville.—A town in the State of Alabama at which a special 5c stamp was issued by the Postmaster in 1861 just prior to the introduction of the stamps for general use in the Confederate States.

Brigg's Despatch. — A local post operating in Philadelphia, Pa., in 1847-9 and in connection with which several labels were issued, all of which are now of considerable value.

British American Bank Note Co.—The Canadian branch of the American Bank Note Co., of New York. It was established first at Montreal and then at Ottawa. Nearly all the Canadian stamps issued since 1868 have been designed, engraved and printed by this concern.

What Shall I Collect?

This subject comes up so often that another little note would not be amiss. First of all, let me make it plain that young boy and girl collectors should collect everything as a help to an education. When you are getting into the twenties and beyond and feel that you should concentrate your efforts in a more limited area, then you must decide for yourself what you wish to specialize in. I dare say that no matter what you specialize in, you will not make a mistake as far as the investment element is concerned. If you feel that you should specialize, then you have the pick of many countries and many issues. You can take, for instance, any of the following:

United States
Eastern or Western Hemispheres
United States Colonies
British Colonies
Spanish Colonies
Portuguese Colonies
French Colonies
Dutch Colonies
German Colonies
West Indies Group
East Indies Group
Australia Group
Oceanica Group
British North American
Central American South American African Group
Individual Country
First Issues Imperforates
Commemoratives
Heroes of the World
Flags of the World
Animal Stamps
Monuments
Botany
Air Mail
Precancels
Original Covers
Pre-Stamp Covers Provisional issues
Plated stamps
Cancellations of ships
Cancellations of towns
Cancellations of Br. Numbers
Cancellations of colors

I have overlooked quite a number, but these are just written down as they occur to the Scribe. The thing to do is to select that which interests you most, then go to it, without paying any attention to what your neighbor thinks or does.—Stamp-Itis.

Collecting Suggestions

By JACOB SPITZ.

I believe that the following rules for collecting will help to make one's collection very attractive in appearance and will prove sound philatelic sense:—

(3.) Remember that beauty counts, not quantity.

Junior Dictionary

Poste Estensi.—Found on many of the stamps of Modena. It means "Post of the House of Este", the House of Este being the family name of the rulers of the Duchy.

Poste Italiane.—Found on most of the stamps of Italy and meaning of course "Italian Post."

Poste Khedevie Egiziane.—Found on the Egyptian stamps of 1872-75, meaning "Khedival Egyptian Post".

Poste Locale.—Found on many of the early Cantonal stamps of Switzerland. It means "Local Post" and indicates the somewhat local nature of these issues.

Poste Paye.—An overprint upon the 1904 stamps of Hayti, meaning "Post Paid".

Poste Persane.—Found on all Persian stamps issued between 1881 and 1898, meaning "Persian Post". All subsequent issues show both words in the plural, viz., "Postes Persanes".

Poster Stamps.—Advertising stickers in the shape of postage stamps.

Postes.—A word on many stamps, either in conjunction with the name of the country issuing them, or merely with an indication of the facial value. It means "Postage" or "Posts", according to circumstances.

AYMAN MONEY ORDERS

By HARRY E. HUBER.

plementing my article in MEKEEL'S
LY of April 1, 1929, the following racted from the 35th annual report Jamaican Post Office Dept. for the ending 31st March, 1903.
.—Under an agreement between His ur the Commissioner of the Cayman ds, and approved by His Excellency overnor, a Money Order exchange en those Islands and Jamaica and abroad via Jamaica, came into 1st January, 1903.
.—Under this arrangement, persons nt in Grand Cayman enjoy the great ntage which they did not possess ously, of sending and receiving, as well as large sums of money, not to and from Jamaica, but to and every country with which Jamaica oncluded a convention or an agree-for the exchange of Money Orders.
.—The benefits resulting to Grand an from the Money Order system bvious, and I submit that the public must be very grateful to His Hon-he Commissioner, Mr. Sanguinetti, gh whose efforts the system has established.
.—The Cayman Islands had already permitted to avail themselves of the l order system in Jamaica, which is sed in the remittance of small sums e public in both places, the Postmas-
Grand Cayman being supplied with ica postal orders for such purpose limited extent."

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., P. O. Box 2175, Middle City Station, Phila., Pa., who will also be pleased to pass on oddities and varieties of all U. S. stamps. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, cor. Robbins Road and Locust Ave., Lexington, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

"Edison" Stamp

On June 6th, the day after the first appearance of the 2-cent "Edison" stamp at Menlo Park, N. J., the variety was placed on sale at Atlantic City at a special post office at the Convention of the National Electric Light Association. Henry Ford purchased the first stamp sold and a clipping from the New York Times relative to the occasion, is of interest.

"Standing in front of the Atlantic City Auditorium today, Henry Ford had to borrow 2 cents to buy the first Thomas A. Edison commemorative stamp at a special post office established there.

Behind the counter, flanked on either side by pictures of Edison, was Postmaster Alfred Perkins. As he handed the first stamp to be sold here to Mr. Ford, the latter searched in vain for the 2 cents. J. F. Quinlan of New York, executive secretary of the Golden Jubilee of Light Committee, came to the rescue.

'Thanks,' said Mr. Ford, 'I'll see that you get it back.'

Mr. Ford handed the two pennies to Mayor Ruffo, who accompanied him, and the Mayor kept them for souvenirs, so that the postmaster didn't get them after all."

Mr. Francis Hartzel kindly sends a cover from Atlantic City from the Convention Hall temporary post office, which, unfortunately, bears no special postmark. Hon. Ernest R. Ackerman sends a cover from Menlo Park and a similar cover is received from Mr. E. G. Emerson, who took the trouble of having a special green label printed for applying to his covers, reading—"In commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary of the Invention of Electric Lights by Thomas A. Edison."

Unfortunately, the English are not actively participating in our coming celebration, as they claim Swan is the real inventor of the incandescent lamp, as his lamp appeared a year or so in advance of the Edison product.

The new 2-cent "Edison" variety printed from the rotary plate and perforated 11x10½, as well as the sidewise rotary coil with 10 perforation, were both placed on sale for the first time at the Philatelic Agency in Washington on Tuesday, June 11th. We wish to thank Mr. W. K. Sump, as well as other Washington correspondents for first-day covers.

Mr. Philip R. Hough has discovered a scratch on one of the left panes of Plate 19778. He is not sure as to whether it is the upper or lower left pane, but the third stamp immediately to the right of the left plate number has a scratch starting in the lower right corner extending through the margin, through the upper right corner of the fourth stamp into the stamp immediately above. I have not seen the variety, but am describing it from Mr. Hough's sketch.

2-Cent "Sullivan" Variety

In the "Stop Press" column of last week, we announced through the courtesy of Mr. Warren Irving Glover, Second Assistant Postmaster General, the fact that these new stamps would be placed on sale in fifteen different cities of northern New York State. The information is further confirmed in a letter of Mr. Glover's dated June 5, appearing in the Postal Bulletin of June 7.

20-Cent Air Mail Plate Variety

It is the general practice when a plate has been completed and is ready to harden to apply the letter "F", indicating "finished" to the plate, near the upper right plate number. I have just been shown a block of the 20-cent air mail stamp from plate 18892, wherein this "F" is applied in an inverted position near the lower right plate number.

Air Mail—Backstamped

Since a ruling of the Post Office went into effect during the early part of the year, relative to the discontinuing of the backstamping of first-day air mail covers, collectors have been disappointed and have been complaining that there is nothing to indicate that the cover in question has actually flown. For the benefit of first-day air mail collectors, who have no doubt, overlooked the fact, we call their attention to the necessity of backstamping special delivery mail, hence, every air mail cover bearing a special delivery stamp in addition will be backstamped. The postal regulations make it necessary for the postmaster at destination to backstamp special delivery mail, which gives the collector the cover that he desires. While it gives Uncle Sam 10 cents additional, first-day covers showing the backstamp will, no doubt, be worth the extra amount. As the Post Office Department has been accustomed to backstamping special delivery letters for years, it will not necessitate any unusual trouble if the collector follows this procedure.

Perforated 10 Revenues

In the Chronicle for June 10, I devoted a long paragraph to the current Perf. 10 revenues which have recently appeared. In writing this article, I had before me a blank sheet of paper, bearing an impression from the perforating machine used on these varieties, and as my eye as a rule, can accurately separate a Perf. 10 from a Perf. 11, I guessed at the perforation, and now find that the eye which is trained in the case of a stamp, is not trained in the case of a blank piece of paper, hence, my remarks concerning the presses in use at the present time on revenues should have read perforated 10, instead of 11.

Under the circumstances, we may expect all of the current revenue stamps with the ten perforation. So far, we have noted the Documentary overprinted "Stock Transfer" 10c, 20c, 1c and $2. No doubt, all of the others will be available in time, and we will be glad to chronicle new denominations, as they are brought to our attention.

Barwani.—Two new colors have been issued in the type of A2. They are the ¼a ultramarine and ½a dark green. Copies have been received from Whitfield King & Co.

Cuba.—The Philatelic News Bureau states that, notwithstanding that only ten sets were supplied to each applicant, the "Capitol" commemoration stamps were completely sold out within a few hours of their being issued on May 20th.

Cyprus.—Champion's Bulletin Mensuel prints the following figures as the total numbers sold of each value of the Jubilee series: ¾ piastre, 1,258,080; 1 piastre, 816,080; 1½ piastres, 262,440; 2½ piastres, 236,664; 4 piastres, 44,730; 6 piastres, 36,120; 9 piastres, 117,740; 18 piastres, 83,000; 45 piastres, 54,576; and 1 pound, 19,164.

France.—Whitfield King & Co. report the appearance of the 10c mauve, type of A16. Stamp Collecting in chronicling the special stamp sold at the Havre Exhibition describes as follows: 2fr orange and blue overprinted "Exposition Philatelique Le Havre 1929" in bronze blue. The number printed and issued was 40,000.

Iceland.—Reports from Theodore Champion state that the total number of the 10 on 2kr surcharged stamps noted in our chronicle last week were 30,000. Of the 10 ore Air Post stamp of 1928, 180,000 copies in all were provided.

Malta.—Mr. Francis Hartzel advises that he has received the current issue of stamps surcharged "POSTAGE AND REVENUE" in three lines. The overprint on all values up to the 1sh is in black, while those of the other values are in red, and the letters are smaller than on the lower values. The higher denominations have a period after the word "Revenue".

Manchuria.—Mr. Fred W. Church sends for chronicle the 1, 4, and 10 cents values of the new Unification series surcharged for use in this province. They were placed on sale April 27th last.

Roumania.—The 7½ lei, King Michael design, which we chronicled several weeks ago on unwatermarked paper has now been issued watermarked wavy lines. Whitfield King & Co. send us the information.

Tunis.—The 30 centimes stamp of the 1926-28 series has been surcharged "10" for inland and French use, but is only issued in precancelled state according to information furnished by Stamp Collecting.

THE SULLIVAN COMMEMORATIVE

First day Sullivan covers, June 17, have been received from Horseheads (Frank W. Wright), Seneca Falls (Bradie Buchanan), Elmira (Frank W. Wright), Syracuse (Harry E. Klotzbach), Canojoharie (P. R. Crooker), and Penn Yan (Albert E. Gorham). Others may show up. Every cover bears a different design, including a map of the Sullivan operations, the flag, monument at Elmira, a realistic cartoon and pictures in both blue and olive colors of the hero of 1779.

BUREAU PRINTS

Cumberland, Md., Junction City, Kans., and Hartford, Conn., are shortly to join the fraternity of Bureau Print cities. The first two have ordered the one cent coil, and Hartford will have the 1c, 1½c and 2c ordinaries. In addition to these, the following new denominations from old Bureau cities are shortly to appear: Jackson, Mich., all coils except 1½c; Los Angeles, Calif., all ordinaries above 3c; Lowell, Mass., 1½c coil; Peoria, Ill., 1c coil; and Portland, Oreg., 4c, 5c and 6c ordinaries.

The following B-11 ordinaries have been reported since the last chronicle: Akron, Ohio, 3c; Cincinnati, Ohio, 6c; Cleveland, Ohio, 1c; Detroit, Mich., 7c; Holyoke, Mass., 1c; Newark, N. J., 5c; Rochester, N. Y., 8c; Saint Louis, Mo., 2c; Syracuse, N. Y., 10c.

DR. CHASE'S BOOK NEARLY READY

By LYMAN J. SEELY.

After months of delays the printers of Dr. Carroll Chase's book on the U. S. 3c stamp of 1851-1857 announce that the volume will be mailed, beginning the last week in June. As originally planned, Dr. Chase intended to make some corrections and amendments to the work as published serially in the American Philatelist, using so far as possible the original illustrations. For a long time the half tones were mislaid and when they did turn up a large number were missing. After weeks of search these were finally found.

Then, because of many new discoveries, in the so-called "Plate 10 group" of the perforated Type II stamps, Dr. Chase decided that he must rewrite about 25% of the copy. New cuts were required to illustrate this, and to replace a number of old illustrations found to be technically illegal. This brought the question of high finance to the front. Original subscriptions were taken at $5 (for a technical book of a size and type generally published at from $10 to $15) and the amount of the subscriptions did not contemplate these additional expenditures. This difficulty was easily arranged, but the preparations of drawings and photographs for these new illustrations took time as well as money.

As there are more than 500 subscribers and others interested in the volume, and as the office force of J. O. Moore, Inc., was seriously handicapped by illness, it did not seem practical to write al time a new stumbling block ap The printers are running a few copies and these will be available they last at $6 each.

It bears a hand- cachet showing a picture of the er, two airplanes, and complete in- ion which includes, "By Adams air ick-up." In addition to this cachet is the following statement, "delivery ick-up postponed." The postmark w York, June 10. It is an interest- ver.

E. GORHAM favors us with first day covers of the 2c Edison rotary vertical coil. The postmark reads ington, D. C., June 11.

J. OLSON, the well-known philate- list of St. Paul, has a superb write- the St. Paul Pioneer Press of June r. Olson is a member of the firm olm & Olson and the managing edi- tor has good reason to remember the hospitality extended him on a recent visit to that city. A fine picture of Mr. Olson adorns the article and there are several illustrations that lend interest to the text. The WEEKLY wishes that it had the space to reproduce in full the very interesting story that is written around his collecting activities. If possible the salient features of the article will be reproduced later.

A WHOLESALE list has just been issued by the Vic Sales Co., New Dorp, N. Y. It offers a wide range of stamps per ten and hundred, and a copy will be sent to any dealer who may request it.

THE Precancel Stamp Society convention will be held in Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 5-7, instead of the dates given in a previous number of the WEEKLY. Road maps can be obtained for those who will attend by auto from L. E. Oberholtz, 935 W. 33 Terrace, Kansas City, Mo. The Kansas City Star will report the convention, and it will be broadcasted by one of the local radio stations.—ART BLEDSOE.

THE prospectus of the first annual stamp show sponsored by the American Philatelic Society to be held at Minneapolis in connection with the August convention, has been issued, and a copy can be obtained from V. W. Rotnem, 1054 McKnight Bldg., Minneapolis, Minn. The prospectus gives the complete exhibition rules with the various classes, and full information in regard to the exhibits. Any who think of participating should send at once for a copy.

IN the Telegraph World for June is a poem, "The Tale of the Postage Stamp," by Emerson S. Brooks. It is quite a feature taking an entire page of the publication. Thanks to A. J. Kommers, for clipping.

IN the June 1 issue of the Saturday Evening Post, "Captain Dollar," by Ernest Poole, you'll find the picture "Arrived. All Well" reproduced from painting owned by the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, Marine Dept. This was used for our current 20c Golden Gate stamp.—HARRY E. HUBER.

OUR EUROPEAN LETTER

By A. WAGNER, Essen.

Zeppelin Flight.—The readers of the WEEKLY have no doubt become familiar with the reasons that compelled Dr. Eckener to break off his third flight to the western hemisphere and to return to Friedrichshafen via the French airport of Cuers-Pierrefen, where excellent assistance was rendered by the French Naval Authorities. I have news to the effect that the entire mail weighing about 500 pounds is still on board the Zepp and that it will most probably not be sent by steamer, but be flown to Lakehurst. The addressees may, therefore, feel that they will receive flown letters very belated though which, however, under the existing conditions cannot be avoided.

Nothing can, as yet, be said as to when the next flight will take place. Dr. Eckener refuses, and rightly so, to start again before the cause of the part failure of the machinery has been cleared up beyond doubt.

Czechoslovakia.—The set of Wenceslas Commemoratives already announced in No. 1999 will appear shortly. The following values will be represented in the set: 50h, 60h, 2kr, 3kr, 5kr.

Liechtenstein.—Eugene Verling, residing at Vaduz, the capital of the principality, has been entrusted by the government with designs of postage stamps to be issued for the purpose of rendering homage to the new prince Francis. It is intended to issue four values and to place them on sale during August, 1929.

Norway. — To commemorate the St. Olav Jubilee in 1930, four new stamps of 10, 15, 20 and 30 ore will appear. While the 10, 15 and 20 ore stamps will be of ordinary size, showing Trondjhem Cathedral and a picture of St. Olav, the 30 ore value will be a large size stamp—similar to the A12 type of this country, issued in 1914—depicting the battle of Stiklestad after a painting of N. P. Arboe.

WHO GOT THE STAMPS?

Stories of the use of stamps on unusually heavy mail pieces have a special appeal to collectors who find themselves wondering what became of the stamps that paid the postage. Mr. James D. Carr, Alhambra, California, who was staying in Denver, Colorado, has sent in a clipping from the Denver Post of May 12th, telling of a ton of flour that was sent from Fort Morgan, Colorado, to a Routt County, Colorado, coal company camp, as a trial shipment. The postage was $42, and the camp was "off the railroad." If the experiment succeeded, pity the poor postal clerks, even though a collector occasionally may be benefitted.

STEINMETZ AIR MAIL SALE

By PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

On May 15, 1929, Mr. Eugene Klein sold in Philadelphia, the wonderful collection of air mail stamps and covers gotten together by the late Joseph A. Steinmetz. Mr. Steinmetz was one of the very earliest collectors of air mail covers, and as a result obtained at the time they were current, most of the pioneer covers, which are now so greatly prized. In addition, he followed the air mail flights of the world and counted his air mail collection as possibly the one nearest to his heart. Besides obtaining actual flown covers, he was also interested in special stamps designed for air mail use especially, and had in his collection practically all of the rarities.

The prices realized at this sale are of utmost importance, as they will act as a guide as to real values of these most interesting covers, for it is the first large public sale held in recent years and the sale was so thoroughly advertised that everyone was given an opportunity of bidding, and as a result, the prices more nearly indicate actual values than any guide heretofore available.

The total sales reached $11,779.20; the high bids previous to the sale totaling $12,320.15, and the low bids, $7,250.05. There were 137 mail bidders, and 25 in attendance at the sale, of whom 14 bought 60% of the collection.

The first ninety-one lots consisted of the pioneer flights; that is, those flights made previous to the official government flights in 1918. The first-day flight of the Garden City Estates of Sept. 23, 1911, which was the first actual flight carrying mail in the United States, sold at $42.25. A similar cover with additional handstamp reading, "Aerial Special Dispatch," sold at $29, while a postal card bearing date of Oct. 1, reached $14. The early St. Louis of Oct. 4, 1911, sold at $25, while the Rochester of Oct. 21st, found a new owner at the same figure. The Fort Smith, Ark., Nov. 5, 1911, a most desirable item, sold at $32, which is the full catalogue price placed upon the variety by the American Air Mail catalogue of 1929. Future references to catalogue price will refer to this publication issued by the Berkshire Exchange. A second-day flight from the same place sold at $18, which was the price paid for a Savannah, Nov. 28, 1911. A Columbus and an Albany, Ga., both of December, 1911, sold at $33 and $16 respectively, the former cataloguing $25 only. An outstanding rarity, namely, the Wilmington, N. C., Jan. 1, 1912, listing $60, went into a new collection at $77.50. The Los Angeles of Jan. 21, both on envelope and postal brought $11 each. Another outstanding piece, namely, New Orleans-Baton Rouge, Apr. 10, 1912, postal card listing $65, sold at $90. Like in the case of stamps, it pays to buy the rarer things, as they usually take the more substantial advances. A Milwaukee, Wis., May 30, 1912, postal card listing $60 sold at $70, the Saugus, Mass., June 1, $42, while the same price was paid for an Evansville, Ind., June 6. A Lexington, Ky., June 13, reached $57.50, while $37.50 was paid for a Lima, Ohio. A postal card of Portsmouth, O., June 27, sold at $32.50. A July 4th, Bedford, Ind., at $52, and the same date, South Amboy-Perth, N. J., at $57.50, exactly $10 over catalogue price.

A Hamilton, O., July 13, sold at $40, while $5 each was paid for three copies of July 18, Benton Harbor, Mich. A Stone Harbor, Ocean City of August 5, 1912, reached $55, while $150 was paid for a Boonville, Ind., August 29, 1912, showing a picture of the aviator. A price of $95 was paid for a Cedar Falls, Sept. 5 envelope of which three only are known. The same postmark on a postal card sold at $34. A Grant Park, Ill., Sept. 16, listing $60 sold at $72.50, while $60 was paid for a Puyallup-Tacoma, Sept. 28, 1912.

Another outstanding piece was the San Francisco, Nov. 24, listing $90 and selling at $130, while $62.50 was paid for a Boston to New York, Feb. 28, 1913. For a Woodstock, Vt., Oct. 17, 1913, postal card listing $60, $75 was paid, while an envelope with same postmark reached $65. Other items of importance were: Troy, Ala., Nov. 3, 1914, $41, Tacoma-Seattle, Feb. 20, 1915, $36, Chicago-New York, Nov. 2, 1916, $77.50.

Among the official government flights first-day covers from Washington, Philadelphia and New York on May 15, 1918, sold at prices varying from $5.25 to $14.50, the latter amount being paid for a Washington-Philadelphia. A New York-Columbia Country Club, Washington, of June 15, stated to be exceedingly rare, sold at $200, while $56 was paid for an Aug. 12, Washington to New York 16c air mail, which was the first trip of the regular post office operation, the mail previously having been carried by the army. Other outstanding items were: Montgomery-Macon of 1919, $35, New York-Steamship Adriatic at Sea, Aug. 14, $95, while covers carried on the airship R-34 from New York to Ireland and listing at $135, sold at $135 and $80 respectively.

Among the foreign covers, one of the outstanding items was an Australia, Ross Smith, Feb. 26, 1919, which sold at $300. A Canada Truro-Charlottetown of August 25, 1919, brought $140, and a Columbia, June 18, 1919, 2c air mail stamp on cover, Scott's No. 481 brought $200.

Balloon covers of France, 1870-71 period, were well represented in the Steinmetz collection, as there were upward of forty covers present. These sold at prices varying from $1.10 to $20.25. A Great Britain, Blackpool-Southport, Aug. 10, 1910, reached $80.

The outstanding item in the Steinmetz air mail collection was a Newfoundland 3c Hawker in mint condition which sold at $1,010. A similar stamp upon the

All Prices Cancelled

Pursuant to the terms set forth on the front inside cover page of my 1929 price list, all prices quoted in that list are cancelled as of July 1st. The reason for this will be apparent when one considers that I issue my list each fall and that nine months see price changes in any line of business.

However, a large percentage of the prices will continue good until my 1930 list is ready, about November 1st.

Just order from the list as formerly, but include a supplemental list of from 50 to 75 per cent of the total amount of your order. That will give me th eopportunity of selecting stamps the prices of which have not been changed. [09 entire cover reached $570, while the De Pinedo on cover sold at $145. The Alcock cover bearing a signature of the pilot and most desirable in this condition, reached $280. Another item whose value was mainly dependent upon the stamps upon the cover was a Madrid-Manila, May 15, bearing a complete set of the Philippine air mail stamps from 2c to 10p inclusive. This found a new owner at $195.

One interested in air mail stamps or covers should certainly obtain a priced copy of this catalogue, as it is an excellent guide to airplane values.

The only air mail item owned by Mr. Steinmetz, which was not included in this sale, was the U. S. 24-cent invert, which was sold at a previous session.

VITALITY OF STAMP COLLECTING

(Clipping from H. W. Gulager)

The scramble at Menlo Park for first issues of the new stamps commemorating the fiftieth anniversary of the incandescent electric light discloses the persistent vitality of the stamp-collecting instinct. Most men pass through the stamp age and out again, though most of them will be collectors of a sort all their life, concentrating their adult interests on books or antiques or some special objects of art. But there are still plenty of gray and whiskered stamp collectors, who pursue perfection in their philatelic preference and can never quite achieve it, either because some stamps are gone forever or because new ones are forever appearing.

There are small nations that fatten their income materially by issuing stamps of special charm and appeal for young collectors. The United States manages to make quite a good thing out of the numerous commemorative issues that brighten the corners of our correspondence. Sales to collectors all over the world support an Assistant Postmaster General and staff, and declare an annual profit. It has become a sufficient task, in fact, to make and maintain a complete collection of United States stamps alone. Some collectors find sufficient to do to keep up with the air mail, with all its varieties of first-flight wrappers and special imprints. It is a fascinating game, perhaps the most entertaining indoor sport for young and old alike, and the crowd at Menlo Park shows how many are playing it.—Phila. Ledger.

VARIOUS—

A. M. BROWN, 607 S. Hill St., Los Angeles, Calif., will be pleased to hear from nearby aero philatelists who would like to organize a local unit. A meeting will shortly be held for that purpose.

A BROADCAST of stamp news is made over station WMBA, Newport, R. I., every day from 4 to 4.30 P. M., by the Jepson Stamp Co., of that city. Every Wednesday night from 9 to 9.30 P. M., a weekly program is rendered.

H. T. ANDERSON of El Paso, Texas, has been visiting in Detroit. He is a member of the A. P. S., and a well known philatelist in El Paso. On his way home he stopped at several philatelic centers.—HERMAN W. BOERS.

THE Pittsburgh (Pa.) Philatelic Society held a stamp exhibit June 8 and 9, at the Roosevelt Hotel. A splendid program of entertainment was provided. Twenty-one awards consisting of chromium shields mounted on ribbon were awarded to the following: L. J. Shaughnessy, Dr. K. M. Day, W. J. Price, H. C. Buttermore, B. V. Imbrie, F. N. Newton, Geo. C. Wright, Delf Norona, W. W. D. Sones, Arno Kiessling, T. H. C. Hunter, H. W. Bedford, A. M. Mottlau and C. A. Vowinkle. The judges' committee consisted of W. W. MacLaren and M. J. Lloyd of Cleveland, and W. W. Sones of Erie. The affair was most successful, and all visitors agreed that even though Pittsburgh has not been heard from very much of late, its collectors have gathered some very fine material. A special attempt was made to make all visitors feel at home, and the proceedings were kept very informal for that reason.—B. V. IMBRIE.

OUR attention is called to the fact that a mistake occurred in the adlet of Ronald A. King, in which he advertised the new pound stamp at $5.85, when the price should have been $5.28. He is refunding the difference to those who purchased this stamp.

ALBANY NIGHT---COLLECTORS CLUB

MANY EXHIBITS FROM COLLECTIONS SHOWING SUSTAINED STUDY AND RESEARCH WORK

Reported by CHARLES J. PHILLIPS

On June 5 a delegation of the members of the Fort Orange Stamp Club visited the Collectors Club, New York. Prior to the meeting a reception and dinner was held at the New York Athletic Club. At 8 P. M. a move was made to the Collectors Club. Before the proceedings started the President, H. L. Lindquist, made a sympathetic reference to the great loss we have sustained in the death of J. C. Morgenthau and he requested the members to stand in silent prayer for one minute.

Warner Bates, who made a most efficient Chairman, and who was in charge of the delegation, stated that the visiting members of the Fort Orange Stamp Club could not show collections of great rarities, but had endeavored to bring with them collections of interest showing study and original research work.

Elliot R. Ryder of Troy exhibited early stampless covers. Most of these were from an original find made this year. Mr. Ryder's interesting exhibit was grouped as follows: 1st, cancellations of Troy. 2nd, Rochester, a great variety of ovals. One shown was 1820 when Rochester was first incorporated as a village and then up to 1854 the date of incorporation as a city. Other groups were colored cancellations, in green, magenta and blue, the latter being the rarest. Holiday cancellations were shown on Jan. 1st, July 4th, and Dec. 25th. Group of cancellations showing names of Postmasters. Some scarce stamp rates were noted, such as 25c and 56½c. Covers showing views of early railway locomotives were interesting. In one case it was stated the locomotive could not draw the train so the passengers got out and drew the locomotive!!! Covers were shown proving that after the War of 1812 the rates were increased 50%. Interesting steamboat covers were shown, especially an early form used on the Hudson in 1809. Covers were also shown of 1820 when Fulton and Vanderbilt were fighting to break the steamboat monopoly.

G. L. Habbert of Troy showed early U. S. covers and stamps. He explained that many of his covers came from the same find as those of Mr. Ryder. He showed New York 1842, 5c well tied on with U. S. Express Mail cancellation. A number of 1847, 5c on covers. Some rare railway cancellations on 1851, 3 cents, such as Madison and Lake Erie. Also Troy and New York Steamboat in blue.

W. W. Reynolds of Albany showed a small portion of his specialized collection of 1869, 3 cents. Many of these were on covers. I noticed in the Territorial cancellation on covers Salt Lake City and Nevada in green. Orange cancellations of Virginia Court House; green star of Sheffield, Ill.; a curious cancellation of 5 Dice or Dominoes; Savannah, Ga., Rising Sun; some registered covers showing the 3c used with 15c; advertising covers, town names in green; railways, such as Chicago and Quincy, and Burlington, Vt. In a book of 3c not on covers, Mr. Reynolds also showed some interesting items such as: Square and Compasses, Hatchet, etc., etc.

Richard Walton of Schenectady showed advertising covers between 1850 and 1857. He showed 50 selected interesting covers out of his collection of some 400, grouped under Schools, Colleges, Hotels, Grocers, Dentists, etc., etc. These pictorial covers were very interesting and are said to be rare. Designs included Plough and Anvil, Baynes Western Telegraph, etc.

W. L. L. Peltz of Albany showed an exhibit that elicited roars of laughter and many sighs of regret. He explained that this was a combination exhibit contributed by the members. He entitled it "Booze Covers." Everything relating to John Barleycorn; a Federal License; a cover of 1851 with advertisement of drink, Whiskey and Pine Oil; covers showing stills, brewers and hops; advertisement of Taylor's Brewery in 1865 who made 271,000 barrels of ale; colored convivial scene; temperance cover which appropriately enough was from Springwater, N. Y. His hilarious exhibit finished with a view of a graveyard where John Barleycorn was buried!!

Geo. R. Cooley of Albany exhibited a selection of striking cancellations from the Coopertown find. He told us this find comprised 20.500 covers, including the following: 1847, 5c, 86 copies; 1847, 10c 4 copies; 1851, 3c, 1,800 copies; 1857, 3c, 3,600 copies. The most interesting were "Noisy Carriers" cancellation in oval, a very rare form which E. Wiltsee stated he had never seen; fine example of the 3c cracked plate, and the line thru "Three Cents"; Odd Fellows cancellation; but the gem was a perfect Waterbury cancellation of "An Irishman with his Pipe"; in the find were some interesting bisections of the 2c Black Jacks. One cover had a 2c and half 2c for the 3c rate. Another two 2c and two halves of 2c to make the 6c rate.

At this period A. F. Lichtenstein asked permission to make a few remarks as he had to leave to catch a night train to Canada. He pointed out the necessity of supporting the Exhibition that was being organized by the A. P. S. to be held during the Convention next August in Minneapolis. Mr. Lichtenstein thought that the holding of these exhibitions at the annual conventions was a great step forward in forming friendships and getting acquainted with collectors all over the United States. He thought that this Empire State should contribute a large proportion of the expenses. Shares at $10 each, and the more you donate the more you get back. Let us make Minneapolis feel that the Empire State is with them both in help, in funds, in exhibits and in personal attendance.

Warner Bates, of Albany, showed New York City postmarks and cancellations between 1870 and 1890. Included in this exhibit was some fine cancellations of red foreign mails on cover; scarce rates such as 60c to Bordeaux; New York Foreign Despatch "F. D". A rare item was a New York outgoing Passenger Delivery used on a steamship.

Wendover Neefus of Hudson showed postmarks from Hudson and 30 miles round. In his opening remarks Mr. Neefus gave us a brief interesting account of the early history of Hudson, which was, he said, founded in 1783 by Nantucket fishermen. The earliest cover he had was 1801. Hudson was fond of colored cancellations, and he showed examples in blue, red, brown and green. In the 1847, 5c he had examples with blue and the rare green cancellations on covers. 1851, 3c orange-brown, dated July 21st. Early rare railway cancellations were shown of small lines, afterwards merged into the N. Y. Central.

Dr. J. I. Wyer of Albany showed a collection of 1857, 3 cents, Type I. He included in his exhibit an extraordinary rare cover of 1851, 3c Imperf. On this a pair of the 3c was used over a 13c red, thick paper Hawaiian. The cover was used from Honolulu to Albany. Dr. Wyer showed 80 selected copies o 3c Type I, among them a cover Washington family in Virginia. dates in fine shades; block of 6 us one cover, an unusual item; varietie the inner lines recut. SECRET DOTS ON CANADIANS

AN INTERESTING ACCOUNT OF THE DISCOVERY OF UNCHRONICLED DOT VARIETIES

By MAJOR HARRY MORELL, Shellsburg, Iowa.

The recording of a secret or identification dot on a stamp issued over sixty years ago and which has evaded the vigilance of philatelists is well worthy of comment, and this opportunity is taken to direct the attention of those who are especially interested in Canadians to the presence of a secret dot on the 1c 1868.

The 1c 1868 in its various colors and shades is a particularly beautiful stamp, which has been subjected to the scrutiny of observant philatelists over a long period of years, and it is rather remarkable that the dot, about to be described, has escaped detection up to this time.

Credit is to be given to those philatelists who have kindly verified my observations with specimens in their own collections, and one gentleman writes me as follows: "Last summer I went over some 4 to 5 thousands of this stamp in my collection, with a glass, looking for errors, strikes, etc., and I must say I missed it."

Jarrett's latest edition mentions a guide dot at the bottom of the design, but says nothing about a secret or identification dot at the upper left scroll; as this edition is just off the press, it would naturally contain any important "finds" to date.

In order that priority of the discovery of this dot be established, it is necessary that certain conditions should be fulfilled, as follows: (1) The dot must be constant. (2) It should recur in an unvarying position. (3) That its presence should have never before been brought to the attention, or presented before a philatelic society or body of philatelists. (4) That the dot has never been pointed out in a published article, and (5) Its presence should be verified by philatelists, other than the writer.

As all the conditions have been satisfied in this case it is very evident that "Morell's Dot" has never before been brought to the attention of philatelists. Dr. Reford, the doyen of Canadian collectors, says, "I am practically certain your observation is new, and very interesting. Your conclusion that it is a secret or identification dot, I agree with."

Description of "Morell's Dot"

Canada, Large 1c 1868.
1c Orange.
1c Orange-yellow.
1c Red-brown.

Besides a guide dot upon the bottom of the design, a minute dot is found on the convex margin of the upper left scroll on an imaginary line outward from the upper curl on the inside of the scroll. The dot is almost microscopic in size, lays against the shore line on the external margin, and it occurs constantly. It is very well defined in orange and reds, but on the yellow it is not so well differentiated. It can easily be made out, however, with a lens. I have gone over all the specimens in my collection, including all shades, and this dot appears on every stamp in the same unvarying position. I would class this as a secret or identification dot, as a guide or position dot would not occupy this situation.

Another stamp which I have had an opportunity of studying is the ½c of 1882. This stamp is the smallest in size and the smallest denomination ever issued by the Canadian Government, and the only mention of dots on this stamp is a general one, covering the small cents issue in Jarrett's latest edition, and on page 62, it says, "A position dot will be found under the design at the lower left corner on stamps from January, 1870, until September, 1888."

EDITORIAL

THE first day cover enthusiasts have been having a carnival time in collecting Sullivan firsts; and we find that many cities other than those on the department schedule are represented by June 17th cancellations. There is no denial to be made of the fact that the coming of the Edison and the Sullivan specials in the month of June has made a bustle that is not associated usually with the first month of summer, and that in a material sense, the stamps have made business good. The modest denominations of our commemoratives forces the conviction that the aim of the post office is to please the public because the returns from the sale of these stamps are comparatively small in view of the expense of their preparation, and what is more to the point, the added work entailed; and if the department does more than balance accounts, well and good. Here we want to say that our suggestion that collectors give collections of recent commemoratives to philatelic prospects has not been ignored, and we name Mr. Thomas L. Vicksers, New York; Mr. Anton Schilling, St. Louis; Mr. A. N. Bayles, Cincinnati; and Mr. M. Moreau, Omaha, as having acted upon our plan, with good effect. The sum total of the recruits that we have made through the distribution of a dozen lots of the stamps is one, with a possibility of one more; and this score is one that is not to be ashamed of. It is sometimes better to talk to one man in a corner than a hundred in a hall.

MANY months ago, the statement was made in one of our departments, to the effect that in a precanceled sense, the post office at Agana, Guam, existed "only in story." We received a letter at the time from Orville R. Goss, Lieut. Comdr. (M. C.), U. S. Navy, who said: "The sentence is incorrect as Agana is the seat of government of Guam, which is vested in the Navy Department under a Naval Officer as governor. Agana has a population of between eight and nine thousand people. There is only one post office on the island to serve the entire population of about fifteen thousand, and it is in Agana. There never was, and I believe there never will be, a need for 'precancels' in Guam, the bulk of the post office business being C. O. D. packages directed to Chamonas, as the natives of Guam are called, from mail order houses. I am enclosing a picture of the new post office building in Agana, which was dedicated in 1925, during my stay in Guam. The entire lower floor is the post office quarters, and the second floor is used as schoolrooms."

WE are informed that the first mailing of the Advance Sheets of the 1930 edition of the Standard Postage Stamp Catalogue will be made about July 25th; and so it seems that collectors will have a pleasant summer occupation in comparing the old with the new prices of their stamps. Nowadays, there is only a little dip in philatelic interest during the hot weather period, where some years ago, it was a decided fall.

THE following clipping has been received from Mr. Ronald A. King, Lisburn, Northern Ireland, telling of the impending issue of commemorative stamps for Ireland. We quote from the Irish Times of May 27, 1929: "The Free State Post Office has decided to issue postage stamps of a new design to commemorate the centenary of Catholic Emancipation. The design selected is the work of an Irish artist, and consists of a drawing of the head of Daniel O'Connell, the Liberator, enclosed in an oval band, bearing the words, 'Fuascailt Nag Catouiliceach' (Catholic Emancipation). The top of the stamp shows 'Eire' with the dates 1829 and 1929 on each side. The denomination is shown on panels below the head. The stamp will be issued in three denominations, 2d, 3d and 9d, which are the popular rates for the inland, foreign and parcel post services, respectively. It is hoped to have the new stamps ready for sale during Emancipation Week (16th-23rd, June). While every effort is being made to attain this end, the technical difficulties attending the preparation of the dies and plates are such as may possibly cause some delay in the issue of the stamps."

FROM Mr. R. H. Eilers, our philatelic alderman of St. Louis, we have received copies of envelopes that were used to transmit soldiers' votes in the Ohio state election during the Civil War period. The envelopes bear the interesting postmark: "Miamiville, P. O., Oct. 13, 1864, Camp Dennison, O."

WE have not made extended references to the Associated Press dispatches based on the newly issued commemoratives since the newspapers throughout the land gave space to them. Some of the stories were very good, especially the one with the Menlo Park, New Jersey, date line, saying that the first package mailed from there contained the master die of the stamp and was sent to Edison at Fort Myers, Florida. The publicity that philately is receiving in the press shows that stamps are now included in the major interests of people by the newspapers; and in this respect we are beginning to compare with countries in Europe where collecting is a standard subject for discussion in the press. As showing how Great Britain's newspapers regard our pursuit as a normal source of news, one has to point only to the London Daily Mail of May 13th, where across the top of a whole page of eight columns is the streamer, "Experts Condemn British Commemorative Stamps." As Mr. E. M. Ash, Santiago de Cuba, who sends a copy of this paper says: "In what other country do stamps get such publicity?" We are progressing and the day is breaking when the postage stamp will be given a proper perspective. Stamps enter intimately into the lives of the people, and it is not to be denied that they carry a news interest, which in its sweep embraces the collectors of them.

THE Rev. E. Rasmussen, Duluth, Minnesota, writes: "It may be of interest to your readers to know that according to Krist. S. Kristoffersen, the renowned tenor of Oslo, Norway, who is an ardent philatelist, there is a distinct error in the Abel stamps of Norway, issued earlier in the year. It is an error that occurs once in every fourth sheet of the 20 ore, where the date of 1828 is given as '1328'. As soon as this error was detected, all these stamps were recalled from the various post offices of Norway and burned. This variety is worthy of catalogue quotation, and no doubt will be of no little scarcity, even though the Abel stamps in general will be common enough."

A CORRESPONDENT reports a case where he is having a controversy with a postmaster who, he alleges, seems to delight in blotching stamps to an inordinate degree, even though it is apparent that the stamps are employed philatelically. We do not need to say that it becomes a delicate matter for a collector to suggest that stamps be canceled lightly for reasons that are on the surface, but nevertheless, collectors are entitled to some consideration, a fact that Mr. Regar, as third assistant postmaster general realized. Some months ago, the department instructed postmasters to be alert to effectively deface the stamps, it having developed that some postmasters were lax in this particular. Air Mail News

BY DONALD E. DICKASON,
Wooster, Ohio

(This department covers air mail news from the purely philatelic standpoint. Coöperators will find their names listed each week. If your letter calls for a reply please enclose a stamped, addressed envelope. This is your department, so make your contribution as generous as possible.)

OFFICIAL FLIGHTS

Mentioned the Leviathan's new ship to shore service a week ago. Flight to and from the ship was planned for June 10 as the ship approached New York. The United States Lines prepared special envelopes for this trial flight, and one envelope, and sheet of special paper, was supplied each passenger. Due to weather conditions, the flight did not take place till the outgoing trip, June 12. The covers originally prepared, however, were mailed at New York the 10th, and make interesting souvenirs of the attempt. I'm sorry to say that I seemed to have no friends on the out trip, so can't report as to cachet.

Canadian flights mentioned last week, as all cacheted in black. Have since seen the Hamilton - Toronto in blue.  Received covers dated May 14 from Hamilton and Toronto with the special machine cancel commemorating the Alcock - Brown flight June 14, 1919.  New official routes are soon to open as follows: Regina - Winnipeg; Regina - Calgary; Regina - Saskatoon - Edmonton. These follow the routes blazed by the trial flights last December.

First flight Medford - Pasco, etc., postponed, as the P. M. is returning covers. Best place to send covers on these unofficial advance-announced flights is to the local C. of C. (Chamber of Commerce); C. A. M. equals Contract Air Mail; F. A. M. is Foreign Air Mail.  The P. O. Dept. announces that business reply cards and envelopes may be prepared for return via air mail, and require 6c postage.

Perham C. Nahl reports the number of first transcontinental night flight cachets applied to date. Figures are not final, as covers are still being returned for the cachets. Following are for the Boeing Co. cachet: San Francisco—violet—1625; blue—452; black—168; Sacramento—magenta, as are all following—117; Reno—52; Elko—43; Salt Lake City — 102; Rock Springs — 38; Cheyenne—90; North Platte—106; Lincoln (west)—37. The Oakland C. of C. cachet is found in the following colors, scarcest last: black, blue, purple and green. The Boeing cachet was used in 2 colors, so we have 8 combinations. Between 4000 and 6500 from the P. O.; 1200 airmail field, and 380 cancelled Airport Station. If you have covers from any of the above, you may get the cachet by sending to Mr. Nahl, 6043 Harwood, Oakland, Cal.

C. A. M. 31! Who has a cover from this newest official contract route? Effective June 15, and announced only on that date, amphibian planes carried mail from the Chicago airport downtown to Grant Park, only a few minutes to the Post Office, connecting only with the overnight plane from New York. No official cachet, but I received a cover bearing a cachet gotten up by Chapter No. 2, A. A. M. S. I'm afraid that's one C. A. M. that'll be hard to get.

Effective with the planes leaving Miami (and Porto Rico connecting flight) June 18, Cristobal June 21, F. A. M. 5 was extended to Cartagena and Barranquilla, Colombia and Curacao, Dutch West Indies. Service will be extended to Maracay, Venezuela, soon. Postage rate 40c, and no cachet used. This news came in Postal Bulletin of the 10th, reaching me the 12th. If you really want to get in on these short notice affairs, a $2 subscription to the Bulletin is cheap, as it gets the news in time, in many cases.

First official non-stop drop of mail soon at Youngstown. Covers to J. P. Penning, Homestead, Pa. Must be addressed to Youngstown, and may be sent care Mr. Penning, Youngstown, if you send a stamped return envelope.

On the recent F. A. M. 5 extension to Central America, it was announced that the Miami cachet would be applied only to covers addressed to the new stops. I sent some covers, marked "Via First Trip Miami-Tela", etc., addressed to Colombia. These are all backstamped Cristobal, and made the direct trip there, rather than to the terminals indicated, but all have the purple cachet—Covers addressed directly to Tela bear a large, round, undated backstamp.  Northbound covers from Managua, Nicaragua, were forwarded by the Miami P. M. after I sent 5c postage due for each and bear no backstamp. First connecting mail on this route left San Juan May 18, and bears a cachet in the form of a plane and "Via Air Mail" in magenta.  The New York-Buenos Aires Airways Corp. sent their first amphibian on a trial flight over the proposed route June 11. This will be one to watch for.

The rest of the southbound F. A. M. 9 covers are back by this time. Talara, Peru, backstamped May 19; Mollendo May 20; Lima May 20; Iquique, Chile, May 23; Arica May 22 and Antofagasta May 24. These Chilean covers are all backstamped Mollendo the 20th. Don't know whether they flew the rest of the way, or went by ordinary route; but at any rate there weren't many of them. First northbound mail definitely left Lima the 18th.

AIRPORT DEDICATIONS, ETC.

The articles in the "Airmail Collector" referred to last week have evidently started something, judging from letters I have received. There should be some interesting developments in the next issue.

A bunch of coming events: Columbus, Ohio, Dedication July 6, 7, 8—covers to C. of C. 8th also will commemorate first air-rail flight at Columbus.  Bridgeport, Conn., July 5 and 6; Air Circus—cachet by C. of C.  Coleraine, Minn., dedication July 4—cachet by C. of C.  Ditto for Cape May, N. J.  Redding, Cal., July 6 and 7—C. of C.  Red Bank, N. J., July 3, 4, 5, 6—cachet C. of C. for Air Meet.  Big Spring, Tex., July 6—C. of C.  Laurel, Mass., in late summer—cachet C. of C.  Grinnell, Iowa, this fall—cachet C. of C.  Kankakee, Ill., was scheduled for June 30, but may have been postponed a few days. Might be worth trying—C. of C.

Harrisburg, Pa., C. of C. returns covers, and asks that they be sent about Aug. 1.  Poughkeepsie, N. Y., says nothing doing for either new route or airport.  Newark, N. J., Air Show in Sept. instead of earlier—Valentine Feind, 280 S. 8th St., will take covers.  Grant Whidden reports that 389 covers bore the Springfield, Mass., Lindbergh Day cachet, all in black, and authorized by the C. of C. That's the sort of detailed information I'm glad to get.  Sam T. Vary shows a Santa Rosa dedication cover dated the 18th, bearing cachets in both black and red.  The Gadsden Purchase celebration has been postponed indefinitely. Covers to J. Delano Bartlett, Box 11, El Paso, Tex.

June 10-15 covers from Ft. Worth commemorating the Robbins and Kelly endurance flight. Don't quite see why these many special dates.  Buffalo, N. Y., Air Derby cachet by Scripps-Howard June 15 red and purple.  Fairfax Airport Celebration neat yellow cachet printed on covers. Should say that Fairfax Airport is in Kansas City, Kans.—date June 12—C. of C.

Several recent dedications. Anniston, Ala., June 14—purple—by C. of C. and P. M. signed.  Pontiac, Mich., June 15 and 16—the Indian with his bow and arrow—by the C. of C.  Niagara Falls June 13, a beauty in purple by the C. of C. and C. A. M. 20.  Rochester, Minn., Diamond Jubilee June 12-13-14 (Dedication also?) fancy cachet by the Philatelic Club; covers to Commercial Club simply have "Rochester Commercial Club, Pres. ———", and no signature.  Elkhart, Ind., Dedication June 14, Air Circus and Expo., 15 and 16.  Same cachet, but different colors—By Legion and C. of C.  Memphis, Tenn., June 14 and 15, blue on 14, and blue or red on 15—C. of C. One of my covers came in all chewed up, and I immediately thought "Plane wreck cover!" Turned out that a local train had thrown a pouch carelessly, and it got under the wheels.  St. Ignace, Mich., June 11th, no cachet.

Starting a Collection

By F. J. MELVILLE.

The best way to start is to get a good packet of varieties—300, 500 or 1,000 different stamps. Turn out the packet on a table, carefully dusting the table first, and start sorting them into their proper countries. Don't finger the stamps more than you can help; in fact, it is a good plan to use a pair of light tweezers for lifting each stamp. A pair of serviceable tweezers costs about 25c. Accustom yourself to use them from the start.

Many of the stamps you will recognise at once as belonging to a particular country; others will puzzle you a bit at first. To avoid mistakes, go easy at first; don't try to sort the whole packet at one sitting, a few at a time will keep you interested, and you can take more time over each specimen to make sure you are placing it under its proper country.

Secure a good illustrated catalogue; the best English ones are Stanley Gibbons ($3.75) and Whitfield King's ($1.75); the best American one is Scott's ($2.00); the best French one "Yvert," costs $2.00; all are well illustrated and will be of the greatest assistance in distinguishing to what country each stamp belongs.

Don't jump too quickly to conclusions, or you may make blunders; don't imagine that a stamp marked FRANCO (meaning Free) must belong to France, because the word looks like the name of that country. Don't search for the whereabouts of "HELVETIA" in an atlas, for you won't find it there, as this is the Latin name on the stamps of the country we call Switzerland. A good atlas will, however, be very useful, for you ought to know the whereabouts of the country or colony that issued each stamp you possess.—Postage Stamp.

Anyone who listens to a radio for any length of time, soon hears the announcer mention names of composers. Sometimes they tell the name of the composer's native country. To many people these names of individuals or countries do not mean much. This is not the case with the student of stamps. He frequently hears a musician's name mentioned, that calls to his mind a picture of that musician, on a stamp of a foreign country.

Let us examine our stamps to see how many musicians we find pictured. First, we come to Austria. Here we find a whole set of seven varieties, issued in 1922, showing pictures of famous musicians, who were born in or near Austria, namely Haydn, Mozart, Beethoven, Schubert, Bruckner, Strauss, and Wolf.

In 1926, Germany brought out a set of "famous men" stamps, and among them we find Beethoven's picture again. Altho a native of Germany, he spent much time in Vienna with Austrian composers. In the same set we also find a picture of Bach, the famous composer of organ music. Turning next to Poland we find Paderewski's picture on the 15f of the 1919 issue, and Chopin's on the 40g of 1927.—A. C. LEDUC.

Scandinavian Skillings

The value in which the early stamps of Norway, Denmark and Iceland were expressed is a skilling worth a trifle more than a half cent in American money.

Junior Dictionary

Postes Ethiopiennes.—Found on the current stamps of Abyssinia meaning "Ethiopian Post". Ethiopia is the native name for the country.

Postes Ottomanes.—Found on the current stamps of the Ottoman Empire or Turkey as it is more generally known. It means "Ottoman Post".

Postfaerge.—This surcharge on a Denmark stamp issued in 1919 means "Ferry Post", which indicates the use to which the stamp was put.

Postfrim.—A word on most of the stamps of Norway, Denmark, etc., the last portion being an abbreviation for "frimaerki". It may be translated literally as "free postage stamp".

Postgebiet Ob. Ost.—An overprint applied to some of the contemporary stamps of Germany in 1915 for use in the occupied territories of Lithuania and Courland. The abbreviation is for "Oberbefehlshabers", and the surcharge means "Postal area of the Eastern Commander-in-Chief".

WENCESLAUS COMMEMORATIVES

Five values in three designs make up the set just issued by Czechoslovakia to commemorate the one thousandth anniversary of the death of "Good King Wenceslaus."

HE WAS JUSTIFIED

The Bisects were calling on the Serrates. Says Mrs. Serrate to Mrs. Bisect, in a nasty tone: "I can't get my husband to go out nights at all; won't even take me to a movie."

"How come?" asks Mrs. Bisect, all sympathy.

"Oh, the poor goofus has the stamp mania," snorts Mrs. Serrate.

"Does he collect all countries?" asked Mrs. Bisect.

"No, only Rou-mania," snaps Mrs. Serrate.

And then Serrate gave her a hearty slap, and the party was over.—CAPT. A. C. TOWNSEND.

SECRET DOTS ON CANADIA

Now the small ½c was issued in 1882, and consequently should these dots as mentioned above, but, going over many specimens I fail find any of these stamps with the tion dot as described—instead of wh found the following, all well define constant, showing them in the sam varying position on every specime amined:—

(1)—A single minute dot, midwa immediately above the upper bord the design, directly above the conv the letter "P" in Postage.

In some specimens this dot is so to the cross hatching of the design it is hard to distinguish. It seems the design impinges on the dot, than the dot striking the design. dot is sometimes difficult to define field, but one may see it plainly by ing from above downwards thirteen zontal lines in the cross hatching right border of the plate, and the do be found at the extremity of the teenth line in every case, and it out clearly.

(3)—The third position where may be demonstrated on this little is inside the upper part of the left pillar of the letter "H" in Half. dots will be found here, but as the sometimes irregular in form, they prove to be plate defects rather dots—they are very constant howe is hoped that the Confederate collection it be sold as a whole, as it would be mely difficult to get together again a wonderful lot if these are sold indi- ally.

is offers an excellent opportunity to who had collected U. S. general issues and will prove to be a most satisfac- investment.

y I again bring to your attention the that I am always in the market to hase for cash choice and unusual idual items or collections of United s postal adhesives, carriers, post- ers, postage dues, departments, news- rs, revenues and Confederates. Mint ts and early covers are especially de- , along with pairs and multiples of the imperforate and part-perforate rev- s. The demand for the inverted cen- of both the postage and revenue seem so great that it is almost impossible to anything of importance on hand. Un- he circumstances, fine inverted centers especially desired. Please place your upon each item offered and an im- ate response will be made.

Post Office Department Changes

Under date of June 18, the Postmaster General announced the appointment of three new Assistants, namely—Mr. Arch Coleman, former postmaster of Minneapolis, as First Assistant; Mr. Frederic A. Tilton of Detroit, Third Assistant; and Mr. John W. Philp, former postmaster of Dallas, as Fourth Assistant. The first and fourth are undoubtedly political appointments, the former gentleman having recently been defeated in the congressional primaries. Mr. Tilton, the Third Assistant, who is in charge of stamp matters, and the one the collector is mainly interested in, was taken from industrial life in Detroit, and is considered an efficiency expert. We have made arrangements to meet Mr. Tilton in order that we might have a story from him in behalf of collectors. From what can be learned he is likely to be as considerate of philately as has his two predecessors.

Mr. R. S. Regar, former Third Assistant Postmaster General, has been appointed Purchasing Agent of the Post Office Department.

2-Cent "Sullivan" Stamp Issued

In accordance with previous announcement in this column, the 2-cent red Sullivan expedition stamp was placed on sale on June 17, in fifteen of the smaller towns of northern New York. The stamp, which has been previously described, is not unusually attractive, but is sufficiently different from the current variety to command attention. There is no doubt that each new stamp of this type aids philately generally, as the non-collector has his attention attracted to the new variety, which often results in a new collector. Several Chambers of Commerce, as well as others, took occasion to issue special envelopes and cards for the first day of issue. Mr. E. G. Emerson favors us with an attractive card from Perry showing Eagle in flight in addition to wording appropriate for the occasion. Mr. Frank W. Wright sends three covers from Horseheads and Elmira, the former showing a cartoon by "Zim" depicting General Sullivan on horseback chasing the hostile Indian. This is sponsored by the Horseheads Rotary and reads "Major-General John Sullivan persuading the hostile Indian to change his residence from Horseheads, N. Y." The Elmira cover shows portrait of General Sullivan, and a second cover from the same town the Sullivan Memorial Monument at Newtown Battlefield. These last two envelopes were issued by the Elmira Association of Commerce. Mr. P. R. Crooker sends from Canajoharie, a cover showing a map illustrating the paths taken by General Sullivan and his army. Mr. D. C. Fulmer also favors us with a first-day cover from Syracuse.

The new stamp is printed from the flat bed press in sheets of four hundred, which are in turn perforated eleven and cut into post office panes of one hundred subjects. The stamps will be available in most of the post offices throughout the country and collectors may obtain a supply from the Philatelic Agency. It is again suggested as in the case of all new issues that orders to the Agency asking for this variety call for this variety alone. The Department originally ordered 30 million Sullivan stamps from the Bureau and recently a second order for 20 million went through, making 50 million in all.

2-Cent "Edison" Variety

The Department has been receiving a number of letters requesting the 2-cent Edison variety in imperforate condition. It is not the intentions of the Department to issue this stamp imperforate and it is doubtful if any further varieties will appear in this condition as arrangements have been made to furnish coils of three thousand stamps for use in the mailing machines that formerly used the imperforate stamp. These larger coils, as explained at the time of their first appearance, are identical except in the case of numbers, with the smaller coils, so that they do not produce a new variety for the collector.

The 180 million Edison stamps are divided among the flat plate, Perf. 11 variety, the rotary print—Perf. 11x10½ and the sidewise rotary coil imperforate top and bottom perforated 10 at the sides.

The flat plate varieties so far noted are from plates 19776, 19777 and 19778, while the rotaries are from 19779 and 19780. We will furnish a complete list in the next lot of plate numbers. The coil, by the way, is the first commemorative coil ever issued by this country and is available in coils of 500 and 1,000. The brown craft paper which wraps the coil reads in four lines—"2c—500 Edison commemorative postage sidewise perforate."

2-Cent "George Rogers Clark" Stamp

Mr. Malcolm H. Ganser has shown me a right pane of the 2-cent Vincennes-Clark variety, bearing red plate No. F-19725, but without black number. The Clark stamp has proven to be the most popular commemorative variety that has appeared since the Norse-American issue and, no doubt, when the small supply available has become exhausted, the stamp will be in demand.

Canal Zone

Through the courtesy of Mr. R. S. Carter, we have received a list of the stamps available at the Philatelic Agency at Balboa Heights. The 1c green flat plate has become exhausted, but the following flat plate varieties are still available: 1½c, 3c, 5c, 12c to $1 inclusive. The rotary press: 1c, 2c, 3c, 5c and 10c in addition to the permanent issue 1c and 2c showing portraits of Generals Gorgas and Goethals, in addition to the new 15c and 25c airmail stamps. Booklets, postal cards and stamped envelopes are still available.

The Agency calls attention in capital letters to the fact that stamps furnished are the best specimens available when the order is filled. They are not guaranteed to be perfect as to centering, etc., and may not be exchanged. It is for this reason that it will pay the collector to purchase his small requirements from the dealer, hence, being assured of receiving first-class copies.

Mr. Carter also sends us several new Panama stamps recently placed on sale, namely—the 10-cent orange and 20-cent brown Special Delivery, showing a messenger upon bicycle, together with three airplane stamps consisting of the Special Delivery stamps overprinted. The 10-cent has been surcharged in blue—"Correo Aereo." A 15-cent variety has been produced by applying the same surcharge in addition to 15 centesimos to the same stamp, while the 20-cent has received a 25-cent surcharge, also in blue.

Australian Commonwealth.—According to Stamp Collecting the date of the issuance of the forthcoming West Australian Centenary stamp is given as September 9th.

Stop Press News

THE NATIONAL EXHIBITION

We have just received from Victor W. Rotnem, 1054 McKnight Bldg., Minneapolis, Minn., information in regard to exhibition plans, and every collector who contemplates making an exhibit, should write immediately for the rules now made public. The circular just at hand is detailed, and too lengthy for us to use. We give it the benefit of this "Stop Press" notice so that all interested parties can immediately write for this statement supplementary to the prospectus. The managers of the exhibition are working hard for the success of the enterprise, and exhibits are called for in no fewer than five different classes: juvenile, junior, novice, winners, and open.

NEW 5c CANAL ZONE

In 1894 the postal service of the Canal Zone was inaugurated, and stamps of Panama were surcharged for use. This event was celebrated on June 24, with a new stamp of the 5c denomination. The stamp shows a steam shovel at the Culebra cut and was placed on sale June 24. We are indebted to John J. Feulner for this information, but we have not seen a specimen of the stamp.

VATICAN CITY STAMPS

ESSEN, GER., June 18.

According to press statements the Papal stamps have been completed and will be put into circulation immediately after the ratification of the Lateran Treaties. As this ratification took place yesterday, the stamps may be expected before long. There are two different designs. One shows St. Peter's Cathedral, the values ranging from 5 to 75 centesimi, while the values of 80 cent. to 5 lire show the likeness of His Holiness Pope Pius XI. Special postal rates will become effective for mail matter posted within the precincts of the Vatican City, for mail matter destined for the Kingdom of Italy and for foreign countries.

A. WAGNER.

NEWS FLASHES

—Frank F. Wills sends us a first day cover commemorating the first trans-Atlantic air mail, June 14, 1919. There is no cachet, but it bears a distinctive stamp cancellation.

script watermark, King George type, has been received from Mr. R. Roberts.

Bermuda.—According to information noted in Gibbons' Stamp Monthly late supplies of the 2½p now come in with single line perforation instead of the comb. It is also in a brighter shade of ultramarine. Also the 1p is now without the double frame line around the sheet and the 2sh6p is on a deeper blue paper which affects the colors of the stamp.

Cuba. — A very attractive set of stamps picturing the new capitol at Havana have been sent to us by Mr. R. Roberts. They are line engraved and printed by Cia Impresora De Cuba, S. A. large oblong format, watermarked star, perforated 12. Values and colors are 1c green, 2c red, 5c blue, 10c brown, 20c violet.

Finland.—We have received a new commemorative set of three values from Mr. R. Roberts. The 1mk sage green depicts a steamship with the old castle of Abo in the distance, the 1½mk purple brown, upright format, view of Abo Cathedral, and the 2mk blue grey close-up view of the Castle of Abo. Each stamp bears the dates "1229 1929," are perforated 14 on paper watermarked Posthorn. The stamps measure 35x25mm, the 1mk and 2mk values being oblong format.

France. — A very attractive stamp with a view of "Pont du Gard" in 20fr value has been issued in brown, oblong format, and copies have been received from Whitfield King & Co.

Germany.—The annual issue of charity-cum-postage stamps will appear on November 1st in designs showing the Amorial devices of Bremen, Lippe, Lubeck, Mecklenburg-Strelitz and Schaumberg-Lippe, their respective denominations being 5, 8, 15, 25 and 50 pfennigs. Stamp Collecting furnishes the above information.

IDEAS FOR NEW DESIGNS

In connection with the article in your issue of May 20th, I am inclosing a copy of my letter to the Third Assistant Postmaster General, Division of Stamps, in which I present a few ideas for the new series of stamps referred to in that article, as well as a suggestion for an Armistice Day commemorative stamp.

The more I think about the possibilities of the Armistice Day stamp the more enthusiastic I feel. This day should really be considered the greatest of all such dates, ending as it did the greatest conflict in the world. For without this day we would have had chaos in the world long before this. Won't you get back of it and help boost? A postage stamp is a small thing, but one commemorating this day with a really suitable design, will do more to make the people remember this great day and observe it, than any other one thing that could be done. And this without especial cost to anyone.

Third Assistant Postmaster General,
Division of Stamps,
Washington, D. C.
My Dear Sir:

I notice in a recent issue of a philatelic magazine an announcement that the Post Office Department is considering the issuance of a new series of postage stamps, and that the Postmaster General would receive suggestions.

At present there are twenty-five denominations of postage stamps issued, from the half-cent to the five dollar value. I suggest that two series of these stamps be worked out, each value to bear the representation of some well-known landmark from each state, the District of Columbia and Alaska, making a total of fifty. The views could be similar to the present issue of 20c, 25c, and so on, each stamp bearing a suitable inscription.

I also want to suggest that a great improvement could be made in the appearance of our stamped envelopes, possibly they could be made similar to this suggestion for the new series of stamps. While it is entirely fitting to commemorate the memory of our statesmen on our postage stamps, after a length of time a change toward more artistic stamps commemorating the beauties of nature would be most welcome.

I wish to congratulate the Department on the "Edison Stamp" to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the incandescent lamp. It is most fitting that accomplishments such as this be properly noted and no way is more effective than by issuing a commemorative stamp.

Another suggestion that was brought to my mind thru the observance of Memorial Day, is the possibility of a stamp being issued in the early part of October, bearing a suitable design to commemorate the most important occurrence of recent years, Armistice Day—November 11th. Ask the National officials of the American Legion what they think of that idea.

Along with these suggestions, please remember that the two color stamp makes a much better appearance, and if not too expensive could be used to advantage in many new issues.

I trust that you will seriously consider these suggestions, along with the many others you will receive, and that the result will be a very interesting issue of postage stamps.

Very truly yours,
EDWARD L. DITHRIDGE,
Baldwin Park, California.

BRAINS, MY BOY

Stamps are now securely established in the world's file of accepted pursuits, and no longer may we bewail their omission from the register of Scotch stories. Here we have stamps and Scotch tied up together in a clipping that has drifted in that originally must have come from across the water, since "pounds" are not indigenous to America. Who can improve on this?

"The little son of Harry McPherson one day surprised him with the expressed desire for a postage stamp collection. Now stamp collecting isn't a cheap sport. But McPherson was a good father, as well as a thrifty Scot. Quickly he places this advertisement in a London paper with world-wide circulation:

'Who wants me? I am young, good looking, healthy, and of splendid disposition. Dowry 50,000 pounds on the wedding day, 10 times as much later. I am looking for a nice young man, money not material.'

He received more than 25,000 offers from all parts of the world. Young McPherson has his stamp collection."

LIPSNER'S HISTORICAL COVER

COMMEMORATING THE 25TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE WRIGHT BROTHERS' ACHIEVEMENTS AT KITTY HAWK, N. C.

Philately owes a debt of gratitude to Captain Lipsner, who, again, has had the inspiration to portray in fitting form, the true record of those who were responsible for the progress of aviation from the date of its birth through its silver anniversary, in December, 1928.

Little did Captain Lipsner dream that the covers that enclosed letters of a congratulatory nature at the time of his successful pioneering in the air mail service, and which found their way to the wastebasket despositary, were the basis of a small fortune today. Now, Captain Lipsner has become an ardent flown cover collector, and has had the experience of buying envelopes that were addressed to him at a fancy price, even though they were tossed aside at the time of their receipt. Recently, in New York, he obtained some of these very covers. His greatest hope is to complete his air mail collection covering the period of the pioneering days of 1918. He is preparing a book that should be a decided help to flown cover collectors by describing intimate experiences of those who shared in the aerial mail service of early days.

Captain Lipsner recently made a contribution to cover history, which is illustrated above with his permission granted exclusively to the WEEKLY. This cover was designed to honor heroes from the beginning to the present, and none will say that Captain Lipsner is not competent to make a selection based on deed and fact. As a delegate to the International Civil Aeronautics Conference, which was called by President Coolidge, and held at Washington, December 12, 13 and 14, 1928, and was the most important gathering in the history of aeronautics, he felt that it was his duty to make a suitable record of the achievements for the past twenty-five years. His genius has had flower in this beautiful expression in the form of an embellished envelope that to be appreciated must be seen. The border of the envelope is in silver and shows different planes in various flying positions. At the top is the replica of the Wright Brothers' plane which made the memorable flight at Kitty Hawk, N. C., Dec. 17, 1903. The portion upon which it rests is brought out in two tones of silver and blue with the inscription as follows: "Commemorating the Silver Anniversary of the first airplane flight." The pillars are constructed with separate stones, each of which shows the names of the Pathfinders of the air from the Wright Brothers down the distinguished line. The globe is small because the plane has shrunk the size of it; and below is the signature of Captain "B. B. Lipsner" with the legend: "Former Regular Army Captain—Aviation Section—Signal Corps. The First Superintendent to Blaze the Air Mail Trail for the U. S. Post Office Department in 1918." The cachet, originated by Captain Lipsner, has been reproduced in green and yellow, and represents his

PHILIPPINE AIR-MAILS

The two Philippine air-mail issues have always been quite scarce. We have been fortunate in procuring a very limited supply of the "Madrid to Manila" 1926 issue up to the one peso only. We have also obtained a supply of the "L.O.F." air-mail issue recently issued. We are offering these at a price which we believe to be a bargain, as this figure is approximately the present wholesale price on these stamps, only 6,000 sets of which were issued.

All Prices Cancelled

Pursuant to the terms set forth on the front inside cover page of my 1929 price list, all prices quoted in that list are cancelled as of July 1st. The reason for this will be apparent when one considers that I issue my list each fall and that nine months see price changes in any line of business.

However, a large percentage of the prices will continue good until my 1930 list is ready, about November 1st.

Just order from the list as formerly, but include a supplemental list of from 50 to 75 per cent of the total amount of your order. That will give me the opportunity of selecting stamps the prices of which have not been changed. [09 conception of man's mastery of the air. Space is reserved in the lower right hand corner of the cachet for its register number. Needless to say, the autograph of Orville Wright, the surviving brother of the inventors of the airplane, gives the envelope the finished touch!

As the "Daily News Almanac" for 1925 says: "The air mail service in the United States was suggested in 1918 by Captain Benjamin B. Lipsner, U. S. A., and when the idea was approved by the post office department, he was asked to become the first superintendent of such a service. He accepted the appointment, resigned his commission in the army and made the service a success from the start." We are glad to say that Captain Lipsner has become interested in pioneer dates, and upon him devolves the clearing up of obscurities clouding some of the early usages, a task to which he is now giving full attention.

Those who have seen this 25th anniversary cover feel that it is well that a careful record has been made for posterity of the inception of mechanical flight, down through the postal ages, particularly in the beginning. If others had done as much, the task of the present-day student would be simplified. On the reverse of this celebration envelope is the wording: "This is to certify as a member and guest of the International Civil Aeronautics Conference, called by President Coolidge, to mark the first quarter century of human flight, I accompanied Hon. Orville Wright from Washington, D. C., to Kill Devil Hill, N. C. On the entire pilgrimage, I carried this commemorative cover and finally mailed it personally at the place and on the date as postmarked. (Signed) B. B. Lipsner."

KLEMANN WINS APPEAL

By a judgment of Justice Schmuck in the Supreme Court, it was decreed among other things that Baron von Scharfenberg was the owner of a certain Russian stamp collection described in the complaint; that the two alleged bills of sale executed by the plaintiff to the defendant Bernet, conveying title to the stamp collection, were null and void because their execution was procured through duress; that the alleged sale of the said stamp collection made by Bernet to John A. Klemann was illegal and void, and the judgment further provided for the delivery of the stamp collection to Baron von Scharfenberg. John A. Klemann and the Nassau Stamp Co. appealed from this judgment, and Bernet, the other defendant, was not a party of the appeal.

Baron von Scharfenberg, the plaintiff, brought this action against Martin S. Bernet, whom he employed to sell his Russian stamp collection, to recover its possession, alleging fraud and duress exercised by Bernet. Baron von Scharfenberg, who resided in Berlin, met Bernet about July 1, 1926, and entered into a written contract whereby he employed Bernet to sell his Russian stamp collection. On July 13th the plaintiff executed a power of attorney in English, which was on the regular printed form and provided among other things:

"for the sale and marketing of my complete Russian stamp collection, which will be given to him personally in Berlin, giving and granting unto him said attorney full power and authority to do and perform all and every act and thing whatsoever requisite and necessary to be done in and about the premises, as fully to all intents and purposes as he might or could do if personally present, with full power of substitution and revocation, hereby ratifying and confirming all that said attorney or substitute shall lawfully do or cause to be done by virtue hereof."

It was this power of attorney shown to John A. Klemann when he purchased the collection from Bernet, and at Bernet's request, made the check payable to Paul F. Lowinger, who was a personal friend of Mr. J. C. Morgenthau, and on whose recommendation Mr. Lowinger called at the office of the Nassau Stamp Co. in reference to the Russian collection.

There were some personal matters of difference between Baron von Scharfenberg and Bernet, which were ad as the basis of the duress, and beca which the Baron executed two b sale. The Baron for several montl been holding Bernet out as his agen left the stamps in his possession a given him authority to sell the wh any part of the collection. It w mitted that the plaintiff held Bern as his agent to sell the stamps; t gave him possession thereof with b sale, transferring title, and the po attorney, clothing him with the a ance of authority.

The evidence shows that Klema purchaser, relied upon these paper acted in good faith, and several wit

WE HAVE

DR. CARROLL CHASE'S BOOK

On the 3c U. S. Stamps of 1851-57

It is with pleasure we announce the receipt of the first bound copy of Dr. Chase's very important work on the U. S. 3c stamps of 1851-57, and we are advised that before this can be printed, delivery of the books to subscribers will have begun.

The volume exceeds our expectations in the wealth of detailed information it supplies, and its scores of fine illustrations of stamps, minor varieties, all of the extra and missing line varieties from the last three rows of Plate 111, the cracked plate varieties, the important plate flaws, the shifts, or double entries, the fancy cancellations found on these stamps, the lists of railroad and other interesting postmarks.

Particularly interesting are the new illustrations showing clearly all the important retouches and recut lines recently discovered on the Type II stamps of 1857, Scott's No. 44. Very few collectors or dealers are familiar with these rare varieties. If for no other reason, no student or collector of U. S. stamps can afford to be without this most important of philatelic works.

The book is published at $6.00, net; order through your regular dealer or direct of the publishers.

U. S. Plates and Plate Markings

R. A. BRYANT, Editor
Box 64, West Somerville, Mass.

Readers are requested to send in notes and data on errors, shifts, defects and all plate markings; also color varieties and new numbers for chronicle. The editor will gladly answer all questions on these subjects.

We have taken the list of postage due plates mentioned in our last notes and have had a very attractive chart made. Copies of the original in the form of blueprints will be furnished to column readers who request same and send a stamped and addressed envelope. The list includes all postage due plates issued by the Bureau from 1894 to date, we being indebted to Mr. A. E. Owen for the data, which is of course authentic and complete.

In conjunction with the above we have a very important announcement to make, one which will be of great interest to all collectors of United States stamps. Arrangements have been completed for the periodical appearance of lists, charts, diagrams, etc., of certain plate numbers, plate layouts and marginal markings. Each will be complete in itself and comprehensive in its scope. For the first diagram we plan to take the 360 subject plate. The blueprint will contain a diagram of this size plate, showing its arrangement and layout, position of guide lines and arrows, and the various marginal markings; in fact, everything that can be of service to enable collectors to familiarize themselves with details and to acquire a complete understanding of the subject. Data will be furnished by one of the foremost specialists on U. S. Bureau issues, and the drawing will be made by the same expert who has done such excellent work on the due list. More details will appear in an early issue.

We acknowledge with thanks first day Edison covers from Menlo Park from Thomas H. Hawk and Theodore H. Ames; an Edison air mail cover from the temporary post office at the new Convention Hall at Atlantic City, sent by Francis Hertzell, and for a first day cover having an Edison coil stamp, from H. M. Southgate. Several readers have reported the new stamp from plates 19775-776-777-778. The rotaries we have seen were very poorly perforated, the plate numbers being removed.

Theodore H. Ames reports a lower right pane from plate 17431 (15c), which shows no trace of the bottom plate number although the arrow is clearly printed.

From Akron we have a request to explain the significance of the symbol "S 30" which is found on the margin of certain rotary printings. Three symbols, S 20, S 30 and S 40, were used by the Bureau when they were making trials of different depths for the rotary plates. S 20 and S 40 depths were not satisfactory, and S 30 was found to answer the requirements and was made standard and used on all later plates having these symbols. Copies of No. 539, type III, show the S 30, and No. 539, type II, show the S 20. These latter are very scarce. No. 545, No. 546 and No. 588 also show S 30. No copies showing the symbol S 40 have ever been reported. The above information was kindly sent by Mr. Owen.

Through the courtesy of George Brett we add two plates to our list of Canal Zone on U. S.: 2c flat "A", 15378; and 5c sharp "A", 15571. Thomas E. Lally kindly reports the following for our list also: 2c postage due, sharp "A", 14599; and 10c postage due, sharp "A", 6556.

Commenting on the interesting oddity reported in our column for May 27 by Wayne E. Kuhn, C. C. Damon writes that he has located the same combination, and in addition reports the same center plate (19730) with borders 19721-723-724-726, all showing the line a little to the left, but not always in the same place.

STEPHEN D. BROWN MAKES A WONDERFUL DISPLAY AT THE COLLECTORS CLUB

Reported by CHARLES J. PHILLIPS.

On June 19, Mr. Stephen D. Brown made a wonderful display of some of the choicest pieces from his wonderful selected collection at the Collectors Club. In the auction room he displayed a large portion of his famous collection of the New Orleans stamps, which were shown in the glass cases round the room. The most important pieces here were, first of all, three complete reconstructed plates consisting mostly of used copies and which were shown on the white, the blue and the yellow paper, the latter, the third printing, being mostly unused.

In the rarities I noticed 5c on white paper, first issue, used, printed on both sides. Also another rarity was the imprint inverted on white paper and used. On the third piece a very interesting item showed a tete-beche imprint, traces showing above the one imprint of the bottom portion of letters of another imprint. This was shown on a strip of three and a single.

The collection contained a very large number of superb copies in singles, pairs and strips, on and off covers, with all varieties of cancellations.

Mr. Brown also showed a few choice pieces in Confederate States in addition to the New Orleans, such as a strip of five of the 2c green lithographed on cover; strip of 5 of the 2c brown on cover; a TEN cents on cover postmarked JACKSON; a very fine Knoxville on cover tied on with a Railroad cancellation.

In addition to the Confederates, Mr. Brown was good enough to bring with him a selection of rarities in the most superb condition, of United States stamps. Among others I noted as follows:—1847, 10c bisected vertically and diagonally; 1851, a 3c bisected tied with a black grid used on a circular as 1c; 1851, 12c, three diagonal bisections, one cancelled San Francisco, the second a New York town with "Via Nicaragua, Ahead of the Mails" on the cover, and a third one with the year date 1852 and the word PAID on the stamp; 1869, 2c, horizontal half, used as a 1c drop letter with a cork blob on the cut and with the word "Carrier" on the envelope, not in Scott's Special Catalogue. Also a 2c of the same issue, vertical half used with a full 2c mate the original 3c rate; 1870-71, no grill, red-brown, vertical half used for 6c letter; 1883, 4c vertical half with the mark O. K. (P. M.).

Amongst other fine things, of which can only note a few, were some pieces specimens of the 1842 New Yorks, including a 5c on the real blue paper. 18 fine lot of 5c Railway cancellations, red, blue and green PAIDS; Pair with the figures "10" in red and another with "FREE" in red; in the 1847's 5c and 10c were both shown with Troy and New York Steamboat cancellations; 1851 issue, a superb set without sheet margins and a magnificent Type I, number "7R1" early.

There was a large number of other interesting and rare varieties, but will not allow a detailed description every stamp in this most magnificent collection deserves full description.

UNITED STATES

General Issues 1847-1880

USED

I have just remade all these books, as many of my old ones were stripped bare. I have been able to make a number of large purchases in most of these issues, especially in the 1847, 1869 and Bank Note Issues, with rare and fancy cancellations.

The following new approval books can now be sent to collectors:—

5c. 25 singles and 4 pairs.
10c. 36 singles, some on covers. Good cancellations, and some side margins stamps in the 10c.

1851-56

1c blue. A good book of singles, many fine copies and scarce cancellations.

1851-56

1c. A book of special varieties, strong in pairs, strips and a rare used block of six.

1851-56

Four or five books of 3c. Some just the ordinary varieties, and other books of scarce items, such as cracked plates, re-entries, pairs, strips and blocks.

1851-56

5c, 10c and 12c. A good book with a fine lot of pairs and strips.

1857-60

1c blue. Types I, II, III, IIIA, IV and V, some good cancellations.

1857-60

3c. A fine lot of Type I used, which I find much scarcer than catalogued.

1857-60

A good book of 10c in all types and a fair lot of 5c, with several pairs and strips.

1857-60

Another book of all 10c and 12c, with many pairs and strips.

1857-60

A fine book of 24c and 30c. The 24c are an exceptional lot, many rare cancellations.

1861 Second Issue

Book of 1c and 3c. Grand lot of rare cancellations.

1862

Fine books of the 2c, 5c, 15c and 24c.

1867 With Grill

A good book, with many fine copies and some scarce cancellations.

1869

A fine lot of this popular issue, well centered selected copies which are hard to find and a number of scarce cancellations.

1870-1882

I have purchased a fine lot of these stamps lately and I have made up eight new books specially strong in cancellations. For convenience of reference, I arrange these under each denomination.

Book A.	All 1c and 2c brown.
Books B and C.	" 3c green.
Book D.	" 6c and 7c.
" E.	" 10c, 12c and 15c.
" F.	" 24c, 30c and 90c.
" G.	" 2c vermilions.
" H.	" 5c blue.

Let me know what issues and values you care to see before the new books are all picked over. First come, first served. [10

METROPOLITAN STAMP COMPANY
1482 BROADWAY NEW YORK CITY

PRICE STABILITY---BUREAU PRINTS

By C. A. CARROLL.

In a recent issue of this paper, the Precancel Editor, Prof. A. F. Gamber, discussed the present day "fashion" in Bureau Print collecting as though it were a Florida boom transferred to the philatelic field.

Precancel collectors probably read this article with understanding and considerable sympathy for the predicament in which Prof. Gamber finds himself; but to the general collector outside the precancel hobby, some of his statements should be interpreted.

The professor has accumulated two extraordinary collections by incessant labor over a period of years. He has one of the finest general collections of precancels now in existence, and he has one of the two most complete specialized collections of city-type coils. Either of these is a philatelic treasure of the first water.

However, he discovers in any direction that he turns that the gems of his collection—stamps of great rarity and of classic standing—are not regarded in the same monetary light as many varieties of Bureau Prints (those precancels which are overprinted at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing in Washington) which are much more numerous and more widely held by collectors. He is led to the conclusion that a lot of collectors are being grossly fooled as to the true value of Bureau Prints, and because of the large number held, that prices are due for deflation just as the bottom dropped out of the collection of special favors on commemoratives several years ago.

A collector outside the precancel fold can draw a parallel to this situation. It is as though a person had assembled a general collection from all parts of the world, including many rarities from Central and South America, of which only a few thousand are in existence, and had found these stamps to be cataloged on a par with some of the old United States issues of which a hundred thousand copies are known. This man might logically contend that the South American rarity is worth ten or twenty times the price of the U. S. stamp on the basis of quantity issued and specimens saved, and he would be drawing the same conclusion that Prof. Gamber draws with relation to Bureau Prints.

The fact is that U. S. stamps are the gilt edged securities of the philatelic world, because there are more collectors collecting them than any other country, and more money is available to buy them than any other country. The price is not governed by supply but by demand. No catalog editor would think of basing his prices on any other basis.

It is therefore not strange to find that Bureau Prints, which are the most popular of precancels, are setting up prices far in advance of much rarer city types. The reason is simple. All general precancel collectors are grabbing Bureaus, practically all specialized precancel collectors are saving Bureaus in addition to their specialty, and hundreds of collectors are collecting nothing but Bureaus. The demand is strong and the price is rising to meet the demand.

Prof. Gamber states that if half the collectors who are now salting away Bureaus were to leave the game, the bottom would fall out of the specialty overnight. That may sound strange to some folks, but to a Wall Street operator, it is as simple as ABC. If half the outstanding shares of U. S. Steel were dumped on the market during a business day, the greatest panic in the history of the world would result. But this calamity is nothing to worry about just now, for the simple reason that most holders of U. S. Steel shares are keeping a tight grip on them.

The rise of Bureau Print Precancels during the past two years may be attributed to two factors: first, the fact that three separate and distinct series have been created by the Post Office Department during that interval, thus increasing the number of varieties to the point where a collector can spend his entire time on this specialty; and second, the official character of the precancellation has convinced an increasing number of both general precancel collectors and U. S. specialists alike that the future of these minor U. S. varieties partake alike of the precancel and U. S. general issues and will be increasingly popular as the years go on.

Any reader of this paper interested in Bureau Prints and having no background of experience upon which to judge prices, may secure authoritative advice and find a sympathetic counselor in Dr. W. I. Mitchell, editor of the Bureau Print catalog. Dr. Mitchell possesses not only the most exhaustive knowledge of the subject in existence, but the soundest judgment along all lines of precancel collecting. He is also unusually sympathetic and easy of approach.

WE BET ON YOUR ABILITY TO BUY

Here is an unusual offer. A collection consisting of 62% of all official Air Post stamps amounting to 457 copies, all in the finest mint condition possible, is offered to the highest bidder who appreciates the value and popularity of this growing field in Aero Philately. This collection is mounted very neatly in a loose-leaf Lissiuk album, and comprises some of the better class sets, such as: Philippines L. O. F., Brazil, Uruguay, Mexico No. 711, etc., etc. A thing to consider is that all the sets are complete: no hunting to fill a gap will be necessary. The highest bidder will be the one who appreciates this offer, and on whose ability to buy we bet.

Bids are to reach our offices not later than July 20th, 1929.

EDITORIAL

THE number of bills introduced into congress for special stamps has become so large that we are beginning to wonder that if a good proportion of them attain their object, the purpose of the commemorative stamp will not be defeated. If they come in undue quantity, it will follow that the impression made by each one on the public mind will be weakened. While it is flattering to collectors that the objects of their admiration are encored for repeated performances, it follows that even to philatelists, the sense of novelty is lessened by successive issues. Our opinion, based on expressions of the public and collectors alike, is that a golden mean could be observed to the advantage of all concerned, and while collectors do not think that the new special stamps in any sense are a tax on their purses, some of them do say that their sentiment for the stamps is best conserved by a reasonable number of issues. We believe that the sense of proportion of the authorities will prevail, and that while the new stamps will come, their prolificy will not be so great as to disturb the equanimity of collectors.

ON the latest bulletin of the Philatelic Agency, dated June 12, 1929, we find the paragraph: "The Agency is about thirty days in arrears and it is requested that patrons kindly refrain from reporting the non-receipt of stamps ordered until this length of time has elapsed, as considerable time is required to search the records and answer such inquiries." We have received complaints about the delay in filling orders by the Philatelic Agency and have answered them, much in the manner indicated in the foregoing notice. The help in the Agency is limited and it is not easy to introduce new clerks into the business of filling orders, even when they are available; and since it is not possible to expand the roll of employees without congressional action, we understand, the situation at times becomes irksome. This is true when new stamps are offered, and it may be that in view of the record of the Agency that additional workers may be permitted. The attention of legislators should be directed to the handicap under which the office works on occasion in the hope that in their opinion relief is justified.

IT is the ambition of Major Otto Lehmann of Germany, a recent observer of air mail progress in this country, to link Germany and the United States by an ocean air line, now that as he says, American air mail transportation is firmly established.

OUR favorite author is a member of the American Philatelic Society, and his name is Ellis Parker Butler, a resident of far-famed Flushing, New York, whose "Pigs is Pigs" is unadulterated humor, and caused what many thought were seismic disturbances, but which in reality were the result of old man Terra Firma shaking his sides with laughter after reading "Pigs is Pigs." Ellis Parker Butler has marched under the philatelic flag for many years and is a matured philatelic security. As a boy, he was an avid stamp collector and his "exchange" notices appeared in some of the juvenile papers of the times. He has grown up with stamps and he does not change the subject if someone asks if he is a collector, but he turns on the questioner and puts him in the role of opologist when he thought that he had the advantage. At a Rotary Club luncheon he would wear a button as big as a dinner-plate with "Philatelist" on it, with pomp and circumstance. Collectors should know that in his advance to the front rank of writers, Mr. Butler has used stamps as stepping-stones on different occasions; and they may be said to have helped him to a seat on the platform, reserved for the great American humorists. A recent Metropolitan News Service copyrighted article by Mr. Butler is called "Stamp Collecting," and in it, he tells of the "Perils and Pleasures of a Passionate Life," and he does so with a philatelic touch that tickles the reader the real pink of the three-cent of 1861. Friends who ask him why he does not collect alligators or codfish, instead of stamps, are pilloried by a philosophical rebuttal that collectors can chortle over. From first to last, Mr. Butler is at his best and that means that the article is a palatable mixture of stamps and smiles. His peroration is the much-sought for happy ending: he asks a dealer to tell him frankly if war is impending between Luxemburg and the United States, and the diplomatic dealer says that Luxemburg will not attack this country as long as Mr. Butler collects Luxemburg stamps. So, let's draw a breath of relief because Mr. Butler really is a specialist in the stamps of Luxemburg. All the newspapers that take the service no doubt are permitted to use Mr. Butler's article.

THE following air mail tidings have come from Mr. P. J. Drossos, Athens, Greece: "I am sending this cover by the first flight from here to Marseilles, bearing a special cachet for the occasion, reading in Greek, 'Aerial Communication between Syria-Greece-France First Flight.' The number of covers flown will be given later. The first flight from Athens to Beyrouth left on June 8th. There was a different cachet for this flight, the words being 'France-Greece-Syria.' Three hundred and sixty-eight covers were carried from Athens. There was no mail from Marseilles for Athens at all. The itinerary follows: Marseilles to Naples, first day; Naples to Athens, second day; and Athens-Castelrosso (Aegean Italian Island) on to Beyrouth. There was no mail from Athens to Castelrosso, nor will there be a mail on the flight to Naples. The importance of this line is enormous. Mail from Greece to Syria was forwarded on to Egypt, and took about ten days or more, which is reduced to twenty-four hours now. France is also united to Syria, which is under her mandate, in three days instead of eight or nine as heretofore. There is one big event scheduled for next year, I think, and that is a line from Athens-Salonica to Belgrade. In speaking of Athens, I mean Phaliron Bay, six kilometers from Athens, the nearest point to the sea."

A BULLETIN from the office of the manager of the National Philatelic Exhibition of 1929, Minneapolis, says that a weekly news letter will be sent to the philatelic press from now on to August 5th. The remark is made that the committee in charge invites word from intending exhibitors as to space requirements as soon as possible, and here we wish to emphasize the necessity for early application. The work of the Minneapolis men will require their utmost efforts under the best of circumstances, and if timely coöperation is not given by those who intend to exhibit, complications may ensue whose solution adds to the burden. The fact that three of the classes out of five are for the juvenile, junior and novice divisions shows that the exhibit is to be one of popular kind; and the appeal that is made, inferentially, is one that should be heeded by the class of collectors who heretofore did not feel any too cordially welcomed as entrants in national exhibitions. As showing the enlarged scope of the Minneapolis show, the statement is made that it is not necessary for an exhibitor to be a member of any philatelic society. [illegible] forthcoming exhibition must be a [illegible] cessful one, if shows of the kind a[illegible] be made a yearly feature, and it w[illegible] be unthinkable that it would not me[illegible] high expectations of those in charge[illegible] managers are the deputies of the A[illegible] can philatelists who must regard th[illegible] hibition as their personal project. Air Mail News

(This department covers air mail news from the purely philatelic standpoint. Coöperators will find their names listed each week. If your letter calls for a reply please enclose a stamped, addressed envelope. This is your department, so make your contribution as generous as possible.)

AIR MAIL DEPT.

I believe the coöperators deserve the head of the column this week. When I can count up a list like this in about the hottest week of the year, it's hard to feel discouraged with the job. Think I owe public mention to a couple more of the regulars. Miss Anna Schafer of Akron sends along a bunch of good clippings at least once a week, and her name's always on the list. Maurice S. Petty, Sec. of the Washington, D. C., Stamp Club, is an untiring letter writer, and sends me a weekly summary of all the news he's dug up through his wide correspondence. The total list follows: Elton M. Manuel, Frank M. Ham, Max F. Berendes, Dr. F. Whitney Davis, Marx Reimers, Chas. F. Becker, *Roy Searfoss, P. R. Hudson, *H. G. Kingdom, Jerry R. Erikson, A. E. Lots of interesting Sullivan clippings and covers. Great excitement at Geneseo and Perry when the stamps didn't arrive till after 10 A. M. The Perry P. M. sent a car over to Geneva and borrowed some till his came in. Special cachets at Binghamton, Syracuse, Elmira, and Horseheads. If you haven't seen the latter cartoon cachet, you've missed a good one. Why not some more humor in our cachets, anyway?

Got back my covers from Belize, Brit. Honduras, and Managua, Nicaragua, this week. One dark spot, however. Covers mailed from San Juan, P. R., for the first official dispatch, postmarked May 18, 4 P. M., are stamped "Received Miami, Fla., too late for Air Mail dispatch 5-21-29." That plane evidently was delayed, and missed connections. These letters went down on the second trip two days later, Managua backstamp for the first trip is ordinary oval cancellation May 22; while that for the second trip, dated May 24, has a plane design and "Correo Aereo." Maybe I got the first day for that, anyway.Elton M. Manuel reports a funny one. Cover bears cachet of first northbound flight from Ecuador, Ecuador stamps, but postmarked "Cristobal, C. Z. Paquebot". Anybody else get this?

Bids for the Salt Lake City - Pasco - Spokane route will not be opened till Aug. 15. J. C. Borchert shows me a cover addressed to Kansas City, Mo., bearing the cachet of the Legion Convention Flight Oct. 31, Nov. 1 and 2, 1921. This was mailed from Sacramento Oct. 29, and was lucky as anything to make the flight at all, and the best of all is that it's not an airmail letter in form, but simply an official Post Office Dept. penalty envelope, bearing no stamp whatever.

If you're not already receiving the special Canadian P. O. Dept. airmail bulletins, write the Dept. at Ottawa and get on the list, which is free. Only those who got the list were able to get in on the short notice flights to and from Moncton, N. B., and Sydney, N. S., July 1 and 2, in connection with the Maritime Air Pageant at Moncton. The same bulletin also announced that the Moncton-St. John and Moncton-Charlottetown flights would take place July 2 as well as the 1st, as originally announced. On the recent first flight already noted, 734 letters were carried Edmonton to Grande Prairie, and 682 on the return trip.St. John's Newfoundland used the promised commemorative cancellation June 14, the anniversary of the first Trans-Atlantic Air Mail.

Wish I could print this whole letter, as it gave me the thrill of the week. It came from H. A. Saul, Radio Engineer on the big plane making both the early attempt and the actual drop and pickup to and from the Leviathan. The attempt started with the crash of the Burnelli plane, then a terrific thunder storm; left New Bedford with darkness approaching, right over the Leviathan, but fog too thick, and it was a case of getting back to land while the getting was good. Landed at Newport, gassed up via small boats, and back to New York. On the 12th, however, a successful flight was made, by the same plane and personnel. Mr. Saul says he didn't have a letter the first time, but got several on the next. Only cover I've seen from the successful flight has the special cachet "from the Leviathan" in purple, is postmarked Newark, N. J., June 12, 8.30 P. M., both front and back, and backstamped Andover, Mass., the next morning.

There's likely to be something doing in Hawaii one of these days. A new commercial service starts Sept. 15 from Honolulu to Hilo, and there might be a mail contract in the offing. A few covers sent out wouldn't be a bad idea.

AIRPORT DEDICATIONS, ETC.

Missed one Lindbergh Day, it seems. Maurice S. Petty sends me the cover and cachet sponsored by the St. Louis C. of C. May 21.Airplane Model League of America Annual Contest cachet June 20, 21, and 22, purple, green and black, from Detroit. Kiwanis Convention at Milwaukee June 23-27, cachet, private, different colors each day.

W. B. Bryant sends a cover dropped from the Goodyear dirigible "Volunteer", the official airship of the Shrine Convention, on its special christening flight June 9 at Arcadia, Calif. Signed by Co-Pilot Bud Campbell. The "Volunteer" is being tested for possible future Los Angeles - Hawaii service, and if that takes place, these will be interesting covers. Thanks, Mr. Bryant!

471 covers mailed with the Miniature Aircraft Contest cachet from Kansas City June 8—cachet by the Aviation Club.I am informed that previously published figures for the Aug. 1 5c rate cachet from Portland, Ore., are incorrect, and that only about 250 letters bearing this cachet were mailed.

Heavy incoming mail this week. Cover mailed from Tulsa, Okla., by a coöperator June 19, no cachet, in pencil on back "postponed indef." What was it to have been, Mr. Petty?Greenwood, S. C., evidently had a lot of requests for autographs of prominent citizens, so they added a cachet for their dedication June 19, bearing the names of everybody connected with the event. This was green, the dedicatory cachet in black, both by the C. of C. Wilkes-Barre, Pa., June 22 and 23, blue both dates, by C. of C.La Salle-Peru Airport from LaSalle, Ind., June 22 and 23, all signed by the P. M.—black.Ashtabula, Ohio, June 22—big green cachet and a booster sticker—by the C. of C.DeKalb, Ill., cachet in purple or magenta reads "First Official Flight", is postmarked DeKalb June 21, 2 P. M., and backstamped Chicago "Air Mail", 6.30 P. M. Looks good. Kerrville, Tex., dedicated June 15, but I haven't seen any of the covers I sent in. Clipping says recent Walla Walla air derby was a dedication. Thought that was a year ago. How about it, out there?Newton, Iowa, covers dated May 31 and June 1, cachet—Dedication Trans-Continental Emergency Airport". All mine had "The Workshop of Iowa" cachet, which is entirely different. Need some local information here, too.

ALBANIA

By STANLEY PHILLIPS.

is a curious fact that, while new s of Albanian stamps are so numer- s to lead to the belief that they are for stamp collectors, it is in fact difficult for the ordinary collector to n them. The country is some hun- of years behind the west of Europe velopment and there are hardly any ble channels through which supplies amps can be obtained. Those who fortunate enough to be able to get nian stamps will find that here is ner field of marked interest. It is always easy to decide which of the rous issues are those of the legiti- Albanian Government or of revolu- ry governments strong enough to n the right to issue stamps for a por- at least of the country; and which merely bogus labels, made perhaps in other country of Europe, with the ct of deceiving collectors.

will be found, at any rate, that the s from 1917, including those of the blic of Korytza and the Austrian l stamps overprinted with a comet, distinctly interesting. The last- ed are well worth studying, as the ous settings of the surcharge can be nstructed, and abundant material is lable. There are also errors and eties to be found in the later over- ts and surcharges.—Filatelia.

TESTIMONY TO QUALITY

The recent stamp exhibitions at London, Melbourne and Le Havre have furnished remarkable testimony to the value and quality of the Gibbons range of albums, catalogues, handbooks, accessories and other publications.

At these three exhibitions our goods received no less than twenty direct awards, many of them the highest in their respective classes, while we are the Publishers of works for which the authors received four further awards.

Mail us a postal card and we will send you free our new 104-page lists of albums, publications and a wide range of packets and sets, together with a free specimen number of the most interesting British stamp magazine, Gibbons' Stamp Monthly.

2c Sullivan Expedition

The new 2-cent stamp issued on June 17 to commemorate the Sullivan Expedition is meeting with much criticism. It is certainly not an attractive stamp. One of my correspondents writes that the "micky" should have the traditional hod upon his shoulder instead of a spear. He further states that he knows it's a spear, as he saw the full picture from which the copy was made. One correspondent describes this spear as a mortar-mixing stick, while our famous correspondent, Sevard, writes to ask if this is an Irish Settlers' commemorative. We are under the impression that it was issued in honor of the Irish vote given to President Hoover last November.

The first-day covers have arrived and it seems that most of the postmasters took very little trouble in accommodating the collectors, for the stamps are straight edged, damaged, placed upon the covers in every which way and are generally most unsatisfactory. I do not recall any other first-day issue which was furnished to the collectors in such a manner. Those from Geneseo were especially poor, while the man who attached the stamps at Waterloo had extremely soiled hands, and we get a finger print with practically every copy. The only exceptions were those from Binghamton, Watkins Glen and Canajoharie. The clerks in these several offices at least took the trouble to attach the stamps in a satisfactory manner. The next time that we have a new issue, it is to be hoped that the Post Office Department will write one of its old-time letters to the postmaster in charge, requesting that the covers for collectors be taken care of in a satisfactory way.

We wish to thank Congressman Ernest R. Ackerman for a first-day cover from Geneseo.

Plate Variety

Mr. Albert W. Draves kindly submits for inspection a block of the 2c rotary print from plate 19115, wherein a horizontal line is shown in the top margin completely above the first four stamps and partially above the fifth variety. This was placed upon the plate at the time it was laid out and should have been erased. The stamps come from the northeast pane showing the plate number in the upper right corner.

New Series

Further suggestions are made by stamp collectors as to the proposed new series to be issued by the Post Office Department within the next several months. Mr. R. L. Bell states that some of the new stamps should illustrate the modes of mail transportation, including the Pony Despatch rider, the stage coach, the train, the automobile and the airplane. He also suggests certain scenery and buildings and that they put the Woolworth Building upon 2-cent stamp—a suggestion that will hardly meet with general approval. Engineering projects should occupy the higher denominations, whereas memorials should be found on the dollar values.

Mr. H. M. Lyon suggests a series with the first denomination showing the original thirteen states and each succeeding denomination showing the increase of territory.

2c Envelope, Die-A2

There has been some little question among envelope collectors here of late as to whether the recently found variety should be designated as "Die-A2" or "Die-I." Mr. H. Clay Reed, the well-known student of our current envelopes, writes as follows:

"I think it should be called 'A-2,' because, it is an offshoot of Die-A, and not an entirely new production. This line of reasoning has been used in naming Die H-2 and also in giving the 3c and 1½c dies the same names as the 2c, even though the figures of value were changed.

The argument for giving the new die a new letter is a technical one, having to do with the way the new die was made. A correspondent writes me that the lettering of the new die does not coincide at all with that on the old die (which is evident on examination) and that the die was probably made by defacing all the old lettering and engraving it entirely anew, while retaining the original head. H2 on the other hand, being exactly identical with H, except for the lengthening of all the T's.

Aside from the technical end of it, what impresses me is that it will be less confusing for the average collector if two dies with the same head are called A and A2, rather than A and I. Therefore, I favor A2."

As I believe Mr. Reed's conclusions are correct, this variety will be designated in this column hereafter as "Die A2."

Philippines

On May 9, 1929, a total eclipse of the sun was to be observed in Iloilo between 3.29 p. m. and 3.32 p. m. On the day in question, the Post Office at that town used a special postmark elliptical in shape, with lettering at the top and bottom and horizontal lines off at the left and right reading: "Eclipse Day, May 9, 1929, Sun's total eclipse 3.29 P. M.—3.32 P. M. Iloilo-Iloilo, P. I." The postmark is applied in red and we wish to extend our appreciation to Mr. Walter Bruggmann for one of these covers mailed on May 9th and backstamped "Manila, May 13, 1929."

Antigua.—The 1p has been issued again in scarlet on script watermarked paper. The shade is a little deeper than the original carmine red color.

FOR FORTY-THREE YEARS

Our Mr. Krassa has been a heavy and consistent buyer at almost every auction sale of importance. The result is a vast and varied stock of stamps of the better grade.

New Europe, War Issues, Airmails and such like modern issues we have not at all but almost any classic from 1840 to 1915 can be found in several copies in our stock. Advanced and serious collectors would do well to get in touch with us.

Qarku-Korces.—An overprint found on a stamp issued in Albania in 1918. It means "Local Post, Korytza."

Qarku Postes i Korces.—This inscription appeared upon the last series of stamps issued by the French forces which occupied Korytza, Albania, during the World War. It means "Local Post of Korytza."

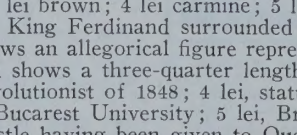
Qint.—The value expressed on a series of stamps issued in Albania in 1913. There are 100 qintar in a franc, and a qintar is, therefore, equal to a fifth of a cent in American money.

Quatt.—An abbreviation for "quattrino" shown in connection with the value on many of the stamps of Tuscany. Sixty quattrini were equal to a lira, which had a value equal to about 32c in American money.

Quatrefoils Watermark.—A pattern of four-leaved or cruciform flowers used as a watermark in such stamps as those for British New Guinea, Zanzibar (1896 until 1914), and the 2c Sarawak issued in 1901.

Queen's Heads.—A term frequently used in connection with those stamps of the British Empire bearing the effigy of Queen Victoria.

ATTRACTIVE SET OF TRANSYLVANIA COMMEMORATIVES



The stamps are of large size and well printed, values and colors as follows:—1 leu purple; 2 lei green; 3 lei brown; 4 lei carmine; 5 lei orange; 10 lei blue. The 1 leu shows the portrait of King Ferdinand surrounded by four Middle Age Roumanian rulers; the 2 lei shows an allegorical figure representing the Union of Transylvania to Roumania; 3 lei shows a three-quarter length portrait of Avram Iancu, a prominent Roumanian revolutionist of 1848; 4 lei, statue of the Roumanian ruler, Mihai Viteazul facing the Bucarest University; 5 lei, Bran Castle, situate about 40 miles from Brasov, this Castle having been given to Queen Maria by the people of Brasov; 10 lei shows King Ferdinand's portrait in the centre surrounded by Roumanian statesmen and people.—Whitfield King's Bulletin.

Helpful Notes on U. S.

Many of the collectors of U. S. stamps, especially those who are rather new at that branch of the hobby, have all sorts of trouble with them.

First, there are the various kinds of stamps of the 1862-68 issues without grills and with varying sizes of grills. These should not cause much trouble if the stamps are looked at carefully for a few moments and the grills measured or the rows of the same are counted.

The collector's first real troubles come with the so-called Bank Note issues of 1870-79. Any that show grills can be easily told, but to classify hard and soft paper, the collector should get a copy of the 3c, #136, to keep as a reference for the hard paper. He should also have a 2c, #210, handy as an example of the soft paper. The question of secret marks is very troublesome, because often they do not show, even tho they are supposed to. If the collector is much in doubt about his stamps, he should send them to his favorite dealer to classify. The dealer will gladly do this for a customer if there are only a few of them to classify. When the collector has the stamps correctly classified, it is a good idea to write the catalog number under the stamp, or it may be written with soft pencil on the back of the stamp. (Never use ink or indelible pencil on the stamp.)

The re-engraved issue of 1882 can be readily told if the catalog explanations are followed.

Everything goes well, then, until we come to the triangle issues of 1894-99. Here we have one set on unwatermarked paper and the same thing on watermarked. With the aid of some benzine, it is easy to sort these two groups, as the watermarks show up plainly. Those on watermarked paper are much more plentiful. The 2c stamp of this issue comes with three different kinds of triangles, which are thoroughly explained in the catalog. A microscope should be used for sorting these, as the eye strain would be too great, otherwise.

Beginning with the 1908 issue and working up thru the 1921 issue, on all values from 1c to $1 there appear pictures of either Washington or Franklin. With these the collector will have plenty of trouble. Some stamps appear on the double line watermark paper and some on the single line, pictures of which are in the catalog. Others have no watermark at all. Some come with perf. 12 or perf. 10 or perf. 11 as well as compounds and in coil form. They all can be sorted out and when done properly, make a fine display. It takes patience, and lots of it. Many stamps in this group are much scarcer than the catalog values indicate.

The next troublesome group is the 1922 series 1c to 10c, which appears in perf. 11, perf. 10x10 and perf. 11x10½.

Patience and the constant use of a good perforation gauge will do wonders. Most people like to attack a hard job and come out the winner and have the mental satisfaction of having done a hard job well. Try it for a half hour and see for yourself. Many collectors like the large pictorial issues best. I am wondering if it is all because they are prettier or because they are easier to sort out than the regular series of stamps. To get a complete collection of U. S. stamps it is just as necessary to have the overlooked regular issues that only catalog 2c or so as it is to have the speculative 2c and 5c Norse American or the elusive $5 Columbian issue.

A. C. LeDuc.

Bits of Information

Sinn Fein Labels.—The Sinn Fein (ourselves alone) is an Irish political party dating from 1906. For publicity purposes various labels have been issued but they have never been accorded any philatelic standing.

Sirmoor.—A feudatory state of India situated in the lower Simla Hills. Postage stamps were first issued in 1879.

Skatikas, Skatiku.—The singular and plural forms of the name of the smallest Lithuanian money, corresponding to the French centime. 100 skatiku make an auksinas (plural auksinai) corresponding to the French franc.

THE NEXT ZEPPELIN FLIGHT

ESSEN, GER., June 24.

Since writing on this subject, press comment in regard to the doings of the Graf Zeppelin has appeared very sparingly. About a fortnight ago, it was announced that the examination of the Zeppelin motors was progressing, and that an official report would be published June 8 at the latest, but this report is still outstanding. It was stated that upon completion of the physical and laboratory tests, a trial trip would be made, and that a date for the American flight would then be definitely fixed by Dr. Eckener.

I had made up my mind to leave this matter alone for a while, when I received a cablegram from an American friend, instructing me to prepare a goodly number of covers and postals for the new flight of the Zepp. Before commencing activities and spending money for the necessary stamps, I thought it advisable to ascertain whether there would be a flight at all within the near future. It occurred to me that the postmaster at Friedrichshafen, who has been handling the mails for the several trips of the airship, might be in a position to furnish some reliable information, so I wrote asking him to let me know whether a starting date had been decided upon, and whether mail could again be sent in his care. The good postmaster replied without a minute's delay. The reply speaks for itself, and will, no doubt, be of interest:

"G. Z. 127 will start during the month of June. In addition to this there will be a flight to the United States in July or August. Mail will be carried on each occasion.

"Rates will be the same as before, viz.: —4 marks per letter and 2 marks per postal card."

The official postal announcements dealing with the Zeppelin flights contain a paragraph running as follows:

"For any mail matter handed over to the airship, no fees will be refunded to the sender."

This short, but important, paragraph can only mean that in the event of it proving necessary to interrupt or definitely cancel an intended flight, the mail on board the airship will be sent by steamer, in the ordinary way, or returned to the sender, if he so desires. In such case the postal authorities refuse to refund to the sender the difference between the ordinary postage and the air mail rates, and claims made by the addressees on the senders to refund the surplus postage paid cannot be entertained.—A. WAGNER.

NEW MEXICO AIR STAMPS

We have just received from Mariano Anzoreno of Mexico City some specimens of the new set of air mail stamps. The set consists of six values, 5, 10, 15, 20, 50c and one peso. The stamps are bi-colored and are very handsome. The central design is a flying machine in mid-air, while at the left is a picture of Emilio Carranza, who is commemorated by the set of stamps. As we understand it, he died July 13, 1928, and Mexico thus honors his memory.

AIR MAIL NOTES

The Cleveland Air Mail Society has voted unanimously to extend an invitation to the American Air Mail Society to hold a convention in Cleveland some time during the National Air Races, in late August, just following the dates of the S.P.A. and A.P.S. conventions. If held, this will be the first A.A.M.S. convention, and should be a big affair.

The endurance flight at Cleveland Airport has collecting interest. 100 covers are being carried for members of the Cleveland Air Mail Society. These will carry the Airport cancellation, and autographs of both fliers, and are on the plane for the whole flight. One cover goes to each member and the balance will be sold by the Society.

Coming dedications: Goshen, Ind.—Covers to R. K. Mack, Sr., very soon; DuBois, Pa.—Covers to W. N. McCreight, Vice Com. American Legion — probable stop by trans-continental planes—July 18; also Elks Convention Los Angeles, July 7-13—Covers to A. Joel, 5732 Lexington Ave., Hollywood, Cal.

Referring to last week's announcement about Montreal - Detroit, and Toronto - Buffalo inauguration July 15; no mail from Buffalo to Toronto, but there will be from Detroit to Windsor, London, Hamilton, Toronto, and Montreal, with official first flight cachet.

Pueblo, Colo., dedication July 10; Grand Island, Neb., July 13 and 14; Hensley Field (Army), Dallas, Tex., July 20 and 23. No word on cachets, but probably O. K.

he new Commonwealth air stamp. It es in a very pretty design. It was ed to coincide with the first regular ice Adelaide, South Australia, to th, Western Australia, a distance of t 1400 miles. Only a limited mail carried, and first day flight covers be scarce.

Belgium.—Mr. R. Roberts and Whitfield King & Co. have sent for chronicle ies of the 3fr brown, parcel post np forecasted in our issue of No. 2005. understand that the new stamp represents the reduced rate for use on parcels to soldiers.

Dominican Republic.—Whitfield King & Co. report that the ½c claret and 5c blue, in the "Alcazar de Colon" design, have been placed on sale.

Ecuador.—Information received from Whitfield King & Co. reports the issuance of a complete new set of stamps to commemorate the establishment of a commercial air mail service in that country. The stamps are very attractive and are printed by the American Bank Note Co. All are of the same design, showing an airplane in flight over one of the principal buildings. Values and colors are, 2c black, 5c carmine, 10c brown, 20c purple, 50c green, 1s blue, 5s yellow and 10s orange-red. The stamps are for general use and available for all postal requirements.

Federated Malay States.—From official sources Whitfield King & Co.'s Bulletin learns that two withdrawals are to be made in the current set. The 3c and 20c will be discontinued as soon as present stocks are exhausted.

Honduras.—According to information received from Champion's Bulletin two stamps were issued Feb. 25th last to commemorate the installation of the new President, Mejia Colindres. They are the 1c with portraits of the President and Vice President R. D. Chavez and inscribed "18 de Febrero 1929" and 2c with a likeness of the new President and inscribed "Presidente Constitucional." We understand the issue was limited, but up to the time of writing no copies have been submitted.

Italian Colonies.—Rumor has it that Cyrenaica and Tripolitania are to be reabsorbed in Libya, and the current stocks of stamps are to be overprinted "Libya" for general use throughout this colony, Gibbons' Monthly announces.

Jaipur State.—The ½a blue, 1a red and 2a green have been issued with the surcharge "SERVICE" in black, according to information received from Whitfield King & Co.

Netherlands.—Mr. R. Roberts advises of the appearance of a 15c value, design as A23, in orange, watermarked circles perf. 12½ as before.

New Hebrides.—In a recent issue of Whitfield King & Co.'s Bulletin attention is called to the current ½p and 5c stamps which are now appearing in a dis-

Persia.—Mr. G. Wilson reports to Stamp Collecting that he has information from this country to the effect that after May 22nd all of the "Pahlevi" stamps were replaced by a complete new series which were printed at Haarlem.

Peru.—Mr. E. K. Crews has received a cover from this country franked with the 15c "La Mar" stamp and two of the 10c current postage dues. Gibbons' Stamp Monthly states that their publishers have also received a similar cover which would seem to indicate a shortage of the ordinary 10c denomination.

Portugal.—The 5c red brown Telegraph stamp has been sucharged "Correio 1$60." The stamp is unwatermarked and perf. 11½. Copies have been received from Whitfield King & Co. and Mr. R. Roberts.

San Marino.—Gibbons' Stamp Monthly states that the new watermark of current stamps represents three plumes. One of these plumes which is made of bronze and which acts as a weather-vane is to be found on top of the tower which caps the summit of each of the three peaks of Mt. Titano.

Tanganyika. — Information received by the Philatelic Bulletin states that after the present stocks of the 40c, 75c and 3sh stamps are exhausted no more are to be printed.

There is something in the charm of stamp collecting wholly indefinable. It dwells in the soul-sense—the spiritual part of one's nature—that Inner Shrine of which no man speaks but of which each man feels and knows and from which he draws sustenance equal to his daily needs.—EDWIN B. HILL.

Philately Belts The Globe

A UNIVERSAL HOBBY WITH DEVOTEES IN ALL THE NOOKS AND CORNERS OF THE WORLD

By Roscoe T. Foust

The time has gone by when it is necessary to prove that stamp collecting is a good thing. The fact that there are thousands of men, women and children who find the greatest pleasure in gathering and preserving these interesting bits of paper in itself seems to show that stamp collecting has a value. It is a question, however, of just what the value is. The answer will give the reason for the interest taken on the part of old and young, and the steady increase in the number of collectors. It is not with the money value of stamps that we are particularly concerned. That they have this is shown by sales of stamps held every year, a single stamp sometimes bringing as high as thousands of dollars. One of the best things about stamps is that so many of them, having great value for other reasons and in other ways, can be obtained at small cost. Many very fine collections are the property of boys or girls in moderate circumstances. This small cost, combined with the great value of stamps as a means of giving profitable and wholesome pleasure, accounts for the growing popularity of stamp collecting in the world. We acknowledge our indebtedness to the Rotarian for the adaptation of the world cut.

STAMP SHOW AT MINNEAPOLIS

A NEW SYSTEM OF JUDGING EXHIBITS WILL BE EMPLOYED

By VICTOR W. ROTNEM, Sec.-Mgr.

If you have never attended a national postage stamp show, a great treat is in store for you. It is somewhat like the old-fashioned county fair — where one travels from booth to booth, and from exhibit to exhibit—looking as long or as little as one wishes at things that are of interest. At a stamp fair one is bound to meet friends and acquaintances who have been known to him hitherto only thru letters. Such will be your opportunity at the National Philatelic Exhibition to be held at Minneapolis, August 19-24.

The system of judging will be a great improvement over previous exhibitions. Each judge will be solely responsible for certain groups of exhibits. We list the judges herewith and give some comment regarding each one.

Raymond V. Bahr, Springfield, Ill., is to judge the Airmail Cover group. He is an officer of the Airmail collectors' society and is well known in this field.

Douglas P. Ball, Chicago, has Central and South America as his field. He has been specializing in these countries for many years as a dealer.

J. M. Bartels, New York, has one of the hardest assignments of the Exhibition in that he has been assigned European Countries and Colonies. Mr. Bartels needs no introduction to our readers, for his is a name that is on the tip of every stamp collector's tongue.

C. F. Heyerman, Detroit, the former president of the American Philatelic Society will judge the Philatelic Literature, Albums and Accessories entries.

Fred Jarrett, Toronto, Ont., is the well-known editor of the Standard British North America Catalog and will do justice to his group of British North America.

Wm. C. Kennett, Lakewood, Ohio, is one of the vice-presidents of the A. P. S. Board which has done such good work during the last few years. For some time past, he has been the philatelic secretary of Arthur Hind. His field will be the Rarities Class.

Beverly S. King, New York, is a well-known writer and collector of United States Revenues. He is secretary of the Revenue Unit of the A. P. S. and is of course assigned to the Revenue field.

John A. Klemann, New York, is a veteran of many exhibitions and his wealth of experience makes him an ideal judge for selecting the best exhibit in each section.

W. W. MacLaren, Cleveland, popularly known as "The Stamp Hunter," was president of the Midwest Philatelic Exhibition which was held in Cleveland last May. To him have been assigned several of the Specialty Classes.

Wm. Mannheimer, St. Paul, is a collector of renown who came into prominence because of the scientific work he did in plating the 10c 1847. He has been assigned to the Plating and Classification Specialties under Section F.

E. M. Oleson, Minneapolis, is a collector who is held in high repute by his local associates. It is common knowledge around the Twin Cities that Mr. Oleson is one of the best versed stamp men in the Northwest. He will have the heavy task of judging the General Collection entries.

Olaf J. Olson, St. Paul, is the Northwest's greatest collector. He is a member of the well-known firm of Holm and Olson, St. Paul Florists. Mr. Olson undertakes the most interesting assignment of the judges; namely, that of selecting the best exhibit of the show.

Thomas H. Pratt, Knoxville, Southern gentleman and state senator, does double duty on Confederate States and Patriotic Covers. As editor of the Southern Philatelist, he has given needed color to philatelic journalism. He has a knack of originality and his presence will not only be appreciated as a judge but as a visitor full of anecdotes which will be the cause of many small gatherings in nooks and corners, listening to the Senator's sayings.

Edwin P. Seebohm, San Francisco, represents the Far West. He is well known as an auction and stamp dealer of San Francisco. He has been assigned Asia and Africa.

Edw. S. Stebbins, Minneapolis, has been assigned to the British Colonies section outside of British North America. He is a veteran collector and has the honor of being one of the original incorporators of the American Philatelic Society. Many of Minneapolis' important buildings have been planned by the architecture firm of which Mr. Stebbins is a member.

B. L. Voorhees, Chicago, handles the difficult class of 19th Century U. S. He is held in high repute as a dealer and as a student in this field.

Philip H. Ward, Jr., Philadelphia, has his favorite group 20th Century U. S., Postmasters and Carriers, Proofs and Essays to judge. As editor of the United States Chronicle in MEKEEL'S WEEKLY, his name has become philatelically prominent.

AIR MAIL STAMPED ENVELOPE

The 5c air mail stamped envelope, now so generally in use, was first issued on January 12, 1929. We mailed a lot of first day covers of this envelope to various parts of the country with the idea of showing the extensiveness of the air mail system at that time. These covers are all flown and backstamped to show time of arrival at their destinations.

The set consists of eight covers, as follows:

Washington to Los Angeles.
Washington to San Francisco.
Washington to Pasco, Washington.
Washington to Great Falls, Montana.
Washington to Pueblo, Colorado.
Washington to New Orleans.
Washington to Miami, Florida.
Washington to San Juan, Porto Rico.

The last named bears the Aero Conference set and makes a very pretty cover.

Special price for the set of eight covers, $1.50.

ORDER BEFORE JULY 25TH

I leave for the West and Canada on July 27th, returning to Brooklyn on Sept. 4th. Send in orders for your summer requirements before the 25th of July, as all orders rec'd after that date cannot be filled until after Sept. 4th.

I will revise my fall prices to conform with the advance sheets as released by the Scott Co. beginning Sept. Many stamps will cost more in the fall, so take advantage of this opportunity to fill in your needs in British Colonials. I carry the largest stock of these popular stamps in the country, and offer prompt, reliable service. Want lists solicited, and my record this year has been over 90% filled against all want lists submitted.

Sevard's Twinkles

Trafficking in stolen stamps is no romance. Recently much to the fore has been the detection of so-called "rings" which deal in washed and precanceled stamps. So-called agents remove precancels from parcels and ship them to the city of origin to be used again and again, the mailer pocketing the difference in values. Not only is this true of "rings" but also of circuit books and mission lots which include precancels which one may use without detection, purchased at a small fractional cost. The use of precancels is recognized as a principle of precluded honesty on the part of the permit holder. The latter may have unquestionable integrity, but somehow or another, stolen precancels slip into the mailing room, so that one has found stamp hinges affixed to precancels used on parcels shipped from a Brooklyn department store. Our own case in point distresses our postal inspector who believes in our honesty but still has his doubts. We have a precancel permit, we use precancels, we collect precancels, we pay but a fraction of their original cost in our circuit book purchases. This all is plain to the inspector. What shall prevent me from buying a 50c precancel for 5c and mailing out my parcel with it? I may pocket 45c on the deal.

The washed stamp idea is clever, for the seller cannot be held and the user, if unwary, is trapped. The washed stamps are placed on return or reply envelopes. Use the enclosed envelope, reads the letter. Whether or not we detect that the stamp is one with a cleaned cancel does not bother us, yet, if we use the return envelope, we surely hold ourselves liable for using bogus stamps. We have found three cases of this, one emanating from a stamp dealer. Who is liable if we use such a stamp? What guilt is attached to the person who sends us an envelope on which is attached a washed stamp for us to use?

For a long time, trafficking in stolen stamps has been known. The private perf. initials of which we have often written are discernible on mail from all over the country. The initials W U, meaning Western Union, P R R for the Pennsylvania Rail Road, etc., are found on Christmas cards from our dearest friends. For many years, one knew that perf. initial unused stamps were bought and sold quite openly near Barclay Street in lower New York, opposite the City Hall station. Some clerk would come in with a sheet of 2c stamps and sell them at half price. There were N P, TRAV, W U, P R R, that queer St P, and a host of others. One could buy unused postage stamps at a fraction off face value.

Attempts to curb the sale of stolen stamps have been many, and detections have been reported quite often of late. The stamps most involved are of the higher values, particularly the 25c, 30c and 50c varieties. The 1c, 1½c, 2c stamps play little part in this border line business. Thus it might be said that the "rings" operate on a large scale, while the convicted culprits enjoy but little profit from their proclivities, that the stamps to be watched are those of the higher denominations.

The use of meter and non-metered machines by the largest mailers of advertising matter has been a great assistance to the postmaster. The use of such permits also has eliminated much extra handling. The lack of a postal franking for many publications, or the use of run-of-the-stamp box permits for printed matter has been a useful departure. Stolen stamps are confined mostly to the smaller mail order house and also the letter service companies which operate occasionally. The larger letter service companies usually have Pitney Bowes or Standard machines.

ONE LESSON WE MIGHT LEARN IS FROM THE USE OF A METERING MACHINE OWNED BY THE GOVERNMENT, INSTALLED AT POST OFFICES FOR THE USE OF ADVERTISING MATTERS. THIS IS THE SYSTEM USED IN GERMANY. THE METERING MACHINE PRINTS OFF THE INDICIA ON QUANTITY MAIL AND THE CUSTOMER IS BILLED FOR THE AMOUNT OF POSTAGE.

The cash register labels used in Canada are probably the best controls yet devised both from an accounting viewpoint and from an efficient system of dating and elimination of re-use, especially for parcels. On this label can be put the weight, zone and charge far more quickly than by any other system. There are no stamp inventories or cash drawer difficulties. Registry, Insured, Special Delivery, C. O. D. Fee, and any other charges can be recorded and ascertained, even as to duplicate receipts.

Another lesson we may take to heart is the use by a large book concern in Garden City of rubber stamp box permits. These run up as high as 96c, the largest we have seen to date. No stamps are necessary, and once the impression is made, it is difficult to re-use it unless you send back the label, remove the address printed thereon, and have the same weight and zone as before. This eliminates all combinations of precancels which might be used. Why Montgomery, Ward & Co. still use precancel stamps in this age is surely beyond reason. The use of the

I have just remade all these books, as many of my old ones were stripped bare. I have been able to make a number of large purchases in most of these issues, especially in the 1847, 1869 and Bank Note Issues, with rare and fancy cancellations.

The following new approval books can now be sent to collectors:—

5c. 25 singles and 4 pairs.
10c. 36 singles, some on covers. Good cancellations, and some side margins stamps in the 10c.

1851-56

1c blue. A good book of singles, many fine copies and scarce cancellations.

1851-56

1c. A book of special varieties, strong in pairs, strips and a rare used block of six.

1851-56

Four or five books of 3c. Some just the ordinary varieties, and other books of scarce items, such as cracked plates, re-entries, pairs, strips and blocks.

1851-56

5c, 10c and 12c. A good book with a fine lot of pairs and strips.

1857-60

1c blue. Types I, II, III, IIIA, IV and V, some good cancellations.

1857-60

3c. A fine lot of Type I used, which I find much scarcer than catalogued.

1857-60

A good book of 10c in all types and a fair lot of 5c, with several pairs and strips.

1857-60

Another book of all 10c and 12c, with many pairs and strips.

1857-60

A fine book of 24c and 30c. The 24c are an exceptional lot, many rare cancellations.

1861 Second Issue

Book of 1c and 3c. Grand lot of rare cancellations.

1862

Fine books of the 2c, 5c, 15c and 24c.

1867 With Grill

A good book, with many fine copies and some scarce cancellations.

1869

A fine lot of this popular issue, well centered selected copies which are hard to find and a number of scarce cancellations.

1870-1882

I have purchased a fine lot of these stamps lately and I have made up eight new books specially strong in cancellations. For convenience of reference, I arrange these under each denomination.

Book A.	All 1c and 2c brown.
Books B and C.	" 3c green.
Book D.	" 6c and 7c.
" E.	" 10c, 12c and 15c.
" F.	" 24c, 30c and 90c.
" G.	" 2c vermilions.
" H.	" 5c blue.

Let me know what issues and values you care to see before the new books are all picked over. First come, first served. [10

FLICKERTAIL PRECANCELS

By A. F. GAMBER, Precancel Editor.

In the Precancel Gazette for December and January, 1923, Fred Allen ably and accurately described North Dakota's precancels as they were at that time. But considerable moisture has run over the dam since then, times have changed in six years, and our precancels have changed with them.

Since Fargo is only 60 miles away, and since James Kruger is a good friend of mine, I have borrowed his North Dakota collection to serve as a text for this write-up. Dr. Rolf Hovde may have a little larger collection, but the Doctor lives farther away.

The basis of James's collection is the precancels picked up and saved by his father, Fred Kruger, a general postage collector of more than 35 years standing, during his many business trips about this state. The elder Kruger saved all such precancels, with the idea of "doing something" with them. Finding, like some of the rest of us, that the days don't get any longer as one grows older, he was glad to turn the whole works over to his younger son James. What a pleasure it must be for a collector to have one son who takes to stamps! On this basis has been built in the last four years a North Dakota collection with but one possible superior and no peers.

Space forbids any extended description of this collection, but we can at least pause to view some of the more unusual items and to note quite a few unlisted towns, for North Dakota was not revised at all in the 1929 catalog.

North Dakota's precancels fall into two pretty definite groups—the fairly common and the really scarce. The former class consists almost wholly of the output from the three largest towns (it has no cities), Fargo, Grand Forks, Bismarck. (I mean largest from the standpoint of precancel use, not that of population.) The latter group comprises the rest of the precancel using towns, largely confined to circular mailing and to holiday use.

WILTON N. DAK.

Bismarck will no longer be the first town in the catalog, that honor has passed to Ashley, using a handstamp type similar to the Wilton shown here, the 1c compound being the only one so far seen. His Bismarck is about 95% complete, and includes the scarce 1c stamped envelope used in 1924. Buxton, Carrington, Dazey, all more nearly complete than Bismarck. James didn't get in very heavily on the Crosby type-sets which Mr. Allen illustrated in this paper a short time ago. At least ten of them are known, and in addition Crosby has a handstamp type similar to Wilton's, in which about ten varieties are known. Thirty-two from Devils Lake, including the very rare 2c coil of the 1917 issue. Here are two new towns, Edgeley and Ellendale, the former's type similar to Wilton's, the latter's is U-63. Both seem to have used only the 1c and 1½c. Enderlin used the Wilton type at Christmas on at least ten values. The best item among his Fargos (99% complete) is the 50c 1912. This used to be listed in the old catalogs, but was cut out because no one could vouch for it. Here it is, seeing is believing, in this case at least. No one will ever have anywhere near all the Grand Forks type I, as it was privately used by the International Harvester Company on stamps received as payment for farm machinery parts. But James has his share. In the printed type he is well nigh complete. Jamestown, very good, considering how seldom one finds anything from there. Kulm is one weak spot in an otherwise strong collection, but who is strong on that town? Langdon is another new town, again in the Wilton type, and only on the 1c compound, so far as known. This Wilton type, by the way, will be known as U-82 in the next catalog. Lidgerwood is missing, then comes another new one—Linton, once more the U-82 type, and on the 1c compound. A good showing of Lisbon, for such a hard-to-get Christmas town. Mandan type I, very hard to get and only fairly represented here, as usual, but nearly complete on the two other types, including some unlisted electro doubles. Nothing from Marmarth has come James's way, tho it uses through the 50c at Christmas time. Minots are not so hard to come by, because the International Harvester branch there uses many in shipping farm machinery parts. Just the same, they're not found in every precancel packet. Mohall, practically complete, Mott not so good. These two towns went crazy over the Commemoratives, but their regular issues are seldom seen. New England, nearly complete. Now for three more unlisted towns—Noonan, using a handstamp type similar to that of Page, which Mr. Allen illustrated for us after last Christmas, Oakes, and Page. Noonan uses some dozen varieties at Christmas only, Oakes, U-82, seems to be another 1c and 1½c town, Page's use is similar to that of Noonan. Scranton is represented only by the 50c, a rare one; Stanton, two lines of small, plain caps without lines or bars comes next. Who has more than seven from there? Who wouldn't be glad to have just one? James has some good friends at Valley City, so his showing from here is just bound to be good. Three rarities, the old 6c and the current 30c and 50c in the first type, are lacking, however. Williston is an old-timer in precancels, its first type will receive several additions in the 1930 catalog. I see one here before me—the 5c 1908 normal. Their handstamp type is well cared for, though it has been in use for 15 years, it still makes a clear impression. In this second type his collection is very strong.

James is one specialist who has wisely followed the advice set forth by Al Jones in the April Bee. At present I would say his precancel allegiance is divided about 70-30, 70% for city type and Bureau coils, and 30% for North Dakota. I am sure he subscribes 100% to every word of Jones's article. He has a good and growing coil collection. It can't match either that of W. H. Field or the writer, but it is one of the best five in the country, I would say. But coils—that's something else again, the text for another and entirely different sort of write-up.

EDITORIAL

ON July 1, 1929, the Post Office Department at Washington sent the following circular to the newspapers and the information conveyed is of special interest to collectors. Here is a report that was submitted a few minutes after the closing of the books: "For the fiscal year ended June 30, 1929, the Philatelic Agency of the Post Office Department sold postage stamps of all varieties and issues amounting to $283,983.04. This is an increase of $129,863.36 or 84% over 1928 when stamps to the value of $154,119.68 were sold through this agency. In this connection, it may be pointed out that these stamps are now in the hands of the one million or more stamp collectors throughout the world and their value represents practically a clear profit to the government. Few if any of the stamps sold by the Philatelic Agency will be used for postage but will be retained by the collectors indefinitely. The most popular stamp so far as collectors are concerned seems to have been the George Rogers Clark stamp, issued to commemorate the surrender of Fort Sackville, Vincennes, Indiana. There were 17,000,000 of these commemorative stamps issued to postmasters throughout the United States." This sign of prosperity is hailed by all concerned and is a great testimonial to the philatelic and financial prowess of our class but here and there a wan watcher rises to complain that the stamps that he ordered weeks ago from the Agency are not yet seen on the horizon. He just cannot understand how there could be such a long delay in sending out the stamps. We have tried to explain the reasons for the barren period and the necessity for more help in the Stamp Agency has been urged. We are interested in the success of this governmental bureau and its mounting sales are a source of satisfaction but if the forward stride is to be maintained, a reasonable degree of promptness must be shown in filling orders.

A FRIEND in Washington writes to say that remarks made in this column on several occasions recently were brought to the attention of the department, when the question of commemorative stamps was under discussion but he leaves us in the lurch by not speaking of any consequences. Our point that too many special issues would defeat the very object of their issue was not meant to imply that worthy men and objects should not be glorified by postage stamps but that if the best effect on the public was desired, the commemoratives should not come pell-mell. Our correspondent says that the file of suggestions for special issues numbered thirty some time ago and so, after all, it remains that the department will continue to exercise its best judgment in the selection of subjects for stamp issues. It is recognized that outside pressure in favor of certain proposals is a rider to this remark.

ON June 25th, 1929, Captain B. B. Lipsner, Chicago, America's first air mail superintendent, was the guest of honor at a meeting of the Chicago Air Mail Society, held at the Hotel Sherman, Chicago. Captain Lipsner was introduced to the large audience by the WEEKLY editor and Mr. R. J. Schwarz, as president of the society, was the chairman. The address of Captain Lipsner was an authoritative description of the early history of the air mail service and it was replete with details of intimate, human kind that kept his auditors fascinated. In fact, in some instances, the revelations were of a personal nature and we have no doubt but that Captain Lipsner levied on the contents of his forthcoming book for some of his material. The descriptions of the early flights were graphic and the speaker said that many of the dates of the 1918 flights were associated with features that made them of special interest when once the circumstances were known. There was an exhibition at the meeting of frames of air mail covers that were selective, indeed, and Captain Lipsner showed a frame of souvenirs of the pioneer days of the service that was unique. He had photographs of his plane that was used as a central design of the first air mail stamps. It must be a cause for regret that he was not interested in air mail covers when he was superintendent of the service but it is fortunate for collectors that latterly, he has become interested in them, as the records of his administration are complete. He will be depended upon to supply historical data that will make the full story of the struggling days of the service available and the probability is that no other person could supply this material. We may add that Captain Lipsner's silk American Flag that his flyers carried on their path-finding trips as a talisman will be on the Chicago Tribune's air ship, the 'Untin' Bowler, on its trip to Berlin from Chicago by way of Greenland. He has confidence that this flight will be a successful one and so he entrusts his flag to the intrepid pilots with no misgivings. Any mail that the 'Untin' Bowler will carry will be restricted we understand and supposedly will be of a private character.

ONE of the sterling contributors to the WEEKLY of over a quarter-century ago was Mr. J. M. Andreini of New York, whose articles were scholarly examples of philatelic application. His Puerto Principe articles appeared later in book form and they were accepted as a standard study of these stamps. His fine collection was sold at auction by Mr. Morgenthau many years ago. The debt of gratitude that we owe Mr. Andreini is a great one and we learn belatedly that he is now at Room 20, 34 Morningside Drive, New York, St. Luke's Hospital. This is the new wing of the hospital, corner at 114th Street; and Mr. Andreini will be much pleased to see any of his old friends, if perchance he is not now happily recovered; and we sincerely trust that such is the case.

IN the latest bulletin of the National Philatelic Exhibition of 1929, Inc., Minneapolis, we learn that the floor space devoted to the display of stamps will have the measurement of one hundred and sixty by sixty feet. This is an ample sweep and to quote the circular: "Picture frame after frame of interesting stamps, ranging from the rarities with Arthur Hind's British Guiana in the rarity frame down to the schoolboy's array in an International Album, and you will be dreaming and making plans for the eventful week when you will saunter about the exhibition, lost in what promises to be most beautiful panorama of philately ever presented in this country." We are impressed by the list of the judges which is presented in a personal way that makes them appear in pleasant relief.

HERE is something new under the sun. We received some time ago, a card from Philatelic Philippines, Iloilo, P. I., a card bearing an Eclipse Day cachet, which is in red and reads: "Eclipse Day, May 9, 1929. Sun's Total Eclipse, Iloilo, Iloilo, P. I., 3:29 P. M.-3 (minutes indecipherable) P. M." Old Sol is pictured in the cachet covered with an obscuring veil and altogether the marking is ornamental and original. On the reverse is a map showing the course of occultation, with a picture of Father Selga, director of the Manila Observatory, that is referred to astronomers.

Air Mail News

BY DONALD E. DICKASON,
Wooster, Ohio

(This department covers air mail news from the purely philatelic standpoint. Coöperators will find their names listed each week. If your letter calls for a reply please enclose a stamped, addressed envelope. This is your department, so make your contribution as generous as possible.)

Not many covers in this week, but plenty of news. Spent the other evening at the second meeting of the Cleveland Air Mail Society. That's going to be one live organization, with all the extras—even a cover service. Associate membership $1. Send application to Pres. H. H. Griffin, American Multigraph Sales Co., Cleveland.Lots of mail on the subject of the catalog for dedications, souvenirs, and other unofficial items. Such a catalog will be issued, by a responsible publisher and editorial board. More details a bit later.

OFFICIAL FLIGHTS

When the first trans-continental air-rail hook-up plane left Cleveland Airport June 16, it carried ten letters. These were signed by pilots on both parts of the trip, and were mailed back from Los Angeles the evening of the 18th, being postmarked at 8.30 P. M. These were not official air mail covers, of course, but have a great historical interest as being carried on the first trip of this entirely new passenger service. A suitable cachet was applied in green. Burt Williams, of the "Plain Dealer," is to be congratulated on putting them over.

First southbound mail for Colombia and Dutch Indies left on schedule from Cristobal June 21. A letter from my sister in Barranquilla, Colombia, states that no mail was to be carried by the P. A. A. north on this route, but only FROM the U. S. and C. Z. Don't know what the arrangements were from Curacao.

The Los Angeles "Times" is sponsoring a Round the World Air Mail Race. Six letters were mailed each way, each routed differently, on June 27. They expect the circuit to take 30-35 days. They say they have the co-operation of postal and diplomatic authorities on the routes. They'll be lucky if the New York foreign section doesn't send 'em back from there as unmailable, quoting the Postal Guide, as I've learned from sad experience. Anyway, I still claim the world's record of 46 days for a letter previously mentioned here which went around by the usual routes, using air mail where available, westward from Cleveland to Cleveland.

Four new air mail routes coming soon in Mexico, as follows: 1. Mexico City-Morelia-Guadalajara-Ciudad Guzman-Colima-Manzanillo-Tepic-Mazatlan-Culiacan-Altata-LaPaz-Santa Rosalia-Rosario-San Quintan-Enseneda-Tijuana. 2. Colima City-Zihuatanejo - Acapulco - Pinotepa - Salina Cruz-Tonola-Tapachula-Suchiate. 3. Mexico City-Acapulco. 4. Mexico City-Queretaro-Celaya-Irapuato-Leon-Lagos-Aguascalientes - Zacatecas - Fresnillo - Nieves - Torreon - Jimenez - Camargo - Chihuahua - Villa Ahumada-Guadalupe-Ciudad Jaurez. Postage about 18c our money.

Although previously announced, there was no non-stop pick-up flight to the Leviathan June 25th, and covers sent were returned. George F. Wild obtained the official figures for the first trip June 12, and kindly sends them. Ship to shore—cachet blue—1924 covers cancelled Newark front and back on arrival. Shore to ship—cachet red—2200 covers, haven't seen these yet. Both official count. Little collectors' mail in either lot, and these should be very good items indeed.

AIRPORT DEDICATIONS, AERO SHOWS, ETC.

Coshocton, Ohio, dedication postponed; covers can still get in to Coshocton Flying Service.  Klamath Falls, Ore., soon—covers to C. of C.  Salinas, Calif., almost finished—sponsored by American Legion.  Evansville, Ind., about July 20 or a bit later; covers to C. of C.  Mines Field, Los Angeles, Airport will be dedicated July 20 or soon after. Covers to W. DeSilva, Asst. Dir. of Airports, City Hall, Los Angeles, Calif.  Wrong address last week. Covers for Alhambra, Calif., dedication, now set for Labor Day, to Air Mail Manager, Western Air Express, 113 W. 9th St., Los Angeles. Better stuff these to full 1 oz.

Schenectady Aerial Exposition was June 27, 28, and 29, cachet by C. of C., blue, purple, and magenta, respectively, though one came on the 27th in purple, too.  Hartford, Conn., Third Anniversary Air Mail cachets were different. Using the original map outline seen before, each of the six sponsoring organizations filled in their special message, and applied it on the proper day. Colonial Air Transport, C. of C., Pratt and Whitney Aircraft Co., Hartford Air Mail Society, Brainard Field, and the Aero Club covered the dates July 1-6 in order. Co-operation!  Lancaster Co., Pa., 200th Anniversary, June 24, 25 & 26—red, blue and purple.  Anniversary of Lindbergh's Visit to Bettis Field, McKeesport—purple cachet June 29 by C. A. M. 11.  American Legion Air Derby, Canton, Ohio, July 4, 5, 6 and 7—different colors each day.

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., dedicated May 1—no cachet, and C. of C. sent no letters out. Will return letters if postage is sent. Booh!  Storm Lake, Iowa, project abandoned.  The air tour Tulsa-Canada—postponed indefinitely.  Wm. Hafner shows me Buffalo Show covers all dated Mar. 26, in black, violet, and red, respectively.  Kerrville, Tex., dedication all off, send postage for your covers. Fargo-St. Louis air race cachet just seen, postmarked St. Paul, May 28th—black.

Hollister dedicated May 11 and 12, printed cachet on envelope, by Legion. Anybody get an extra? I missed this.  La Salle, Ill., cover mailed June 25th, cachet entirely different from one reported previously. Dedication 22nd and 23rd.  Emmet Co. Airport, Petoskey, Mich., dedicated June 15—no cachet, but signed.  Sky Harbor, Glencoe, Ill., was to do it July 1 — anybody get covers?  Bridgeport, Conn., July 5 and 6. Factory scene cachet, by C. of C. General Electric planned to mail 27,000 pieces, with a special plane stop.  Bedford, Iowa, June 29, some covers with a red, white and blue sticker, some signed, but no sticker.  Erie Co. Airport at Fairview, Pa., came on short notice June 29, sponsored by the Legion, with a big purple cachet. My covers came in signed by the Post Commander of the Legion; by the Chairman of the Airport Committee who turns out to be the brother of a very good friend who graduated from Wooster College in June; and by the Chief Pilot, who was in college here a few years ago. Not so bad!

Now for the statistics, all on previously chronicled events. Ashtabula, O., June 22—C. of C.—2388.  St. Louis Aeronautic Meeting, May 27-30—by St. Louis Air Board—9800 for the 4 days.  Corning

Centenaries

Centenario da Abertura Dos Portos.—An inscription shown in minute letters around the date in the lower right corner of the special 100 reis stamp issued in Brazil in 1908 to mark the centenary of the opening of Brazilian ports to foreign commerce.

Centenario de Juan Pablo Duarte.—An inscription shown under the portrait of the stamps issued in the Dominican Republic in April, 1914, to commemorate the centenary of the birth of Juan Pablo Duarte.

Centenario de la Revolucion de Julio.—The inscription shown on the four special stamps issued in Bolivia in July, 1909, to mark the hundredth anniversary of the revolution of July, 1809.

Centenario de Las Instrucciones.—A surcharge applied to three low value stamps of Uruguay in April, 1913, to mark the centenary of the Instructions given to General Artigas to declare the Independence of Uruguay.

Centenarios de la Guerra de Independencia.—This inscription appears on all the stamps issued in Bolivia in 1909 and 1910. These stamps were intended to commemorate the war of independence which lasted from 1809 until 1825.

Centenario de S. Antonio.—An overprint found upon certain Mozambique stamps used in the Portuguese colony of Inhambane in 1895. It signifies "Centenary of Saint Anthony."

ber stamp box permits on the mailing labels will reduce time and trouble, and the stamps that they receive as payment can be cleared by the various post offices very easily.

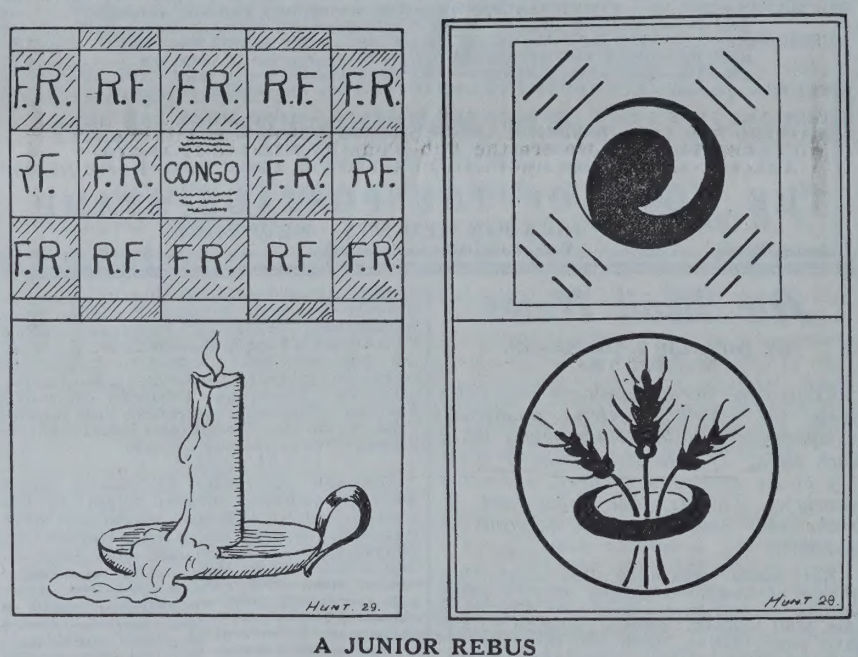
This brings to mind the surface printed stamps which would change color if affixed to the parcel with a rather obnoxious glue. The 1c stamps turn blue, the 2c stamps a very light pink, and the 3c stamps brown. In our recent years, this is the nearest we have to so-called chemical papers.

A study of precancels will show many attempts made in former years to control the re-use of precancels. The dated Binghamtons and the private Battleship revenue precancels can be cited.

THE USE OF STATE PRECANCELS FROM NEBRASKA AND KANSAS STILL REMAINS AN UNFATHOMABLE EXPERIMENT TO US. PERHAPS IN LATER YEARS WE SHALL HEAR MORE OF ITS RESULTS.

Nevertheless, there has been much improvement in collecting precancels in recent years. We are rid of the questionable precancels, we look with disfavor on Commemorative precancels, we have general types easy to catalog. This all helps us as precancel collectors. We might eliminate the high value precancels, especially those above 20c, by pricing the precancels at the very least, at face value, and by asking the government to sell us collectors, precancels in blocks, strips of four or any other way we want to collect them. It is clearly demonstrated that the precancel collector is not a deterrent to assist in the detection of bogus stamps and re-used precancels.

If a collector in Seattle wants Milwaukee precancels, he should be able to buy them outright, for their very sale precludes that he is not trying to use Milwaukee precancels in Seattle. Unless, of course, it be Mr. Addington Sims.



A JUNIOR REBUS

What are the four countries suggested in the four designs as pictured? There will be prizes if sufficient entries. Solutions must be in August 15th, Beverly Office

Rebus Solutions

Our twelve subject rebus contest aroused a great deal of interest, and we are very glad that we could furnish our Juniors with so pleasing a feature. Many solutions were received, but only seven were prize winners. The stumbling block proved to be No. 6 St. Lucia #49. Not a single contestant was able to locate the stamp in question. The prize winners are as follows, all with eleven solutions out of twelve possible:—

Wm. Langstaff, Paterson, N. J.
Kazuo Sakaue, Bothell, Wash.
G. E. Milius, Jr., New Rochelle, N. Y.
Maxine Kerzler, Richmond, Ind.
W. J. Calhoun, Jr., Baldwin, N. Y.
Chas. Dolansky, Chicago, Ill.
Donald Chenoweth, Richmond, Ind.

We also give honorable mention to the following, whose entries were not complete enough to secure a prize:—

Morris Adler, Fred Garr, Jr., Andrew Schultz, Jr., Noryne Godkin, John H. Langley, Geo. H. Wettach, John Benny, Seymour Green, M. B. Colket, Jr., Bernard Banta, Sol Maged, H. Friedman, Geo. Barter, Robt. Martin, Bob Pett, John Dudas, A. F. Doe, Jr., David Q. Weaver.

We shall some time in the future have another contest of this kind. October is a better rebus month than August. The answers to the rebus contest as submitted by Mr. Hunt are as follows:

(1) Canada type A 33, (2) Crete type A 7 and A 12, (3) 2c U. S. Valley Forge, (4) Latvia type A 12, (5) U. S. 3c 1869, (6) St. Lucia #49 The Pitons (3,700 feet), (7) Switzerland, type A 21, (8) Roumania #580 (surcharge), (9) Sweden postage due 1874, (10) Brazil type A 75, (11) Palestine Nos. 1-62, (12) Latvia 620-630.

TESTIMONY TO QUALITY

The recent stamp exhibitions at London, Melbourne and Le Havre have furnished remarkable testimony to the value and quality of the Gibbons range of albums, catalogues, handbooks, accessories and other publications.

At these three exhibitions our goods received no less than twenty direct awards, many of them the highest in their respective classes, while we are the Publishers of works for which the authors received four further awards.

Mail us a postal card and we will send you free our new 104-page lists of albums, publications and a wide range of packets and sets, together with a free specimen number of the most interesting British stamp magazine, Gibbons' Stamp Monthly.

20-Cent "Golden Gate" Imperforate Vertically

One of the most interesting finds of twentieth century varieties that have been made recently is the 20-cent flat bed variety, imperforate vertically. I have been shown a half sheet from plate 19646, which was located in California. The stamps are exceedingly well centered and it is the first variety of this type that has been noted, since a few copies of the 25-cent were found several years back.

As has been mentioned before, it is most surprising that more errors are not located, when it is considered that millions of stamps are being turned out monthly and in large quantities, it is most difficult for the many inspectors to note such a variety, as one with missing perforations.

Washington Notes

I am pleased to announce that arrangements have been made whereby your editor will meet the new Third Assistant Postmaster General in short order, so that we expect to have his story to philately in our next edition.

The Philatelic Agency has just closed its fiscal year ending June 30, 1929, and during the twelve months previous sold postage stamps to the value of $283,983.04. This is an increase of $129,863.36, or 84% over the year 1928, at which time stamps to the value of $154,119.68 were sold. Such large increase reflects possibly better than anything else, the vast increase in stamp collectors, and at the rate at which the Agency is growing, it will not be at all surprising if their sales total a million dollars in the not far distant future.

In presenting their report to the daily press, the Information Service of the Post Office Department points out that these stamps are in the hands of millions of collectors and represent practically a clear profit to the government, as only a small proportion are ever used for postage.

They call attention to the fact that the bi-colored George Rogers Clark stamp is the most popular that they have ever issued and that the demand has been extensive. They further state that seventeen million were issued to postmasters throughout the country.

In further reference to the special 2-cent stamp which we mentioned in a recent column to commemorate the Battle of Fallen Timbers, it is understood that the variety will, no doubt, be available in September. We hope to give further details in the next Chronicle.

1873, 2-Cent Variety

Mr. Edward Stern of the Economist Stamp Company writes that he has discovered a copy of the 2-cent Continental on the well-known double paper, but the specimen in question is ribbed. Although many copies on the double paper have been noted heretofore, this is the first copy on ribbed paper that has been seen.

7-Cent McKinley Variety

Mr. George H. Quintard writes that he has recently acquired a pane of one hundred and one stamps of the 7-cent McKinley rotary print plate, No. 18740. The sheet is intact with margins on all four sides with an extra stamp attached to the bottom row, giving us a pair stretched across the margin. It is difficult to account for such a variety unless in some way the sheet was torn apart, instead of being cut. We have not had the pleasure of inspecting the sheet, but Mr. Quintard sends a sketch, from which the above description is given.

We wish to thank Dr. Jason Samuel Parker and Mr. Archibald Merriam for notes of interest.

Canal Zone

Through the courtesy of Messrs. R. S. Carter and J. W. Coffin, we are pleased to announce that the new pictorial 5-cent Canal Zone stamp which we described in this column on April 22nd, was placed on sale in the Zone on June 25th. The stamp is printed in the blue of our own 5c Roosevelt, is rectangular in shape and shows a reproduction of a photograph of a steam shovel in operation. At least that is the official description, but from an inspection of the stamp itself, we note the cut through the mountainous regions with trains carrying off the dirt. A newspaper clipping from the Zone describes the illustration as a view of the Gaillard Cut during the construction days. The photograph was taken looking south into the Cut from Bas Obispo. If there is a steam shovel present, it is so small that it is not readily noted.

On the first day, a special rectangular cancellation applied in magenta was used reading in six lines "1904-1929 25th anniversary inauguration of Canal Zone Postal Service 1904-June 25-1929."

Through the courtesy of the Panama Canal Commission, we are able to announce that 1,106,000 of these stamps

NEWS FLASHES

By HENRY C. DEWITT

—A good many items of news of interest to philatelists may be found in the U. S. Daily, and my readers are indebted to that paper for what follows:

—The P. O. Department announces extension of C. O. D. mail service to include any correspondence of mail matter.

—The sales of the Philatelic Agency at Washington, D. C., doubled during the past year.

—July 16 Canada will be linked up with South America by the extension of the air mail service to Santiago, Chile.

—Resolutions have been introduced in the national House of Representatives authorizing a stamp to commemorate the arrival of "the first defenders of Reading, Pa.," at Cambridge, Mass., and one to honor the 250th anniversary of the arrival of LaSalle on Indiana soil.

—President Hoover has issued a proclamation calling for the observance of October 11 as Pulaski day. A bill introduced in the Senate provides for a stamp in connection with the national celebration to be held on that date at Savannah, Ga., in commemoration of the 150t niversary of the death of Brig. Casimer Pulaski.

NEW CANAL ZONE STAM

In addition to the new 5c stamp memorating the 25th anniversary o Canal Zone Postal Service, there ha been placed on sale a new 12c, and a 50c was issued the first of July. 12c stamp pictures Col. D. D. Gai formerly a member of the Isthmian Commission. The new 50c has a p of J. C. S. Blackburn who was a member of the Commission. Of the post offices that formerly existed i Canal Zone, only three, Cristobal, A and Gatun, are operated today.

were mailed to the Isthmus on June 4th from the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. It is stated that the issue is a permanent one.

The newspaper clipping from which we quoted above states that the 12-cent showing portrait of Colonel Gaillard and the 50-cent showing portrait of Senator J. C. S. Blackburn, former governor and member of the Canal Commission, would also be sold at the same time. Mr. Carter, however, makes no mention of these two varieties, so that quite likely they have not as yet appeared.

Mr. Carter also sends a circular from the Executive Department addressed to postmasters stating that effective September 30th next, the selling of U. S. postage stamps surcharged "Canal Zone" in denominations of 1c, 1½c, 2c, 5c, 12c and 50c will be discontinued and such stamps of these issues remaining unsold at the close of business on September 30th will be destroyed. While the sale of stamps will be discontinued, such stamps will be recognized as valid for postage indefinitely.

Aegean Islands. — Stamp Collecting states that on the occasion of the recent visit of the King and Queen of Italy to Rhodes, a set of nine stamps was issued commemorating the event. The values are 5, 10, 20, 25, 30, 50 centesimi and 1.25, 5 and 10 lira. Only limited numbers were issued and especially the higher values. The stamps are not as yet available at Rome so further details are lacking.

Australian Commonwealth. — We have received from Whitfield King & Co. a copy of the new 3p air mail stamp which was issued May 20th last. The color is green with "3d. AUSTRALIA 3d. Air Mail Service" in two lines at the top. Below is a country scene with cattle grazing and an airplane flying over. We understand this stamp was issued in order to be available for the new East-West service which was due to be opened June 2nd from Adelaide.

Belgium.—According to information furnished by Die Postmarke a new set of stamps for general use in denominations from 60 centimes to 5 franken, bearing the portrait of King Albert, will soon be issued.

Bulgaria.—According to information noted in Scott's Stamp Monthly, the subjects of the Czar Simeon commemorative set are 10s, St. Klinent; 15s, K. Miladinow; 50s, The Convent Drenowo; 1L, Otetz Paissi; 2L, Czar Simeon; 3L Karaweloss, 4L, V. Levski; 5L, G. kowki; 6L, Czar Alexander II of R

China. — A new memorial s stamps issued in commemoration o burial of Sun Yat Sen has been rec from Mr. R. Roberts. They are lin graved by the Chinese Bureau of En ing and Printing at Peking, perf. 1 watermark. Values and colors a orange, 4c olive, 10c deep blue a scarlet.

Danzig.—We learn from Stamp lecting that special stamps in comm ration of the forthcoming Internat Philatelic Exhibition have been r printed at the State Printing Office, lin, with vignette of the historic tune's Fountain, which also appear the 25 gulden note of the Free There are values in the series, viz. 15, 25 pfennigs which will be sold premium of 100% and will cost 1 g per set. They will be on sale from 7 to 14th only.

LETTERS TO PHIL

ANYWHERE, May 19, 1929.

MR. PHIL. A. TELIC,
Everywhere, U. S.

My Dear Phil:

I have been invited, by the powers that be, to write you an open letter from time to time when I have something on my mind that would seem to be of interest to this great and only fraternity of Hinge Lickers to which we all belong. And as I have something on my mind at this time, and as the typewriter has just celebrated by dressing up in a brand new ribbon, I'll fire away and ask you—When is a Registry Cancellation? You remember of course, all the fun some of us boys had last fall with the buckin' bronchos and snake dancers and purple cows and stars and apples and everything, until the Department in Washington began to think that our mail-bag was a grab-bag, and that the contents were all comic valentines, and told us for Pete's sake to cut it out, and let the mail look respectable and businesslike again? Sure you remember —them were the happy days!

Anyhow, I know a bird up in our neck of the woods who does a good bit of traveling around, and because he's a Hinge Licker too, he stops in at all the little post offices on his route, regularly—honest, he calls all the PM's by their first names, and you ought to see what they dig up for him sometimes. He dragged home about half a sheet of the old 8c air mail recently—told me that the little postmistress where he got them said she was so glad to have him buy them, as she just didn't know what to do with an 8c air mail stamp now—ain't that tough luck? Then he found some full sheets of black Hardings lately, and in another little post office a whole bunch of the 1917 issue, up to the 30c. Yea, I'll say that canary has hard, bad luck. But to get back to our subject—as I say, this egg knows every PM on the route, and they'll do most anything for him, because he is a decent guy and a good customer too. Now then, he conceives the idea of carving little designs on smooth-faced corks, calling on these PM's as he goes from town to town, and asking them real pretty, would they please sell him three times 17c worth of stamps, cancel three letters with his little cork, autograph them in the upper left corner, as the sender, and send them to his home address by registered mail? Sure they will—he's a good egg and they are awfully obliging, anyway. Then he destroys the cork immediately.

I saw his collection of these covers lately, and boy, they'd make your eyes stick out a foot—just the niftiest lot you ever laid your peepers on, and each cancellation means something, too—in a town where they make automobiles, his cancel shows a little car—near an Indian reservation it shows a redskin in his canoe—in another town where they have a big fox farm it shows a fox-head, etc. Now then, ever since the old stop-order was issued from Washington last November, some kind brothers in the East have been trying to tabulate, sort and enumerate all the known cancels up to that time—more power to them for this kind and charitable work! But here comes the rub, Phil—in some of their circulars they intimate pretty strongly that any fancy cancellation bearing a date later than December 1, 1928, must necessarily be a fake or secured illegitimately or under cover, and to look out for them as "NG." So I repeat my question — When is a Registry Cancellation? Are not these interesting covers, all of which have travelled openly on legitimate business, which bear sending and receiving numbers and backstamps all ship-shape—aren't they just as OK as last year's smelters and ears of corn, or are they fakes?

Anyway, aside from what this man is doing, there are hundreds of 4th class PM's who never read the Postal Bulletin, and who keep right on using their Masonic emblems and whatnots which they have whittled in their long afternoons, on all registered mail, regardless of Rules or Regulations. So who should cast the first stone or a questioning eye on the register covers of 1929 just because they are cancelled other than with a smudge or the approved double-ovals? You tell me what you think about it, will you, Phil? I suppose the roses and lilacs are in bloom in your garden and Spring is amongst you; here the trees are in blossom, too, but the old furnace still does valiant duty during the night. That might bring up another question — When is Spring?—but I guess one at a time is sufficient, eh what?

With kindest regards, yours,
ANON Y. MOUS.

GENERAL COLLECTING

By CHARLES CURIE.

Aside from the interest in the Stamps themselves, a General Collection, as it is called, of the stamps of all countries offers a fund of information on other topics. It is an aid to, and stimulates the knowledge of history, geography, monetary systems and standards, old and modern, national flags and coats of arms, colonial possessions, national historical personages, as well as a knowledge of printing, engraving, etc., how various papers are made and in general how various stamps have been produced.

Who was Bolivar? Who were Hidalgo, Rivadavia, Don Carlos, Maceo? Who was Napoleon III of France? How did he become Emperor, and when? Who was Vasco de Gama? When and how were the Kingdoms of Naples, Sicily and Sardinia, the Grand Dutchy of Tuscany, the Dutchies of Modena and Parma, and the Papal Provinces of Roman States and Romagna founded into the Kingdom of Italy? What part in this great event was played by Garibaldi, the Great Italian Liberator? Who were the Princes or Counts of Thurn and Taxis? What was the North German Postal District? How, when, and by whom were the many Kingdoms, Grand Dutchies, Dutchies, Principalities and Free Cities that issued their own postage stamps, consolidated into the German Empire? How is it that Bavaria issues its own postage stamps today, when Prussia and Saxony do not?

While all of these questions and many others are not answered entirely by the collecting of postage stamps generally, the history and geography contained in the answers are greatly assisted and remembered by so doing, and the general interest in these events and personages, as well as many others, is fostered.

The many Colonies of Great Britain, of France, of Germany, of Italy, of Spain and of Portugal, are a valuable and interesting fund of knowledge, and information as to their names, locations characteristics is gained and fostered collecting their postage stamps.

What is a Rix Dollar, a Leva, a S Groschen, a Colon, a Sucre, a Gra Soldo, a Scudo, a Dinar or a Th How much in American money Piastre, a Lira, a Lepta, a Balboa, a ivar, a Bani or an Att? When wa Groschen and the Kreuzer of Ger superseded by the Pfennig and the M and why?

These and other data and facts cerning the currencies of the va countries, are perhaps not important interesting and add to one's genera formation.

The National Ensigns and Coat Arms of various nations as well as data pertaining to their history, a on many postage stamps and the ge collector can learn much from them. names of the brave and liberty-lo patriots, who fought for the freedo our Central and South American Republics; the long years of war and to gain their liberty; in fact the e history of these countries is, unfortu ly, practically unknown to the Ame boy or man today. Our schools ar miss in this. Did we know them b our relations with them would be cl The collecting of their postage stam an incentive to learn more about and their history. Their heroes many of their important events are picted upon their postage stamps.

The various kinds of paper, and processes of printing and water-ma which have been used in producing age stamps, as well as the devices us separate them, are a large field, and General Collector, the incentive is gr to acquire knowledge on these sub In fact this knowledge may be sa be essential.

For the above reasons, I am a Ge Collector. Someday, perhaps, I may mote myself into the Specialist Class not yet.—Collectors Club Philatelist.

FREDERIC A. TILTON

THE NEW THIRD ASSISTANT POSTMASTER GENERAL

By PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

There is no official in the Post Office Department of more interest to the philatelist than the Third Assistant Postmaster General, who has charge of the issuance and distribution of all postage stamps. Whenever a change in this office takes place, the stamp collector is naturally anxious to learn as to what attitude the new officer is likely to take in regards to matters philatelic.

With this object in view, your editor made a special trip to Washington, in behalf of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS, in order to meet Mr. Frederic A. Tilton of Detroit, the recently appointed Third Assistant Postmaster General.

Mr. Tilton is a former partner of Haskins & Sells of Detroit, Mich., well-known certified public accountants. He was born in Cleveland fifty-three years ago, and graduated from the grammar and high schools of that city. He attended the Western Reserve University, leaving that institution in 1899, and took his first step in the business world, as an employee of the Produce Exchange Bank of Cleveland. His activities in Detroit date from 1909, at which time he entered the public accountancy department of the Security Trust Company, where he remained for six years, when the firm of Hollis, Tilton & Porte was organized. This was later consolidated with the firm from whom Mr. Tilton severed his connections to become Third Assistant Postmaster General.

Mr. Tilton stated that he was most gratified of the opportunity through the medium of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS to extend a word of sympathetic greeting to that very extensive group of our people who are interested directly or indirectly in what he described as the "art" of stamp collecting. The views which he has long held regarding the high educational values attached to stamp collecting to those engaged therein, regardless of age, have been materially reinforced since his assuming his new position and since he has come in closer contact with the stamp collector and dealer through the Philatelic Agency. He feels firmly convinced that the Agency is rendering a worthwhile service to collectors that is deserving of continued official support and encouragement. He also desires to bring attention to the fact that some collectors have at different times in the past expressed some impatience because of the length of time required in the Agency to fill their orders, during periods of congestion caused by the issuance of a large number of new stamps at close intervals with consequent delay in the filling of the accumulated mail orders. He wishes to say to all Agency patrons who have thereby been placed to some inconvenience that every possible effort will be made in the future to increase

STANLEY GIBBONS, INC., U. S. LIBRARY

After the lapse of several years we have entirely revised and rewritten the first three volumes of our U. S. Library, dealing with the nineteenth century issues.

Vol. IV. dealing with the twentieth century issues, is now in course of revision and will be ready shortly.

VOLUME I. THE ISSUES OF 1847 TO 1869 INCLUSIVE

Here we have the types of the 1851-57 Issue enlarged.
Differences between the August and September issue are clearly shown.
The two types of the 15c 1869 are carefully drawn.
Clear directions are given as to what to avoid, and be suspicious of; also tests for washed stamps.
Altogether a most helpful book to the U. S. Collector, and one which should save many times its cost. Price 50c

VOLUME II. THE ISSUES OF 1870 TO 1893 INCLUSIVE

The Volume deals chiefly with the very complicated productions of the National, Continental and American Bank Note Campaigns.
We show enlarged drawings of the secret marks, together with pen sketches of the Presidents represented on these issues; also large illustrations of the recuttings done in 1881.
A most useful volume, with a table in the preface with tests for successfully separating all the 1870-82 Printings, which issues we nearly always find misplaced in collections. Price 50c

VOLUME III. THE BUREAU ISSUES OF 1894 TO 1900

This Volume treats of the early efforts of our government to produce postage stamps, starting with the ragged 1894 issue.
The three triangles, and also the two types of the 10c and $1.00 stamps, are carefully shown by enlarged illustrations.
Also, this Volume lists the various styles of imprints used.
Another most useful book, of great help to the collector. Price 50c

Remember the above three volumes are completely revised and brought up to date, and contain a wealth of new and interesting information, including earliest known dates, approximate quantities issued, etc.
Send in that $1.50 now for the set.

the facilities to provide for the filling of mail orders without unreasonable delay.

He further solicits the coöperation and forbearance of collectors in withholding undue criticism during congested periods when matters are temporarily delayed. Mr. Tilton again calls attention to the fact that when new stamps appear, it will be a material aid in filling orders if the new issues are ordered separately and not included with miscellaneous items.

Mr. Tilton is the first certified public accountant that has held this position in recent years and in making the appointment the Postmaster General had in mind the fact that it is expected that numerous changes in the Post Office will be made, which will result in more efficiency, as well as a decreased deficit. Mr. Tilton's training has been along these lines and much is expected of him. We might incidentally mention that if the franking privilege not only to members of Congress, but to the departments as well is materially curtailed, that the post office will begin to show a profit. It would not be a bad idea to go back to the old department stamps so that each department would be charged proportionately for its use of the mail, instead of having its mail service free as at present.

Mr. Tilton impresses you as one who is taking his position seriously, will make every effort to extend to the collector or dealer every courtesy possible, but is not likely to extend any special favors or issue any special varieties to please the collector. This was forcibly brought out in his recent refusal to issue the Edison stamp in an imperforate condition. He believes that stamps are issued for postal purposes and will be guided accordingly during his term of office. Such a stand will certainly meet with the approval of philately.

He has promised to continue the good work started by his immediate predecessors, Messrs. Glover and Regar and keep us well posted on matters of philatelic interest pertaining to his department.

Stamp collectors will be interested in knowing that the former Third Assistant Postmaster General, Mr. R. S. Regar, has now been appointed Administrative Assistant to the Postmaster General, with numerous duties, including that of Purchasing Agent.

We can safely feel that with the appointment of Mr. Tilton that stamp collectors have a further friend in the present administration. It is most fortunate that Mr. Warren Irving Glover remains as Second Assistant Postmaster General and that Mr. Michael L. Eidsness, Jr., continues as the efficient superintendent of the Division of Stamps.

DANZIG AND ITS STAMPS

About 300 Varieties in the less than Nine Years of Stamp Life

By DOUGLAS ARMSTRONG.

Amongst the stamps to be displayed in an International Philatelic Exhibition at Danzig from July 7th-14th, next, those issued by the Free City itself since it became an autonomous state under the League of Nations may be expected to play a prominent part.

The postage stamps of Danzig have no claim to antiquity, albeit its postal history goes back to the Sixteenth Century. Down to the end of the Great War, however, this marches with that of Germany of which it formed part.

It was not, therefore, until June 16, 1920, when the City became an independent State, that it achieved the distinction of a stamp issue of its own. This, made under the authority of the International Commissioner, consisted of contemporary German types with the addition of the name "Danzig" in Gothic characters. From then down to the end of last year (1928) upwards of three hundred separate and distinct varieties of postage stamps have emanated from the Danzig post office. To these will shortly be added a special series in connection with the forthcoming Stamp Exhibition.

With the exception of a few costly varieties, a representative collection of Danzig stamps may be got together with a small outlay. Their political and historical interest has served to endow them with a considerable popularity amongst philatelists of the modern school. The result is that they are steadily appreciating in value, especially certain of the earlier emissions, which are becoming increasingly difficult to obtain.

One of the best sets from this standpoint is that having the overprint in script type, locally applied, which superseded the original Berlin printing on August 15, 1920.

The 60pfg, 1 and 2 marks values in particular are of extreme rarity, either in mint or postally used condition.

Collectors require, however, to be on their guard against dangerous counterfeits of this overprint "made in Germany."

F. A. M. 5 SERVICE TO CENTRAL AMERICA

Effective with the flights from Miami, southbound, and from Cristobal, northbound, on May 21st delivery of mail was begun at several Central American countries. Both Miami and Cristobal used special first flight cachets. That of Miami, in purple, shows a palm tree and a two-pontooned plane in flight. It reads, "First Flight Air Mail, Miami-Central America, F. A. M. Route 5."

The Cristobal cachet, in black, shows a map of the countries served by F. A. M. 5 and reads, "Cristobal, Canal Zone, to Miami, F. A. M. 5. First Flight to Nicaragua, Honduras, British Honduras, Cuba, May 21, 1929."

Subject to change without notice, we offer a small supply of the May 21st covers, all having the first flight cachets, at the following prices:

Miami to Belize, British Honduras, franked with 15c air mail, backstamped May 21	$2.00
Miami-Tela, Honduras, Franked with 8c air mail and 2c and 5c Aero Conf.	1.00
Miami-Managua, Nicaragua, franked with 24c airmail and 1c imperf., backstamped	1.50
Cristobal-Managua, franked with 15c Canal Zone airmail, backstamped	2.00
Cristobal-Tela, franked with 15c C. Z. airmail, backstamped May 22	4.00

8.	3c 1851	?	"	Dr. Carroll Chase
9.	Nesbit	York, Pa.	Green	Dr. Carroll Chase
10.	3c 1851	?	Blue	Dr. Carroll Chase

The above lot of PAID 3 cancellations come mostly from Dr. Chase's collection of the 3c 1851-1857. They are an interesting lot, and show some of the ways in which this simple combination of a word and a figure might be combined to make a decent appearing "killer."

At a glance it would seem that the two Canton cancelers are the same; but after looking closely you will find that the second has much larger colorless letters and value, and the lower part of the black circle is indented at each side. This would appear to give the canceler the same general size and location of letters, and from this deduction, one is inclined to believe that they are the same pieces of wood, the No. 5 being the old No. 1, but with the letters and the numeral 3 recut with a jack knife, and the edge of the canceler whittled to a new contour. In a continuous correspondence this might be checked up correctly; but if it is, there is little to say, except that cancelers were often changed a bit, and this would mean that a slight variance in a cancel happens in those of the same town.

The No. 6 is in a very dark shade of blue. This little town seemed to have a careful Postmaster, and many of the covers from this town have clean cut cancellations in the '51 issue and in the '57s. The covers are sometimes very handsome from here, if they have been carefully saved by the families who received them.

No. 8 is an unusual type of canceler. There may be a couple of others of similar form. They probably come from very small towns, as so few of this type are to be found. The No. 9 is a dandy in bright green. York, Pa., seemed to favor green ink, and they had some neat covers in those days. It did not use the ink where you had to ask someone if it was green, or just another one of those blue greens, for it was all green beyond a doubt.

What Price Registry? Here is something to worry the Philatelist. I reckon you have all given a bit of thought when mailing a letter of value, as to whether you should mail it with the old fee of 15c or if it would be best to pay a larger fee if the contents were of a value of say, $200.

The present rate of registry fees is scheduled to suit the user. When I send a letter with contents of $200 I generally pay the fee for that amount, especially if the letter goes to the far West. If to a nearby town I sometimes let it go at the lowest rate. It really seems silly to pay the excess rate, as I believe that I've lost but one registered letter in some twenty-five years.

But here is a new angle in the fee for foreign mail. I'd like to know how much coin I've paid on registered letters to foreign countries in the past twenty-five years. It would be enough to buy quite a sweet little collection of '47s, or enough hinges to go round the world "X" times if laid end to end. I have made a number of inquiries about lost registered mail to

An Open Letter to Mrs. Alice Barker Putler

It is not without some indignation wherein we have read of your stand on stamp collecting with the utter derogation of alligator collecting. All over this universe, alligator collectors have minded their own business, especially the married ones, and in no wise have they misled the public in their pursuit, beyond the dry agents, to uphold their pleasure by making fun of other collectors of various things, notably, stamps.

For your edification, we beg of you to go to some alligator collector and learn what there is to learn about alligators. Altho it be a rather simple hobby, yet we feel it is more indulgent than your shades and shadows, perfs and unperfs, cancels and precancels, blocks of four, and plate numbers, arrows, guide lines, match and medicine, watermarks, and such. You collect stamps, but no postal cards. You collect stamps, but no penalty envelopes. You collect fiscals and call them stamps. You collect stamps and fiscals, and don't collect other stamps and tax paids. You don't know what you collect. As long as you collect, you are satisfied.

But with alligators, you got something. A friend in New Orleans sends you an alligator by parcel post. And when you open the package, what have you got? You hand the alligator to your wife and she hands it to your son and he keeps it in the cellar near the furnace. You can't catch flies in January, and there's the collecting instinct for alligator collectors. Have you such fun in stamps?

Even if the alligator lives and grows bigger, your collecting instinct is again aroused. There is no end of fun in the house with an alligator collector. Everyone joins in the fun, wife, daughter, son, nieces, nephews, aunts, the maids, the neighbors. They all want you to keep the alligator somewheres. You can take your stamps out for an airing or put sun suits on them but what about the alligator collector. He has to trot his alligator out at night, when it is dark.

You forget your stamps in the summer. Can an alligator collector forget his alligator? Never.

You lose your favorite copy of Cigts Tubes blahed on a revenue stamp. You worry, you fret, you upturn the household, you ponder, you wonder, you think, you pine, you sorrow, you mortify. Not so the alligator collector. If he loses his alligator therein lies success.

In your stamp collecting, you always have stamps. Someone writes a book on fancy stars, frogs legs, kicking mules, and everyone goes dippy. They will buy anything from a smudge that looks like an eagle to a blotch like a derby hat, and once they have it, they don't care whether they've got it. They don't know where the smudge came from, but as long as it passes on and on, no one cares.

In alligator collecting, you don't know what you have got, or where it is going. No one can write a specialized collectors' book for alligators. Their scales vary, but who cares? Some crawl forwards, some backwards, some not at all, but that doesn't change the alligator. One sleeps six months until you think it is dead. By the time you have arranged for its disposal, it moves again, and you keep the alligator. Your wife wants an alligator suitcase. Think of it. Can you sell your stamps so quickly and pay your bills? With alligator collecting, if you can't pay your bills, you always have a suitcase for travelling.

You speak of the various shades of stamps as if it were funny to see the Queen in different colors. You have never been to an alligator collector's den. You will see persons green, pink, blue, orange, or any other color when the alligator crawls around. I will guarantee that your own face will assume fifty different colors if you try to pet my pet.

The American Alligator Society is a gang of splendid men interested in their hobby and boiler making besides. Their Handbook Committee has been sitting for 27 years and will soon publish a handbook, so that you may learn something about our hobby. You will see that it is no easy matter to collect alligators, or

Owing to the enormous demand for fine copies of U. S. General Issues, 1847 to 1882, I have lately largely increased my stock by several important purchases amounting to many thousands of dollars.

The following new books can be sent to collectors interested in fine goods at moderate prices:—

UNUSED

1851-56. Fine lot of 1c and 3c in singles, pairs, strips and blocks. 5c, 10c, several fine copies, 12c plates I and III.

1857-60. Fine lot of 1c including five 1c Type I, 3c Type I in a block of four and 9 singles. Large number of blocks of 1c and 3c perfectly centered and full gum.

TREASURE HUNTING

By Capt. A. C. Townsend.

PART V

Colman and I came mighty near getting a whole flock of Baltimores in those days. After getting the first one we figured out that the farmers on the "Eastern Shore" of Maryland had done a lot of shipping of vegetables to Baltimore in the early days, and that a good hunt in that region might unearth some, so one summer we took a vacation, went down there, and hunted hard for two weeks. We got some fair stamps but nothing of much value. Finally in a little town a fellow told us of an old farmer whose family had done a lot of such shipping, and said he had been in the same old house for over 50 years, so we plodded out to his place in the heat and dust.

We found an old man sitting on his porch in the shade, rocking and chewing tobacco. We told him the story and he said yes, they had done a lot of shipping and he believed there was a box of old letters down cellar, but he didn't reckon there would be any stamps on 'em. We urged, but he was obdurate. Finally we offered him five dollars just to let us look them over. He at once asked for the money. We handed it over and he took us down cellar where we found a big box of old letters, and it actually contained over 200 letters from Baltimore between 1843 and 1847 without a stamp on them—just a beautiful lot of handstamped blue 5c and 10's. Were we heart-broken? We carried off about 50 of them dated 1845 and sent them to collectors with our compliments, and Colman told me a couple of years ago that he still had a number of them stored away somewhere.

Another thing many of the old-timers will remember is the blue print of the $500 first issue revenue, only one of which was ever used. I can't tell the full story yet, but I made a full size photograph of one, printed blue print copies and sent them to many collectors to fill a gap in their albums that could not be filled in any other way. A few years ago on a vacation in Omaha, Frank Parmalee spoke of it, pulled down an album and showed me one that I had sent to him.

And the treasures we did scare up and almost gave away in those days! Great blocks of Department stamps, which we split up for sale. There was just one Washington collector in those days who collected blocks, and I used to sell them to him at a discount because he took four of a kind! And there was one man in Penna. who for a year or more used to send us every month several copies of the 5c New York on the cover. We never could get any until he needed money; then another lot would come in. We promptly soaked them off and sold them.

I remember a full o.g. sheet of 3c 1857 that drifted in. It was a nuisance to have around, always wanting to curl up and crack, so I split it up into small blocks and sold them off. And a nice block of 5c 1851 on a big cover, and a few other trifles of that sort. They all went into the hot water and were soaked off!

Then I went down to Texas to see a sick brother, and the Spanish-American war came on, and my mother wrote me in wild alarm that my father, 60 years old, had started off, and then I dropped everything and followed him. I did not get back to Washington for several years, and sold my interest in the business to Colman—who had sense enough to stick to it and get rich.

During and after the war I had mighty little time to think of stamps. General Leonard Wood came to Havana as Military Governor and I became his confidential clerk, and the work was most interesting and engrossing. I should like to talk a lot about General Wood, one of the greatest patriots this country ever produced and a man who certainly laid down his life for his country, but these stories are supposed to be about stamps.

I did have one funny experience then. Colman wanted me to get him some of the surcharged postage due stamps. I figured a bit, took a huge office record book, wrapped and sealed it and addressed it to myself, put a 2c stamp on it, walked a block to the P. O. and dropped it in at the big window. I didn't get 5 feet away before several heads appeared in the window and several voices called excitedly to me in Spanish to come back. I asked what was up, and they inquired excitedly if I thought that 2c would carry that book. I didn't know; wouldn't it? Caramba! It would cost at least two dollars!! I gave them my best shrug and in my best Spanish told them it cut no ice with me. A man asked me to send him the book, and enclosed a 2c stamp; let him pay the postage, I wouldn't. And away I went.

The next morning a postman staggered into the office with the book, well plastered with due stamps, and was quite astonished when I paid for it without a murmur. That afternoon I rewrapped it and took it back with another 2c stamp on it, and continued that for several days. By that time they knew me and my appearance with the book was greeted with a chorus of Spanish jokes at my expense. Finally a clerk told me the "Due Clerk" wanted to see me. When I went in he proved to be an American, who profanely wanted to know what the blazes I was up to. I told him, and after thinking it over he said, "Well, you are going to get the stamps anyway and there is nothing out of the way about it, as it simply means more business for the office. I don't see any reason why I can't simply sell you what you want, and save all the work. How many and what kinds do you want?" I fully agreed with him, and after that I kept Colman supplied with full sheets, gummed but very nicely cancelled.

The Neely scandal stopped that and I never went near the P. O. again. When it came time to leave Cuba and their own stamps were to go into use, General Wood appointed a board of army officers to check up and take out and burn up every stamp that was left on hand. I supposed for years that this had been very faithfully carried out, but from some of the prices of the surcharged stamps today it is evident that some slipped thro' the net.

I missed another big opportunity in those days of from 12 to 15 hours work. A quantity of old Spanish records were transferred from various places to a fortification very near where I lived. I often thought of getting permission from General Wood to look for stamps there, but it would have been a long job and I never got time to tackle it. Years later a Cuban told me of a few wonderful envelopes with first issues of Spanish stamps he ran across and gobbled while doing some of the moving of those records. Said he sold them for $100 per envelope. I have no doubt that there are plenty more of them there right now. Some day I may yet get a crack at them!

EDITORIAL

THE effect of the statement of the Postmaster General, Walter F. Brown, that he was receptive of suggestions for a new stamp issue has been such as to assure him that his audience has been singularly responsive. We suspect that he has been amazed at the alacrity with which a large number of the public has taken him at his word; and in the army of his correspondents, the collectors are in the majority. Indeed, not only a new general issue the object of solicitude but requests for commemorative stamps have poured in. In fact, it seems to have become the fashion to petition the department for special stamps in behalf of personages and places as nonchalantly as one borrows an umbrella. Where once a bill praying for a commemorative issue when introduced into congress was real news, it is now a commonplace occurrence. We hope that dignity and discrimination will be the guides of the department in ordering new levies. These observations are prefatory to a discussion of a movement that has for its end a series of stamps or a special issue "to commemorate the ceremony of the coming into effect of the Kellogg pact for the renunciation of war." When Japan, the last of the fifteen original signatory powers to approve it, as the Associated Press says, ratifies the pact, the intention is to celebrate the triumph of diplomacy by a formal ceremony at Washington. Among the suggestions to make the gathering distinctive is one to issue a special stamp or set; and the Women's International League has espoused the proposal and has been bringing to bear much weight in favor of it. The intimation comes that President Hoover has considered the subject and that Senator Borah of the Foreign Relations Committee has approved of the plan in conference with the postmaster general. We have been asked to align ourselves with the campaigners for the issue and in view of the worthy cause that is being promoted, it would seem to be only gracious for us to acquiesce, but having resolved to take no part in the drives for special stamps heretofore we think it best for us not to attempt to enlist the interest of readers in proselyting for the issue. Of course, it is not to be gainsaid that the object of the proposed issue is a sublime one and that it deserves all consideration is granted gladly and the indications are that the proponents of the stamps will meet with no sustained opposition, if any. The date for the coming of the special issue necessarily is in abeyance.

A RECENT caller, Prof. R. N. Latture, accredited to the Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Virginia, gave us occasion to feel that we are not forever to sail on an uncharted sea. The fact is that he is engaged in making a survey of the philatelic field with the intention of deducing conclusions that will provide a basis for the orderly study of philatelic psychology. He is gathering material that will help him in his work and aims to gain an understanding of philately in its fundamental sense. Once equipped with essential information, Prof. Latture will then enter into the interesting realm of the human element and we have confidence that he will be able to use his yard-stick in a manner to impress us all. We might add that Prof. Latture is a classmate of Dr. W. M. Brown, our philatelic friend in Lexington who is running for governor on a ticket supported, we believe, by independent republicans and democrats.

PROFESSOR LATTURE in speaking of the fixity of collecting, in many of the fixity of collecting, in many of the sections of the country, notwithstanding the fact that many collectors are charged with impermanence, said that other parts were barren of any philatelic signs. In other words, there have been centers of collecting from the first but that on the contrary, there were districts where the sun never shone on a collector. We admit that this finding is true and that while the philatelic population may be large in one spot, it is sparse, to say the least, in other places. Contagion of example may be relied upon to bring in philatelic recruits but where there are no collectors there is no standard-bearer to follow. Consequently, we are placing reliance on the newspapers to acquaint those dwelling in the hinterland of philately with the news that stamps are collected systematically and that, indeed, they are the center of a little world peopled by hundreds of thousands of normal beings who take a delight in philately. Such is the spread of stamp news that in a comparatively few years, the people of any state will accept stamp collectors as a matter of course.

IN the latter part of May, 1929, Mr. Sig. I. Rothschild gave many talks of engrossing interest on stampland at the large store of Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co., in the heart of Chicago. He addressed himself particularly to the young people, on the fifth floor of the great establishment, and so successful was he in compelling the interest of his hearers that 365 boys and girls registered as members of the junior stamp club. Since that time, meetings of the club have been held each week and on the morning of July 5th, the editor of the WEEKLY spoke to 55 boys and girls, including their mothers and never did he have a more intelligent audience than on that occasion. We commend the example of Mr. Lieber, under whose charge the club is flourishing and say that if he gets over fifty young people together on a hot morning following the Fourth-of-July, he will surpass himself six months from now.

WE have been in communication with Mr. Thos. F. Myers, Jr., publisher of a half-dozen community newspapers in Chicago, who proposes to organize junior stamp clubs in the sections in which his publications flourish. Mr. Myers became interested in the propagation of collecting through the many requests that he received from young readers for stamps that had been sent him by a reader for distribution among those who wanted them. With customary enterprise, he donated not only the stamps sent him but also many more that he was glad to pay for himself. He expects to continue his benefactions and make many a young heart glad by gifts of stamps; and we want to secure for him the coöperation that he richly deserves. We predict that in a few months Mr. Myers will be proud of the philatelic following that is his, even though many of his members will be the veriest tyros, who for that reason will be the more susceptible to the proper collecting training.

MEMBERS of the American Philatelic Society will be pleased to hear that Boston has extended an invitation to the society to hold the 1930 convention in that city. The invitation has come through the secretary of the Boston Philatelic Society, Mr. Frederic W. Stile, in behalf of his organization. The promise is made that, with the coöperation of all the New England societies, the greatest of stamp exhibitions will be held, contemporaneously with other attractions such as the tercentenary celebration of the founding of the Massachusetts Bay Colony, with pageants, historical parades, expositions, etc. We believe that some years ago, Boston asked that the convention for 1930 be held there. Boston held its share of conventions in the and in our opinion, will outdo itse the entertainment of members next if given the opportunity.

The first flight of extended day air mail service on CAM 3 affected Tulsa, Kansas City, Ft. Worth, and Dallas. Tulsa and Kansas City used special cachets, 580 leaving Kansas City, and probably less from Tulsa.  Effective Aug. 4, CAM 25 goes on a full time service, including Sundays and holidays.

Special Canadian flights from Moncton. St. John, Charlottetown, and Sidney took place July 1st and 2nd, according to previous announcements. The July 2nd flights should be the scarcer, as announcement on them came very late.  June 4th mail from Kingston and Hamilton totalled about 15,000 letters from each city.  Sept. 5 has been set apart as Air Activities Day at the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto, and an Air Derby to Cleveland is being projected. Shouldn't be surprised if something would happen here.  The government of Madagascar plans to open an air mail service serving Tanarive, Majunga, Tamatave, Diego-Saurez, Nossi-Be, Tulear, and Fort Dauphin sometime in October or November.  Air mail service from San Luis Potosi to Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, will be resumed very soon.

William Hoffman, R. F. D. 11, Box 326, Springfield, Mo., writes that his city hopes soon to receive service on the projected line St. Louis-Springfield-Tulsa-Dallas. He will be glad to receive and forward letters at the proper time.

DEDICATIONS. UNOFFICIAL FLIGHTS, ETC.

About the most interesting event of the past week, which was surely a live one so far as covers are concerned, was the special flight across Great South Bay from Patchogue to Cherry Grove, N. Y. Starting as the result of a bet between a local plane pilot and a speedboat fan as to who could carry the mail across the bay faster, it received the full co-operation of both postmasters. Covers sent to Patchogue received a large cachet in red, and they were postmarked at Cherry Grove in red also. Some covers apparently have a printed cachet, while others are rubberstamped. I'll try to give the number sent later. Only sorry that word came too late for publication here.

Buell A. French sends me a July 4th cover from Hartford, with the whole week's series of the 3rd Anniversary cachets on it. I'm getting quite a collection of these "complete series on one cover" items, and they're pretty! The series came along in fine shape, as listed last week.

Jackson, Mich., Republican Anniversary, July 6th, neat cachet in black, sticker in gold.  Incidentally, the Friendship, N. Y., celebration reported some time ago, mailed 1,000 2c and 150 air mail letters.  Also, Elmira Memorial Day, applied by General Aviation Co., about 200, air mail only.  If your 1st day Sullivans from Elmira missed the cachet, send them in to the C. of C. with return envelope, and they'll fix it up. Same applies to Horseheads, N. Y., and the Rotary Club there.

Canton, Ohio, Legion Air Derby colors were July 4—black, 5—green, 6—blue, 7—magenta.  Red Bank, N. J., Air Meet cachet by the C. of C., red, with different dates, July 3-6.  Dunkirk and Fredonia Kiwanis Clubs sponsored a special envelope in honor of Lady Heath's visit July 6, with Redpath.  American Legion Air Meet at Northampton, Mass., was another short notice affair. The cachet commemorated as well the 275th anniversary of the settlement of Northampton. Anybody get one with Mr. Coolidge's autograph? Dates were 4, 5, 6 and 7, different colors for each.

Kankakee, Ill., dedicated July 4, purple cachet by C. of C.  Just saw the Mangum, Okla., cover of May 3. Cachet by C. of C. printed in red.  Cape May, N. J., adds a bathing girl to our collection for their July 4th dedication. And, dag nab it, I forgot to send in my covers, even though I did send out the word on it.  Twin State Airport at White River Junction, Vt., July 4, 5, 6—black or red.  Vernon, Tex., in black on the Fourth, by C. of C.  Kalispell, Mont., used a printed red seal sticker on the 3rd.  Coleraine, Minn., has the most pictorial for the week—a steam shovel, plane, etc., in green, and a slogan in an arrowhead in blue on the back. One of mine was postmarked St. Paul. Special flight?  Bridgeport, Conn., July 5 and 6—regular colors, red, white and blue; with Frank M. Ham providing the one with the color varieties on one cover.

Redding, Cal., dedicated July 6, and ran an air derby to Boise via the Yellowstone cut-off on the 7th. Two cachets, both blue.  Those of you who got the Fort Collins dedication cover mailed May 7, have a genuine wreck cover. The 5,000 letters were flown by a Western Air Express plane to Denver, and were there postmarked. This mail was all flown out of Denver that night on the Cheyenne plane, but, due to bad weather, the plane crashed near Cheyenne, killing the pilot. No fire fortunately, however, and the mail was salvaged the next morning and sent on its way.  Elton M. Manuel sends me a unique cover for the Newport, R. I., dedication, July 4. No word given out on this till the last minute, and no cachet, but this didn't stump Mr. Manuel, who is quite a penman. His cover has a neatly drawn outline map of the state on it, and the typed legend to accompany it, and is something different.

Salida, Colo., dedicated July 3 and 4, with a special flight carrying all mail to Colorado Springs, where it was postmarked the 5th. Red cachet by the Legion.  As late as June 25th, Bradford, Pa., dedication committee said no cachet, but they evidently got a lot more covers and decided to fix up something. Covers received the postmark of July 5, but a mimeographed cachet on the back says the dedication was 6th, 7th, and 8th.  Flushing, N. Y., port operated by the Pioneer Aero Trades School, Inc., after several postponements, was dedicated officially July 5. Through the efforts of Sidney Rosenblatt the sponsors provided a last minute cachet, involving a winged design, and the initials P. A. T. S. I., and about 1,500 covers received it.  Erie Co. Airport, Fairview, Pa., mentioned last week should be a good one. Red cachet—30; black—30; purple—594.

Bedford, Iowa, chronicled June 29th, was another hurry up affair, and not many covers could get in from outside. D. Olin Herriott, 2238 N. 22nd St., St. Joseph, Mo., happened to be on the scene, and sent through 150 covers, which he says he'll sell to anyone needing one, very cheap, as he did not send these to make a personal profit. That's the spirit, Mr. Herriott—I hope you get a lot of letters.  The port at Grand Dalles, Wash., was dedicated June 29. Very few mailed, and no official cachet. This port will be on the new Portland-Pasco route.

Now for the new ones: Muskegon, Mich., early fall, to C. of C.—cachet.  Pittsburgh Lindbergh Anniversary, Aug. 3, not 30, as previously announced. Covers to Penning, Eugene Ave., Homestead, as usual.  Salem, Ore., dedication Aug. 8, 9 and 10. Different color each day, cachet by C. of C. Also, same dates, Legion State Convention. Separate cachet; colors; to C. S. Douglas, Route 6, Box 138, Salem, who requests that you send covers unstamped, with remittance for the postage in cash or M. O. Covers to the C. of C. ready to go, however.  Hartford, Conn., 2nd Lindbergh Anniversary on July 20, used the original Lindbergh Day cachet, with dates changed, Lancaster, Pa., Air Meet, July 27 and 28. Covers, ready to go, to Francis X. McLain, care Post Office.

Mercer Airport, Trenton, N. J., set for Oct. 26. Covers to C. of C. This will also be a 250th Anniversary celebration.  New Haven, Conn., not till end of year. C. of C. says to hold covers till about Oct. 1st.  Same thing on Utica, N. Y., but hold till after Aug. 1st.  Saginaw, Mich., dedication very soon. Covers to W. J. Foley, care Postmaster.

Junior Dictionary

Quadrille Paper.—A paper watermarked with small squares or rectangles, an effect produced by the "dandy-roll" being covered with a regular network of crossed wires. Any of the large picture stamps of Djibouti or Obock will serve as examples.

Quebec Issue.—A special issue of stamps issued in Canada in July, 1908, for the purpose of commemorating the tercentenary of the founding of the city of Quebec.

Queensland.—The northeastern state of the Commonwealth of Australia. Captain Cook visited the territory in 1770, and for a long time it was known as the Moreton Bay district. In 1859 Queensland entered on her independent career and in the following year postage stamps were issued. Separate stamps were superseded in 1913 when the issue for the Commonwealth of Australia appeared.

Quelimane.—A district of the Province of Portuguese East Africa, which issued its own special postage stamps in 1914.

How to Add to Your Collection

By MAX SCHACHTER.

There are ways of making your collection grow besides buying stamps. If you have any relatives or friends in Europe ask them to send you stamps from their country. During the war my relatives sent me Hungarian stamps. Now I receive stamps from three different countries due to Hungary being split up. If you live in a big city you might ask a foreign consul for some stamps from his country or a steamship ticket agent. My uncle, a steamship agent in New York, sends me stamps though only the latest issues. I am the only one who collects stamps in our family, but my father did some thirty years back. A foreign newspaper is printed near where I live and one day I asked the editor for a few stamps, he gave me some (enough to specialize in that country). I then tried to tell him something about stamps. The old grey-haired man of about 65 turned around and replied, "Don't try to tell me, I'm an active collector myself".

A. & T.—These letters, overprinted on French colonial stamps of the "Commerce" type, show that such stamps were intended for use in the settlements of Annam and Tonkin.

Abbreviations. — Many well-known philatelic terms are more often than not written or printed in an abbreviated form. The ones most usually met with are:—

Imp. or Imperf. for Imperforate.
Mm. for Millimetre.
Perf. or Pf. for Perforated.
Roul. for Rouletted.
Wmk. for Watermark.

Acores.—The Portuguese form for "Azores."

Adhesive.—A term applied to ordinary postage stamps which are intended to be stuck on postal packets, in contradistinction to stamps printed upon envelopes, postcards, newspaper wrappers, etc.

Albino.—An entirely colorless impression of a stamp produced by the process of embossing.

Alexandrie (Alexandria).—Shown on stamps for the French Consular Office established at that port.

Anato Ikh Pomy Ia.—Greek characters for "Eastern Roumelia."

B.—This letter overprinted on various Straits Settlements stamps shows they were intended for use in Bangkok.

Bayern.—The German form for "Bavaria."

B. C. A.—These letters overprinted on certain stamps of the British South Africa Company (Rhodesia) indicate that they were for use in British Central Africa.

COMMEMORATIVES, GOD BLESS 'EM

It comes as a great disappointment to me to learn that France, Portugal, Spain, Italy, and the gentle, yodeling Switzer all have national debts; I thought that matter had been buttoned up months since.

They call 'em long sets; a sad mis-nomer, for I am not only short after I buy 'em, but I remain that way. Maybe the boys mean you keep 'em a long time.

Now, Edison he made a lamp,
So I must buy a postage stamp.
If this keeps up I plainly see
Where I part from philatelee.
One time Noah built the ark,
Another stamp; gee, what a lark!
A cow in Chi once kicked a lamp;
Ain't that nice? Another stamp.
Santa Rosa had a 'quake,
One stamp more, oh, wotta break.
And there, of course, was Jim O'Toole,
Who once remained after school;
And, since it pays to advertise,
We'll have a set for the wise guys.

What I call the height of optimism is the guy who keeps saving the two cent used Columbians of his boyhood because the Norse-Americans went up.

—Hill Billy.

The Post Office authorities are working their heads off to find a two-cent stamp that will stick. We know, says the Chicago Tribune,—put Andy Mellon's picture on it, and then you couldn't pry it off with a crowbar.

One week recently the Fun Forum had contributions sent in from Fort Worth, Tex., Scappoose, Ore., and New York City. That's three corners of the U. S. heard from, now why couldn't Florida have made it unanimous?

Philatelic Proverbs

The getting of treasures by a lying tongue is a vanity tossed to and fro by some who seek swaps.

Let a bear robbed of her whelps meet a man rather than a fool in his folly; as the pre-cancel guy told the plating nut quite frankly.

HORRIBLE THOUGHT: — SUPPOSE THE CHINESE SHOULD BEGIN THE USE OF PRECANCELLED STAMPS.

The funniest souvenir of official dumbness was that famous meat trust ad, Western Cattle in a Storm, for which a P. M. Jineral had to apologize to John Bull because the ad was a pirated copy of a museum painting. This gets right humorous when it is considered that this is the finest commemorative that Uncle Sam has issued—artistically speaking. Our Uncle should hire a cigaret ad artist, or buy Palm Olive.

Gotta quit; any o' you guys got any extra sheets of Hawaii five cents?

foreign countries. A recent loss b New York dealer occurred when "Vestris" went down. He had a valu lot of mail registered, which happene be on that ill-fated vessel. His letter of course lost. After some waiting account was finally closed, and his re try of the package brought him back than $4 on his shipment of stamps you know how stamps even the am at which they are valued are someti only half-way welcome. For instanc a collector is sending some of his items to a correspondent who lives foreign country, he would feel worse the loss of the stamps, than to recei full return of the amount of their surance.

Do you know under what terms registered mail is handled when it to a foreign country? Or do you seal it up nicely so that the registry will accept it as you hand it in, for are very careful about the sealing, the return addresses, etc., and then your registry slip, heave a sigh, and to yourself, "Well, that's that," and that all is well? Sure you do, and all of us do that. Some call for a re receipt card, tho that has nothing at a do with the safe passage of the mail.

My good friend Prevost had the case of loss or damage to registered that has come to my notice locally. sent stamps of value to a correspondei St. Pierre. The staunch little ship "S per," Boston to St. John, struck unusu foggy weather, and went on the r around the first of November, 1928. mail pouches were saved by hard dangerous work, but the contents w badly water soaked. In his letter the blocks of early Newfoundland of co lost their mintness while the perfor items soaked apart into singles. stamps on the covers soaked away the covers were afterward unpresent from a philatelic standpoint.

On May 1, 1929, in answer to a c for damage, Mr. Prevost received a let from the local post office, quoting a report received from the Chief spector, Washington, D. C., in connec with the damage occurring to the re tered letter as follows:

"It is regretted that indemnity ca be paid in this case as the Postal U Convention, under the terms which article was accepted for registration, not provide for the payment of indem on account of the damage of regist letters in the international mails."

Had this letter contained a rare valued at a thousand dollars, and ins for that amount by the payment of dollar as per itemized insurance list would have been "out" $1001, less amount at which the items could b been salvaged. Fortunately this partic sending was not of great value.

Did I ever tell you that you could cure the "U. S. Official Postal Gu with Monthly Supplements for $1.25 without Supplements for $1.00), by s ing P. O. M. O. or cash registered, to Supt. of Documents, Government P ing Office, Washington, D. C. If hasn't been mentioned before, I am s for the book is well worth your little dollar. It gives a list of the present p offices of the U. S. and for that al you will be glad to have a copy for re ence. The 1928 edition has over 1 pages and anyone interested in postal tory, rules and regulations, dead let war savings certificates, adhesive inte revenue stamps, and many, many th you have wondered about,—well, they answered in the P. O. Guide, and it i yours at a dollar.

FROM ONE GENERATION TO ANOTHER

A new feature of the stamp game is the number of fellows who are building up collections for their sons or grandsons. They get a lot of fun out of it themselves and in the meantime are creating valuable property investments for later generations, for stamps do rise in value, if you buy wisely, and give them time to mature.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., P. O. Box 2175, Middle City Station, Phila., Pa., who will also be pleased to pass on oddities and varieties of all U. S. stamps. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, cor. Robbins Road and Locust Ave., Lexington, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

United States

Washington Notes

The Post Office Department has ordered an additional 100,000,000 2c "Edison" stamps, divided evenly between the rotary sheets and rotary coils. This, along with the 180,000,000 originally ordered, makes a total of 280,000,000 possibly the largest number of any commemorative issued to date. The fact that the stamp is the same size as the normal stamps causes no trouble to the postal clerk, hence, the variety is meeting with approval.

The Agency is receiving hundreds of letters asking for the stamp in imperforate condition and as we mentioned when the variety was first chronicled, it is not the intentions of the department to issue the stamp in imperforate form. It is doubtful if we will have any further imperforate stamps, as the reason for which they were originally issued no longer exists. The stamp affixing and selling machines that formerly required special perforations which they themselves made from the imperforate sheet are now using the specially prepared government coils of three thousand.

The stamp is certainly advertising the electric industry, and it will be surprising if the General Electric does not put away a good supply for future use, as the name of "Edison" has been used almost exclusively by this company in the past. It only needs the little insignia "G. E." in the corner to make it a General Electric advertising label. I imagine that our good friend Mr. H. M. Southgate, who is the manager of one of the branch offices of the Westinghouse Company, will not look upon the stamp with favor.

The Third Assistant Postmaster General, Mr. Frederic A. Tilton, confirms the information previously given in this column, and announced by the Postmaster General, and that is a 2c stamp, commemorating the Battle of Fallen Timbers, will appear some time during September. There is going to be a celebration at a point about ten miles from Toledo, Ohio, where a statue of General Anthony Wayne will be unveiled. It is expected that the stamp will be ready and no doubt, will be placed on sale at that place on the first day. While a definite design has not, as yet, been approved, they are considering either a portrait of General Wayne in revolutionary uniform, or a picture of the monument which is going to be unveiled. It is the intentions of the department of printing the stamp in a single color, red, and it will, no doubt, be the same size as the current issue. The quantity is not likely to be large, as it is simply a local affair, and issued at the request of the Ohio Delegation in Congress. This variety will be followed in short order by stamps commemorating the opening of the great waterway lock system on the Ohio River from Pittsburgh to Cairo.

DELAYED!

Bi-Monthly Journal No. 28 Will Be Mailed about August 1st

IN the course of production, BI-MONTHLY JOURNAL No. 28 has unexpectedly grown in size to 128 pages, and the date of publication has unavoidably been delayed.

When you see the new JOURNAL, however, we believe you will agree with us that the delay was more than worth-while.

Between its covers you'll find scores of beautifully illustrated pages, offering a great variety of exceptional values.

You'll be pleased by the fact that with no sacrifice of quality we have been able to offer innumerable "good buys" in stamp merchandise — in Better-Grade and Low-Priced Sets, in superb assortments of French Colonials and other popular countries, in combination lots of great value, and in large collections and special packets.

Many interesting articles and editorials are also included, to make the BI-MONTHLY JOURNAL an interesting magazine, as well as a treasury of supreme values.

IMPORTANT!

If you are already a customer of ours—
If you requested or received a copy of our Journal No. 27—

If you have requested a copy of either Journal No. 28 or our Annual Catalog (both as yet unpublished)—

Then your name is on our mailing list, and you will receive a free copy of Journal No. 28 as soon as it is published.

IF NOT—Write To-day for Your Copy. It will be mailed to you hot off the press, free and without obligation, during the first week in August.

NEW STAMP DESIGN

A despatch from Prague, under date July 6, states that President Masaryk's features, which appear on postage stamps of Czechoslovakia, will be replaced in the next issue with heraldic designs. These include the arms of the five divisions of the country—Bohemia, Silesia, Moravia, Slovakia and Carpathian Ruthenia. We acknowledge receipt of clipping from Brooklyn Daily Eagle sent us by B. R. Whitaker, Jr.

NEW CANAL ZONE STAMPS ISSUED

The new 12-cent and 50-cent Canal Zone stamps, described recently in the Chronicle, and belonging to the set, along with the 5-cent recently issued, were placed on sale at Balboa Heights, Canal Zone, on July first.

DETROIT COLLECTORS' OUTING TO CANADA

Members of the Michigan Stamp Club of Detroit and their ladies through Seth Andrews, chairman of the entertainment committee, invited the members for a day's outing on Sunday, July 28th, to Bois Blanc (Bob-lo) Island at the mouth of Lake Erie, one of the most popular resorts out of Detroit on the Canadian side. It's to be a "Big family picnic" with plenty of good fellowship such as exists in this club. A day of joy and recreation to those attending.

Collectors, whether members of the club or not, or anyone visiting here are invited to join the outing. Four boats, two in the morning and two in the afternoon. It will be a day not soon forgotten, and will bring back to memory the pleasant day spent with collectors.—HERMAN W. BOERS, Publicity Dept., Michigan Stamp Club of Detroit.

No other new stamp is at present contemplated, although there has been some question of issuing a peace stamp commemorating the Kellogg activities. No definite understanding has been reached, although the Washington papers carried notices that two such varieties were contemplated.

The Bureau is still working with the rotary press stamps as they have not given satisfaction. They are still working with the gumming process, in spite of the fact that one of our contemporaries in their May 11th issue, took us to task when we said that such experiments were being carried on. Their correspondent writes that no experiments were being made.

The Bureau has about reached the conclusion that the heating process is taking the life out of the gum, preventing it from properly sticking, and the thought has occurred that it might be more satisfactory to print and dry the stamps on one press and then gum them on a second machine. While this will cost considerably more, it is believed that it will eliminate the present trouble. If the new process goes into effect the new varieties will not be distinguishable from the old ones as the gum will be identical. The tests of the Bureau of Standards did not prove the stamps to be as satisfactory, as the daily press notices would lead one to believe. Reports from post offices all over the country show that not thousands but tens of thousands of stamps are dropping from the mail in transit, resulting in postage due being collected where the stamps fall off.

New Plates

Through the courtesy of Mr. A. W. Hall, Director of the Bureau of Engraving & Printing, we are enabled to bring our list of plate numbers up to and including those issued to July 5th. This list shows the Sullivan and Edison plates made to date.

2c Sullivan

Our correspondent, Mr. P. R. Cro tells us that we are wrong in assu that the stick in General Sullivan's is either a spear or a mortar-mi stick. He states that it is a hop pol Irish gentleman is carrying. He w that if the critics of the stamp had in the New York area as long as he they would realize that this part of York State over which General Sul travelled was devoted to the growin hops to a great extent before our f Volstead came along. Perhaps the Saloon League should make an inves tion of the Post Office Departmen see that such propaganda is discont

Mr. Crooker further confirms ou cent remarks as to the haphazard me in which postmasters issued the first covers. On 25 covers which he rec from Perry, 18 were with straight e and out of a similar number from El 15 showed straight edges, with five o coming from each of the other to He further states that the clerks a own post office at Canajoharie purp saw that no straight edges went on lectors' covers.

Minor Varieties

Mr. Samuel J. Smith states on tenth, twenty-fifth and twenty- stamps, Plate 19784 of the 2c Sull that a dot may be found on the se "L" of the General's name. He not mention upon what pane the va is found.

Mr. Chester W. Hodgson shows plate number block wherein only ha the plate number is printed, due to fact that the entire plate was not pr ly inked.

Mr. Donald E. Dickason submi block of four of the current 10c ro in which the ink is so sticky that it adhered to the wax envelope in whi was enclosed for inspection. It is tainly something in the ink, for the printed margins failed to show the st substance.

Mr. H. M. Brehm has located a s of the 2c Edison rotary print in w over half of the row of stamps from pane above are shown and half of bottom horizontal row is missing. accounts for some of the blocks tha have seen showing the margins stamps below and above.

Philippines

We are in receipt of a detailed c munication from one of our Philip correspondents, stating that an invest tion is being made of one of the postal officials and that the office question is supposed to have obtained teen hundred sets of the recent air stamps which he will later distri From the looks of things, there is li to be some changes in the personnel.

The numbers, however, which we lished some months back of the air stamps overprinted will not change, the holdings in question came from original lot. There has been a den for a further printing, but this wil impossible, as the plates for surchar have been destroyed.

echoslovakia.—The 2.50k in blue, a view marked "Praha" for a cen- design, has been sent for chronicle by Economist Stamp Co.

gypt.—Mr. R. Roberts submits for inspection two values of postage due ps in the new type. They are the grey-green and 10mm terra cotta.

stonia. — Stamp Collecting reports an issue of Red Cross postage ps is expected.

ermany.—The colors of the 10 and stamps of the "Dienstmarke" series about to be transposed, the 10pf be- ng scarlet (instead of carmine) and 15pf carmine (instead of scarlet). mp Collecting states in a recent issue they were expected to be issued about middle of June.

onduras. — Information furnished he Stamp Collector's Magazine is to effect that the total issue of the "Co- as" commemorative stamps was lim- to 7,000 sets of which 250 were ted in error with colors reversed, i.e., for the 1c, and green for the 2c.

ungary. — The Economist Stamp have sent us a copy of a 46f yellow- n, type similar to A27 with slight ge in the lines of the border. The p is watermarked Double Cross on amid, per. 14.

ndia. — We have received from n's New Issue Service copies of the e Anna" on 1½a with the surcharge Official use with double overprint. different widths are submitted, one a wide double surcharge and the r close. Our correspondent informs us that the stamps on the right side of the sheet were the close variety.

Irish Free State.—Whitfield King & Co. and Mr. R. Roberts have submitted the new Catholic Emancipation set for our inspection, illustration of which appeared under our "Stop Press" heading last week. There are three values: 2p grey-green, 3p blue, and 9p violet, watermarked Monogram E. S. as before. The portrait in the centre is that of the "Liberator", Daniel O'Connell, with the dates "1829-1929" at the top with "Eire" just above. The stamps are quite attractive and will prove of interest to the collectors at large.

Latvia.—We learn from Die Postmarke that two charity stamp issues are pending, the first in aid of war invalids, and the second for the purpose of a memorial to the late Minister Meijerowitz.

Lithuania.—Copies of the 15c red, type A31, watermarked Parquetry, have been received from Economist Stamp Co. for chronicle.

Mozambique.—The 50c grey postage due stamp has been overprinted "Correios", the word "Receber" at the bottom being cancelled by a red bar. Mr. R. Roberts sends a copy for note.

Persia. — Another value has been added to the series noted in our issue of last week. It is the 3kr green and lake, and is the same design as the lower values. Whitfield King & Co. report this value for chronicle.

Poland.—Economist Stamp Co. advise that the 25gr brown, Eagle type, has been issued with the two line surcharge "Port Gdansk" in black.

Portugal.—Two weeks ago we chronicled the 5c red-brown Telegraph stamp surcharged "Correio 1$60". Mr. R. Roberts advises that he has received this stamp again, but this time it is printed on very thin transparent paper, while the previous one was on very thick paper.

GOOD FOR STAMP COLLECTORS

The plan of the post office department to imprint stamps of the lower denominations with the name of the states in which they are sold is designed as a check against thievery, but is likely to have another consequence as well. We shall be greatly surprised if it does not complicate, if it does not stimulate, the avocation of stamp collecting. The philatelist who now pursues the ideal of the "complete set" will, if the scheme is generally adopted, find his problem about fifty times as big as it is now.

Issues of which the largest quantities are sold are those ranging from 1 to 5 cents. The government's idea is that post office robbers may be more easily captured if, for example, the mere offer of large quantities in a different state from that in which the stamps were presumed to be sold tends to arouse suspicion. It may be embarrassing to yeggmen to be compelled to convert their swag into cash in the same state in which it is stolen. The expedient appears to be simple; it will be tried experimentally in Kansas and Nebraska and if it works well will be extended to the forty-eight states, the District of Columbia, and Alaska. Assurance that the department has not moved precipitately is given in the statement that the idea has been under consideration ever since 1902.

It would be a boon to some collectors if the venture should be abandoned after trial in the states mentioned, for Kansas and Nebraska imprints would then have a special value, enhanced by their comparative rarity. However, there are no signs that it will fail. It is so simple we wonder that it was not done before. Explanation for action at this time is likely to be found in the increasing activities of this type of larcenists, encouraged by large-scale organization of criminal disposers of stolen goods. The latter incidentally call attention to the growing interstate character of crime in general. The remedy aimed at is decentralization of crime through centralization of methods of detection.

If it is asked what added value will be given the stamp by the imprint, the answer is, intrinsically nothing. But the man who thinks intrinsic worth has anything to do with collectors' estimates knows little or nothing about the genius of the collecting mania. The idea is to strive for perfection, in this instance measured by completeness of performance. It is going to be fifty times as interesting because it will be fifty times as difficult. We would not disparage the idea because after all it has the germ in it of achievement for its own sake, of which there may be all too little in a materialistic world.—Editorial in Portland Oregonian.

AN ALL-BLACK COLLECTION

By MAJOR JOHN TULLEKEN.

Starting this particular line of collecting in 1910, I am now the owner of about 700 black stamps of the whole world, not counting many of them in pairs, strips, blocks, and on cover. The stamp lover who is keenly interested in the "beauty and delicacy of a finely engraved design" (to repeat the words of your correspondent) will find in the black stamp everything he is looking for. I still can remember some of the remarks made by fellow collectors at one of our club meetings when I told them that I was going to collect black stamps. At first sight one would be inclined to think that a page with black stamps would look like a graveyard in the dark. Nothing of the kind—the variety in hues is astonishing, as one will find purplish-black, greenish, brownish, bluish-black, and if in addition to these various hues a coloured cancellation appears on the stamp, I claim without hesitation that such an album page will outshine any other covered with stamps of divers plumage. Again quoting your correspondent's words: "The formation of a complete collection of such stamps . . . would task even a wealthy philatelist." I venture to say that even the completion of a collection of all-black British Colonials would seem to be a hopeless undertaking, unless one can afford to pay the price of a 12d black Canada. A black proof is in this case a very desirable substitute.

Checking up in any catalogue all stamps described as black and grey-black, one shall find that approximately 2,200 of such stamps have been issued up to the present date. The most beautiful of them all is, without a shadow of a doubt, the "Penny Black," my favourite. Being an artist, I have mounted a mint beauty in a setting worthy of it. The combination of the royal golden crown and the crimson mantle with ermine as a background for the stamp proper, set in a pearl frame and sided by green palm branches, brings out all the delicate details of the masterly executed miniature engraving. The next album page contains fine specimens of varieties with divers cancellations and a pair on cover, with a space left open for a block of four, which I hope to secure some day.

My album pages are of 2-ply dark brown cardboard and every stamp mounted is surrounded by a golden frame one-sixteenth of an inch wide, shadowed with India ink. The writing up is done in old Italian script and suitably decorated with a great variety of designs.

A survey of all the black stamps will reveal that the majority of them have to be classified as "rarities," such as: Canada 12d, Uganda typewritten, Brazil Bull's-eyes and small Italics, Bremen 10gr, Swiss cantonals, Russian Crete 1, 2m and 1 grosion, Fiji Dues, Colombian Republic, besides a host of others, amongst which the Ecuador Black Officials and many Nicaragua Surcharges postally used should not be forgotten. These Central and South Americans, though of low catalogue value in many cases, no doubt belong to the "hardest to get's."—Gibbons' Stamp Monthly.

National Stamp Exhibition

DETAILED PROGRAM OF THE GREAT EVENT TO BE HELD AT MINNEAPOLIS, AUG. 19-24

The management of the stamp exhibition to be held in Minneapolis during the week of August 19-24 desires to emphasize that all collectors and dealers are invited to come to the show or to submit their collections for display whether or not they are members of any philatelic society. The exhibition is a free-for-all for all stamp collectors.

All of the exhibits of stamps will be displayed in frames. One frame holds a maximum of 16 album pages, size 9½x11¼. The display space in each frame is approximately 3'x4'. In entering stamps for a prize, any portion that the exhibitor desires may be shown in frames and the remainder will be held for examination by the judges.

In order to defray the expense of the undertaking, there is an entry fee on each album of $1.00, and a charge of $2.00 per frame. However, in the case of entries in the Juvenile and Junior classes, that is, those under 21 years of age, there will be no entry fee charged.

Collections which are mounted in bound albums cannot be displayed in frames unless certain portions of them are remounted on loose pages. But bound albums, if the space permits, will be shown in flat display cases at interesting pages.

A special method of mounting the album sheets in the display frames was perfected by the Cleveland Exhibition. A special tape is used which is held below the album sheets by push-pins, so that it is not necessary to deface the album sheets by tacks or pins.

Splendid arrangements have been made for the storage of the collections prior to the show at the Midland National Bank and Trust Company of Minneapolis. Collections should be forwarded to reach Minneapolis between August 1 and August 14.

The Board of Directors of the Exhibition will appreciate advance notices from any collectors who intend to exhibit their holdings. Any further information may be obtained from V. W. Rotnem, 1054 McKnight Bldg., Minneapolis, Minn.

Parties who are intending to come to Minneapolis will be interested to know that there are special rates for summer vacation tourists to Minneapolis from eastern points which are west of Buffalo. From points which are east of Buffalo, there are special round-trip rates to Wayzata, a town on Lake Minnetonka, which is only twelve miles west of Minneapolis. Parties who live east of Buffalo should buy round trip tickets to Wayzata. This town is within easy access of Minneapolis, and it will be no great task to validate the tickets while here. From every point east of Chicago and west of Buffalo, or west and south of Kansas City and Omaha, special round trip rates are available either to Minneapolis or to Wayzata, Excelsior, or other Lake Minnetonka points.

The committee has decided not to suggest that attendants attempt to take advantage of the convention coupon saving because in the past, this arrangement has never worked out to mean a saving inasmuch as from most centers of the country, there are special round trip rates, which are roughly equivalent to the coupon rate of fare and a half.

Hotel Rates

Most of the stamp collectors who come to the Exhibition will no doubt stop at the Nicollet Hotel, which is the convention headquarters, and is only a few blocks from the exhibition building. The rates at the hotel are as follows: Single, without bath, $2.00; with bath, $2.50, 3.00, 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00. Double, without bath, $3.50; with bath, $4.00, 4.50, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00. Because of the great number of summer tourists who travel through Minneapolis at this time of the year, it is advisable to make early reservations.

Official Convention Program

Monday, August 19—8.00 p. m.—Reception at the New Nicollet Hotel.

Tuesday, August 20—9.00-12.00 a. m.—Business Session. 3.00 p. m.—Tour of the Stores for the Ladies. 4.30-6.30 p. m.

STANLEY GIBBONS, INC., U. S. LIBRARY

After the lapse of several years we have entirely revised and rewritten the first three volumes of our U. S. Library, dealing with the nineteenth century issues.

Vol. IV, dealing with the twentieth century issues, is now in course of revision and will be ready shortly.

VOLUME I. THE ISSUES OF 1847 TO 1869 INCLUSIVE

Here we have the types of the 1851-57 Issue enlarged.
Differences between the August and September issue are clearly shown.
The two types of the 15c 1869 are carefully drawn.
Clear directions are given as to what to avoid, and be suspicious of; also tests for washed stamps.
Altogether a most helpful book to the U. S. Collector, and one which should save many times its cost. Price 50c

VOLUME II. THE ISSUES OF 1870 TO 1893 INCLUSIVE

The Volume deals chiefly with the very complicated productions of the National, Continental and American Bank Note Campaigns.

We show enlarged drawings of the secret marks, together with pen sketches of the Presidents represented on these issues; also large illustrations of the recuttings done in 1881.

A most useful volume, with a table in the preface with tests for successfully separating all the 1870-82 Printings, which issues we nearly always find misplaced in collections. Price 50c

VOLUME III. THE BUREAU ISSUES OF 1894 TO 1900

This Volume treats of the early efforts of our government to produce postage stamps, starting with the ragged 1894 issue.

The three triangles, and also the two types of the 10c and $1.00 stamps, are carefully shown by enlarged illustrations.

Also, this Volume lists the various styles of imprints used.

Another most useful book, of great help to the collector. Price 50c

Remember the above three volumes are completely revised and brought up to date, and contain a wealth of new and interesting information, including earliest known dates, approximate quantities issued, etc.

Send in that $1.50 now for the set.

1c ROTARY PRESS CANAL ZONE

By LOUIS G. BARRETT, 200 Park St., W. Roxbury, Mass.

I am enclosing herewith a block of thirty-six (6x6) One Cent Rotary Press, Canal Zone compound perf.; on which I note quite a few irregularities in the position of the words "CANAL" and "ZONE" in relation to each other.

The overprint is of the "pointed A" font, and the block is from the N. W. corner of a N. W. pane of 100.

A Boston dealer received a lot a while ago direct from the Zone, containing sheets of several values, and had sold the balance of this sheet before I had the opportunity of inspecting it. Oddly enough, no other value in the lot showed anything but normal relations.

To go into details,—I find on this block that there are six positions of the word "ZONE" in relation to the word "CANAL," as follows:

D: "ZONE" shifted still further to the right; "E" of "ZONE" considerably to the right of "L" of "CANAL."

E. "ZONE" shifted to the left; "Z" of "ZONE" slightly to the right of "C" of "CANAL."

In this block of 36 there are 10 Var. A: Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 17, 18, 29 and 30; 9 Var. B: Nos. 16, 19, 20, 21, 23, 24, 26, 27 and 28; 9 Var. C: Nos. 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 15, 22 and 25; 2 Var. D: Nos. 13, 14; 4 Var. E: Nos. 31, 32, 33 and 34; 2 Var. F: Nos. 35 and 36.

The most noticeable variations in relative positions of the two words are shown by the first two stamps in the third row of the block (Nos. 21 and 22 of the sheet), and the last two stamps of the sixth row of the block (Nos. 55 and 56 of the sheet), revealing the extreme right and left shifts of the word "ZONE." It would be interesting to know how the rest of the sheet was set up, if anyone has a full pane to consult.

In addition to these shifts in the overprinted words, there are several distinct "broken type" varieties in the block, to be noted, as follows:

No. 13: Right stroke of "N" of "CANAL" broken.

No. 17: Left stroke of "N" of "CANAL" broken; notch in top of "O" of "ZONE."

No. 20: Right serif of right stroke of "N" of "CANAL" missing.

No. 22: Lower serif of "E" of "ZONE" broken.

No. 23: Right stroke of first "A" of "CANAL" is defective at its base.

No. 30: Base of right stroke of second "A" of "CANAL" is broken.

No. 31: Lower left serif of left stroke of "N" of "CANAL" missing.

No. 36: Base of right stroke of first "A" of "CANAL" is defective.

I thought this might be of interest to MEKEEL'S readers, as I have seen no mention of these irregularities in your paper.

PHILIPPINE STAMP AFFAIRS

By PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

Not only the philatelic fraternity of Manila, but the daily press as well, has taken up the subject of the so-called scandal in connection with the recent Philippine Air Mail series.

From detailed communications received from the Islands, in addition to newspaper clippings, it seems that when the recent Air Mail series was issued, only six thousand (6,000) complete sets were prepared, in spite of the fact that orders received in advance of their appearance, exceeded this amount. Those who made requests in advance only received small proportions of their requirements, hence, the stamps commanded substantial premiums well over face value right from the start.

It now turns out that one of the post office officials, who seems to have gotten into considerable trouble otherwise, had reserved for himself fifteen hun (1,500) sets. These have been par offered to dealers in the United St through local agents, and the same h ippine official in question has tak good supply with him to England. s result, the stamps have come upo market at a lower figure than orig priced, so that those in Manila who ply the American dealers are now deavoring to explain why the fa quotations.

If the owner of this large lot, originally offered them in quantiti fifty to one hundred sets, has not tributed them and dumps the entir at once, we are likely to see even l quotations, although with only six sand (6,000) complete sets, the st are likely to be well worth the prices asked and even more.

There were some remarks printed tive to a reissue, but this is not s the plates for overprinting were destr and there is no possibility of more made.

As to prices falling below actual v I can well recall the case of the ori find in 1917 of our own 5-cent red If my memory serves me correctly first one or two located, sold at $150 to $200 each, and quite a nu later changed hands at $50. Late postal clerks here and there found numbers with the result that offers to dealers simultaneously from nu ous sources, with the result that a time, I purchased them as low as sev five cents per stamp. In other w when dozens are trying to unloa once, the supply becomes larger tha demand and the price materially Today, these stamps have been well tributed and there are no large quan held anywhere. As a result, fine c bring well towards full catalogue.

J. O. MOORE, INC., HAMMONDSPORT, N. Y.

EVERY STAMP SHOULD TELL A STORY

By A. F. Basset Hull.

To the true collector every stamp acquired tells a story in two parts: (1) Its own life history, and (2) The story of its acquisition. The first part may be relatively long or short as compared with the second, but the student of stamps should be in a position to relate both parts, if required, to an interested person viewing the collection. To the mere accumulator of varieties, and completer of sets, the history of individual stamps is generally a sealed book. To the question, "Who engraved the die of that stamp?" he replies, "Blowedifino," or "Some old johnnie, can't remember his name." He can generally tell you the date of issue, for this is more or less impressed on his mind when he is looking up the value according to catalogue, and he can often tell you now much less than "cat" it cost him, but there the stamp-story ends.

As an instance of a story telling stamp I pass round for inspection a "Blue Penny Van Diemen's Land," and would tell its story as follows:

Anthony Van Diemen was governor of the Dutch settlements in the East Indies when Abel Tasman set out on his voyage of discovery from Batavia. This navigator sighted land, part of what was then known as the Great Southern Continent, and named it Van Diemen's Land. It was not until 160 years later that this land was settled by an expedition from Sydney, and made a branch convict establishment. In twenty years it had progressed so that it was separated from its parent colony, and in another thirty years it was sufficiently grown-up to desire the comfort and convenience of postage stamps. In 1853 the Legislature passed an Act authorising the issue of adhesive stamps to prepay postage, and orders were sent to England for dies and plates for their production. In the meantime the authorities looked round for an engraver to make stamps for temporary use until the English articles could be obtained. A Mr. C. W. Coard was available, and he engraved copper plates containing 24 repetitions of a stamp at one penny, and 48, in two plates of 24 each, of a stamp at four pence. Messrs. H. and C. Best, local printers and newspaper proprietors, printed the stamps, which were first issued for use on 1st November, 1853. Examination showed that, while the 24 stamps on each plate were not exactly alike, they were much more difficult to plate than the copper or steel plate hand engraved stamps of New South Wales, 1850-4. Our "Blue Penny" served the public for two years, and was superseded by the English engraved and printed stamp with a full face portrait of the Queen.

My stamp could tell quite a lot more about its papers and printings, its shades and the little irregularities in shape of lettering which help in the plating, but enough has been said on that side of the history. There is, however, something unusual about the stamp that adds a paragraph of peculiar interest to Part 1 of the story. It bears a cancellation in pen-and-ink 8/2/67. This is twelve years after the stamp had ceased to be issued for use, and the cancellation indicates that the stamp was used to denote payment of a fiscal and not a postal tax. When the "Blue Penny" was first issued there were no fiscal duties to be paid or denoted by means of stamps, the first Stamp Duty Act being passed in 1863. Consequently our stamp tells us that for twelve long and weary years it reposed in some desk or wallet, and was then brought to light only to serve the obnoxious part of a tax collector! As the cult of stamp collecting had then reached Tasmanian shores it seems strange that the little old blue stamp did not attract attention as an object to be preserved rather than ignominiously stuck on a rent receipt or bank cheque!

So much for Part 1 of its story. Now for Part 2.

Re-visiting Tasmania after an absence of thirty-five years, I was present at a meeting of the Tasmania Philatelic Society. After formal business had been transacted, an auction of stamps took place. "Penny Blue with fiscal cancellation," was the auctioneer's description of one lot. As I knew that many of the stamps of Van Diemen's Land used postally from 1853 to 1863 were cancelled by pen and ink, I thought that the stamp on sale was one of these postally pen-cancelled stamps. As it passed under review, however, I saw that the date clearly indicated fiscal use, and being a collector of Australian fiscals, I jumped at the opportunity of securing a remarkable and doubtless very rare example of a fiscally used postal at about one-sixth of catalogue price.—Aust. Stamp Journal.

HAITIAN POSTAL REVENUE, 1924-25

By HARRY E. HUBER.

On June 6, 1924, a law was approved by the Haitian Council of State creating a Bureau of Internal Revenue (under the supervision of the General Receiver), for the administration of all revenues of the Government other than those administered by the Customs service. On August 1st the new organisation took over the actual administration of the internal taxes. In the same manner that 5% of customs collections is allowed to the Financial Adviser-General Receiver, 15% of the internal revenue collections is allowed for the costs of operating the Bureau of Internal Revenue. In both cases the percentage is expected to cover not only the operation but also 1% commission to the Banque Nationale de la Republique d'Haiti for its services in receiving collections.

The law of June 6, 1924, also provides that all internal revenue and postage stamps and stamped paper shall be kept in the custody of the Banque Nationale, subject to the orders and general control of the Director General of Internal Revenue. The general administrative supervision was assumed by the Internal Revenue service over the stamp service, but actual sales and distribution of stamps continued to be effected by the Banque.

An important reform carried out during the fiscal year ended Sept. 30, 1925, was the suppression of licensed stamp agents, who were formerly allowed a commission of 10% on all sales made by them. This change was made effective on Jan. 8, 1925, as regards internal revenue stamps, and stamped paper, and extended to postage stamps on Mar. 1, 1925. Retail sales formerly made by the licensed agents were taken over by the Banque Nationale without inconvenience to the public.

At the time of suppression of licensed agents, an ample stock of postage stamps was advanced to the directors of Post Offices in the larger towns, who are now required to sell to the public as part of their regular duties. Towards the end of the fiscal year stocks of stamps were also advanced to postal agents in practically all of the small rural communes of the Republic. For administrative purposes, the internal revenue service is divided into 11 collection districts, and in addition to these, internal revenue agents are stationed in 83 rural communes, making a total of 94 offices.

Revenues from the sale of postage and internal revenue stamps showed a marked expansion for the year ended Sept. 30, 1925, due in part to the suppression of the 10% commission formerly allowed to licensed vendors. Postage stamps to the value of G. 195,755.00 were sold during the year (as compared with G. 119,147.96 in 1923-24), and G. 371,795.54 was derived from the sale of documentary stamps (this latter including approximately G. 88,000 obtained from the steamship passage tax levied by law of Jan. 23, 1925, and which tax is collected by means of internal revenue stamps).

The Haitian Post Office Dept. contributes a very small share of the total income of the Government, which in 1924-25, amounted to G. 40,487,667.00 (as against G. 32,902,321.33 in 1923-24).

Postage stamp sales, by districts, during the year were as follows:

Aquin	G. 1,149.45
Cap Haitien	17,063.95
Cayes	9,144.38
Gonaives	6,597.07
Jacmel	7,999.28
Jeremie	4,912.45
Miragoane	1,354.28
Petit Goave	3,729.35
Port au Prince	135,818.58	11,348.90
Port de Paix	4,562.96
Saint Marc	3,423.25
	G. 195,755.00	11,348.90

Since the monetary reform agreement of May 2, 1919, the value of the Haitian gourde (20c U. S.) has not fluctuated.

The postal revenue benefited to some extent by reason of the 1924 pictorial series of postage stamps (5c, 10c, 20c, 50c and G.1) placed on sale Sept. 3, 1924, just before the close of the preceding fiscal year.

During the year the 5c and 10c of the 1920 Agriculture and Commerce series exhausted; the 3c, 15c and 25c, however, continued in use.

Early in 1925 a second printing of the 10c Citadelle was received from New York.

On May 2nd, 1925, commercial air mail service was inaugurated between Port au Prince and Cap Haitien, by planes of the U. S. Marine Corps, which had previously carried only the Brigade mails. The service is without expense to the Haitian Government, except for a small sum spent on improving the landing field at Cap Haitien. The air mail letter rate is 50c de g. per 20 grs., and ordinary postage stamps are used. The overland letter rate is 10c de g.

ART IN STAMPS

By FRANK E. ROBBINS.

Is it not a fact that there is hardly a country in Europe whose postage stamps, from the artistic standpoint, have not many times the merit of those of our own country? I hate to confess it, but I think it is true. I do not mean to criticize the admirable technical work of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing; but engraving and printing are only half of the production of a stamp; the designing comes first and is much more important, and this unfortunately has been very decidedly neglected. As far as I know, the government has never charged a first-class, internationally known artist (not an artisan) with the creation of the design for a stamp. When our coins were redesigned, one of our greatest sculptors was called upon for assistance, and as the result we now have some really beautiful coins. Why cannot the same thing be done with stamps, which are used in greater numbers than coins?

The engravers ought not to be responsible for the design of our stamps as well as their production, nor can I blame them justly if, with no real a in the proper sense of the word, to g them, their designs are at best medi It is about all that could be expected far as the proposed new series is cerned, the Postmaster General need worry half so much over the choic subjects as over the way the sub when chosen are handled.

The greatest mistake that has made in the design of our stamps, t mind, has been the failure to create them compositions intended for st and for nothing else. The problen the artist is to make a little paper sti approximately 19x22½ millimeters in and only that. He is limited by the of the stamp, its shape, its material, its purpose. Obviously a painting w was originally intended to be hung wall and may have been three fee four, or bigger, will not necessarily a good stamp design; neither will a of sculpture, nor a photograph of na scenery, nor ornaments which are pre ly executed in stone or wood. Yet n all of our stamps, certainly of recen sues, consist of adaptations and comb tions of things of this sort. In the s of 1922-1923 there have been used pa portraits and photographs, busts or pl graphs of them, a painting of the G Gate, and miscellaneous photograph buildings and scenery. These are sla down in the middle of the label—red in size—and surrounded by utterly m ingless borders of beadwork, acan leaves and what-not, these again adaptations of stone and wood decor motifs. How can anything built u this fashion have the cardinal virtue unity, simplicity, and perfect adapt to the purpose? And would a real est-to-goodness artist develop a de for a stamp in that way?

Most of the faults of our stamps c think, be brought back to this one—t they are not designed as stamps. Ar er which will be admitted by al every one is the crowding of the w

STAMPS WIN

By Evelyn Perkins.

I feel fully qualified to talk about the "value" of stamp collecting. I began collecting as a child. I never had more than a few cents at a time to spend on it, but the fact that my collection is small does not mean lack of interesting stamps. Cheap ones? Of course. From the time I began I found that my interest in school work increased, and in how many subjects! Usually the collector tells you that stamps aid in the study of history and geography. Of course they do—also in building up an English vocabulary, a smattering of Latin and Latin-derived languages, mathematics for the comparative values of coins and rates of postage—and an appreciation of color and engraving. Parents sometimes expect this study-value to replace the textbooks. No pupil is a real student who knows only what is in the text. To be mentally alive he must gain a general fund of knowledge and interests which will hook up with the daily lessons. Stamps will give this universal fund of knowledge and interest. Stamps are responsible for my choice of profession, teacher of History and Spanish.

Not only am I able to discuss the "value" of stamp collecting as a collector, but as a teacher. I have watched boys and girls start collections and know that from that day their school work received an impetus that nothing else had been able to give. Their minds seemed to open to receive and welcome information with a joy. Also stamp collecting taught them to catalogue and organize mentally the information gained. What price can be set upon the value of such a hobby.

Unfortunately too much emphasis has been laid on the cash value of a collection. Many beginners find a big collection beyond their means and stop. I remember once, one of my pupils, Hildreth, a boy of 12 or 13, fell on the ice and received a broken hip. An uncle gave him an album, a small packet of stamps and hinges, and a Scott. Day after day, he studied and catalogued and mounted. He had been agent for the Saturday Evening Post and had always spent his money on movies, candy, etc., so now his parents, seeing he had no savings, decided to give him 50 cents a week. This he spent on stamps. His collection grew both as to numbers and interest. Then Hildreth got well. He again sold the Post, and had more money than when sick, but bought fewer stamps—then none at all. One day he came into the classroom and laid his album and a letter on my desk. He had tried to sell it and the dealer from whom he had purchased most of his stamps had offered him about one-fourth what he had paid. He was disgusted with collecting. He offered to give or sell his album to me or to anyone. We, who had encouraged him to collect, had deceived him, he felt.

After school, that evening, I called him to me and told him we would go over the collection and decide on its value and that I would buy it at actual cost to him, so we began our figures. We used red ink for the cost column and black for the profit. He protested that there was no profit, but allowed such a column to be started. When the cost was totalled it looked pretty big to him. Then we turned to the profit column—three months, he had laid in a cast unable to turn, three months longer in various stages of bed, wheelchair and crutches. Twenty-four weeks at least when books and stamp collecting had been his only amusement. Books began to pall, but the stamps were always different and exciting. I asked him to place a minimum value on a day's entertainment for a boy compelled to stay in bed. Would ten cents do? "No," he insisted, "amusement was worth more than that." But even at ten cents a day—the profit column counted up more than the cost! Then we began another bit of figuring. I asked him how he was now spending his money. He was spending on the average of $2.50 a week on candy and movies, attending five or more shows a week. We counted that up for twenty-four weeks, and, as compared to his stamp expense, it was very high. Nor could he remember anyone movie exactly—he saw such a thing, but it might have been a part of any of a dozen shows. "But I had a good time," he protested. "Now," I ended, "you feel that this dealer is unjust because he offers only one-fourth of what you paid, so I want you to go back to the theater, tell the man how much you have spent and ask that he return one-fourth to you." "Why he wouldn't do that!" he protested. "I've had the fun of the show." "You have had the fun of the stamps, too, haven't you?" He got the point—kept his collection and spent part of his money each week on more stamps. When last I saw it, that album contained a pretty good collection.

I hope someday to be able to give a mother's view of stamp collecting, but my sons aged 3 and 1 are not yet interested. They are the cause of my susbcribing to Mekeel's, however. Ten years have past since I collected any, and prices have advanced on stamps that were cheap then. So I resurrected my album and duplicates and have started collecting again—two if I can. These stamps I hope will be the basis for their collections some day, and stamps purchased now may be out of reach ten years from now when they will be beginning. Also I am having heaps of fun. I wonder if other mothers are doing it? No, I do not intend to hand over my collection to them entirely. I intend to start them with an album and let them choose from my collection stamps which interest them in payment for errands and tasks. Then the value of a stamp will be its interest not its catalogue value.

Teachers are not the only ones who value collecting. "Jack" was repeatedly up in juvenile court. He wasn't bad—just so full of pep that he had finished things before the slower ones began, and so had too much waste time. One day I heard the judge sigh with relief. Jack had been in to report and had no bad marks against him. "He's all right now. He is collecting stamps. That's a job that is never complete!"

) with detail. Our present issue is as bad in this respect as any we ever had. The 1908 series was much , and so were the "bank note" is- But the designers of the current certainly abhorred a vacuum. y bit of space not occupied by the ait or other central design is filled fussy little ornaments. UNLESS you adopt the National Philatelic Exhibition to be held at Minneapolis, August 19-24, 1929, as your own, you are missing an opportunity to be a helpful influence on American philately just at the time when your good offices are most needed. The work of preparation for the Stamp Show has converted the philatelic section of the Twin Cities into a bee-hive of activity, and for that reason, one may interpose the remark that if the efforts of the workers do not meet with their just reward, it will be a crying shame. A chance is offered to ratify the pledge to philatelic progress by a successful exhibition, but if the support of the enterprise is not general, the best results cannot be obtained. We know that philatelic interest is spreading throughout the country, and in order to certify to that fact in the public mind, there is the necessity to make the show an unqualified triumph. If it does not register complete success, the back-wash of disappointment will retard collecting to some extent. Funds are needed as well as exhibitors to accomplish the end fittingly; and the minds of all collectors should be centered on the forthcoming display. The interest of local societies is solicited, and the suggestion is made that at the meetings, discussions of ways and means to support the undertaking be given the right of way.

WHEN we realize that abroad the stamp exhibition is accepted as the rule rather than the exception, the admission must follow that we are beginning to sleep on our rights in this country. It is true that the geographical compactness of many of the other countries naturally concentrates philatelic interest, thereby making it easier oftentimes to enlist united effort, but it is unthinkable to say that the time has not arrived here to cultivate a field that is almost fallow. Recent exhibitions have given good accounts of themselves, to put it mildly, and although the work entailed has been great, the outcome has been worth all the expense and effort that have been lavished. This thought brings up the realization that much is staked on the Minneapolis show, and we hope that collectors generally will feel that the loss will be theirs if they do not coöperate with the men who are now striving to make a record. We have no reason to feel other than very hopeful over the outlook, but experience tells us that there must be no remission of interest, but rather it must increase to the culminating-point, which is the exhibition, itself.

FROM Harry A. Somerfield, M.D., San Francisco, Cal., we have received a clipping from the July 6th number of the Journal of the American Medical Association, as follows: "At a meeting of the Exchange Club of Duluth, June 10, a resolution was adopted requesting that the U. S. Post Office Department commemorate the name and achievement in the forthcoming new series of postage stamps of William Thomas Green Morton, Boston, who, the resolution says, 'discovered and promulgated the anesthetic effects produced by the inhalation of sulphuric ether'." As Dr. Somerfield says, it is most unusual to find our hobby mentioned in the columns of the Journal of the American Medical Association. While on the subject of the "zenith city of the unsalted seas," as Duluth was once called in congress, we make way for the following communication from Mr. S. Valentine Saxby, whose name will be remembered as an active philatelist of two or more decades ago. Mr. Saxby is the executive secretary of the Duluth Chamber of Commerce, and in writing us on the return from a trip to Europe says: "The enclosed cover was used before the stamp period and I feel sure that you will prize it. The Duluth airport will be completed probably in November. On account of your mentioning the fact that we were building this airport in the WEEKLY, we have received about eight hundred letters." Patience is one of the cardinal requirements of the cachet collectors, but from experience they know that it is far better to be an accessory before the fact than after.

IN the copy sent out by a news association, we have seen a reference to the proposed philatelic exhibit at the World's Fair to be held in Chicago in 1933, which will have a value of more than seven million dollars, according to an eminent authority. We learn that the Chicago Philatelic Society has been asked to play the role of hosts to collectors' organizations that will be interested as exhibitors or attendants at the Fair, evidently by the management of the exhibition.

FROM the author, Thomas H. Pratt, Kingsport, Tennessee, we have received the neat booklet of forty pages, "The Postmaster's Provisionals of Memphis, Tennessee." Not alone is the work of engrossing historical interest in tracing the postal dissociation of the north and the south in the beginning of the Civil War, but as a stamp study it is valuable in clearing up obscurities in connection with the stamps that were issued by the Memphis postmaster, Col. Matthew C. Gallaway. In giving the postal history of Memphis, Mr. Pratt has had recourse to files of the newspapers of the times and the testimony that he presents reflects the unsettled postal times of 1861 that necessitated the appearance of the emergency local issues. As for the stamps themselves, we learn that the 2c adhesive was printed in Memphis by the stereotype method from a woodcut original and that likewise, the 5c was produced by the same process. As for the rare 5c envelope, it was "press printed by a stereotype made from the same original wood-cut die as the adhesives." A full sheet of the 2c is illustrated showing ten rows of five stamps each; and the probable position of the 5c stamp in a sheet of 100 is shown by a plan that provides spaces for twenty of the curious head-to-head, head-to-side, foot-to-foot, and foot-to-side positions, as Mr. Pratt calls them. Perhaps, the most interesting revelation that is made is that in Mr. Pratt's opinion, there are no reprints of the 5c value and that the large blocks which made their appearance years ago in a light carmine on white paper are the last of at least three printings, each showing some ink and paper difference. As for counterfeits of the 2c and the 5c, the S. C. Upham & Co., Philadelphia fabrications are mentioned as being practically the sum total, and they will not deceive the student. Mr. Pratt describes and pictures the position characteristics of the fifty 2c stamps, and assigns thirty-seven of the 5c stamps to their proper places. This exhaustive examination of the Memphis locals, written by State Senator Thomas H. Pratt of Kingsport, Tennessee, ran in serial form in the Southern Philatelist, and as a certificate of fine typography bears the imprimatur of the Dietz Printing Company, 109 East Cary Street, Richmond, Va. The price of the book is one dollar. Senator Pratt will judge the Confederate classes at the coming American Philatelic Society Exhibition, and none will say that he has not the most solid of backgrounds for the accomplishment of his duties. In his books, he has added to our knowledge of two adhesive stamps that by their design and their comparatively wide distribution in unused condition have much interest; and we owe a debt to him.

Air Mail News

BY DONALD E. DICKASON,
Wooster, Ohio

(This department covers air mail news from the purely philatelic standpoint. Coöperators will find their names listed each week. If your letter calls for a reply please enclose a stamped, addressed envelope. This is your department, so make your contribution as generous as possible.)

The July 11th edition of the Airmail Beacon, published by The Berkshire Exchange, who also publish the American Air Mail Catalog, carries several announcements of interest as to future policy in listing certain items, all in line with the announced policy of simpler listings, and those dealing only with absolutely official items. First, they are considering less detail as to color varieties of the CAM cachets, and request reader opinion on the change. Next, they publish a list of 19 items in the government flight section which will either be dropped entirely, or listed in simpler form. Items dropped include the black cachet Washington Lindbergh Day cover, No. 199a; the "Roessler" Chamberlin Ship-to-Shore No. 201a; the Lakehurst cancellation on the Graf Zeppelin covers, No. 211a; the Boston World Fliers Landing, cover No. 173, and many others, which I will not take space to itemize here. These will be sufficient to show the trend, however.

At the same time, Mr. A. V. Dworak, publisher of the Airmail Collector, and Weekly Philatelic Gossip, formally announces that he will publish this fall a "United States Specialized Air Mail Catalogue", which will include the entire field of U. S. covers, officials, historicals, souvenirs, rate changes, route changes, airport dedications, aero shows, and which will be compiled by a staff of editorial specialists in the different divisions.

Personally, I believe this is a move which will clarify the present situation. I admire deeply the spirit and intent of the publishers of the present catalog to build up for the best of the hobby as they see it, but the fact remains that many collectors see things differently. This an honest difference of opinion, and each collector is fully entitled to his own viewpoint. If there is a real demand for such a catalog as Mr. Dworak proposes, it will be evident in the sales. If there is not, again the sales will demonstrate the facts. Meanwhile we are all looking forward to the appearance of the newcomer, and also to that of the original catalog, which will appear in vastly changed form this fall.

The S. P. A. announces an Air Mail Department, in charge of Mr. H. C. Carpenter, 600 Southern Ry. Bldg., Cincinnati. He will be glad to send you details.G. P. Putnam's Sons, Publishers, in announcing the special limited edition of "Lindbergh, His Story in Pictures", state that each volume will contain "an envelope with cancelled stamps carried by Colonel Lindbergh on his first international air mail flight from Miami to the Canal Zone". Now if they were just autographed.

Official Flights

More ship-to-shore, this time the new German ship, "Bremen", which was to arrive July 22 on her maiden trip. All I have seen is a newspaper item which mentioned that Mayor Walker would christen the plane on its arrival with the first mail, and don't know anything as to the cover arrangements. Being a German flight, however, somebody's likely fixed something up, and you'll get more news later. Other clippings tell of the organization of a large company which will inaugurate regular air mail service in the Philippines in November.

First Yukon Airways flight Champagne-Whitehorse, Yukon, June 23. Additional service Detroit-Cleveland via the amphibian on CAM 27 started July 8, with a new 10 A. M. trip, westbound only. No cachet. Youngstown, Ohio, is getting all excited over the first nonstop CAM pickup trial to take place there soon. As previously announced, CAM 11, by J. P. Penning, Homestead, Pa., will supply a cachet for both dropped and picked-up mail. Donald Levy, 2323 Ohio Ave., also offers to receive mail addressed in his care, if return postage and envelopes are sent.

The Postal Bulletin of July 9 announced that air mail via Route 9 would be accepted for Bolivia at the 55c rate, flying as far as Peru; and thence by the usual means. No special first flight, just went into effect sort of informally.588 covers received the Kansas City cachet for the first day flight July 1—corrected figures.

The Miami post office has another job on its hands. The Tela, Honduras P. O. made no effort to deliver first flight mail sent there, but just bundled it up and sent it all back to Miami, and now Postmaster Pittman is sorting them out and getting them to their proper destinations.Mexico City used a special first day commemorative cachet July 12, on the occasion of the first official sale of the Carranza stamps.

Airport Dedications, Shows, Meets, Etc.

Canton, Ohio, Aviation Show figures: July 4—389; 5—327; 6—349; 7—403; a total of 1,468, applied by the Legion, as represented by Jno. K. Howe, who says that he had to pay $1.50 postage due on covers sent to him. Not so good, brethren.Northampton, Mass., Air Meet was a last minute affair, so those in charge broadcast the information as to cachet over stations WBZ and WBZA. Todd Fagan, in Kansas City, says he heard it, so it must have carried pretty well. Covers mailed on July 4—358; 5—390; 6—314; 7—264; a total of 1,326. Coleraine, Minn., dedication covers were flown to St. Paul, and a few were cancelled there, instead of at Coleraine. 2,000 were mailed.

Robert Meinhoff, referring to a recent note, says that the recent Walla Walla cachet commemorated an air derby only, and that the only dedication was held a year ago.From Binghamton, N. Y., June 19, comes the cachet for the Bennett Air Meet and New York Mayors' Conference, in black.Albert Gurney says he did receive a Lindbergh Day cachet, not just a cartograph, from Great Falls, and that on a cover sent to the Postmaster. Can anybody give us the dope on this?The St. Louis Lindbergh Day cover was a late item in its preparation, at least. Hadn't planned to have one, but the covers kept coming in, so finally the C. of C. Air Board fixed it up. About 700 mailed.

The Pennsylvania-T. A. T. Air Rail inauguration brought forth cachets at Los Angeles and Kansas City. Don't know who sponsored the one at Los Angeles, but that at K. C. was by the local contractors, the N. A. T. Co., and 1,118 covers received it. Both July 8. Columbus, Ohio, dedicated the new airport the same day, and got big write-ups all over the country. An attractive cachet in green (a few blue) was used, and Robert L. Manley brightened my day with a cover signed by Governor Cooper, who assisted in the ceremonies. Linn's Weekly sent out effective special envelopes.

Western States Airways Conference at Boise, July 8, 9, and 10, produced a special cachet. Covers mailed the 8th were sent on the arrival date of the Redding-Boise Air Derby mentioned last week. Caldwell, Idaho, dedication on the 7th, used exactly the same Derby cachet as mentioned last week for Redding, but inserted the name of their own city. A surprise—Sedan, Kans., dedication was

Stamp News for the Juniors

This page is primarily for you, the Junior collector. We are interested in what interests you and we want you to take possession of it, if in any way it can serve you.

We also invite the Senior collector to extend words of advice, encouragement and stimulation and thus develop in the Junior a real passion for Philately.

Bear in mind that two short articles of from 50 to 75 words read better than one long one. Address all communications to the Beverly office.

The Lord Byron Set

In the first place, this set starts us to wondering why Greece should have issued stamps honoring an English Lord, and especially one who was, during his life, one of the most unpopular individuals of his own native country. Probably this unpopularity is the very reason. At any rate it was the reason for his departure from England in 1816. Although a poet of some note up to that time, indignation over the treatment accorded him at home stimulated him, and his verse took on a new element of power. It is as the lame poet that we think of Byron usually.

However, Greece has reason to honor him as a military leader. In the summer of 1823 he sailed for Cephalonia to help the Greeks to gain their independence. From Cephalonia he went to Missolonghi. Between the time of his arrival in January, 1824, until his death from exposure and fever in April of the same year, he succeeded in bringing order out of confusion.

The two stamps of the Lord Byron set illustrate his importance as a figure in Greek history. The 80 lepta is a portrait of Lord Byron with dates 1824-1924, showing that the stamp was issued on the hundredth anniversary of his death. The 2 drachma also has the dates and his name, but this is a very much larger stamp. The border design is dull violet, while the picture is in black. This picture shows Lord Byron at Missolonghi. This set is very attractive, and the 2 drachma ranks among the very large stamps of the world.—A. C. LeDuc.

JOTTINGS—

IN a communication published on July 1st, referring to a dot near the left upper scroll of the 1c Canada, 1868, the description should be amended to read: "That the dots appear at both the left and right upper scrolls. The dot on the right border is placed further away from the scroll margin than that on the left." The second dot was found on a careful re-examination of the stamp, and only discovered after the article appeared.—HARRY MORELL.

The Minneapolis Stamp Show

We were very much impressed with the democracy of the First Annual A. P. S. Stamp Show to be held in Minneapolis the week of August 19-24 when the Prospectus stated in bold face type to all collectors: "You are invited to come and partake of the activities as a stamp collector whether or not you are a member of any philatelic society." Time was when the A. P. S. was criticised for being a society for the aristocrats among philatelists, but no one hears that criticism now.

As we have studied over the Prospectus in greater detail, we note one more exceedingly democratic and commendable movement. All of the ten sections in the Exhibition are open to collectors under twenty years of age. If the owner is under 15 years of age, he exhibits in the Juvenile Class; if he is 15 to 20 years of age, he exhibits in the Junior Class. This opening of all sections and groups to the younger collector is as it should be. But we notice that, although there is an entry fee of one dollar on each collection to be entered in the exhibit, in the case of the Juvenile and Junior Classes, there shall be no entry fee. This means that a junior collector under twenty years of age, who desires to send in his Scott's Junior Album, for example, to exhibit in the Junior or Juvenile Classes, does not pay any entry fee. We compliment the National Committee and the Twin City Board of Directors for this. Of course, if a junior desires to exhibit his collection in the frames, there is the usual two dollar charge.

Riddell, J. L.—The postmaster of New Orleans, Louisiana, whose name appears on the special 2c and 5c stamps he caused to be issued in 1861 for facilitating the prepayment of postage before the regular Confederate stamps appeared Rigsbank Skilling. — The value in which the first two stamps for Denmark were expressed. The unit of value at that time was the "rigsbank daler", divided into 96 "rigsbank skilling", and worth about 55c in American money.

Rin.—The value shown on some of the stamps of Japan. Ten rin are equal to a sen which, in turn, is equal to about ½c in American money.

Rios.—A control mark stamped upon all the the stamps of Ecuador issued in the province of Los Rios in 1902.

Rio Hacha.—A small town in the province of Magdalena, Colombia, at which a number of provisional stamps were made locally from ordinary printers' type in 1901 during a temporary shortage of the regular issue.

Canadian Commemoratives

In 1927 the Canadian government got out a new set of stamps in the nature of an historical set. These were to have been issued in July, 1926, but were withheld and were not placed on sale until June 30, 1927. This set is composed of three pictorial stamps, one single and two double pictures. The 5c is printed in purple and bears a picture of McGee. McGee is honored in this set because of the work he has done for Canada. He was born in Ireland and came to America when he was 17 years of age. He went to Boston, where he became editor of a paper. He went to Canada later, where he became a great statesman and author. He was an ardent supporter of the Canadian Confederation idea. In 1868, he was assassinated by one of his political enemies.

The 12c stamp of this series is printed in green and shows pictures of MacDonald and Laurier. MacDonald was a great merchant and statesman. He held offices as Lieut. Governor and Senator. Laurier was also a statesman. In 1914, when Great Britain entered the World War he favored the sending of Canadian troops to the war front abroad, and was active in encouraging the soldiers before they left.

Next we come to the 20c stamp of this issue. This bears the pictures of Baldwin and LaFontaine, and is printed in brown-carmine. LaFontaine was another native Canadian statesman, having been born in Quebec in 1807. He was one of the ablest jurists that Canada has ever had. Baldwin, the other one pictured on this 20c stamp, was also a noted Canadian statesman. He and LaFontaine were contemporary leaders in the formation of a stable and just government in what are now the provinces of Ontario and Quebec. This entire set of stamps shows pictures of men whose influence has been far reaching in the formation of that great country—Canada.—A. C. LeDuc.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., P. O. Box 2175, Middle City Station, Phila., Pa., who will also be pleased to pass on oddities and varieties of all U. S. stamps. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, cor. Robbins Road and Locust Ave., Lexington, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

United States

Charleston, S. C., Stamp

Mr. J. V. Nielsen, Jr., advises us that on the request of the Charleston Stamp Club that the city council of Charleston, S. C., passed a resolution requesting Congress to issue a special stamp to commemorate the 250th anniversary of the founding of Charleston. The following resolution was passed, introduced by Alderman W. B. Minott:

"Whereas Charleston, S. C., 'America's Most Historic City,' will celebrate with elaborate ceremonies in 1930 the 250th anniversary of its founding on its present site and

Whereas this is the oldest city of importance south of the Mason and Dixon line and the pioneer in all national movements of the colonies in America:

Resolved that the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America be requested to commemorate this event by authorizing a special issue of postage stamps of one cent or two cents.

Resolved that our representatives in Congress and the Senate, and our State Legislators be requested to endorse our desire to make this event memorized, and to prepare and present a suitable bill for this purpose."

The stamp club sets forth in its request that Trenton, N. J., and Nashville, Tenn., have made similar requests and that Charleston is more deserving than they of such commemoration.

While we have had numerous commemorative stamps here of late, it is not recalled that a single event that took place south of the Mason and Dixon line has, as yet, been commemorated. We believe that Charleston is entitled to recognition and wish them success in their undertaking.

Late Minor Varieties

The collector today seems to watch even the common 2c stamp more carefully than in the past, and examines every little line upon the stamp. As a result, numerous minor plate scratches and the like are being found from time to time.

Mr. David H. Burr calls attention to the fact that in the case of the 2c Sullivan, plate 19786, the 27th stamp of the northwest pane shows a distinct scratch diagonally across the left "2." Mr. Burr sends a copy for inspection and states that the scratch is to be found on all copies from this plate.

Mr. Walter E. Lord and others have called attention to little white spots found here and there on the 2c Edison, as well as other stamps. These are not plate defects, but are defects due to printing wherein the plates are not properly cleaned, the paper is not properly moistened, or has become somewhat dry, or even some foreign matter may have adhered to the plate or paper. While these markings are curious, they seem to command very little, if any, attention even from the specialist.

Every once in a while, a letter comes to hand calling attention to the fact that the perforation on the present rotary stamps is not 11x10½. These discrepancies are due almost entirely to the fact that one of the larger companies put out an inaccurate perforation gauge, which has been used in measuring these perforations. If one has an accurate gauge, it will be found that the measurement is nearer 11x10½ than anything else. If we used sixteenths, we could give it a more accurate designation, but fortunately, we have not carried our accuracy to such a point.

State Overprinted Stamps

Numerous post offices have refused to accept the State overprinted stamps in other places than Kansas and Nebraska, and as a result, in the Postal Bulletin of July 11, the Third Assistant Postmaster General calls the attention of postal clerks to the fact that these stamps are good at all United States post offices.

Special Postmark

Through the courtesy of Mr. A. W. Bork, we have received an air-mail cover from Prescott, Ariz., showing a special postmark in black and blue with portrait of Governor Goodwin and reading in seven lines "Arizona's 65th Anniversary Commemorating Official Inauguration of Territorial Government, Prescott, Arizona, July 4, 1864, First Territorial Governor, John N. Goodwin of Maine."

2c Documentary, Perf. 10

In a recent Chronicle, we called attention to the fact that the perforating machines now perforating our current revenue stamps gauged ten instead of eleven, as heretofore. Several varieties have so far been noted and chronicled. Mr. Robert Ruchardson now sends for inspection a block of the 2c Documentary, Perf. 10, Scott's No. 4226. There is little doubt that we will finally have all denominations from 1c to $10 inclusive, perforated 10.

Afghanistan. — Champion's Bulletin Mensuel announces that a provisional stamp issue made under the authority of the Pretender Habib Ullah, is chronicled (with reserve). It takes the form of a circular imprint containing an Arabic inscription "Priest of the Prophet of God, Emir Habib Ullah" enclosed in a wreath and surmounted by a star applied to the last series of the ex-Amir Abdullah, viz.: 10, 15, 25 and 30 pools imperforate and 30, 40, 50 and 60 pools perforated. The issue is said to have been made at the instigation of Ghulam Haidar Khan, former Receiver General of Posts in Afghanistan, and lately Minister of Finance to the new Government. It is also understood that these provisionals circulated only within a limited radius from Cabul, and that the issue was restricted.

Bahamas.—We learn from the latest communique from the Crown Agents that the 5p purple and grey-black has been printed for the first time on Script CA paper and that a supply has been despatched to the Colony.

Belgium. — The following additional values in the postage due stamps, type D4, have been received from the Economist Stamp Co.: 70c brown, 1.20fr olive, 2fr violet and 3.50fr blue.

Brazil.—The 300rs pale pink, design as A76, watermarked "E. U. BRASIL" same as before perf. 13x12½ has been sent to us for chronicle by Mr. R. Roberts.

British Honduras.—Two further values are on order in the "Nyasaland" type with Script CA watermark. They are the 4p grey and 50c purple and blue on blue.

Egypt. — According to information furnished by Near East and India in the issue of May 30, 1929, a new air mail stamp is soon to be issued.

Federated Malay States.—According to the Crown Agents Bulletin the 25c purple and brilliant rosa, 30c purple and amber, 35c red and purple, and 50c black on emerald have been despatched to Kuala Lumpur.

Grenada.—A supply of 2sh6p stamps printed in black and red on blue have been sent to this Colony according to information furnished by the Crown Agents Bulletin.

Iceland.—Mr. R. Roberts sends us copies of the 2Kr blue and olive-brown, King Christian 9th, type surcharged "Kr. 10" in black. The overprint is in large heavy type and on the old issue of 1902.

Italy.—Bulletin Mensuel gives further details of the impending commemorative stamps of Monte Cassino. The issue will consist of seven values, six of which will be printed by rotogravure and the seventh by calcography. The design of the 20c and 1 Lire + 25c value shows a general view of the Abbey whilst the subject of those of 25c and 75+25c is the head of Bramante (?). The mosaica of the Basilisk appears on the 50+10c, the death of St. Benoit on the 5+1 lire, and a portrait of St. Benoit upon the highest value, 10+2 lire. The proceeds of the surtax, it is understood, are to be devoted to an exhibition of Italian work.

Kirin.—The set of four values of Sun Yat Sen Memorial stamps have been surcharged for use in this province, and copies have been received from Mr. R. Roberts.

Northern Rhodesia.—An additional value, 3sh, printed in blue and purple, is about to be added to the current series, a supply having already been sent out by the Crown Agents.

Polish Danzig. — Whitfield King & Co. advise of the appearance of the 5gr purple, Eagle type, surcharged "PORT GDANSK" in two lines in black.

ROUND-THE-WORLD TRIP OF THE "GRAF ZEPPELIN"

ESSEN, July 12.

According to comments of the Berlin press the above trip is due to start about July 25. The exact route has already been decided upon. The great trip will be made in conjunction with the American flight and will start at Lakehurst, N. J. "Graf Zeppelin" will first fly from Friedrichshafen to Lakehurst, where the American passengers will be taken on board, and will return to Friedrichshafen. Shortly after the arrival at the latter point the airship will proceed to Tokio, where she will stop for 36 hours. It is stated that the Japanese Naval Authorities have already prepared everything for the landing of the ship. From Tokio the Zepp will proceed to Los Angeles, and from the Californian city to Lakehurst, making the round-the-world trip an "all-American affair." The list of passengers comprises about 25 names, including two representatives of the German Government. A. WAGNER.

DOMINICAN BOUNDARY SETTLEMENT, 1929

By Harry E. Huber.

On January 21, 1929, a boundary treaty between Haiti and the Dominican Republic was formally signed by representatives of the two governments in Santo Domingo City. The principal article of this instrument, signed after many attempts at boundary settlement over a long period of years, and an amendment of the constitution of the Dominican Republic, making the action possible, fixes the boundary, provides for a commission composed of three members from each country to carry out the marking of the boundary (the commission to begin its work 15 days after the exchange of ratifications), and decides the ownership of various fluvial islands.

Both countries further agree to submit all difficulties arising from the present treaty to arbitration and renounce all claims for pecuniary indemnification, the government of Haiti, however, promising to undertake the settlement of any claim for indemnification brought by Haitian citizens whose property in the Dominican Republic was confiscated in 1844. Differences proceeding from the work of the boundary commission are to be decided by a mixed commission of five members representing the two signatories to the treaty, Brazil, the United States, and Venezuela, the decisions of this commission to be final.

To commemorate the settlement of this dispute of long standing, a decree published in the Gaceta Oficial (Santo Domingo) of February 20, 1929, authorised the issue of a special series of postage stamps of five denominations, ½c, 1c, 2c, 5c and 10c, these to remain on sale until exhausted.

The first denomination (2c carmine) of the series appeared early in May, 1929, although copies from a proof sheet passed through the post as early as April 25th. On May 24th the work was reported as completed, except for perforating the ½c, and about the middle of June, the ½c, 1c, 5c and 10c were placed on sale.

The stamps were lithographed at Santo Domingo City, on unwatermarked paper, and perforated 11½, in sheets of 100 (10x10).

The stamp design is vertical rectangular, 22x29mm, and contains in the upper portion, a portrait of Genl. Horacio Vasquez, President of the Republic, three quarters to the left, within an oval, with sprays of oak and laurel leaves at either side. Ribbons at the foot of the label are inscribed, in color, "Horacio" and "Vasquez" respectively, at the left and right. Curved above the oval is "Republica Dominicana", colorless, and below the oval, a label bears the inscription, in two lines of color, "Conmemorativo del Tratado—de limites del 21 Enero de 1929." In the lower portion of the stamp is a small map of the island, the western portion, uncolored, lettered "Rep. d'Haiti", and the eastern, colored, "Rep. Dominicana". Octagons in the lower corners, contain the numeral of value, in color, with "Centavo" or "Centavos" colorless, on a horizontal label between. Under each stamp, at the left, in small colored caps, is "Lito. Ferrua."

It had been proposed to place a quantity of these stamps on sale at Port au Prince, Haiti, but this was abandoned, and instead, Haiti has placed an order with the American Bank Note Co. of New York, for a 10c stamp to commemorate the signing of this boundary treaty.

The Dominican commemorative series has been printed in the following quantities:—

½c,	500,000
1c,	1,500,000
2c,	2,600,000
5c,	250,000
10c,	150,000
	5,000,000

It will be noted that the issue is about seven times as great as that of the Cuban Capitol commemoratives (750,000) issued on May 18, 1929. Unfortunately, the stamps of the Dominican Republic are not so popular as those of Cuba, and being lithographed instead of recess printed, naturally they suffer in comparison. The Cuban commemorative stamps were completely sold out at the Habana G. P. O. on the day of issue, and it is doubtful if they lasted much longer in the provinces.

1929—Boundary settlement series, to commemorate the signing of the treaty with Haiti, Jan. 21, 1929. Lithographed at Santo Domingo City, unwatermarked, and perf. 11½.

COLONIAL GEORGIAN DIES

By L. J. Worthington.

Sir,—With reference to the point raised by Mr. T. Harvey Boycott on page 19 of your October issue, regarding various Dies of the Georgian De La Rue Colonial key-plate.

There are, of course, quite a number of such key-plates, but the one referred to is the one with the octagonal centre device, generally known as the "modified 1888" key-plate, or rather series of key-plates, which, so far, have been numbered from 1 to 20.

The shape of the white line at the foot of the bust is not a distinguishing feature between Die I (Plates 1 to 9) and Die II (Plates 10 to 20), and the note in your Catalogue should delete such reference.

I have examined a number of stamps from Plates 1 to 9, and, in every case, have found some specimens with a level line, and some with a line curved as in Die II. In several instances, adjacent stamps on a sheet show the two varieties.

All stamps from Die II show a curved line.

I think the explanation is that the line was curved in the original Die I, but not clearly defined, so that, in preparing the various printing plates from such die, some stamps showed the curve clearly, and some not at all, and, further, that in course of use of such plates, the curve, in several places, became clogged with ink.

In Die II, the curve was evidently made more distinct, and so became better reproduced in the various plates which have been prepared from this die.

The same differences regarding this line occur equally in Ceylon 3c, Die Ia, in the Script watermark printings of which the printing in green and the first printing in grey do not show any appreciable curve, whereas in later printings the curve is quite pronounced.

Similar varieties occur in Ceylon 1c and 6c, Die IIa (which, incidentally, I think would be much better named Die Ib, as the single-working plates prepared in this die were manufactured some time before Die II was first used for producing Plate No. 10, and as it is clearly an intermediate between Die Ia and Die II).—Gibbons' Stamp Monthly.

SYMBOLS OF SOCIETY

By J. A. CLARK.

There are times when even the most ardent collector gets tired of mounting his copies and writing them up, and when a glance through his album purely for enjoyment is a good tonic, especially if the album contains specimens from a few countries.

One point of view which struck me as I idly turned over the pages of an album containing a multitude of stamps from all countries, which I once gladly referred to as "my collection," was that from a postage stamp we can even see reflected the spirit of the inhabitants of the country from which it emanates.

The present 1d and ½d stamps of Great Britain, for example. How often we see these red and green squares and wish something would bring about a new issue of, say, picturesque Commemorative ones. But do they not point to the solid, steadfast ideals of the British people, ideals which are not changed by a breath of wind, but which, whilst maintaining a steady rate of progress, require some vital matter to affect the solidly built social system of our country.

In direct contrast, we can look on the stamps of many of the new European countries—the Bolshies. A new issue practically every week, each one more grotesque than its predecessor, holding no worthy place in the world of Philately. So, too, do we find the mind of the people changing—in fact, being in a continual state of unrest, making little progress, and varying the pages of our newspapers and histories as the stamps vary the pages of those albums which house them.

We can turn to Holland, a country ruled by a Queen, whose portrait figures on most of the stamps. A peaceful country, if we may judge, steadily following its homely pursuits, and occasionally giving us a picturesque issue to enhance our albums, as the dress of the Dutch people adds beauty to their landscape. The issues of its colonies, too, point to a very strong link between them and the parent country, a link as strong as that which binds our own country and our colonies.

The stamps of America provide as good examples of its people. Never satisfied with anything for long, developing each idea to the utmost and discarding it as something better appears on the horizon, their stamps bear ample witness. Nothing is too small for their attention, and nothing really big enough, for here we find stamps used for postage worth but ½ cent, and in these post-war days of high prices and heavy taxes. The first people to take up a new invention, and take it up zealously and whole-heartedly, we find them providing us with many Air Mail stamps, automatically cancelled stamps and postage meter dies far in advance of other countries, and as we collect and take notice we find that one type of stamp or cancellation constantly gives place to another, so that our albums get filled with varieties as our hotels get filled with U. S. tourists and our garages with "Fords."

The stamps of Canada, circulating to the North Pole and probably to the South as well, inform peoples of all nations and tongues that their Emperor is the King of England, and that they are proud of him, too. We can imagine Canada as one of the coming countries—progressive, smart, tackling each problem well and achieving success, just as its stamps have achieved success in the philatelic world—the number of specialists in Canadians points to this. We look over a specialised collection and view the fine stamps in the picturesque issues which now fetch such good prices and feel that behind Canada there is a tradition of no light weight.

The indefinite, unfathomable Chinee comes to light again in his stamps, for whilst they are delightfully executed designs, the curling dragon does not convey much to the average person. The delicate, balanced work put into the stamp points to the Chinese love for fine, delicate craftsmanship.

There is something about the stamps of each country which reminds us of the people who use these stamps, and it is quite a fascinating task to endeavor to get to the bottom of the question: "Why did such and such a country adopt stamps of this type?"—Philatelic Circulator.

ABYSSINIA

By STANLEY PHILLIPS.

The recent issue of an entirely new series of stamps for this little-known country, directs our attention to the pictorial issue of 1919, and the provisionals which have been formed by surcharging these stamps. Economy is the order of the day in Ethiopia, and these surcharges are applied in order to use up the existing stock of stamps and not with any idea of raising money from stamp collectors. There are, in fact, practically no collectors or dealers in the country and one of the great drawbacks to collecting the stamps of Abyssinia is the fact that even the current stamps are not easy to obtain unless one has friends in the country.

I have seen no study of the 1919 issue itself. The designs are interesting and as the stamps were produced by lithography it should be possible to establish the existence of definite flaws, such as always characterise this method of printing. It should be noted that, not long after the stamps were first issued, supplies came on the market at very low prices, due to a clandestine leakage of specimens which had never been sent to Abyssinia. This leakage was soon stopped, however, and for some years the value of the stamps has been quite stable.

Several values have been obsolete for a considerable period and a number of provisionals have appeared to replace them. I do not know of any published work on these stamps but I can assure collectors that they are of great interest. There are numerous errors, not merely of inverted, double, or omitted surcharges, but of wrong letters, both European and Amharic, and of letters omitted altogether. There are doubtless several different settings of some of the surcharges and if material is available these should provide an interesting study. The difficulty is to secure the necessary stamps and if this is not possible the modern issues of Abyssinia, like their predecessors, will probably remain a closed book to philatelists.—Filatelic

ON THE RIM

By EDWIN B. HILL, Ysleta, Texas.

A spirit of sadness comes over us as we realize that "Range Tales" is a book of the past. It was one of the finest that we have published and its author gave to the world a product that was not appreciated as it should have been. This was our "Foreword" in the presentation of the "Tales":

"I count it a great privilege and a great honor to write this prefatory word. I have known the author since boyhood days, when we both worshipped at the shrine of amateur journalism and developed the attachment for printers' ink that has never deserted us.

One cannot read the Tales assembled in this booklet without sensing the real literary ability that brought them into being. Moreover, I may add that we would have a profound admiration for the writer could we realize the difficulties under which he has labored in producing them.

After all, we know but little about those whom we call friends. We chat with them, but we know nothing about the heart-aches, nothing about the trials and temptations, and with a word of the commonplace, when the human touch is needed, we pass on.

The world is too busy, too formal, too merciless, too intent upon the dollar to pause in its headlong rush towards the commercial with the result that the finer sensibilities of the soul become smothered by materialism.

God be praised however that here and there may be found those who have not forgotten the Sermon on the Mount. They are indeed "the salt of the earth." They radiate the gospel of good cheer and neighborliness and their daily deeds modestly performed are oases in the vast expanse of things material.

In these Tales we find a string of pearls. Each one is an entity in itself, yet each one breathes the spirit of the free air of hill and plain. The simile is perfected in the relationship that exists between them. They are strung upon the cord of philately, than which there is no finer hobby in all the world.

Would you know more of the charms of fair Philatelia? You will find the Goddess gracious as you enter her presence, patient as she unfolds her mysteries and entrancing as you become better acquainted with her. May these Tales not only entertain you, but lead you on into the delights of the hobby universal."

The sketch that follows is typical of the book and many will enjoy it as much as has the Managing Editor.

Year upon year, when one's holidays end, there is ever the sustaining grace of the year to come. And where shall it be next year? is always the point to be decided.

The old trails! Now that the auto roads are blotting out the cow paths and the wagon roads,—now that deficiency has preempted efficiency, except in nomenclature,—let us face the inevitable, put spurs to the flivver, and away! Forever gone,—the old trails. But over newer and better roads, to journey into unvisited parts.

I stood on the rim of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado, worshiping the glorious colors of the Painted Desert,—reds and yellows and blues and purples merging and blending, and above the bluest of Arizona skies. It was a dream-come-true to be marked with a white stone!

I heard a footstep behind me in that tourist-deserted place. Then a voice broke the silence:

"Age hath not withered him."

The slow drawl was remembered after the lapse of years.

"Nor custom staled his infinite variety!"

I capped the quotation and then turned. It was Jimmy O'—Jimmy O' with a score years added to the remembered lad—and to me. His hair was grey, while mine was white,—his face seamed with the indelible marks of thoughtful study. We clasped hands, and, when the mists had cleared, we talked.

Jimmy O', cowboy-that-was, had completed his course in engineering at Ann Arbor. He had gone through the world war—engineers' corps. Now he was connected with a big engineering company which had a contract for building a bridge across the Grand Canyon. He was just completing his portion of the work. We talked of bridges and irrigation work and storage dams and things of little moment to the layman. And then—

"How about the collection, Jimmy O'?" I asked when a pause came.

Jimmy O' waved his hand toward one of the horrors of architecture which bordered the rim,—a thing to be remembered as an asset to the money-grabber and a liability forever to the man with a soul.

The interior of the shack was human. Let that be said to its lasting honor. A Navajo blanket blotted out the floor boards. On the mantel was a Navajo wedding basket,—a gem of its kind, worth its weight in silver. The six-shooter hung in its scabbard from the back of an easy chair,—a chair constructed of barrel staves, similar to that antique I once possessed at Willow. There was a photograph on the wall,—rain-stained and battered; and it was your humblest servant, in cowboy costume, gun and all! On the table were a few books,—Tracy's "Plane Surveying," Trautwine's "Engineer's Pocket-Book," a volume on concrete construction, and the latest WEEKLY. We launched into a discussion over concrete formulæ and talked more engineering.

THE ELEVEN CENTS 1922-23

This value shows an immense variation in shade. Recently a small supply (50,000) was printed in a distinct green color, practically identical with the shade of the 13c stamp now being printed. The printing in this color was stopped and the stamp is now being printed in a bluish green color. As this small printing has been given a separate number by Scott's, we believe it will prove very scarce (there were fifty times as many issued of the 5c Norse-American). We have obtained a small supply, which we offer below.

Jimmy O' opened a drawer in the desk and drew forth the album, vintage of the 1890's, that I remembered so well. Another drawer and another album,—and a copy of my monograph on "Monaco," and a worn and coverless remnant of "Range Tales."

"The boys liked 'em,—those yarns,—and read 'em almost to pieces," said Jimmy O', apologetically. "My bibles,—all of 'em. You see, you've made us immortal,—Willy and Johnnie and the others."

A shadow swept across his face.

"All,—all are gone,—the old familiar faces."

"But we've had them for friends, and their memories are dear to us. I wonder where they are now? All trace of them was lost after the war ended. But they'll come back in the spirit if not in the flesh."

Jimmy O' dragged a reluctant album from the drawer and opened the page. Then he passed it on to me. How familiar it all looked! There were the Canada revenues I knew so well,—several from my duplicate collection. Others had been added until many pages disclosed completion. Particularly I noted the $2 invert, third issue,—a stamp still missing from my collection, and still sought hopefully. It was a beautiful lot, and my eyes spoke appreciation. Reluctantly I closed the book and handed it back.

The other volume contained the postal issues of the United States and British North America. Here were five shades of the five cents, 1847; four copies of the 10 cents, 1847; the 1851 issue, except the three highest values; that of 1857 complete, with two copies of the 90 cents. The 1867 issue was rich in shades,—the 1869 complete. And then the 1870! I gasped. All there except the twenty-four cents, but, alas! the rarities somewhat sad as to condition.

"Those '70's came to me in a strange way," said Jimmy O'. "I was looking over some stamps on sheets one day when a boy who was with a party of tourists came to the door to make an inquiry. A gust of wind caught a sheet and blew it toward the open door. The boy rescued it. 'You collect?' he asked.

"I assured him I did. He too was a collector, and he knew stamps. Why, he knew more about die varieties and perforations and double-strikes than I ever hope to learn. His uncle, he told me, was responsible. The boy just soaked it up!

"But uncle is a purist. He wouldn't let a stamp stay in his collection that showed even a perforation gone. And uncle is queer in other ways. He'd burn stamps slightly damaged,—stamps you and I would take to our hearts. 'Let us purify by fire' was his motto. The boy said he'd rescued a few rarities. When he looked at my collection of hospital subjects — the lame, the halt, and the blind—he chuckled.

"'Uncle would certainly enjoy purifying this collection,' he said. 'But, honestly, I like it. You've saved them yourself and you find pleasure in it.'

"Not so bad for a kid, eh?"

Jimmy O' looked them over aga those hospitallers of the 1870's.

"Queer thing, that. About a m later I received a letter from a tow Massachusetts. It contained that co tion of 1870's with a note from the b

"'I told uncle about your collec and he laughed and laughed. The said: "Let's shoot him some of our rors. He will love them as we do So here they are. And next year u says he'll come out when the brid opened and talk stamps'."

Jimmy O' looked at me solemnly. the old quizzical smile came over face as he lapsed into the vernacula

"An' then, friend o' mine, we'll nacherly perambulate across that br —uncle an' you an' me,—on our an cayuses. An' we'll maybe pack c'lections with us, an' look 'em over, an' peaceful, under a pine tree."

To which plan I eagerly assented.

KEEP UP WITH UNCLE SAM

What the United States does philatelically is of prime interest to you. When a new postage stamp is to be issued, you want to know about it just as soon as possible. When a new United States air mail route is to start, you want early information so you can order your first flight covers.

WASHINGTON STAMP NEWS supplies such information FIRST. As soon as official announcement is made of new stamps or new air mail routes or special events where official cachets or cancellations are to be used, we prepare and mail to subscribers a special postal card bulletin giving the news.

As an idea of the news bulletins sent out, we list below those of the first six months of 1929:

1. Bulletin of January 8th announced C. A. M. No. 23, New Orleans to Houston air mail route, would start January 23rd.
2. Bulletin of January 30th announced that George Rogers Clark stamp would be issued in Vincennes on February 25th.
3. February 18th that Macon, Daytona Beach, Orlando, and Tampa would be added to C. A. M. 25 on March 1st.
4. February 19th that clients could get the Panama air mail covers at 28c each from Pan American Airways.
5. March 1st that inauguration of Brownsville to Mexico City air mail route would take place on March 9th.
6. March 19th gave details as to issuance of State stamps for Kansas and Nebraska.
7. March 24th announced that Toledo and Cleveland would be added to C. A. M. 27 on April 1st.
8. Bulletin of April 11th announced that Kansas and Nebraska stamps would go on sale at Philatelic Agency on May 1st and gave denominations. It also stated that C. A. M. 28, St. Louis to Omaha air mail route, would start on May 1st.
9. Bulletin of April 17th announced addition of Springfield, Ohio, to C. A. M. 16.
10. April 28th that Baltimore would be added to C. A. M. 19 on May 5th.
11. May 14th gave details of extension of air mail service on F. A. M. 5 to Central America on May 21st.
12. May 23rd that new Edison stamp would be issued in Menlo Park on June 5th.
13. June 1st that new Sullivan stamp would be issued June 17th.
14. June 9th gave list of fifteen cities where Sullivan stamp would be sold on June 17th and told patrons how to get first day covers. No stamp paper published this list in time to permit readers to get covers.
15. June 27th that two new U. S. to Canada air mail routes would start on July 15th.

WASHINGTON STAMP NEWS, in addition to the news bulletins, consists of a monthly booklet of sixteen or more pages giving information in regard to and offers of the latest U. S. stamps and first day covers.

One page of each issue contains the latest list of stamps for sale by the Philatelic Agency. It's worth the price of a subscription just to have that list at hand. Then, when you have a few shekels to invest in U. S. stamps, you don't have to wait until you can write to Washington for a list —and possibly miss something good by having to wait.

The SUBSCRIPTION PRICE is $1.00 per year. Send it now and begin to enjoy knowing what Uncle Sam is doing. Address all orders to—

EXHIBITION NEWS

The above illustration is a reproduction of the beautiful poster stamps which have been issued for the First Annual A. P. S. Stamp Show. They were designed and prepared by Paul Reichstein of St. Paul, Minnesota, one of the members of the Twin City Philatelic Society, which is local sponsor for the Exhibition. Mr. Reichstein is a former designer for the Postal Department of the German government, so stamp making comes easy for him. He will prepare a special exhibit of several frames which will be shown at the exhibition.

These exhibition souvenir stamps are 10c per set of four stamps and the receipts will go towards Exhibition expenses. They are issued in four attractive colors: blue, green, purple and carmine. You may send 10c with 2c for return postage for one set (or more sets if you wish, at 10c per set) to National Philatelic Exhibition, Inc., 1054 McKnight Building, Minneapolis, Minn.

The First Annual A. P. S. Stamp Show is being financed by selling underwriters' shares to collectors at ten dollars per share. It is the hope of the organization to repay to the subscribers a substantial part of these shares. A fund of $6,000 is necessary to properly undertake the exhibition. To date in subscriptions ranging from ten dollars to five hundred dollars, $4,670 has been raised. This leaves a balance of $1,330. Several cities have not yet reported on their quotas which have been set by the Exhibition board. Those who feel inclined to support this great movement by subscribing to underwriters' shares are requested to communicate with V. W. Rotnem, 1054 McKnight Bldg., Minneapolis, Minn.

AN ESTATE OF POSTAGE STAMPS

By ALBERT SMITH FAUGHT.

In examining, in accordance with my custom, the reports of cases recently decided by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, my attention was attracted by the key words: "Mengel's Estate; Wills—Codicils—Philately or Stamp Collecting". No reader of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS would have needed the English translation "or stamp collecting", which the court reporter added to the Greek word "Philately" when writing for the benefit of the learned legal profession.

"Arthur R. Mengel", so the official report reads, "became in his school days an amateur postage stamp collector, and at the time of his death was an extensive dealer in issues of domestic and foreign postage stamps and owner of important permanent collections. His estate consisted wholly of personal property of which his stamps formed the most valuable part."

The only contest in the settlement of the estate was the proper interpretation of the will of Arthur R. Mengel, and the identification of the various collections and albums which he mentioned in certain letters which were considered by the court as being a part of his will. Said the Supreme Court in its opinion by Mr. Justice Frazier delivered on March 18, 1929, and reported in 296 Pa. State Reports 99:—

"Testator was a young man at the time of his death, had been from boyhood an ardent collector of stamps and had eventually built up a rather extensive business as a dealer and collector. With characteristic boyish indifference and negligence he had kept his supplies and albums without regard to order as to location. This fact was at once apparent when the inventory and appraisement were made. Identification of particular stamps and volumes of stamps described and located in his letters was impossible, either as to subject matter or location. His mother, testifying to the manner in which his stamps were kept in his lifetime, said: 'He had them scattered all over the different rooms he used—some on the table and at other places. The valuable ones he always kept in those boxes locked, and he kept one bookcase locked. But the stamps he was working on were loose, scattered all over the place'."

After citing some legal authorities the official opinion concluded: "We conclude that in the present case the learned court below, finding the directions in testator's codicil, with respect to gifts of particular stamps to his parents, inoperative and ineffective, arrived at a just and reasonable distribution by giving, as the will of 1916 directs, the 'collection' of stamps to the father, and the 'stock' stamps, forming a part of the residuary bequest, to the mother. The controlling intent of testator—an equal division, as far as possible, between the parents—thus governs in the final adjudication of the estate."

The courts which passed upon this estate did the best they could in making such a division of the postage stamps, but they were in fact unable to carry out the precise instructions of the testator because of the latter's failure to so keep his collection, volumes and stock books in sufficient order to make identification possible.

Perhaps a few observations may be made in closing this account of the first case involving philately, which in recent years has reached the highest court of Pennsylvania for determination:

(1.) A postage stamp collection and duplicates for exchange and sale may easily grow in value so as to become an important part of the collector's personal estate.

(2.) It is important for each person, in making his will, to identify clearly the property which he wishes to go to each of his beneficiaries.

(3.) An accurate description and identification is especially needed in regard to postage stamps and collections, which can be so easily rearranged and disturbed that no one, except the owner, could understand or carry out carelessly written testamentary provisions on the subject.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

By A. F. Gamber, Precancel Editor, Valley City, N. Dak.

Postmaster General Brown announced in a radio talk over the Columbia system early last May that his Department invited the submission of designs for a full set of adhesive stamps, such set to get away from our traditional practice of portraying the busts of the great and near great dead. All collectors who heard his statement, or who have since read it in the news or philatelic press, must have been thrilled at the prospect thus opened up.

Let us consider what this means for us precancel collectors. Undoubtedly it means fill up those vacant places in the current set as soon as possible. Although the projected set will probably not appear until late fall, if then, the time is none too long. Those who have deliberately passed up the compound perforations as unworthy of distinction must now feel some qualms of regret. The first precancelled compounds appeared in the summer of 1927, less than two years ago, so these 11 values will have had a life of but little more than two years until superseded by the new set. Since they comprise the 11 most used values, they will be the ones first replaced, and should now be the ones most ardently sought for, to fill our sets. Certainly those general collectors who have taken these compounds seriously since they first appeared will have good reason to congratulate themselves on their foresightedness.

As to the values above the 10c, since they are not used to such an extent, the collector need not feel constrained to act with such celerity, though we must always remember Gates's classic dictum, "get them while the getting is good." Certainly the getting, so far as the present set is concerned, will never be any better than right now. However, some offices will be using some values above the 10c for years to come, partly through having large stocks on hand, partly through piling late stocks on top of the old ones. Our office here is still using the 1c 1917, though it has sold the 1c 1922 perf. 11, and Bismarck but recently used up its stock of the old 1c and 12c. So it will be with the present set in many instances.

The recent 10x10 rotaries will become better property at once. Some collectors claim that this short set is overpriced, and that, in proportion to the same 11 values in 11x11, they are overvalued. This may be true as to some of the values, but certainly not as to all. Hunt up your first day covers of the 7-8-9 rotary 10x10, and you'll see that it was about the last of May, 1926, that these three values came into use. They had been current less than two years when the compounds appeared. Further comment seems unnecessary.

Watch out for cities changing types about the time the new set appears. Several of our prominent precancel using cities are soon due for new electros, if the workmanship of their present ones is any indication — Dayton, Orange, St. Paul, Grand Rapids, Jackson, Toledo, Rutland, Rutherford, Jersey City, Schenectady, Buffalo, Montgomery, to name but a few of the outstanding instances, and to say nothing of unexpected changes, and of new towns. The same remarks apply to handstamps as well, of course, which are just as important to the general collector as are electros.

The new set won't make much difference to the collectors of city type coils. In that field the common are dirt common, and the scarce are scarce. Of course the new set will tend to make the scarce ones scarcer by putting new designs into the collecting field, and some of the present designs may lie in post-office safes and vaults for years before they appear precancelled. One of the larger eastern cities, a prolific user of precancels, only recently precancelled old 5c coil; Indianapolis did the thing only about a year ago. City coils are a field distinctly to themse with peculiarities not found in any angle of precancel collecting. Said culiarities endear these precancels to who are fond of them.

The ones to be most upset by the set will be the Bureau collectors won't there be some scrambling an them henceforth!! I don't know w I get the bigger kick from—collecting pesky things myself, or watching antics of my brother collectors as tear up the sod in going after them. new issue will tend to solidify and more stable the real value of Bur i. e., there will be more of the solid less of the speculative in the prices g those of the present set.

The high values, $1, $2, $5 of the ent set, should, of course, appreciat value rapidly, especially the latter These denominations are always gooc question about that. He who laborio builds a collection of these three va has something to be proud of, somet that he can realize on shortly. The s may be said of the 13-14-17-25, somewhat less degree.

If the new set includes Special D eries as well, the best one of the pre set will be the 20c, which just a never shows up precancelled. Shoul also include Special Handlings, the p ent three values should prove extrer good, as they came out only last y and have hardly had time to make t appearance precancelled. Of course 25c will continue to appreciate, as it n was plentiful, and has been obsolete nearly a year.

Mr. Ward recently made a plea these columns for some new dues. cancel collectors will join him in I am sure. Dues are only now co into their own among us. A distinc new set would do much to strengt sentiment for them.

Taken all in all, then, the new set give precancel collecting a huge impe chiefly through offering a conven starting point for many who would to start in, but who at present ca see just where to make the start. It stimulate those already active, and arouse the now dormant interest others. I think we shall be unanimou hailing the new issue with delight enthusiasm.

GREAT BRITAIN

I have just purchased a superb collection of stamps of Great Britain formed by a well known New York collector some 20 years ago.

The foundation of this fine collection was the collection of Mr. Storer, which Stanley Gibbons, Ltd., sold to the late owner. Almost all the stamps came from the London firm of Stanley Gibbons and are guaranteed by them.

The following are a few of the chief items, unused, unless otherwise noted:—

1840. 2d, 2 singles and a pair.
1847. 1/- green, 6 singles and a pair.
1848. 10d, 2 singles, 3 pairs.
1854. 6d, 4 fine shades.
" Small crown p. 16, 2d blue.
1855. Small crown p. 14, 2d blue.
1855. Small garter, 4d.
1856. Medium garter, 4d on blue and on white.
1860. 1½d lilac rose, 2 copies.
1862. 9d with hair lines, fine used.
1867. 2/- brown, unused and 2 used.
" Maltese Cross, 10/-, unused.
" Anchor. £1 on blue, unused.
" Anchor. £5 on blue, unused and used.
1882. £5 on white, unused and 2 used pairs.
1881. 1d lilac, printed on both sides.
1884. £1 brown, wmk. Crowns, 2 unused and a strip of 10 used, latter probably unique.
" 10/- blue, block of 20 used.
1888. £1 brown, Orbs. unused.
1891. £1 green, single and block of 4 unused.

SPECIMEN STAMPS

A fine collection including octagonal,
10d brown and 1/- green, block of 8 each.
2/- brown, block of 4.
2/- blue, pane of 20.

OFFICIAL STAMPS

1840. 1d black V. R., 2 copies.

I. R. OFFICIAL

1882. 5/- rose, 10/- blue, 10/- cobalt.
1890. £1 brown, Orbs, an exceedingly rare stamp.
1892. £1 green.
1902. 5/- rose.

GOVT. PARCELS

1897. 1d lilac, Inverted.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

1901. 5d and 10d.
1902. 1/-, an exceedingly rare stamp, very few copies being known.

Throughout the collection there are a fine lot of shades of early issues and a great number of unused blocks of 4 and many used blocks.

Approval books of any issue will be sent to collectors known to me or against usual references. [14

S. Plates and Plate Markings

R. A. BRYANT, Editor.
Box 64, West Somerville, Mass.

Readers are requested to send in notes and questions on errors, shifts, defects and all plate markings; also color varieties and new numbers for chronicle. The editor will gladly answer all questions on these subjects.

Air Mail Notes.—H. M. Southworth informs me in a recent letter that while he has not seen any specimens of combinations of 19636 to 39, and 19675-78 have begun to show up in the East. The second or third printings, which take in combinations of 19545 to 80 and with 19585 to 19631 red, and the blue of 19597 to 19618 blue, with 19571 and 592 red, do not show up in the East frequently very often, and seem to have come to the West. They may show up after being buried in the Bureau vaults with new stock as the later combinations are printed rapidly and piled up perhaps above other stock." Any reader finding combinations with 19636 to 39 are requested to report same for chronicle.

Collectors sending in charts of plate number combinations of the 5c air mail stamp are asked to place one set of numbers across the top of the sheet and another down, on the side. This will greatly help in checking and make it much easier. Kindly place the center (black) numbers across the top and the plate (red) numbers down the side. If you do this it will be less confusing to the editor. Checking all kinds of charts, find this method the best.

Our West Coast correspondent, Walter Hopkinson, reports several interesting varieties occurring on various plates of the issue. He kindly sends for inspection a block of ten from the right pane of plate 19607, which shows a hair line extending the full length of each subject in the top row just above the border, which can be detected with the naked eye. No. 5 has two small dots, one on and one above, and to the right of the hair line. Mr. Hopkinson remarks that the hair line is also to be found on the left pane but much fainter and adds that only other specimen on which he observes the line is from plate 19614.

Continuing Mr. Hopkinson's report we have a most unusual oddity. "On plate 19613, No. 6, right pane is a 'blue moon' nearly 1/10" in diameter, centering about 1/16" above left front tip of the airship. It is quite nifty and I have several now." The correspondent does not venture to guess what caused the oddity but promises to send a specimen for trade. He reports minor markings on 19577, 19611, 19620, 19547, 19666, and 19626.

Letters are acknowledged from A. F. Gegenheimer and W. W. Hopkinson (air mail combinations), Oliver S. Chute (2), S. Bendet, Chester W. Hodgson and G. Maresca (specimens), Dr. W. G. Atwood, J. R. Childs, Samuel Rosenberg, Stephen Kubaski, Rufus B. Cowing, Jr., Harry Redmond, W. H. Schneider, Gaylord W. Brobst, George S. Chapman, W. H. Wolfgang, Lyndon E. Fletcher, Leon D. Miller, W. S. Potter (Canal Zone), Theodore H. Ames, L. O. Dutcher (2) (charts), Gideon S. Ryder, George Griffin, Charles L. Dulenar, Frederick A. C. Struebel and Joseph B. Mays.

In addition to the above many requests for the postage due list, recently announced, were received. Some of our readers also send requests for other lists, and several suggestions have been received pertaining to proposed subjects for them. No doubt all collectors have the plate numbers of the later commemoratives, but if the demand warrants, earlier commemoratives will be treated in the same manner as the due list.

Just a few lines on the appearance of bi-colored issues due to poor registration in printing. Many collectors, strange to relate, seem confused when they locate copies which show the center or vignette encroaching upon the frame. Several have sent specimens for examination and even requested a value be placed upon them. Such copies of course are not plate varieties, but merely examples of poor workmanship in printing and caused, no doubt, by haste in filling orders. Correspondents have reported instances where the vignette was 3mm below center, and while this is somewhat extreme, such specimens are fairly common. One collector informs me that he has placed several specimens in a row, each copy showing the airplane a little nearer the left border, until it finally appears to "fly" over the panel having the word "AIR", making an odd appearance as the eye follows the plane.

783 5c air mail combinations have been reported to date, and before many weeks we will pass the thousand mark. Send them in!

SOMETHING ORIGINAL

A dealer sends us the following rather terrifying and threatening letter received on a summer day:—

"I see you advertise stamps for collections in your circular, and it is against the U. S. laws to buy and sell stamps over again. I was cleaned out by an inspector. They are cleaning up the stamp dealers. You will be fined or jailed if you do not destroy all you have before they call on you.

I charge 50c for my information and will expect a return reply with remittance to save you from a heavy fine.

I am helping clean up stamp dealers and have sent a lot of names in to the inspector. I will save you on 50c by return mail, coin or M. O."

METROPOLITAN STAMP COMPANY

BREMEN-TO-SHORE AIR MAIL

Herman Toaspern, the New York dealer, loses no opportunity to advertise stamp collecting. The above illustrates his activity and serves a double purpose in letting people know that he is right on the job. Mr. Toaspern believes that the daily press is very willing to use up-to-date features of this kind, and we heartily commend his judgment. He suggests that the stamp collector wait upon the managing editor of the local paper, and get acquainted with him. He will appreciate fresh news in regard to stamp features. The picture above shows one of the letters delivered from the Bremen while off Fire Island, according to the Brooklyn Daily Eagle to whom we are indebted for the illustrations. Mail from the steamer was delivered around New York City before the liner docked.

EDITORIAL

WE have been told that every effort will be made to facilitate the service that is being rendered by the Philatelic Agency at Washington since the desirability of filling orders promptly is recognized by the managers as well as the patrons. The suggestion is made that customers make due allowance under the present circumstances as it is certain that improved operations will soon be manifest. Speaking of philatelic agencies in some of the other countries, several readers have written to say that they have had unsatisfactory returns from one or two of them, and in several instances they have had their remittances returned. On occasions, in printing lists of the agencies, we have stressed the desirability of writing first to the various bureaus for information, as we suspect that some of the difficulties are caused by a misunderstanding of methods.

A DEALER in this country submits the following letter from Vancouver, B. C., as coming from a customer there: "There is a registered letter from you to me held at H. M. Customs for lack of Canadian Customs Declaration Invoices in triplicate, which they insist on having in future with all goods (though not liable for duty) before they can be cleared . . . but one can do nothing but 'fall in line.' This matter must be taken up immediately through Senator Calder at Ottawa, with a view to having these foolish restrictions removed or the auctioneers in the U. S. A. will be inclined to refuse all bids from Canadian dealers or collectors." While there must have been some reason for declaring this imposition, as it seems to stamp folks, yet it would appear that an inquiry into the reasons for it would show that to enforce the regulation would require more work than any resultant good would compensate. Instead of discouraging the free intercourse of business of a philatelic nature between the two countries, the aim should be to develop the relations. An inquiry might reveal that the necessity now existing is really not grounded on sound principles and consequently could be revoked in fairness to both countries.

WE have had a number of letters on the subject of abuses, as alleged, in connection with the distribution of the recent Cuban set, and there may be reasons for the sharp criticisms of several correspondents. However, while complaints have been made, we have heard that some of our readers had no difficulty in obtaining the sets from the postmaster at Habana; and in fact, one correspondent shows that for courteous service, this postmaster writes his name high in the annals of gracious conduct.

THE New York Evening World has conducted a great contest for the best suggestion of how to spend ten million dollars for the betterment of mankind, based on the announcement of Mr. C. Harold Smith that he would award this sum for the most acceptable answer. The winning plan embodied the idea of the establishment of a foundation for advancement in the realm of mental hygiene, we learn. Well and good, but we feel that the suggestion of a stamp collector should be rescued from the avalanche of over one hundred thousand replies, for consideration here. He said that a need exists for promoting an understanding between us and the other peoples making up the living universe. On the theory that we cannot bear malice towards the man we learn to understand, the proposal may be amplified to include stamp collecting in its scope. Collectors will agree that their pursuit gives them a world vision that carries a tolerance towards their fellows in other lands. Insensibly, they gain an understanding of divergent races and customs, and in other ways they are broadened through their stamps. Any foundation that may come, reared on the injunction to think in terms of mankind, must not overlook stamp collectors, who, in their way, are already engaged in this commendable work. While the collector's contribution to the contest may not have made a deep impression on the judges, yet there is a movement that has been spoken of that has for its object the attainment of the end that he has suggested; and he may have the satisfaction of knowing that he was one of the first to call attention to cultivating the field.

FROM Mrs. Ira B. Johnston, Evanston, Illinois, we have received a clipping from the Chicago Daily News of one of John Carlyle's syndicated homilies, "Going Off Half-Cocked." Mr. Carlyle says that the other night a man declared that collecting stamps was the acme of aimless avocations, or, as he bluntly said, the most absurd of manias. Just at this trying moment, a superb specimen of the genus homo entered the room, and his personality radiated pelf and power; he was a dominating factor in the business world, and a captain of commerce whose interests were famous and far-flung. Moreover, great banker that he is, he collects stamps with enthusiasm. By comparison of the two men, the derogatory words of the speaker flew back at him and slapped him in the face. His tongue bespoke the idle mind. We know several bankers who would fit the picture of the collector with his aura of wisdom, but we forbear to name them; and we know men such as this detractor of philately, but we need not call attention to their mental lapses by branding them publicly.

IN the Chicago Tribune recently, a Chicago boy, aged eight, wrote home from Geneva, Switzerland, where he has been attending school. He says that he will be home in four months, and writes: "I can't hardly wait a second because I want to see my stamps so badly." We need not add that this boy is not a collector "in the making", because it is evident that he is a confirmed lover of stamps, when they engage his mind to this degree.

CONGRESSMAN ERNEST R. ACKERMAN of Plainfield, New Jersey, has been made the subject of the widest publicity recently in our newspaper press. As his collecting friends know, Mr. Ackerman is accompanied on his travels, that have registered over 720,000 miles on land and sea, by a faithful companion, an umbrella that he bought forty-nine years ago. It has crossed the ocean ninety-nine times, and been unscathed by the earthquake in Japan,—and has been re-covered only three times. The Indianapolis Star recently pictured Congressman Ackerman holding his open umbrella, and the Arkansas Democrat wrote an editorial on "That Old Umbrella" that combines a sympathetic handling of the subject with a bit of proper humor, and says that it well deserves its sanctuary in the Plainfield Public Library, "with a brass plate reciting its history," when it attains its fiftieth year of usefulness.

WE have received the catalogue of the Postage Meter Company, Stamford, Conn., in which the progress of metered mail is shown. The statement is made that more than one out of every fifteen pieces of mail sent through the post offices in this country now has the metered mail indicia instead "of the old-fashioned postage stamp," and a list of the users of the stampless system includes thousands of big business ho

RECENTLY, in telling of Ca Lipsner's lecture on air mail a Sherman Hotel, Chicago, we referre the society under whose auspices the ture was given, as the Chicago Air Society, when we should have said, National Air Mail Society; and in tice to all concerned, the slip that made is now corrected. Here, we occasion to say that Captain Lip spoke before the stamp club at Ca Pirie, Scott & Company, Chicago, on 19th, to over one hundred junior m bers, to their fullest satisfaction.

Air Mail News

BY DONALD E. DICKASON,
Wooster, Ohio

(This department covers air mail news from the purely philatelic standpoint. Coöperators will find their names listed each week. If your letter calls for a reply please enclose a stamped, addressed envelope. This is your department, so make your contribution as generous as possible.)

Well, looks like no A.A.M.S. convention this year. Pres. Griffin, of the Cleveland society which extended an invitation, tells me that A.A.M.S. officers felt that the time was too short to properly work out the program. Another year's coming, at any rate.Harold Rosenthal, 1943 Ave. St. John, New York City, would like to hear from any Juniors interested in forming an air mail organization for Juniors alone.John J. Feulner says he wants to acknowledge publicly the courtesies of the postmaster of Valparaiso, Chile, for his helpful courtesy in getting his covers back. That's all to the good, and more such expressions of thanks will help offset some of the many kicks we so like to send along.The first number of El Timbre Postal, published by Robert Rubsamen, Calle de Flora, Num. 4A, Mexico, D. F., Mexico, is at hand. While of general scope, the magazine will give special attention to Mexican air mail matters. If you can muster a bit of Spanish, a sample copy will interest you.

Official Flights

Again, those who either subscribe to the Daily Postal Bulletin ($2.00 a year from the P. O. Dept., Washington), or who keep a close eye on the copy sent their postmaster, were fully repaid. The issue of the 19th officially announced the new "S. S. Bremen" ship-to-shore service, to commence with the incoming trip on the 22nd, and the outgoing on the 26th, from N. Y. City. Bulletin mentions only these two trips, but the inference is that the service will continue for future voyages. Service is by catapault plane from the ship only, and is to New York on this side, and Bremerhaven, Germany. Southampton, England, may receive service, too, though not officially announced. Postage of 15c per ½ oz. in addition to the regular postage.

Albert N. Brown sends me an Oakland cover dated July 15th, stating that that was the first date Oakland was officially listed on CAM 8.A revision of CAM 19 is almost certain to go into effect, which will include Raleigh, N. C., and Savannah, Georgia, and probably quite soon.The Stop Press note last week on the Cleveland-Washington trip had reference to a new route the CAM 11 contractor is opening, but which is not yet a mail route. Covers carried were to have a cachet, and pilot's signature, showing that they were carried over the first trip of this route, which will doubtless carry mail officially in the near future.

The two new Canada-U. S. routes, previously announced in detail, opened on schedule July 15th. This Canadian idea of a different cachet for each point-to-point cover ought to boost the first flight loads, all right. Cachets were good, as usual. Clipping from Detroit states that 475 lbs. came in there the first day. Answering a question asked some months ago, Henry A. Meyer tells me that the Graf Zeppelin, on its first round trip, carried no registered mail whatever.

My recent notes re forthcoming Mexican flights may not have been so good. Got the dope from a Dept. of Commerce publication, and the item had no date attached. Sent down a flock of covers myself. So far, two lots have come right back, flown, all right, but not by any first flight that I can see. Hope we have more luck with some of the rest. On any further covers you send from Cristobal on further FAM extensions, by all means include Colon, Panama. I've just wakened to the fact that every cover from Cristobal has its cousins from Colon—first flight official cachets, and everything. Postage rates are usually same as announced for Cristobal.Mail was sent out of Curacao all right on the recent FAM 5 extension, leaving there June 23rd. 4-line cachet in lavender. A. E. Koestler tells me that the beforementioned Alaskan covers in some cases were postmarked Fairbanks, Mar. 12, and backstamped Nome, Mar. 14th. That looks like flying time, all right.

Official starting date for the FAM service to Dutch Guiana, via Port of Spain, Trinidad, as announced in the Stop Press column recently, is now set for Aug. 27.First dispatch of mail for Chile, flown all the way, left Cristobal for Santiago, July 16—65 lbs. in all, including some copies of the New York Times. Not such a lot of mail, and these ought to be nice. Cachet showed a scene from the Chilean Andes.

Non-Official Flights, Airport Dedications, Etc.

Saw a unique little Lindbergh collection today, sent in by Wm. J. Prinzing. Consists of covers mailed on the 1929 anniversary dates, and hours also, for that matter, of Lindbergh's departure from each place on his famous flight. Can't list them all here, but you'll enjoy a few samples. San Diego, May 10, mailed to St. Louis, his next stopping point; St. Louis, May 11; Garden City, May 12; also May 20; St. Johns, May 20; Halifax, May 20; Paris, May 21; Brussels, May 28; London, May 29 and 30; U. S. S. Memphis, June 4; and also 11; etc. Each cover has, in addition to the regular postage, a Lindbergh air mail stamp, which has been signed by the postmaster forwarding it. Very nice indeed.

Coming events: Forthcoming dedications at the following—no information as to cachets, but the chances are good—York and Hastings, Neb.; Alliance, Auburn, Beatrice, Columbus, Crete, Falls City, Fremont, Omaha, Kearney, Keene, Lincoln, McCook, Nebraska City, Norfolk, Valentine—all Nebr.; Douglas, Wyoming—Amer. Legion; Ridgeway, Pa.; Audubon, Iowa; Ida Grove, Iowa; Pomona, N. D.; Reedsburg, Wis.; Waupaca, Wis.; Placerville, Cal.—Chambers of Commerce the best bets for cachets.Angels Camp, Cal., Sept. 7, 8, 9—covers to C. of C. or Boosters Club.Lake Wales, Fla., this fall; cachet by C. of C.Brunswick, Ga., soon, also C. of C.Chambersburg, Pa., in the near future—to C. of C.Austin, Tex., and Abilene, Tex., some time yet, but a likely cachet by each C. of C.

And some more—Show and Air Races at South Bend, Ind., Aug. 27-31. Cachet by city—covers to George Carter, 1123 E. Indiana Ave.Goshen, Ind., Sept. 2, cachet, and also a very special envelope which may be had postpaid for 10c, 9c if 10 or more. Remittance, or ordinary covers for cachet to R. K. Mack, Sr., Goshen. Dunkirk and Fredonia, N. Y., are to dedicate a joint field about this time. May be able to get in yet—covers to C. of C.'s in both cities, stamped, but unsealed.

First flight from Pittsburgh's new amphibian airport took place unexpectedly July 18. Mr. Penning heard of it, and rushed down with 300 covers he had left over from the 1st night flight from McKeesport, which was not given service. Covers bear a red 5-line cachet, by Pittsburgh Aviation Industries Corp., were flown to Butler, and there postmarked. Not exactly a dedication, but closely related, at least, and a scarce one to be. Sept. 1, via CAM 11, and J. P. Penning, E. Eugene Ave., Homestead, Pa.—Memorial to Lieut. Bettis, for whom Bettis Field is named. Pittsburgh and McKeesport cachets—pilot's autograph 10c extra.Hope you got the Akron anniversary given Stop Press space last week. That dirigible pick-up from the post office roof was a real idea, and R. J. Williams deserves the credit for getting the C. of C. on the job.

Another different Lindbergh item—a blue cachet used on mail from the CX Observation Squadron, Missouri Nat. Guard's encampment at Fort Riley, Kans., July 7-20. This was Lindy's old organization, and they seem to be proud of it.

Comunicaciones.—The only inscription, in addition to value, appearing on certain stamps of Spain.

Correio.—The only inscription shown on some of the early stamps of Portugal.

Correo Espanol Marruecos. — Spanish Morocco.

Correo Interior (Inland Postage).—On the two Spanish stamps issued for local use in Madrid.

Correos.—This word, used in conjunction with "Certificado" or value, forms the only inscription on certain stamps of Spain and it colonies. Reference to the illustrations in a catalogue should make identification easy.

Oltre Giuba

Probably very few collectors had any idea as to the location of this stamp issuing country when the first stamps for this place were issued in 1925, as regular Italian stamps were simply surcharged "Oltre Giuba." The next year a map stamp appeared showing the location of this colony. It lies between the Italian colony of Somaliland and the British colony of Kenya in East Africa.

It seems to a person at this distance, quite unnecessary to divide up a sparsley settled colony the way this one has been cut off from the rest of Italian Somaliland. However, it gives a good chance for the government to get more revenue for the post office. Genuinely used stamps on original covers are worth going after, but it is doubtful if many readers of this article will ever see any such. —A. C. LeDuc.

Junior Dictionary

Somalia Italiana.—(Italian Somaliland.)—An overprint applied to Italian postage due stamps in 1909 for use in the colony of Benadir.

Somalia Italiana Meridionale.—A surcharge on Italian postage due stamps in 1907 meaning "Italian South Somaliland".

Somalia Italiana Meridionale.—An overprint shown on Italian postage due stamps used in Benadir in 1906. It means "Southern Italian Somaliland".

Somaliland Protectorate.—A portion of Somaliland with a coast line of 450 miles which has been a British protectorate since 1884. Special postage stamps were not issued until 1903.

Somers Islands.—A name by which the Bermuda Islands have been known.

Somerset House.—The headquarters of the Inland Revenue department in Great Britain. Here all the imprimatur sheets of the postage stamps are kept and all business appertaining to stamps is transacted.

Som Ubesorget Aabnet Af Post Departementet.—The inscription on the Return Letter stamps of Norway which were affixed to letters which could not be delivered and, therefore, had to be returned to the senders.

Som Uindlost Aabnet Af Post Departementet.—The inscription on similar stamps of Norway which were affixed to letters returned to senders on account of the fact that they had not been called for.

L. P.—Latvija Pawalda, or Administration of Latvia, is an abbreviation found on the occupation stamps of Latvia, Nos. 245 to 257, issued at the order of General Avaloff-Bermondt. Used only in Mitau and Schaulen.

Luchtpost.—This "air post" inscription is found on stamps of the Netherlands used for air mail.

Mandats.—"Timbres pour Mandats" as chronicled in some quarters are "stamps for Money Orders, indicating the fee paid thereon and having no postal standing." The Netherlands issued a set of these stamps in 1884 ranging from 1 to 10 gulden with large numerals of value as the distinctive feature.

Philatelic Philosophy

Philatelist: A funny fellow who imagines that a postmark upside down is important.

Verily, according to Confucius, "The Noble Truth is that the passing of pain goes with the passing of desire." I bet Confucius was a stamp collector, and at one time bought at auction.

Verily the collector who loves his creases is a wiser man than he who quarrels with his straight edges.

Know you then the unforgivable sin? It is this, to make a graft from a hobby.

He that thinketh, "Tomorrow I will acquire a Mauritius and take my ease", is not wise.

—Hill Billy.

The next mail brought in al more $5 stamps of different is- from there, as well as a couple of ones. I gobbled them all and was excited over it until I investigated found they were changing from a to a gold basis there, and the s were only worth 5c each after all. t later I got a sealed package of res from there that still stays in my tion. It has $140 in $5 and $10 s on it. Also I got some "A. R." as postage, and several 10c ones diagonally and used as 5's.

ll, it made me a collector again. I up to the Scott Company and got bum, began to keep everything that in, and even wrote to some of our mers for stamps, so that I soon got her quite a good start for a general tion, which is what I have today. I was transferred to the N. Y. of- f the Trust, where I handled their American business; so the collec- cept growing a bit.

en I went to an independent con- my source of supply disappeared, my interest again became so small when in 1914 we got in a package Porto Rico with a big block of the nama-Pacific on it I only saved the , and did not write down there to hat more they had on hand. I need- nother spur, and got it during the d War.

went back into service and started ne A. E. F., but was stopped at Ho- by a General who had happened to father well in service, and there I d for over three years, shipping the fellows over and receiving them again. It is odd how the "ruling on" crops up. This was in July, and one of the first things I had d when reporting for orders was a rack of mail outside the Adjutant's I went to it as a fly to molasses! were letters addressed to officers oldiers going through the Port, and e had time or inclination to bother them.

ey appealed to me strongly. I se- permission, took the rack to my put up a big sign in the hall in- ing all officers to come to me for and from that little beginning there the Military Post Office at Ho- , which at the height of affairs had 100 employees. We shipped every of mail that went from the U. S. to oldiers overseas, kept all mail for ports and battleships at sea, and ed a Port mail that ran up to 20,000 s a day during the big months.

the fall of 1917 it was decided to Christmas boxes to be sent to the overseas, and the job of handling fell on me. It was a terrible task. le did not realize that there were reds of thousands of the packages stowed in the hold of a ship, or long it would take to get them over e troops, and they packed things in board boxes that were smashed long e they reached Hoboken. They ac- sent oranges and fried chicken, and other such things. For various ns we had to do a great deal of re- ng.

was too busy planning and supervis- o pay any personal attention to it, had already noticed a great variety amps on the packages, so instructed of the packers to save the discarded pings for me, and from them my boys made up a large book of stamps contained blocks, pairs and strips of the 1917 and earlier issues through the two dollar value, several blocks of the 10c Registration stamp used as regular postage, and a lot of Parcel Posts through the one dollar. B. L. Voorhees bought that book from me a year ago for a good price. The money went towards the college expenses of one of the boys, as was planned when we made it up.

A special cancelling stamp was prepared for my office with the inscription "U. S. Military Post Office—Soldiers' Mail," and this was used on all mail left by departing troops, Red Cross "safe arrival" cards, etc., and many thousands of those cancellations must still be around the country. Many a soldier wrote home saying, "I can't tell you where I am, but you can look at the postmark on this letter." Poor chap, the postmark was camouflaged like everything else in those days.

My work was not concluded until October, 1920, when I was at last discharged from service, but never in my life did I work as hard as in those days, and stamps again faded into the background. I didn't even get a set of battleship cancellations, or a number of other such things I could have collected and that would be of value today.

A while after discharge I again began travelling for the government in a new position, and then had a few experiences that are worth telling. In a North Carolina town I ran across the Postmaster, an old gentleman who told me he had been Postmaster at the time of the Civil War, and had continued under the Confederacy. Persuaded him to let me go through two old trunks, and from them got one five strip of the 2c green Confed. on the cover, a number of wall paper envelopes, several reversed with stamps inside and out, and, last but not least, two beautiful blocks of the 1c 1857, full gum, the remains of what he had seized when he took over the office for the Confederacy. Colman got those, and my wife and I spent Christmas with my family in Omaha on the proceeds!

The next story is not so pleasant. While in Washington on a business trip I read of an old printing office 80 years old that was selling out. I went down and tackled the manager about stamps. After some chat about their value he told me that they had bound in books all the correspondence of a Minister who ran a Liberian colonization society from 1830 to 1860, and would be glad to sell me the stamps! I arranged to go over them with him the next day, a holiday.

I went down there with high hopes. He had the books, 8 or 10 of them, lined up on a table for me, and—Well, to make a sad story a short one, the book from 1845 to 1855 was missing and almost all stamps had been cleaned out of the other ones. There was one 10c 1847 that had been overlooked in some way, and a few 1c and 3c 1851, and that was all!

Telling Colman of it later, he said, "Why, I got all those stamps. A fellow has been selling me Liberians and old U. S. from that lot for years, a few at a time. I never knew where he got them, but it is evident they came from that lot." What a clean-up that crook made, and what a treasure I missed!

COLLECTING "HARD-TO-GETS"

By R. S. Gordon.

For those of you who demand an avalanche of stamps to look through once a week or oftener; for those whose collecting fever cannot be satisfied by a stamp a month, or even less often, sometimes, this will have no appeal. The "hard-to-gets" are just that—they're mighty hard to locate, cash or no cash. But it's more fun, to my way of thinking, than sending a check to your dealer for new issues; more fun than poring over approval books and attempting to make the available cash stretch to cover all the desired purchases; more fun, even, than sorting out a new batch of recent arrivals bought "blind" at an auction—and there is a thrill in that.

There are hard-to-get stamps, of course, in practically every country listed in the catalog—stamps whose listed value is but a trifle, perhaps, but whose acquisition requires patience and time much more than money. And if you want whole countries whose stamps are hard to get, try making a collection of some of the French African colonies in used condition. And after that, if you still possess any patience, go after a complete collection of office cancellations of those same colonies!

Mauritania, for instance, has at present just 13 post offices. The colony is about the size of Spain and Portugal, with Italy thrown in for good measure—and there were, at last reports, less than three hundred Europeans within its boundaries. "Only thirteen post offices" may sound easy; but in three years of trying, I still lack four of its present 13, and of two other offices I possess but one stamp each! It isn't quite as easy as it sounds.

In case you want something a bit less difficult, try Ivory Coast. Here the used collection itself will be comparatively easy. But it will take considerable hunting to acquire a stamp from each of its 39 offices. And just to make it harder, you might try concentrating on just one stamp. Any one will do; the fifty centimes blue and green is fairly common used, and the cancellations show up well on it.

But if you really want a tough one, a colony whose stamps used command quite a premium any place, pick out Chad. It's quite a sizable place—one-sixth as large as these United States—and there are all of half a dozen post offices there. Only two of those offices are provided with money order facilities, however, which makes things more interesting.

The game, in any collection, is to get the stamps. Those of us whose financial resources are generally low are handicapped at the start in attempting a general or specialized collection of the usual variety. But in collecting the "hard-to-gets", everyone starts even, and money cuts but a small figure. Which may be one reason why I quit collecting United States long ago.

about the very modern issues--but when it comes to the classics--stamps issued from 1840 to 1900 or so--we believe we can safely say we have one of the largest and most representative showings. We are also particularly strong on South American issues -- old Europeans -- and such like.

Correspondence gladly welcomed.

ATLAS STAMP CO. (P. C. Smith) LEXINGTON, MASS.

U. S. 1928–11-Cent Green

Quite recently, the Scott Company decided to list the current 11-cent green stamp, which we chronicled over a year ago, as a separate and distinct variety. Whether it is likely to be scarce or not, we cannot say. My opinion, however, is that the variety will be common. The supply was not exceedingly large and when they were first discovered, there was correspondence between the Post Office and the Bureau, regarding the so called error and there was some thought of having the entire lot destroyed. However, they felt that this would be a waste of money and decided to issue the variety. The later supplies come in a different color. There are several greenish shades, but I have seen but one real green. As I have received numerous letters asking for singles and blocks since the stamp has been given full catalog recognition, I have decided to offer them at fifty cents per stamp, or $2.00 a block. I may be selling them too cheaply or I may be asking several times what they are worth. Price is not guaranteed and those ordering are simply taking a chance. The color is certainly an error and further printings have been in different shades.

Whenever anything new or interesting is discovered in the way of our issues, I am likely to have a stock on hand, hence, want lists are always solicited.

I am also pleased to announce that I am in the market at all times to purchase any new varieties or errors of our current issues that might be found, such as shades, part-perforates, errors in overprint and the like. In addition, I am in the market for anything in the way of earlier issues of outstanding merit, especially mint blocks, covers and errors. The same remarks apply to revenue issues. In fact—anything in the way of choice U. S. emissions, with the exception of envelopes.

Washington Notes

Postal officials at Washington, at the present time, are considering the advisability of opening a branch Philatelic Agency at the Minneapolis Convention during the week of August 19th. It is perfectly agreeable to them to have a branch Post Office established at the Exhibition, at which time a special postmark will be used.

If the final decision is favorable and a branch Agency is established, it will be in charge of Mrs. M. C. Shaughnessy, the Assistant Philatelic Agent, who so ably conducted the sales at both the New York and Cleveland Exhibitions.

The Department will even go so far as to try and have ready by that time the new 2-cent stamp commemorating the Battle of Fallen Timbers, so that it may be placed on sale at Minneapolis, as a first-day point of issue. Washington is now giving consideration to these details, and definite information will be available in this column next week.

The design for the new 2-cent stamp commemorating the Battle of Fallen Timbers has been selected and consists of the monument to General Anthony Wayne, which will be unveiled at about ten miles from Toledo, in commemoration of the sesquicentennial of the Battle of Fallen Timbers. The monument shows Wayne, along with an Indian and an American scout. It will be 2-cent in denomination, will be printed in red, and distributed in panes of one hundred, the size of our current issue. As the number to be printed will not be large, the entire printing will be made on the flat press and perforated 11. No imperforates or rotaries will be available.

No consideration has as yet been given to the Peace stamps, but there is no doubt that in the fall consideration will be given the subject, and will possibly be followed by the appearance of Peace stamps from several nations.

Nothing, as yet, has been done in regards to the designing of the Ohio River commemoratives, but this is a subject that will be finally settled as soon as the Fallen Timbers stamp is out of the way.

3-Cent "Nebraska" Error

Mr. James L. Allen has just shown me a sheet of the 3-cent Lincoln, rotary print, perforated 11x10½, overprinted "NEBR", wherein one entire horizontal row of ten is without surcharge, resulting in ten vertical pairs, showing one stamp with and one stamp without overprint. This is from plate 18803. While the balance of the package was thoroughly inspected, but one other sheet was found, namely, one printed from plate 18804, wherein the stamps in the vertical spacing show the wide spacing, giving us five blocks of four, similar to the wide spacing formerly chronicled in the case of the 2-cent "Molly Pitcher" and the 2-cent "Hawaiian."

As previously mentioned, these errors are caused by the fact that the press which prints both the stamp and the surcharge did not have the surcharge impression synchronize with the printing of the stamps, hence—the wide spacing which should jump the margins between panes, fell on the stamps themselves, giving us these two most interesting errors.

So far, we have had the pleasure of chronicling but two other errors in the "State" surcharges, namely, the 9-cent "Nebraska" in the same condition as the 3-cent, just described.

Revenues

We have had the pleasure of chronicling in the last several weeks, quite a few of our current revenues perforated 10. In searching through my own stock, I have just located the current 10-cent and 20-cent overprinted "Stock Exchange" perforated 10. These have been in my possession almost a year, and had not been noted heretofore.

Canal Zone

In further reference to my recent remarks concerning the new 5-cent Canal Zone, Mr. Richard Peters, Jr., throws further light upon the subject of the illustration shown. I quote from his letter as follows:

"I note your comments on the Canal Zone 5c stamp, in which yo 'If there is a steam shovel present so small that it is not readily Personally, I do not quite unde this comment on your part, as the of the stamp which I have show steam shovel as the most prominer ject in the engraving. The steam s one of the well-known Marion ty in the extreme right-hand corner picture, printed somewhat darker the rest of the scene, and the sho very distinctly shown with the dip the act of digging.

The picture particularly appeal me because when I visited the Ca 1912, it looked just about as this p shows it, and as a matter of fact view was apparently taken from hill where my sister lived for se years during the construction days.

2c RATE FOR AIR MAIL

Postage Reduction Indicated by the P. O. Department

WASHINGTON, July 30. — The government may soon reduce air mail postage to two cents. This was indicated today by Asst. P. M. G. Glover, who declared the proposition might have to be considered shortly, "especially on long hops over passenger routes that have no mail contracts, but are now operating." The present air mail rate is five cents for the first ounce and an increase in rate for each half ounce more.

HEDIN EXPEDITION STAMP

Chinese Government at Nanking Has Given Consent to Noted Explorer

For the first time in history a private scientific expedition will get a postage stamp of its own. The Chinese Government at Nanking has granted the request of Dr. Sven Hedin, noted explorer and leader of many expeditions to the interior of Asia, that his expedition now at work in China be permitted to have its own postage stamp.

Dr. Hedin sailed on the Albert Ballin with his sister, Miss Alma Hedin, social worker and author of the book "My Brother Sven," which will appear in translation here soon. Dr. Hedin has been on a short visit in this country on his way from China to Sweden, where he expects to confer with the government before returning to his headquarters.

"The stamp will be printed in two or three values and colors," he declared. "The whole edition will represent a value of $2,500.00, which will be paid in advance to the postal authorities in Shanghai. Then I have the authority to submit the rights of selling the whole edition, except certain series, which will be on sale to the public in China."

"Money paid for the exclusive right to sell the stamps will go in full to the expedition's committee in Peking," Dr. Hedin said. It will be used for traveling expenses of Chinese members and to maintain the meteorological stations he has established in Central Asia.

"Eventually part of the profit will be used for the support of a magazine recently founded in Peking, which contains nothing but news and reports from the members of my expedition," the explorer continued. "The Chinese Government has approved my suggestion of the stamp issue."

The central section of the stamp will show a rider on a camel among sand dunes, with the setting sun as background. The official name of the expedition in China, "The Scientific Mission to the Northwestern Provinces," will appear in Chinese letters at the top and the same in Latin at the bottom. The value will be printed in the corners.

The stamp is being designed by a Swedish artist. It will be the same size, the Chinese Government has announced, as the newly issued stamps bearing the picture of Sun Yat Sen.

items of this country: Union of South Africa, Pretoria printing, ½p, 1p and 6p surcharged "S. W. A.", overprinted at the top alternately "OFFICIAL" on the English, and "OFFISIEEL" on the Afrikaans stamp. All three are printed in sheets of 240 on paper watermarked multiple Springbok. No stop is after "Official" or "Offisieel". Also the 2p pictorial printed in sheets of 120 (2 panes 60) as before. Watermark multiple Springbok. The words "OFFICIAL" and "OFFISIEEL" are overprinted alternately as mentioned above. This is a different setup, and has a stop after "OFFICIAL" and "OFFISIEEL", but both can be found with or without stop on the same sheet. The sheet is composed of two rows of twelve, and the following numbers on the sheets are without stop after: —"OFFICIAL" 1, 7, 18, 24, 66, 72, 77, 83, 90, 96, 101, 107. "OFFISIEEL" 54, 60, 78, 84, 89, 95, 102, 108, 113, 119.

Southern Rhodesia.—Mr. J. Robertson of Johannesburg advises that a complete new issue will appear shortly. It is now in course of preparation.

Union of South Africa.—According to information received from Mr. J. Robertson the 1 pound value will soon be added to the pictorial set of this country and South West Africa.

THE NEW IRISH STAMPS

On the 22nd of June, 1929, the Department of Posts and Telegraphs of the Irish Free State issued a new postage stamp to commemorate the Centenary of Catholic Emancipation in that country. The design of the stamp selected is the work of an Irish artist, Mr. Leo Whelan, and consists of a drawing of the head of Daniel O'Connell, the Liberator, enclosed in an oval band bearing the words, "Fuascailt na gCatoiliceac" (Catholic Emancipation). The top of the stamp shows "Eire" (Ireland) with the dates 1829 and 1929 on each side. The stamp is issued in three denominations: 2d (pearl green), 3d (blue) and 9d (violet), which are respectively the popular rates for Inland, Foreign and Parcel Post Services.

Applications for these stamps should be addressed to Dublin Postal District (Philatelic Section), Dublin, Irish Free State, accompanied by a remittance, appropriate postage, and registration fee of 3d.

WITH THE MAGNIFYING GLASS

By T. C. Gray.

Coming to Siam, the very first stamp, the 1 solot, in indigo, Prussian blue, and violet-blue, comes in three types. The rarest is found in the last of these tints only, and has the oval at top with a solid background; the other pair, found in the first two shades mentioned, both have a lined background, and one has the lines of this background passing through the Siamese characters. The multitudinous surcharges of the 1889-99 issues, composed as they mostly are of both English and Siamese words and figures, are too complicated to admit of detailed discrimination; they may be very interesting to a specialist, but to me they border on monotony, and in some cases the differences, even under the magnifying glass, are very hard to distinguish. However, close comparison will most probably result in several stamps, previously deemed similar, being added to the collection as distinct varieties of surcharge.

The 1 att olive-green of 1899 was first printed from a single plate, and later from "key and duty" plates. The Siamese character in the left-hand tablet, resembling a mark of interrogation minus the full stop, is ever so much narrower in the single-plate printing than in the double-plate emissions.

The first Vijiravudh issue, printed in Vienna 1912, was perf. 14 x 14½, and in 1917 Waterlow's, London, did the work. The perforation of the latter firm is variously 14, 15, but the 2 and 3 satangs values, the only low values similar to the earlier ones, may, besides the perforation, be distinguished by the shading on the king's chin. Indistinct in the Vienna labels, four quite clear lines are seen in the London ones, while a white line was added between the shading of the collar and the right background. The six "baht" high values (1, 2, 3, 5, 10 and 20) are uniformly perf. 15, but again beyond this the two printings may be separated with ease by the beads between the ear-pieces of the crown—nine in London prints, and seven only, Vienna. Furthermore, the former measure 38mm, while the latter approximate 39mm.

Spain's first issue (1850) has two types of the 6 cuartos black, which, however, Stanley Gibbons does not list, though Yvert & Tellier's Catalogue calls attention to it. In one die the "T" and "O" of "Cuartos" are clearly joined at the top, while in the other a distinct space is apparent between the two letters. A small distinction, but coming decidedly under a "magnifying glass" variety.

The 6c of Jan., 1882, is a common stamp, but you may possess a copy where there is no period after "Correos"; this makes the stamp appreciably rarer. The 1876 issue, depicting Alfonso XII, was printed by Bradbury, Wilkinson & Co. from two plates, the main distinguishing points being found in the extreme left-hand upper corner. The triangular ornament there has a thick line of shading under it in Plate I, absent in II, while minor differences are to be found in the diagonally opposite corner, the background over the numerals there being roughly cut in I, redrawn in II. Smaller differences, too, occur in the figures of value themselves, particularly the 1 Peseta, where the "1" is much thicker in I than in II.

Our next subject is the 25c of the current issue. Die I, printed in 1923, has a smaller "25" than the second printing, of 1927, whose figures are thicker, and the "toe" of the "2" very nearly touches the outline of the shield containing it, whereas it is a visible distance away in I; as the early impressions were carmine, and the later ones scarlet, there should be no difficulty in separating the two dies.

EUGEN SEKULA, "Villa Heimeli", Lucerne 22 (Switzerla

The interesting "Carlist" stamps show the 1873 1 real (blue) with and without the "tilde" over the "N" of "Espana," the former being more frequently met with.

Spanish Colonies.—I will first refer to a type common to Cuba (1882-88), Philippines (1880-88) and Porto Rico (1882-85): Some of these stamps underwent three retouches, the second being only known for the Philippines. The original state of the plate has the line round the medallion uniformly heavy (or very nearly so), and touches the upper tablet, while the opening in the hair on the forehead is narrow and pointed. The three retouches differ thus:

I. Line referred to is very thin and does not touch tablet; opening on forehead a little broader and somewhat rounded. (5c and 10c Cuba, 2½c Philippines and 5c Porto Rico.)

II. Opening wider still and more rounded, lock of hair a trifle shorter with thick white line beneath it. (2½c Philippines only.)

III. Opening here is a decided semicircle, and the white line even thicker yet. (Cuba, 1c and 5c; Philippines, 50m, 1c and 6c; Porto Rico, 5c.)

The Philippine Islands early stamps, printed in Manila from locally-engraved plates, show fine and coarse lines round the head, the latter being wider apart than the fine ones. This for the 5c, orange-red, incidentally the rarest of the four values. The four varieties of the 5c and 10c of 1859 occur in squares of four, and the word "Correos" is probably our best guide. The left upper stamp of the four has what resembles an apostrophe after the "S" of "Correos", its neighbor has a much wider space between this letter and the "I" of "Interior", and no sign of the apostrophe. "S" and "I" closer, and a period between them are prominent characteristics in the left lower stamp, and the remaining one of the four possesses no period. The fillet and chignon also exhibit minor differences. The 1862-3 5c occurs in 2 types, there being a period after "S" in one and a colon in the other. The 1 real of 1863 was twice printed, inscriptions firstly in Roman type and then in block letters. The green of the latter is more vivid than of the former, where also is found the variety without stop before and after "Correos".—Australian Stamp Journal.

Minneapolis Stamp Exhibition

We are taking a booth at the Stamp Exhibition in Minneapolis, where we hope to have the pleasure of meeting many of our customers whom we have never seen before.

We expect to have with us a nice lot of United States, also a representative showing of our publications and albums.

WANTED TO BUY

We are always in the market to buy anything in United States stamps. At the present time we need many of the cheaper used stamps in quantity as well as unused. We would like to purchase the Kansas and Nebraska state over-printed issues. Offers of these, either in Minneapolis or in New York, will receive our best attention.

REVENUES PERFORATED TEN

Several of the recent revenues can be obtained perforated 10 instead of 11 as previously.

We can supply the three Stock Transfer values in perfect condition as below:

4c Single, 10c; Block, 40c.
$2 Single, $1.00.

APPROVAL WANT-LISTS

The system of special selections from want-lists inaugurated by me years ago and under which 80% of my business is done. It gets us both immediately to the point of business—a valuable asset in these days when time is so precious.

There are just three steps in the system:

(1) You send your want-list of United States stamps.
(2) You send the names and addresses of your bank and two stamps dealers, if unknown to me.
(3) I will send your wants on approval with the privilege of returning any or all copies.

1930 ADVANCE SHEETS---U. S. SECTION

By PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

The Advance Sheets for the United States portion of Scott's Standard 1930 Catalogue were issued on July 25.

As is usual in reviewing them, attention is called to the fact that the Scott Company states that the prices quoted are for specimens in good condition and that in most instances, fine copies bring much higher prices. This, of course, must be borne in mind in considering their quotations, especially in the cases of certain early stamps, which, as a rule, are on an average only fair in condition.

In reviewing any publication, it is always an easy matter to find fault and to criticize; in fact, I often read my own articles and find places where changes would be made if I had the article to rewrite. Under the circumstances, it is my endeavor to mention what I consider inaccuracies from the point of view of my own observations, based not only on following auction sales, but also selling possibly more stamps of the United States during the last twelve months than any other professional. Further, in reviewing the Advance Sheets, one must consider the point of view which the Scott Company takes in making prices. They may either blaze the trail and consequently price the stamps in advance of present market quotations, as most U. S. stamps are gradually moving forward, or follow the market and reflect in their catalogue, prices at which certain specimens have been sold. They evidently follow the second method and whether their way is the better way is a point that could be discussed at great length. Personally, I favor the first manner, but I have not given this detail much consideration and I may be wrong.

This year, the changes in the United States portion of the Advance Sheets are of less importance than ever before. While numerous changes have been made here and there, with very few exceptions, they have been but a few cents in the case of commoner varieties and only a few dollars in the case of the rarer stamps, so that if one is aware of current values of some of the great rarities, which have jumped during the last year, he could almost use the 1929 catalogue without any trouble.

I am afraid this condition has been brought about by the publishers not having followed the market in United States issues during the last year as closely as heretofore. Perhaps Mr. Clark's time has been taken up too much with other matters of executive importance, and those that he has relied upon in the past tor furnishing this information are no longer available.

This year Postmasters take a few increases mostly in the case of specimens which are either unique or of which but two or three are in existence, as in the case of the two Alexandria, the 10c Baltimore, on white, and the unique Boscawen and Lockport. The Alexandria on blue which is unique this year moves to $12,500 and the equally unique Boscawen and Lockport are priced at $15,000 and $10,000. KEEP UP WITH UNCLE SAM

What the United States does philatelically is of prime interest to you. When a new postage stamp is to be issued, you want to know about it just as soon as possible. When a new United States air mail route is to start, you want early information so you can order your first flight covers.

WASHINGTON STAMP NEWS supplies such information FIRST. As soon as official announcement is made of new stamps or new air mail routes or special events where official cachets or cancellations are to be used, we prepare and mail to subscribers a special postal card bulletin giving the news.

As an idea of the news bulletins sent out, we list below those of the first six months of 1929:

1. Bulletin of January 8th announced C. A. M. No. 23, New Orleans to Houston air mail route, would start January 23rd.
2. Bulletin of January 30th announced that George Rogers Clark stamp would be issued in Vincennes on February 25th.
3. February 18th that Macon, Daytona Beach, Orlando, and Tampa would be added to C. A. M. 25 on March 1st.
4. February 19th that clients could get the Panama air mail covers at 28c each from Pan American Airways.
5. March 1st that inauguration of Brownsville to Mexico City air mail route would take place on March 9th.
6. March 19th gave details as to issuance of State stamps for Kansas and Nebraska.
7. March 24th announced that Toledo and Cleveland would be added to C. A. M. 27 on April 1st.
8. Bulletin of April 11th announced that Kansas and Nebraska stamps would go on sale at Philatelic Agency on May 1st and gave denominations. It also stated that C. A. M. 28, St. Louis to Omaha air mail route, would start on May 1st.
9. Bulletin of April 17th announced addition of Springfield, Ohio, to C. A. M. 16.
10. April 28th that Baltimore would be added to C. A. M. 19 on May 5th.
11. May 14th gave details of extension of air mail service on F. A. M. 5 to Central America on May 21st.
12. May 23rd that new Edison stamp would be issued in Menlo Park on June 5th.
13. June 1st that new Sullivan stamp would be issued June 17th.
14. June 9th gave list of fifteen cities where Sullivan stamp would be sold on June 17th and told patrons how to get first day covers. No stamp paper published this list in time to permit readers to get covers.
15. June 27th that two new U. S. to Canada air mail routes would start on July 15th.

WASHINGTON STAMP NEWS, in addition to the news bulletins, consists of a monthly booklet of sixteen or more pages giving information in regard to and offers of the latest U. S. stamps and first day covers.

One page of each issue contains the latest list of stamps for sale by the Philatelic Agency. It's worth the price of a subscription just to have that list at hand. Then, when you have a few shekels to invest in U. S. stamps, you don't have to wait until you can write to Washington for a list —and possibly miss something good by having to wait.

The SUBSCRIPTION PRICE is $1.00 per year. Send it now and begin to enjoy knowing what Uncle Sam is doing. Address all orders to—

TOWN CANCELLATIONS BY STATES

So many of our clients have taken up the collecting of town cancellations by states we have been moved to classify an accumulation of thousands of covers by states. If you collect only New York towns, or Idaho towns, or Maine towns, and will let us know what you are interested in we shall be glad to submit what we have in your specialty. Our stock is classified by issues as well as by towns, so if you are interested only in the 3c 51s, or 3c '69s, or 3c banknotes, why name it and you can have it. Prices generally speaking are very low.

We Always Want To Buy Fine Stamps

varieties are priced at $22.50 and to $900.

Among the 1867 grills, those grilled all over advance in price. It is to be noted that the 3c of both 13 x 16 and 12 x 14 in mint condition stand still although both stamps are quite scarce and are difficult to find even at a good advance over prevailing quotations. Few other changes are made in the series.

The Reissues of 1861 are the only reprints or reissues to show advances, and this applies only in the case of the 24c, 30c and 90c, which are now priced at $60, $75 and $90 respectively. Practically all of the high values from 15c on, of the 1869 series, move into new territory with exception of the 24c. The 90c is now priced at $125 mint and $50 used. The 90c unused without grill is only $25 more—surely an error as the stamp without grill is many times scarcer than the normal variety. All of the inverts reflect the advanced interest and are somewhat higher.

Among the Bank Note issues, the rarer grills are slightly increased. Among those without grill, the 6c has been increased to $6 mint and the 30c and 90c are now priced at $5 and $7 used. Slight changes are made in the Continental issue in the case of unused 6c, 7c, 10c and 12c.

The reissues on both hard and soft paper are the same as last year, although the soft papers have been selling somewhat over catalogue, and are difficult to pick up even on such a basis. The 5c gray-brown of 1882 special print at $85 is greatly under-priced and a ready market at a very substantial increased price is available. This year, they price the 4c special print No. 211-d at $200, just about 50% under the market as the stamp brought over $300 at auction and is retailing at somewhat more.

All of the 1888 series increase in unused condition and the 30c and 90c in used condition, the latter now being priced at $12 mint and $9 used. The 5c and 30c imperf. which they state were not regularly issued have been listed for many years. Why not list the 90c which is also known?

The two high values of the 1890 series move forward slightly.

Practically all of the Columbians, especially the high values, are advanced and rightly so, as dealers have had to pay full catalog or more during the last several months in order to obtain stock. The 4c error is now listed at $400, while the five dollar values of the Columbian series are priced at $9, $7.50, $15, $18 and $20 respectively.

Among the Bureau Issues, practically all of the 1894 series take slight increases. These stamps are getting more difficult each year to pick up and as the paper is soft, thin copies are plentiful, but good copies are getting scarce. The rare $1 is now priced at $25 unused and $8 used, the $2 at $30 and $18, while the $5 takes a new listing of $75 and $50 respectively. Increases are found throughout the 1895 series.

All of the Omahas with the exception of the two low values are increased, the $1 and $2 now being priced at $9 and $16.50 in both conditions. The 8c part-perf. has been increased to $200—still very reasonable at this figure.

IS THE "PENNY BLACK" A HANDSOME STAMP?

By STEPHEN G. RICH.

These remarks are prompted by the article of Major John Tulleken, on his "All Black Collection," that recently appeared in Gibbons' Stamp Monthly and MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS. The handsome appearance of a page of black stamps, and the rather striking dignity of a collection made up of such pages, should make the "All Black" collection a most interesting specialty.

But Major Tulleken, when he has described his interesting collection, proceeds to worship a fetich. He says: "The most beautiful of them all is, without a shadow of a doubt, the 'Penny Black', my favorite." I not only deny that there is an absence of "the shadow of a doubt," I go so far as to say that in my opinion, the "Penny Black" is about as primitive and ugly a piece of stamp-making as any highly civilized country has ever produced. The glamor attaching to the first stamp issued for postal purposes, and the aura of respect for the queen whose poorly-done portrait adorns the stamp, conspire to produce a legend that this is a handsome stamp.

Actually, the "Penny Black" is open to serious criticism based an any artistic canons that one may choose to employ. Some of the more obvious artistic defects of this stamp may here be mentioned. First of all, the head is too large for the size of the stamp as a whole. The same absurd effect as is found in the "Black Jack" stamp of 1886, issued by the United States, exists in slightly less degree in the "Penny Black." The superfluous letters in the lower corners, inserted to serve an imaginary purpose and entirely useless for that purpose, are so conspicuous that they spoil the whole effect. The squares bearing the letters, and the corresponding square rosettes at the top make the whole design appear clumsy: the corners bulge like those on a trunk with heavy iron corners. The two sides are ornamented with a basket-work design that is meaningless. Last of all, the picture does not look like Queen Victoria at all: it is not even flattering to her.

I am not prepared to say what is the handsomest black stamp; but I am ready to advance two United States black stamps, either of which is artistically a decided advance on the "Penny Black." I refer to the 12 cents of 1851 and 1857; and the 7 cents of 1912-1922. There is a proportion and dignity in the former of these especially that is extremely satisfying. The latter of the two stamps mentioned is a restrained and dignified piece of designing.

But let us have an end to the false idea that the "Penny Black" is in any way a beautiful stamp.

Sevard's Twinkles

The A. P. S. Election

By this time everyone has received their ballots for the A. P. S. Convention. On it is printed the names of certain persons running for office. Their names are printed there, and all you have to do is put down an X mark, and then you're satisfied.

But can you be satisfied? What do you know about these men? Are they qualified to fill their offices? Has anyone asked them what outstanding qualifications they have, proving that they merit your vote? Have they any platform? Have they any promises to make?

I do not believe in being railroaded into voting for anyone. Even in the elections of this glorious United States, I vote as I think. I go over the candidates carefully and then vote according to my judgment. As a result, my own representation in this country is the County Surveyor, the only one I voted for who got in, and he ran alone. Even he can't erase a single line of it, as old Omar used to say, when it comes to using an alidade. But I feel that I am represented, if only by the County Surveyor.

In going over the names of the persons mentioned on the ballot, whom do you find? What do they collect? Meters, postal markings, playing card stamps, postal cards? No, not a single one of them. One collects anything from junk to 2c booklet panes; another stamps of an island, I don't know exists; another, the 3c vermilion; another, die proofs; another presidential franks which aren't even postage stamps or stamp collecting. Are those the men you want to guide your affairs? One comes out plainly and says that stamps are not an investment. Another is an expert who can call your pink a scarlet for 25c. Another is more interested in getting your dues than wanting to know what you collect. Are such men to be your candidates?

In this you stand alone. But be sure of this, each man on that ballot is today licking his chops, counting on being elected. Already they are polishing up the gavel to hand over, speeches are being prepared now to compliment the incoming and the outgoing officials, and honey-tongued convention orators are this minute paging thru their volumes of funny stories to crack at the banquet.

If you will notice carefully, the ballot has blank spaces wherein one may insert the name of a substituted candidate. Why then print in the name of a suggested candidate? Or, better, why vote?

All the important jobs are appointive anyway. Unless these candidates promise certain things, I shall not vote for them. Unless these men can come to me and say, "We stand on the following principles," I cannot welcome their candidature.

What are Mr. Mosler's qualifications? Who knows but what he will tap the gavel softly so that it can't be heard, or else he might slam bang the gavel down and miss and hit an ink well, and splash you full of ink? Is that the man we want? Will he continually interrupt Mr. Konwiser's speeches? Will he yield to Mr. Diamant? Will he permit buying and selling in the Convention Hall? Does he know Mr. Stone and his sine die?

How about the Vice Presidents? Will they meet once a month to judge in a doctor's office? That's no place for a bunch of healthy guys to meet.

And the Secretary? Should Dr. Davis be continued as secretary? He can't read shorthand and he don't know what the stenog. is putting down in the notebook. Will he get fresh, clean looking membership cards each year? Will he use stamps on his letters from Federalsburg instead of the darn good-for-nothing permits?

The Treasurer. Let's put him up to getting stock in Radio or General Motors, or Abitibi Power or Dome Mining, something around 18%. This 4% stuff will never build a permanent home. It never built mine, so why kick around with this safe and sure policy? Let's take a chance and make a pile of money and then blow it in on a whale of a party. The A. P. S. is not a society for profit; it's one for stamp collecting. If stamps are an investment, the treasurer should invest the society's money in good stamps.

International Secretary? Who is Mr. Klein? Can't he write German and French and Spanish and Italian? If he can, he's as good as I am, and I'll match him on Russian any day. What do know about verbs, and interjection Portuguese? Suppose he was in Fi and they say, "Hui" to him?

As for Directors at Large, tha good one. When a lion gets out o zoo, they say he is at large. Now if Directors are at large, roaming ar writing ballyhoo on Green Navy st and Specimen with or without dotte then that's settled. Mr. Konwiser lieves all money is in New York, therefore New York should spend a money. We don't get this quite. Wilhelm believes in stamp collecting he has always played the center-of road policy and collected everything spool labels to booklet panes. He give in to any one A. P. S. unit stands pat with the way the wind b It will take these two a week to i change ideas, and if you are for ke them apart, here's your chance.

But our point is, no candidate spoken about the Handbook Comm What are we promised? And what the Public Relations Committee? should have a Private Relations mittee. Or one on your wife's rela

Then again, how much is this pub committee going to spend?

Where is the permanent home goi be?

What price shall we accept for A. P. S. library, with waste paper a a pound?

Ought we not change the res agent?

All these questions must be answ before I shall give my vote to any o the candidates. I will not be force give my heart and my vote to a that lacks leadership, an established form, a code of principles.

As stamp collectors, we must united in our determination to philately, and this we can do by the lot. Any man who feels himself fied better than the men listed on ballot, should vote for himself, a that way we can eliminate the und sirables.

GREAT BRITAIN

I have just purchased a superb collection of stamps of Great Britain formed by a well known New York collector some 20 years ago.

The foundation of this fine collection was the collection of Mr. Storer, which Stanley Gibbons, Ltd., sold to the late owner. Almost all the stamps came from the London firm of Stanley Gibbons and are guaranteed by them.

The following are a few of the chief items, unused, unless otherwise noted:—

1840. 2d, 2 singles and a pair.
1847. 1/- green, 6 singles and a pair.
1848. 10d, 2 singles, 3 pairs.
1854. 6d, 4 fine shades.
" Small crown p. 16, 2d blue.
1855. Small crown p. 14, 2d blue.
1855. Small garter, 4d.
1856. Medium garter, 4d on blue and on white.
1860. 1½d lilac rose, 2 copies.
1862. 9d with hair lines, fine used.
1867. 2/- brown, unused and 2 used.
" Maltese Cross, 10/-, unused.
" Anchor. £1 on blue, unused.
" Anchor. £5 on blue, unused and used.
1882. £5 on white, unused and 2 used pairs.
1881. 1d lilac, printed on both sides.
1884. £1 brown, wmk. Crowns, 2 unused and a strip of 10 used, latter probably unique.
" 10/- blue, block of 20 used.
1888. £1 brown, Orbs, unused.
1891. £1 green, single and block of 4 unused.

SPECIMEN STAMPS

A fine collection including octagonal,
10d brown and 1/- green, block of 8 each.
2/- brown, block of 4.
2/- blue, pane of 20.

OFFICIAL STAMPS

1840. 1d black V. R., 2 copies.

I. R. OFFICIAL

1882. 5/- rose, 10/- blue, 10/- cobalt.
1890. £1 brown, Orbs, an exceedingly rare stamp.
1892. £1 green.
1902. 5/- rose.

GOVT. PARCELS

1897. 1d lilac, Inverted.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

1901. 5d and 10d.
1902. 1/-, an exceedingly rare stamp, very few copies being known.

Throughout the collection there are a fine lot of shades of early issues and a great number of unused blocks of 4 and many used blocks.

Approval books of any issue will be sent to collectors known to me or against usual references. [14

In these progressive days when it s that everything capable of developme being developed rapidly, it is some surprising to find that a territor large as French Equatorial Africa, fourth the size of the entire contine Europe, is so backward. The small number of white me these four colonies that comprise F Equatorial Africa is, of course, one portant reason why the district ha developed to a greater extent. F West Africa in 1926 contained 1 whites; the single colony—or mand of French Cameroons had 1,570; wh all of French Equatorial Africa were but 2,500.

Of money order post offices, Gabo just five. Middle Congo has six, in ing a branch of the Brazzaville Chad has two, and Ubangi a solitary which is, of course, Bangui. f. Letters from Bangui are frelly found franked with stamps of dle Congo; envelopes from Pointe-e, in Middle Congo, often carry ps of Gabon; and I have seen an lope from Gabon with stamps of d. Whether this was accidental or ntional I do not know, but no postage was charged.

s an instance of the slowness of comications in French Equatorial Africa, example might be given from the offi- French publication resembling our al Bulletin. Money orders on France, n in any French colony, must be reed within various periods up to months. There are only two exceptions—money orders from the office of ona, in the Marquesan Islands, and e from Ubangi-Chari and Chad. For e, nine months is allowed.

he post office of N'Dele, in Ubangi-Chari, is just three hundred and ten miles n air-line from Bangui. Ordinary between the two places requires one h to cover that distance. And there offices much more remote, in matter me, than N'Dele.

ail for the colony of Chad, unless it es special routing instructions, is to Lagos, Nigeria. From that port es by rail to Kano, and thence over- by way of Zinder (in Niger Territory) and around the north side of Lake l to its destination.

CAYMAN ESSAYS, 1897

By HARRY E. HUBER.

In the Handbook of Jamaica for 1895 (also 1897, 1898, 1900, 1901 and 1902) appears the following:—

"Latterly irregular communication has been established between George Town in Grand Cayman and Kingston in this Island. The people are learning to appreciate this privilege and are now seeking to have it extended to other ports and towns, as well as issue their own postage stamps and thus derive revenue therefrom."

In 1897, as a result of this agitation, His Excellency the Governor of Jamaica, Sir Henry A. Blake (Mar. 9, 1889 to Jan. 18, 1898), instructed the Postmaster for Jamaica, J. H. Pearce, to have a small quantity (£10 of each it is said) of the contemporary ½d green 1885, and 1d lilac, Mar. 8, 1889, Jamaican postage stamps, overprinted "Cayman Islands."

This overprint was applied in black, in two lines of thin sans serif caps (the same as used for the Kingston overprinted ½d Official stamp, issued April 1, 1890), by the Government Printing Office, Kingston. The extreme horizontal measurement is 16½mm, and vertical, 8½mm.

None at all of the ½d stamps are known with this overprint, and only two copies of the 1d, one of which is unused, with original gum, while the second bears a postmark of a double lined circle, with date MY 31—97 in two lines in the center, but the name of the Post Office is illegible. It would of course be in the nature of a trial cancellation, as the overprinted stamps were never sent to Grand Cayman.

Oddly, the first "A" of "CAYMAN" on both stamps, has a small bar on the left leg, and the "N" of "ISLANDS" is slightly raised above the line.

These two 1d stamps were found, about 1907 or 1908, in a lot of common Jamaican postage stamps, by Mr. Vincent Gurdji, of New York, and came into the possession of Mr. C. B. Bostwick, one of the first specialists in the stamps of these islands, about January, 1909. Previously it had not been known (except to the immediate officials concerned) that consideration had ever been given to overprinting Jamaican stamps for use in the Caymans.

Subsequently, it was learned from Mr. Edmund Parsons, Custos of the islands from May 21, 1888 to August 22, 1898 (when Mr. F. S. Sanguinetti was appointed Resident Commissioner), and also Postmaster at Grand Cayman, that these stamps were overprinted while he was on a visit to Kingston, and he had seen them when the Government Printer brought them to the office of His Excellency the Governor for inspection.

However, the stamps were neither issued, nor sent to Grand Cayman, and according to Mr. G. M. Wortley, Actg. Asst. Colonial Secretary of Jamaica (writing on January 24, 1912)—

"The whole of the batch of sheets provisionally surcharged in the Government Printing Office, Jamaica, was retained intact by the Government of Jamaica until destroyed under the supervision of the Auditor General."

Shortly after the discovery of these Jamaican stamps overprinted "Cayman Islands", an anonymous contributor to the Postage Stamp (London), wrote that some St. Vincent stamps, Queen Victoria type, overprinted "Cayman Islands", had been destroyed by order of the Commissioner before being put into circulation.

As there could be no reason for overprinting stamps of St. Vincent, some 800 miles distant from the Cayman Islands, for use in a dependency of Jamaica, it is thought this paragraph was intended merely as a feeler for information regarding the overprinted Jamaican stamps, and that there was no foundation for the reference to St. Vincent.

The Post Office established at Grand Cayman in 1889 was under the control of the Postmaster for Jamaica, at Kingston, and Jamaican stamps were sold at Grand Cayman, and receipts remitted to Kingston. Any stamps overprinted for use in the Cayman group would have been those of Jamaica and not of St. Vincent.

It was not until the Post Office Law of 1900 was approved by the Governor of Jamaica, June 12, 1901, that the Commissioner of the Cayman Islands was vested with power to supervise the Post Office, and the issue of postage stamps.

WANTED!—A GOOD STAMP MAN

A LARGE NEW ENGLAND FIRM has an opening for a good stamp man. He must be fast and accurate at stamp cataloguing and detail work, and capable of supervising the work of others; must have a high school education or its equivalent, and be able to write an effective business letter. He must be young, a gentile, and preferably single. The very highest of character references will be required.

If you are the right man an excellent opportunity for advancement to an executive position awaits you. Please apply in your own handwriting. Let us know your age, religion, whether married or single, salary desired, and references. Give full details of your previous experience (educational, commercial, and philatelic) and if possible enclose samples of your work, such as dictated letters, or anything else which will help to give us an accurate idea of your abilities. Address Box H, Mekeel's Weekly Stamp News, Beverly, Mass.

EDITORIAL

CLEVELAND has made ample preparation for the reception of delegates to the convention of the Society of Philatelic Americans, and the entertainment that awaits them is varied and attractive. The three days of the convention, August 12, 13 and 14, will be filled with pleasures that will be relished by philatelists, and we have no doubt that the business sessions of the progressive society will be replete with interest, and that constructive measures will mark the proceedings.

THE suggestion has been made that New York or Chicago plan a Stamp Bourse for next October or thereabouts, under responsible sponsorship, as it is thought that an occasion of the kind would be welcomed by many dealers. No doubt, the recent International Stamp Bourse at London is in mind of the proposer of the plan, which is worth discussing. The advocate of it who writes us says that speaking for himself, he would welcome an opportunity to purchase stock early in the season, and he thinks that there are many more dealers of the intermediate grade who likewise would favor the chance. A national Bourse, covering a day or two, would require the right sort of preliminary work to insure its success, but with proper management, a commercial feature could be made of it. We understand that one of the interior cities is contemplating a Bourse that will attract dealers from the neighboring cities.

IN a recent issue of the Chicago Daily News, an article, "How the Air Mail Started", has been begun by Shirley J. Short. In it, the statement is made that Postmaster-General Burleson bought the first air mail stamp, and that after it had been affixed to a letter, the letter was autographed by President Wilson and sent in the plane to Postmaster Patten of New York. Captain B. B. Lipsner, who was air mail superintendent at the time, questions the declaration that Mr. Burleson bought the first stamp as claimed and his authority for the contradiction will be given in his forthcoming book.

SCOTT STAMP AND COIN COMPANY [16
1 WEST 47TH STREET, NEW YORK, N. Y.

WE acknowledge the receipt from a correspondent in Tokio of four new Chinese commemorative stamps of which it is said: "Each stamp shows the principal gate to the mausoleum of the great Sun-Yat-Sen, whose wonderful burial ceremonies required a whole week, and which reached their acme when the coffin was transported to the spiritual home, a scene that China will long remember. The stamps are overprinted for Yungnang, Ki-hei and Sing-kiang, respectively."

A CORRESPONDENT is advised that the "Post Office Department, Returned Letter Office. Due 3 cents (and six cents)" envelopes were included in Mr. George L. Toppan's installment of U. S. entire envelopes in the Catalogue for Advanced Collectors. Mr. Toppan described this envelope after obtaining it from us, and since that time, copies have been mentioned at different times in the stamp papers. These covers were used for returning letters under an Act of Congress of January 21, 1862, which stipulated that double postage was to be collected before delivery to the original sender. By a later Act of Congress of March 3, 1863, only single postage or three cents was collected.

A LITTLE batch of letters on the subject of recent and proposed commemorative issues discusses these stamps and their effects on collecting from various view-points, and while they are interesting, we do not feel that they call for special comment. Of the good faith of the department in issuing these special stamps, there can be no question, and we are glad that the arguments do not question the spirit in which they are brought forth. Financially, the commemoratives carry their own recommendation, and when we think of the one pound Postal Congress of Great Britain, we assume a smug expression of righteousness.

A SARCASTIC communication comes from a Canadian correspondent who asks why there is a conspiracy to keep down the prices of British North America in our catalogues. We suppose that it is not enough to say that "We'll bite", and that it is not amiss to speak of the question. The assumption is that prices on these stamps are higher in Canada than here, but such a condition is not to be wondered at, since it is the rule that the stamps of a country are most esteemed in that country itself, than elsewhere. Further, the demand for its own stamps is increasing in Canada with its population, which is now almost ten million, while in other parts of the world the deserved popularity of the issues under notice is not increased proportionately. The British North Americans in fine condition certainly are stamps of sterling kind, and like goods of that class justify increased attention that may be translated into larger monetary value. That our neighbors are the first to recognize the forces that influence the prices, it is easy to understand why they may be impatient to see others proceed leisurely in their appraisal. We do not know what the new catalogue will say, but soon, all may see.

THE first section of the Advance Sheets of the coming Standard Catalogue have been circulated, and what changes have taken place in quotations on U. S. are known. The old issues have not been disturbed in their price relations to any marked degree, but in the 20th century stamps there have been examples of an upward movement. Detailed attention of the more striking changes will be given elsewhere, and we have no doubt but that there will be food for thought provided for those who are financiers first and philatelists afterwards.

WE are in the month of the American Philatelic Society convention in Minneapolis-St. Paul, August 19-25; and the dual attractions of the National Philatelic Exhibition, and the convention should command an attendance that will make those who have worked so unremittingly for the success of the stamp show and the annual meeting feel that their efforts have met with a just reward. The overhead is the same, so to say, whether few or many attend the display, and we are unmindful of the necessity of making an impression in a public sense if we do not make Minneapolis a focal point at the time.

THE suggestion has been made that we ask for proxies in order that by no mischance will there be too few members represented to make the convention body a working one. While not wishing to enter into any controversial questions by asking for proxies in behalf of members who are to attend the meeting, we suppose that it could be said that Mr. P. M. Wolsieffer of Philadelphia, experienced in conventions, will act as proxy holder, and likewise the editor of the WEEKLY. Too, Mr. H. A. Diamant of St. Louis will serve in that capacity when instructions are given him for voting the proxies by the senders. We believe that personal considerations in the treatment of proposals presented for adoption by the convention have been giving way in recent years to the recognition of the fact that in this country, philately has outgrown its provincial limitations and that principles instead of persons have right of way.

The Late J. C. Morgenthau had in preparation and nearly completed an auction sale of Specialized France, the property of H. Bedford-Jones, which was to have been offered this coming season. This has now been turned over to me and I shall offer it as it is on Mr. Morgenthau's auction blanks and his annotations. If you specialize in the stamps of France, I shall be pleased to mail you this catalog when ready.

rom Chas. F. Hinz, I have gleaned ral facts of real interest. First mail n Colombia and Ecuador to Canal e and Panama came in May 3 via a ADTA plane. Plane left Colombia 3rd, connecting at Tautata with the e from Ecuador for Colombia, and sferred the northbound mail from there. P. A. A. first flight followed along several days later, May 6, as previously recorded.First official northbound mail on the regular service left Panama May 23. Notice was short, and quantities were small, as follows: for David—151 pieces; for Miami—253; for Cuba—111; for Nicaragua—187; for Honduras—82; and for Brit. Hond.—80. No Panama mail was carried on the first trip from Cristobal to Ecuador and Peru, May 17, but first dispatch went by the next regular plane.First mail from Cristobal, June 21st, was as follows: to Cartagena—16 lbs.; to Barranquilla—18 lbs. 15 oz.; to Curacao—27 lbs. 5 oz. First official air mail Cristobal to David, Panama, left June 20, on only a few days notice.From all of which it may be seen that there are some rather sweet little items that most of us still need in our FAM collections.

Used Stamps of Italian Africa

By Robert S. Gordon.

The stamps of Tripolitania and Cyrenaica should not, perhaps, be considered difficult to obtain in used condition, as there are but few of them which cannot be found with moderate persistence. Those of Eritrea are about the same, although the colony is much smaller and contains only about one-eighth as many whites as the two north shore colonies.

But Italian Somaliland and Oltre Giuba—those are real "hard-to-gets." Where Eritrea has four thousand Europeans, Italian Somaliland has but 750. How many there are in Oltre Giuba I have been unable to find out, but it would seem that one hundred is a liberal estimate. There is but one town of any size in the latter colony, Chisimaio; and apparently its populace is not addicted to letter writing, for genuinely used stamps are at a premium even in Italy.

Italian Somaliland has but twenty-four post offices within its borders. The five principal ones are Mogadiscio, Brava, Mahaddei Uen, Merca, and Baidoa; all of which are fair-sized places, ranging up to fourteen thousand population for Mogadiscio—which is two thousand more than the entire colony of Oltre Giuba, incidentally. Of the other offices, that at Oddur is the only one of any size. Most of the rest are hard enough to locate to suit anyone, and afford fine hunting—if your patience holds out. Go to it!

Junior Dictionary

Riksdaler.—The unit of currency in Sweden until 1878 when it was superseded by the krona. At first the riksdaler was divided into 48 skilling-banco and was worth about 42c. In 1858 it was divided into 100 öre and its value was then about 30c.

Rio de Oro. — (River of Gold). A Spanish possession in West Africa having an area of 70,000 square miles and a population of about 130,000. Postage stamps were first issued in 1905.

Rizeh.—A town of Asia Minor on the Black Sea, 40 miles east of Trebizond, with a population of only about 3,000. Since 1909 the stamps used in the Russian consular post office established there have been specially overprinted "Rizeh".

R. M.—A watermark found in some of the stamps of the 1896-97 issue of Mexico—sometimes in conjunction with an eagle. The letters are an abbreviation for "Republica Mexicana" (Mexican Republic).

"Space Fillers"

By Edwin B. Hill, Ysleta, Texas.

Looking through a bundle of circuit-books recently my glance was held by the mystic words, "Space Fillers." Here were stamps of more than passing scarcity, with catalogue valuations running well into two figures, and some into three. The eye caught particularly a beautiful copy of the thirty cents, 1857, with no trace of cancellation; but, alas! the perforations had been trimmed into the design. A ninety cents of the same issue, unused, in like condition, adjoined. The thirty cents is catalogued at $20, and the ninety cents at $40. Both stamps were gems for color; but the vandal's hand had touched them, and the valuation of $1 for the thirty cents and $2 for the ninety cents seemed inadequate—with conditional differences. As my collection contains only two ruins of the thirty cents, and two of the ninety cents, I annexed the thirty cents and broke the average. Besides, my copies were used.

In this same lot were several copies of the one cent 1857 of the rarer varieties, priced very low even as to condition, and also a half dozen or so twenty-four cents 1861-1866 issue,—one a "paid" cancellation, which is catalogued at $20. The seventy cents asked for it enriched my collection of waifs and strays. No twenty-four in this lot was a "first," but each had some distinctive feature which should endear it to the collector "as is" who chooses by his purse.

"Stamp collecting can be made a vice," the parent of an ardent young collector told a dealer; and he was right. The desire to spend more than one can afford to complete a set,—the longing to buy a scarce or rare stamp in perfect condition, but at a prohibitive price,—are indulgencies which should be curbed. Let the purse rule, and let the "space filler" be not ignored.

Perhaps our dealers some day may put forth sheets or books of so-called "space fillers" priced at five to ten per cent of catalogue, for the delectation of the unelect. Condition always confronts the collector. It is for the individual stamp lover to decide,—unadvised.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., P. O. Box 2175, Middle City Station, Phila., Pa., who will also be pleased to pass on oddities and varieties of all U. S. stamps. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, cor. Robbins Road and Locust Ave., Lexington, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

Minneapolis Branch Philatelic Agency

The Post Office Department has decided to establish a branch Philatelic Agency at the Minneapolis Philatelic Exhibition to be opened on August 19, and at that time will have on sale a full line of the commemoratives, which are still available at the Washington Agency. It is to be hoped that the stamp commemorating the Battle of Fallen Timbers will also be placed on sale for the first time at this special branch, although this point has not, as yet, been decided.

As the Fallen Timbers commemoration will not take place in Toledo, Ohio, until September, it is quite possible that the Postmaster General will not care to authorize the appearance of this stamp previous to that time. He, however, has precedent for the issuing of a stamp for the first time at a Philatelic Exhibition, as the 2-cent White Plains appeared at the New York Exhibition on the first day, and the Valley Forge stamp at the Cleveland Exhibition. A definite decision will possibly be ready by next week.

The Minneapolis post office is expected to establish a branch at the Exposition, at which time a special marking similar to the Cleveland marking will be used. No doubt, the Minneapolis philatelists will arrange to have an additional unofficial cancellation, similar to the one used in Cleveland. If they do, it is to be hoped that several will be made, as there were times at Cleveland when it was necessary to stand in line to get ahold of one or two which they had on hand.

Mrs. M. C. Shaughnessy will be sent from Washington to take charge of the branch Agency, and as they are so busy at the present time, it is not expected that any further assistance will be given her from the Washington Agency.

Bureau Oddity

Mr. Robert M. Storms advises that he has just located a block of four of the 10-cent current rotary, perforated 11 x 10½, wherein the vertical gutter is shown between the two vertical pairs. Those on the left are without overprint, while those on the right show the Los Angeles Bureau precancellation. It is difficult to account for these gutter varieties, which are now being found. So far, several have come to light of different denominations.

2c Sesquicentennial Envelope

A variety of the 2c Sesquicentennial envelope has just come to my attention, which, while of very minor importance, is worthy of mention. It seems that in the dandy-roll, the "S" of one of the watermarks in addition to the figure "5" is entirely omitted, so that we have a watermark consisting of a large letter "U" in addition to "192." Fortunately, errors of watermark of this kind are seldom collected, otherwise, we would be spending half of our philatelic time in looking for such oddities.

We wish to thank Messrs. J. H. Davis Reynolds, Nelson E. Willits and Joseph Lowande for notes of interest.

Australia.—The following new items are reported by Mr. R. Roberts:—4p bistre, perf. 14, King's head type; 1sh blue-green, perf. 11½ x 12, Kangaroo design; and 10sh pink and black, also Kangaroo type. All are on multiple small A and Crown watermark.

Bolivia.—A new issue of Air Mail stamps has been received from Whitfield King & Co. There are three values: 15c green, 20c dark blue, and 35c red-brown, all of the same design with "Republica De Bolivia" at the top, with the words "Correo Aereo" just beneath. In the centre is a pair of wings with "L" above and "A B" below the figure which is within a circle. At the left is a view of a native hut with two palm trees in the foreground, while at the right is some mountain scene. At the base the figures of value appear with the word "Sobretasa" between.

Brunei. — A new color in the 4p, which is now in orange, on script watermark has been issued according to Mr. R. Roberts.

WE DON'T KNOW VERY MUCH

about the very modern issues--but when it comes to the classics--stamps issued from 1840 to 1900 or so--we believe we can safely say we have one of the largest and most representative showings. We are also particularly strong on South American issues -- old Europeans -- and such like.

Correspondence gladly welcomed.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The recent death of J. C. Morgenthau has left all Philately with a great sense of loss.

That the business which he created should also be allowed to lapse seemed to us to be an unnecessary calamity, for his name in business had long stood for ideals of competency and fair dealing of the highest order, a service and a knowledge freely given to all.

Therefore we have resolved to carry on in the name of J. C. Morgenthau & Co. the work that he did for so many years, and thus to do our part to keep his memory fresh amongst us, and the very much-needed work he did still available to Philately.

UNDER THE BUSINESS NAME OF

J. C. MORGENTHAU & CO.

Subsidiary of the Scott Stamp & Coin Co.

We will continue to carry on his auction business along the lines that he set down. The firm of J. C. Morgenthau & Co. will carry no stock of any kind. Its business will consist entirely of auctions and private sales and service in buying or selling on commission only.

Danzig.—Whitfield King & Co. advise of the appearance of a set of three stamps issued for the Danzig Philatelic Exhibition. They are all of the same design and of the following values: 10pf green and black, 15pf carmine and black, and 25pf blue and black.

France. — The "Recouvrements" stamp, type of D3, has been overprinted "1fr20" on 2 francs, blue and "5 f." on 1fr purple, according to information received from Whitfield King & Co.

Roumania. — Mr. R. Roberts sends for note the 30b pale red, King Michael design, typographed, offset printing, no watermark, perf. 12½. Also the Transylvania Commemorative set, photogravure printing, various designs, perf. 13½, watermarked wavy lines, horizontal on the oblong and vertical on the upright designs: 1L purple, 2L olive-green, 3L purple-brown, 4L cerise, 5L orange-vermilion, and 10L blue.

Sweden.—The 40 ore value design as A20, perf. 10 vertically, has been issued in olive-green, and copies are to hand from Whitfield King & Co.

Switzerland.—A new design of Air Mail stamps has recently been placed on sale. The central figure pictures a letter on wings flying over the Alps. At the top is the name of the country with the figures of value in each lower corner. The values are 35c yellow-brown and red-brown, and 40c yellow-green and deep green. Both stamps are perforated 11½, and are oblong format. Copies have been received from Mr. R. Roberts for note.

Uruguay.—Senf's Illustriertes Briefmarken Zeitung reports two additions to the stamps with diminutive overprint "Oficial" in an oval in the form of the 8c and 10c values of the regular postage series of the 1924-5, without watermark, also an addition to the locally lithographed Postage Due series emanating from the Imprenta Nacional, 10c in grey-green.

SPECIAL STAMPS WANTED

Massachusetts Bay Tercentenary to be Observed in 1930

Chairman Herbert Parker of the special Mass. state commission charged with the destinies of the tercentenary celebration, intends to take steps within a few days to obtain special postage stamps to commemorate the great anniversary.

Friends of the movement to make the celebration of the 300th anniversary of the bringing of the first charter of civil liberties to this country an outstanding historical event feel no misgivings about the post office department granting a special design of stamp, or possibly a series of stamps, as a fitting act of recognition of the importance of the observance. No great historical event in the history of this country, they agree in saying, ever has been celebrated without such recognition by the postal authorities at Washington.

Chairman Parker, who also is president of the Massachusetts Bay Tercentenary, Inc., the private organization chartered for the purpose of doing the work of preparing the public mind for the momentous historical observance, is desirous of having strong support in his effort to obtain a tercentenary stamp.

It may be that a series of stamps will be asked for, inasmuch as the entire year 1930 will be celebrated as Tercentenary year. A proposal for a 1c, 2c, 5c and 10c stamp has met with the approval of a number of prominent citizens who are working for a commemorative celebration that shall be worthy of the commonwealth and the traditions of the forefathers.

ZEPPELIN'S WORLD TRIP

The Postal Bulletin, Aug. 1, announces details for handling mail for the Zeppelin round-the-world flight. We print this due to the possibility that its departure from Lakehurst may be sufficiently delayed to permit covers still to go in. Covers are to be marked in upper left, "Via German Airship LZ127 from Lakehurst to Lakehurst", or to Friedrichshafen, Tokio, or Los Angeles, as the case may be. Address may be to U. S. points, via Zeppelin to any terminal. Postage to Germany—$1.00, Tokio—$2.00, to either Los Angeles or Lakehurst —$3.50. Rates for cards half these, which are for letters. In addition, regular postage of 5c for letters, 3c for cards, must be paid. Domestic air mail and special delivery fees extra, also. Covers to be forwarded to New York. Official cachet.

NFLD.-CANADIAN AIR MAIL

The first successful air mail flight between Newfoundland and Canada occurred Saturday, July 27, when the plane Bluenose left Harbor Grace, Newfoundland airport at 2.40 P. M. for North Sydney, N. S., where it arrived shortly after 6 P. M. There was no publicity in connection with the flight, and it would seem as if postal officials had a considerable advantage over all others in the patronage of the flight.

WILL FALLEY OF MILL VALLEY

Mill Valley, Calif., recently suffered a severe fire catastrophe which destroyed 120 handsome residences. Will Falley, our honor club representative there, informs us that he lost his entire stamp collection. He gives us some information regarding the local situation.

"Dr. Ferd Fisher had his collection of envelopes at his office in San Francisco. Arthur Brand's collection of Mexico and British Colonies was not in the fire zone, neither was Donald Berbeck's. By a freak of fate the fire swept around Emil di Vecchio's home and spared his French Colonies. The beautiful residence of the late Maj. Wm. Hamilton was burned, but his heirs had only recently placed his large collection in the hands of a San Francisco dealer."

Mr. Falley lost an accumulation of 30 years. The members of the local Rotary Club started him anew at a recent luncheon when his place at the table was surrounded with all kinds, classes and conditions of stamps.

REPRINTS AND REMAINDERS

By FRED. J. MELVILLE.

Reprints in the philatelic sense are re-impressions taken from the original plates of stamps that have become obsolete. There are two distinct classes of reprints. The first and more important includes all such re-impressions made officially to the order of the postal authorities. The second comprises reprints made by private persons to whom the original plates have been lent or sold.

In 1864, some of the members of our Royal family, having developed a liking for stamp-collecting, a so-called reprint was made for them of the 1d black stamp of 1840. This, however, was not accurately described as a reprint, for it was not printed from the plates used for the 1840 stamp. The plate used for this "reprint" was not existing in 1840, having been made in 1845 from a different and improved die. The impressions were also made on paper with a different watermark from that of the real 1d black; and the watermark is inverted on all the "reprints." So that the "Royal Reprint," as it is usually described, is really a Government imitation. As there were very few printed, however, it is a rarity, and has been much sought after by specialists in the stamps of this country.

This is not the only occasion on which a stamp has been reprinted for a Royal collector. In 1893, two stamps of the 1856 issue of Finland were reprinted for presentation to the Grand Duke Alexis Michaelovitch. In 1903 when King Alfonso of Spain paid his first official visit to Portugal, during the reign of the late King Carlos, he expressed a desire for a set of Portuguese stamps, and a number of sets were struck off from such dies and plates as were available, these sets being now known as the "King of Spain Reprints."

In several cases the Government of a country has been desirous of issuing reprints after the original plates have been destroyed or otherwise disposed of. In order to do this they have imitated or counterfeited the design. For instance, in 1885, the Government of the Sandwich Islands procured from the American Bank Note Company a quantity of facsimiles of the Hawaiian 2 cents stamp of 1855. The proceeding appears to have been a profitable one, for four years later (in 1889), the 5c and 13c stamps of 1853 were imitated in a similar manner, and no doubt found a ready sale among collectors. The stamps of Shanghai were officially counterfeited in 1874 and these may easily be distinguished by a curious error on the part of the copyist. The central feature of the design is the Chinese dragon, a truly hideous creation. This unspeakable figure has, in the genuine stamp, but seven bristles to its beard, while the imitator has given it nine.

In nearly every case of a Government officially imitating its own stamps, something either omitted or added has been traced by collectors, and serves as a guide to the real status of every specimen that is encountered. Even the United States Government, imitating its first issue of 1847, failed to secure absolute identity in the so-called "reprints."

With genuine reprints, however, it is by no means so easy to distinguish the original specimen from the re-impression. When Newfoundland reprinted its stamps of 1880-87 the original plates were used and the impressions taken upon similar paper.

The perforation was of the identical measure, and the only difference was in the shades of the colours, which are thus compared by Mr. E. D. Bacon in his work on Reprints of Postal Adhesive Stamps.

EDWIN P. SEEBOHM 690 Market Street, San Francisco, Cal.

The stamps of the 1853 issue of New South Wales, showing a laureated head of Queen Victoria, were reprinted in 1885; and, but for the absence of gum on the re-impressions, they might readily be taken for the original stamps.

The majority of the reprints made by private persons are of less philatelic interest than Government reprints. In most cases of private reprints, the plates have been lent or sold outright to the purchasers, who have been enabled to make as many impressions from them as they pleased.

A romantic story is told of one Paul Kirchner. He was an invalid soldier of the Franco-German War who returned home after fighting valiantly against the enemy of Germany, only to find his business gone, his wife dead, and his house burned.

The Senate of the City of Lubeck assisted this veteran by permitting him to take one thousand impressions of each of the plates of the Lubeck stamps of the 1859 issue which were then on exhibition in the Museum of the Board of Trade. Instead of flooding the market with the stamps at a low price, he preferred, wisely, to issue a small number at a high price.

The old soldier gained enough money by the sale of these stamps to purchase a

A Statement From Herman Toaspern, F.H.S.L.

WELL WORTH READING BY INTELLIGENT STAMP COLLECTORS

It has not been my custom to advertise heavily in our trade papers, nor have I any intention of beginning an active campaign. But I feel it necessary to place before the stamp collecting public the facts regarding my firm.

I have been a professional stamp dealer since 1911, when I entered the employ of Mr. J. Murray Bartels, one of the most expert and reliable dealers anywhere. It was not drudgery, by a long shot, but the most pleasant kind of work possible. An aptitude for stamp work and an employer who was sympathetic kindled in me the desire to make stamps my life work.

In 1923, I entered business as an individual, conducting a regular business as well as auction sales of fine material. To distinguish these sales, which are composed of hand picked lots from the regular run of auctions, I called them "SPECIALIST SALES". I have formed numerous personal collections, the best known of which is "TOASTY'S MISCELLANY", a system of collecting unrelated stamps, according to one's likes and dislikes. My purpose was to collect interesting things, and more than any other single factor, this collection broke down many old traditions and fetiches.

I was the first dealer to recognize the beauty and historical value of Patriotic Covers, and I feel that my missionary work in this field is most evident. The same is true of Western Franks.

My field is stamps of the XIXth Century, all branches of U. S. and AIR MAILS, though I buy and sell anything in the stamp line, except certain dubious countries. I like to sell things that have a real value, rather than load up a customer with stuff that shows me bloated profits and the purchaser with a headache.

AIR MAILS

Fools rush where angels fear to tread!

Collectors of the war-time period will remember the crazy rush to buy War Stamps, and the subsequent collapse of the market in this material. I felt the same way about Air Mails and for several years, I razzed collectors of them, until such time as I felt them to be solid and worthwhile.

Today I have assembled one of the finest professional stocks in the world of these fascinating stamps, and recommend their purchase as follows: — UNUSED, COMPLETE SETS, and by SCOTT NUMBERS ONLY. They then have the three-fold demand as XXth Century, to the Specialist in that country, and to the Air Mail Field. I offer the following:—

NEWFOUNDLAND "HAWKER": — Fine copy with gum, with full warranty. Price on request to interested parties, giving reference if unknown to me.

COLOMBIAN REPUBLIC, 2c carmine rose, a superb used copy. This stamp has been extensively forged. Full warranty of this copy $225.00

URUGUAY "INVERT". 25c bistre brown with inverted surcharge in red. A very rare stamp of this popular country, and one bound to enhance in value $110.00

BOLIVIA, the first set, complete, very fine mint, at a low price $9.25

UNION OF SOUTH AFRICA. I can supply this set in superb mint condition. Try and find it elsewhere in this condition. Also in blocks of four!

SIAM. The "cheaters" have been selling the broken sets without the two scarce varieties. The 50s bi-color is a real rarity, unused. The used sets are cheap and if Scott doesn't cut the price used and boost it unused, I'm a false prophet. If you need them, write.

MEXICO. I understand there has been dirty work at the cross-roads, but the fact remains that the 1922, 50c blue and red brown, unwatermarked, is rare and how! If you need the stamp, or want to speculate, I can supply genuine originals at $7.50 each, blocks of four at the same rate.

OTHER AIR MAILS. If you are in the market for other Air Mails, write in and get a quotation. Don't forget you are dealing with a man who knows stamps and stamp values.

PERU FLOWN COVER TO NEW YORK. I am not so enthusiastic about flown covers, but I couldn't pass up these first flights from South America, backstamped Cristobal, C. Z. Each cover has five of the large 50c green airmail stamps, and they are cheap at the price $3.15

PHILIPPINES FLOWN COVER. Set of 12 values from 2c to 2 pesos nicely tied, cataloging $87.50, unused $62.50

U. S. PIONEER FLIGHTS

I am forming a private collection of U. S. Pioneer flights, and have now fourteen of these in my collection. I also have a customer who is willing to pay liberal, but not foolish prices for them. If you have some, send them on, and if price is anywhere near right, you will receive a check by return mail.

Somewhere, I have forgotten where—and also who, there is a collection of these U. S. Pioneers valued at around $3,000. If the gentleman wants to sell this lot, I would like to have him write me.

Please do not submit anything but Pioneer U. S. flights, as I rarely purchase anything dated after 1918.

AUCTIONS

The passing of the Dean of American Stamp Dealers has left a wide gap in the auction ranks. I am prepared to handle the larger collections at auction this Fall and Winter, and would be pleased to hear from parites interested. Our auction terms are most attractive, no unsold lots, no returns and no reserves. Buyers and sellers both get the fairest break possible, and I point with pride to my Fourteen sales, every one totaling over $5,000 per session. To secure the best results at auction, it is necessary first to have expert knowledge, careful and interestingly written catalogs with a real circulation. (I mail more catalogs by far than any auction dealer in this country. Ask J. W. Stowell, my printer.) Lots are shown in several cities and every effort is bent to pleasing buyer and seller. It's not hard, it is merely a question of shooting square with everyone. Now is the time to arrange dates and plans.

SERVICE

Service, a hackneyed word, but I give it. For instance, if you are looking for certain things in stamps, write me. If I don't have it, many times I can refer you to a reliable dealer who does. I can't sell and stock everything, but being on cordial and intimate terms with the various worthwhile dealers enables me to know where the stamps you want may be secured.

EXPERTIZING

I am prepared to pass on XIXth Century stamps, as well as to pass on dubious copies which may have been cleaned. I purchased the first quartz light sold to an American stamp dealer. Even without it, I can spot "pups". Ask Phil Ward, or Elliott Perry or Admiral Harris.

BUYING

I am always in the market to buy rare single stamps and collections on a fair basis, but the condition is most important.

XXth Provisional Album

Just now I have a nice Provisional Album on hand, fairly well filled with unused stamps in fine condition, at a reasonable price. A fine start for someone. If interested, write for details.

cottage on the outskirts of his native city, where he lived comfortably until his death.

The plates of the "Express" stamps issued in Samoa in 1877 were sold to a firm of stamp dealers. The stamps became obsolete in 1882, and, three years later, the dealers who owned the plates had printed 240,000 of the stamps. Seven years later a further printing of 800,000 specimens were made. In 1897 the plates were all destroyed. The plates of the stamps used in Heligoland, while it was a British Colony, were sold in 1875 to a Herr Goldner of Hamburg, who issued a large quantity of private reprints.

All the issues of Mexican stamps up to 1872 have been reprinted. With regard to the first of these issues, that of 1856, Mr. Bacon quotes from authoritative information that they were reprinted "from time to time for the benefit of an individual who holds no official position, but who is highly connected in Government circles, and who has access to the Government Printing Office and to the Post Office Museum, in which the old dies, plates and brass stamps for surcharging and cancelling are stored."

The stamps of Romagna, issued on September 1, 1859, were superseded in 1862 by stamps of the Kingdom of Italy, and are of considerable rarity. Mr. E. L. Pemberton, in a note in his Stamp Collectors' Handbook, says that "the original dies of these stamps were preserved, but got badly knocked about; and from these inferior dies an employe des postes made many sheets in 1869, all the values on one sheet." These he termed "essays" or "proofs,"—and of course the man ought to know best what to call his own work —or else, as he added a border of seven lines to each die (to hide the indentations a little) I should have called them humbugs. They might have been better described as "frauds."

With regard to the desirableness of including reprints in stamp collections, the collector must decide for himself. It is considered by many that in the absence of the original stamps gaps in the collector's album are better filled with reprints which are nearest to the actual specimens then left vacant. Most collectors are in agreement with Mr. Bacon in saying that "in cases when a stamp is reprinted from the identical plate used for the original, I would far sooner include the reprint, as such, in my collection, rather than not be able to show any specimen of the stamp."

Reprints must not be confused with remainders. As the term signifies, remainders are the surplus stock left on the hands of the postal authorities after the stamps have become obsolete. Genuine remainders are those which have been printed along with those actually issued for postal duty, but which are no longer required, having been superseded by new series of stamps.

Some of the British Colonies and many Foreign States have at times had large quantities of remainders. These they either sell to the highest bidder or destroy. Needless to say, with the less wealthy Governments, the former is the favourite method. — Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly.

A Study In Envelope Values

COMMENTS ON THE ENVELOPE SECTION OF THE NEW SCOTT CATALOG

By J. M. Bartels.

When will the Scott Catalogue abolish the antiquated and very impractical arrangement of cut square envelopes, which for decades has been confusing to collectors and detracted interest from this very important branch of American Philately. The only practical way to arrange these is strictly according to dies and not by papers. Some progress in this respect has already been made in the National Album, so we ask why the catalog continues to delay making this very urgent change. If the editor desires any assistance in this task the writer gladly offers his services.

In the spirit of helpfulness and with a view of improvement in subsequent editions it is hoped that some of the following comments will prove useful.

1853-55. Only a few price changes are noted. No. 2302 unused is priced at $12, but is rarer than 2301, priced $12.50. 2303 I have never seen unused in fine condition, and doubt whether even one or two copies exist, it has advanced to $150, but should be priced higher. 2304 is also very rare unused and $50 would be nearer right. Of the 3c on buff, No. 2311, and especially 2312 are hard to find unused at catalog and worth more than $8 and $10 as priced. 2313 has advanced unused to $50, but would be very hard to find even at that figure.

1860. 1c wrapper without period No. 3003 unused, is very rare and should be increased from $60 in the next edition. In 30 years I have seen only two or three copies.

1861. No. 2334, 3c on blue, is not an envelope at all but a letter sheet, and a note to this effect is badly needed in the catalog. This item has been most confusing to collectors judging from inquiries received, especially if it is an entire copy, which comes in full "Letter Sheet" and "Note" size. The 24c comes in a very marked shade, which should be included as "dark green and lake". The prices for used copies of the 12, 20, 24 and 40c are entirely too low, especially the 20 and 40c.

1863-64. The values from 9c to 40c will stand an advance, especially when good margins are considered. Most of those found in collections are cut too small. The same envelopes used are all much underpriced and salable at good advances above catalog when fine. The 2c Die C on buff and orange should be increased unused, especially on orange. The wrapper of this die on buff No. 3005 must also advance as it is very hard to find at full catalog and is quite as rare as 3007 priced $5.

1870. The higher values of the Reay issue continue in good demand and few dealers can supply more than a scattering few. The old "Specimen" sets, which for many years furnished beautiful cut copies, have long been absorbed and are no longer showing up. No. 2371a and 2383a should be dropped as minor shades rather difficult to distinguish. The 1c wrapper 3009 has advanced and should be increased again from 60c unused, as it is getting quite scarce.

1874-82. Plimpton Issues. This important series has remained practically unchanged in prices, though many are hard to find. The 12c and 24c on all papers would stand a raise, the 30 and 90c we find advanced to $22.50 and $37.50, which is justified. 2453 has advanced to $25, and is worth it. Both 2452 and 2453 do not exist either entire or unused, nor do they come with large margins, as the entire supply was cut rather small. They were rescued after the corners of the entires had been clipped off in the chopping machine, having been condemned for destruction and never regularly issued. But three copies of 2553a exist, all cut square with fine margins. 2423a is priced for the first time. Here again only three copies are known, though

"ORIGINAL COVERS" AND "STOP AT HUDSON"

For several years each of the above has been a very frequent headline in my advertising. Many, many original covers have obeyed the impulse to "Stop at Hudson", and I presume that at 602 Warren Street in this little City of Hudson (an incorporated city since 1785, by the way) reposes one of the largest accumulations of original covers in the country.

Hudson is on the direct route from New York to Albany, 113 miles from the former and 28 miles from the latter. I invite cover enthusiasts to also obey the impulse and "Stop at Hudson."

it was not regularly issued. 2453a is now $250, only three exist, all cut square and unused. The lower priced 2c browns are all quoted low compared with their scarcity, and this includes the wrappers. Dealers' supplies are mostly exhausted.

1883-86. The varieties of the recuttings of June, 1884, Nos. 2505a to j, and 2509a to g, have given all of us trouble ever since they were listed. Not for many years after their issue did the cataloguers decide to include them, and it was then pretty late to start a serious hunt. Several turned up in smaller quantities, but No. 2505a, 2c red, "3½ links" on white is the only common one today. I have never seen it on fawn now risen to $85 with no copy in sight or ever sold at auction. The rare ones in this group are on about every want list and they have been going up steadily, but copies are not to be had, even at full new catalog quotations. The supply of all the 30 and 90c of this period in both colors seems to be holding out pretty well in spite of the low prices.

1887. 2c green Die A on blue and amber manila unused have each gone to $150, and I cannot recall ever seeing a copy of either, though they may exist. Used copies of both, and also Die A on manila, may yet occasionally turn up, but are very rare. 2c green Die A, the larger head showing a double ear, is far from common and worth near full catalog on all papers. It has been in the Scott Catalog only a few years. There is another 2c green die still unlisted here, which is quite easily told. It is similar to the common Die B, but the ear is entirely covered with hair and does not show at all. This is known to specialists as Die D, it comes on all six papers, but only a larger envelope size 7 (the smallest of the three "Official" sizes). The 1887 1c on buff and blue paper were discovered by the writer about 1898 in Washington. Some 5 to 7 copies of each exist and they are now priced for the first time at $150 and $250. It was then that I sold the pair to the late Ferrari for $300, but they were missing from the collection when I bought this part of it at auction in 1925.

The 1899 4c brown Die B (2,600) was printed in error from a die which had been rejected. It was used only by the Produce Exchange in New York. A collector saved three unused copies, at least one of which was cut square. These were the largest size "9." Later the late Chas. H. Stone of Cambridge, Mass., secured ten (it may have been eleven) unused copies of size 5, from someone at the factory, a small size never used for 4c envelope at that period. Outside of this probably 35 copies of this envelope were found used and cut square, everyone with small margins, so you may know that copies with margins the size of album spaces simply do not exist used. It has been priced used at $25 for many years, which is sufficient for the present.

1903. The 1c on buff and blue were very scarce for several years. Recently a small lot of each turned up, otherwise the new price of 40c each would have been entirely too low.

1904. The recut 2c. Someday we suppose they will be listing two or three of the more prominent recuts, the same as the June, 1884. The round "O" in "TWO" is a very marked one also in

KEEP UP WITH UNCLE SAM

What the United States does philatelically is of prime interest to you. When a new postage stamp is to be issued, you want to know about it just as soon as possible. When a new United States air mail route is to start, you want early information so you can order your first flight covers.

WASHINGTON STAMP NEWS supplies such information FIRST. As soon as official announcement is made of new stamps or new air mail routes or special events where official cachets or cancellations are to be used, we prepare and mail to subscribers a special postal card bulletin giving the news.

As an idea of the news bulletins sent out, we list below those of the first six months of 1929:

1. Bulletin of January 8th announced C. A. M. No. 23, New Orleans to Houston air mail route, would start January 23rd.
2. Bulletin of January 30th announced that George Rogers Clark stamp would be issued in Vincennes on February 25th.
3. February 18th that Macon, Daytona Beach, Orlando, and Tampa would be added to C. A. M. 25 on March 1st.
4. February 19th that clients could get the Panama air mail covers at 28c each from Pan American Airways.
5. March 1st that inauguration of Brownsville to Mexico City air mail route would take place on March 9th.
6. March 19th gave details as to issuance of State stamps for Kansas and Nebraska.
7. March 24th announced that Toledo and Cleveland would be added to C. A. M. 27 on April 1st.
8. Bulletin of April 11th announced that Kansas and Nebraska stamps would go on sale at Philatelic Agency on May 1st and gave denominations. It also stated that C. A. M. 28, St. Louis to Omaha air mail route, would start on May 1st.
9. Bulletin of April 17th announced addition of Springfield, Ohio, to C. A. M. 16.
10. April 28th that Baltimore would be added to C. A. M. 19 on May 5th.
11. May 14th gave details of extension of air mail service on F. A. M. 5 to Central America on May 21st.
12. May 23rd that new Edison stamp would be issued in Menlo Park on June 5th.
13. June 1st that new Sullivan stamp would be issued June 17th.
14. June 9th gave list of fifteen cities where Sullivan stamp would be sold on June 17th and told patrons how to get first day covers. No stamp paper published this list in time to permit readers to get covers.
15. June 27th that two new U. S. to Canada air mail routes would start on July 15th.

WASHINGTON STAMP NEWS, in addition to the news bulletins, consists of a monthly booklet of sixteen or more pages giving information in regard to and offers of the latest U. S. stamps and first day covers.

One page of each issue contains the latest list of stamps for sale by the Philatelic Agency. It's worth the price of a subscription just to have that list at hand. Then, when you have a few shekels to invest in U. S. stamps, you don't have to wait until you can write to Washington for a list —and possibly miss something good by having to wait.

The SUBSCRIPTION PRICE is $1.00 per year. Send it now and begin to enjoy knowing what Uncle Sam is doing. Address all orders to—

PRECANCELLED STAMPED ENVELOPES

A. F. GAMBER.

Carrollton, Ohio — SULLIVAN IND. — RITZVILLE WASH. — DEER LODGE MONTANA — WASHINGTON, INDIANA — MILWAUKEE WIS

It is not the purpose of this article to deal with the precancelled envelopes now appearing in considerable quantities from many cities and towns. When they first began to appear, there was some misunderstanding as to their nature. Some, among them the writer, thought they were products of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, hence an annex to Bureau Prints. The discovery that they are overprinted by the envelope contractors instead seemed to dampen the fondness of some collectors for them.

The envelopes with which I propose to deal here are those overprinted in various typeset types, usually at small offices and in limited quantities. The catalog illustrates only one of these types, and naturally its verbal descriptions of them give one but little idea of their unusual appearance.

Carrollton leads all the cities of the country in its use of typeset types for precancelling of all kinds. Except for a very short period, when it used a small, dingy handstamp, all its precancelling has been done with typeset plates of various styles. The reason for this is, that the two predecessors of the present postmaster owned printing offices and did their own precancelling, and the present incumbent has them continue the practice. All of which makes Carrollton a very intriguing town, everything from there is highly interesting. To my knowledge this office has used five separate and distinct types for overprinting stamped envelopes. The first one portrayed above was used in the spring of 1924 on some size 8 white 1c envelopes, bearing the return of the County Auditor of Carroll County, of which Carrollton is the county seat, and the notation in the upper left hand corner, "BLANKS FOR TAX RETURN," in bold caps. The second one was used in the spring of 1925 on the same size envelopes revalued 1½, bearing the same notation and return card as above. The next year, 1926, a type was used similar to No. 2, but with the lines closer together, again on a revalued 1c size 8 white, and again by the same party. This office has never stocked the 1½c envelopes, so we need waste no time hunting for them.

An earlier Carrollton type is two lines of medium size, plain caps between bars about 1mm thick. This was used on a size 5 white 1c envelope bearing the return card of the Tuscan Tire and Rubber Company. The same company used the same envelope bearing another type, a good deal like No. 1 above, but with smaller letters, between very short bars. When I viewed the Wm. H. Field collection last summer, I noted a 2c circular die size 5 white envelope bearing one of these two latter types, I can't recall which, but I do know it was very striking.

The Bismarck type was used on one batch of size 8 white 1c envelopes, circular die, during the summer of 1924. A wildcat oil and gas company flooded Bismarck and environs with its literature, the envelope bearing in large caps and lower case the succinct inscription: "It will cost you nothing to read this—It may cost you a lot if you don't—Box 662—Bismarck, North Dakota". Had the words "nothing" and "a lot" been transposed, the facts of the matter would have been more apparent. One of these envelopes is now worth considerably more than any amount of the stock which was advertised. I believe not more than five or six copies were saved.

The Sullivan type appears on a size 5 white 1c circular die, bearing the return card of the Sullivan Advertising Club. Further deponent sayeth not, but I regard it as a very scarce if not rare item. About a year ago two copies were found by a paper mill sorter, and I was lucky enough to get one of them.

The raison d'etre of the Ritzville envelopes is revealed by the printed inscription on the face of each one. In the upper left hand corner we find the insignia of the Washington Bankers' Association, below it, "W. H. Martin, Secretary, Ritzville, Wash." At the bottom, in one line, "CIRCULAR NUMBER SEVEN, READ AND PRESERVE". All this on the 1c oval type, size 8 white envelope. Blue ink was used both for precancelling and printing. I should have said before this that in almost every case where envelopes have been thus precancelled, both the precancellation and all other printing on the envelope has been done at the same time.

The Deer Lodge envelope has an interesting history. The headquarters of the Montana Motor Vehicle Registration Department are at Deer Lodge, no doubt because Montana's license plates are made at the penitentiary located there. Just before Christmas 1926, the Department prepared to mail out some 90,000 notices to motor vehicle owners. This was quite a load for the small Deer Lodge office force to handle, in addition to the Christmas rush. A post office inspector, happening along at the time, advised the precancellation of the remaining unmailed envelopes. Thus about 20,000 of the 1½c size 5 white window envelopes were treated as shown above. This envelope is very scarce, who can report having one? If we collectors ever stopped to

By PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

Among the 20th century issues, the 1901 1c invert moves to $250 and the 2c is priced at $1,750, although the last Scott's Bulletin raises this to $2,000 at which figure several stamps have changed hands. The 4c invert is priced at $350—way too low, when it is considered that but one hundred exists and that most of these are in thinned condition. I would gladly pay $500 for fine copies and would consider them cheap at the price. The "Specimen" is now priced at $125. Most of the 1902 series take slight increases, including the rare coils. A 5c imperf. is now priced at $10. Practically all of the St. Louis and Jamestown are slightly increased, with a change in the 1908 series from the 50c upward, including all of the imperfs. Practically all of the coils of this series are higher, the rare 10c now being listed at $50. Of the blue papers, the prices certainly do not reflect today's market, as the 4c and 8c are selling at $450 although priced at but $400. All of the others are very reasonable at the prevailing quotations, which are the same as last year with the exception of the 1c and 2c. The coils of 1910 all move forward, as do most of the regular issue of the same year. The rare 2c coil No. 388 is now listed at $15.

There is a change here and there in the Panama-Pacific series, the 10c Perf. 10 now being priced at $7.50 unused and 65c used.

In the 1912 series, the 50c single line watermark, as well as the dollar double line, list at $10, and one will find it extremely difficult to pick up the latter stamp at this price. In the Perf. 10 series, I am surprised to see that the 50c still lists at $7. A copy of this stamp at $15 would be difficult to find and it is a variety that no dealer has in stock and when he finally locates one, can usually sell it at whatever he considers fair. The $1 of the same series has moved to $8 whereas this stamp also is worth much more and is difficult to find at any price. All of the coils move forward, the 3c No. 445 now being priced at $4 and the rare imperf. rotary coil No. 459 at $30, reflecting the increased auction price which the stamp has been bringing. The 2c, No. 449, Type II is still quite cheap at the increased price of $15 and if any of these are lying loose in strips at much higher proportions of catalog, I would like to be able to locate them. All of the unwatermarked series Perf. 10 in used condition are advanced, while but three changes are made in the unused stamps, namely the 3c going to $7.50, the error to $17.50 and the $1 to $10. The $1, by the way, is an exceedingly cheap stamp at an advance over the catalog quotation, $15 would be nearer correct. The 5c error imperf. goes to $1,200, but one will have difficulty in finding a copy at a good advance over this figure. While upward of 150 copies are in existence, it seems that a good number are still closely held, and with the few available, they are difficult to locate.

Practically all of the 1917 series advance, reflecting the fact that they are no longer available at the Agency and no large stocks seem to be anywhere. The 5c error Perf. 11 goes to $11.

In the 1918 issue, the $2 orange and black is now listed at $8.50 unused and $4 used. Changes from this point on are of minor importance, although we find reflected the fact that the 1922 series from 1c to 10c are no longer available at the post office, either printed from the flat plate or printed from the rotary perforated 10, the latter series jumping up considerably.

Quite a few of the later commemoratives are increased, the Norse-American 2c being listed at 15c and 8c and the 5c at 40c and 30c.

GENERAL ISSUES, USED
1847-1888

I have just purchased a large general collection of the above formed in Rhode Island during the past 20 years.
This collection is remarkably strong in cancellations, shifts, broken plates and special papers, etc., etc.
In addition to the General Issues there are a few New Yorks, including several re-strikes, and a fine real blue paper.
In the General Issues I have as follows:—

1847. 5c, 13 pairs and 61 singles, including Orange Town. Blue and red figures, single and double, etc.
1847. 10c, 17 singles.
1851-56. All values in singles and pairs, cracked plates of 1c and 3c, rare cancellations, etc.
1857-60. Fine lot all values, fine cracked plates 1c and 3c, rare cancellations, reprints, etc.
1861. 1st Issue, 3c, 10c and 24c.
1861. 2nd Issue, Grand lot of all values.
1862-66. Fine lot, many re-strikes.
1866-68. Grills, fine lot, many rare items.
1869. Fair lot only, not so strong as rest of collection, but includes a lot of rare and unusual cancellations.
1870-88. A grand lot, many very rare items not often to be met with.

About twenty new approval books are being made up from this collection and will be available on my return from vacation after September 10th. [16

It is s prising that the 1c Agriculture of wh but fifty copies are known still rema at $50, and the 30c and 90c Treasu always difficult to obtain, are still pri at $15 and $25. Personally, I feel 90c Treasury is almost as scarce as 24c Interior. Fine copies are even ra

Among the Carriers, few changes h been made: the 1c Franklin going to $ in unused condition and the Charles 2c on pink now being priced at $7 the former price, no doubt, being error.

Among the Newspapers and Dues, changes are few. The First Issue Ne paper 25c has been increased to $7 while all of the special prints of Postage Dues are materially increas These always have been difficult to tain and even the new prices are fai reasonable. The rare little perf. 10 in mint condition is now priced at $ nearer its actual value.

I have not checked the early envelo but there are practically no changes the later issues. The 1c green on glazed paper which were formerly in Philadelphia post office in quantities now priced at $4. Very few of th were put aside. The 2c on 3c No. 27 always a scarce variety, is listed at $ There are quite a few changes upw among the Shanghai issues.

The revenues, especially the rarer or have been advanced. The 1c Play Card imperf. is now listed at $50 and 1c Proprietary in similar condition priced at $100. This stamp is listed the first time, as a pair was recen found in a New England collection t was broken. The 6c Proprietary, di cult to obtain in any condition, moves $150. The 30c Foreign Exchange now listed at $7 imperforate and $10 p forate. The imperf. $1.30 advances $175 and the $1.60 to $45. The $1 moves to $200, the $2 Probate of W to $125, $2.50 Inland Exchange to $2 and the $3.50 to $125. Most of the sa stamps in perforate condition are a increased. The $15 and $25 values i perf. have all advanced and the $25 Mo gage part-perf. is now listed at $50 the $200 goes to $125 imperf. and perf.

In the Second Issue, several li changes are made in the values rang from 30c to $1.30. The scarce 25c Se ing Machine perforation is listed at still low for a stamp that is seld found. There are no changes noted in Third Issue. Of the Inverted Cente only two changes are made, the 1c S ond Issue going to $85 and the $1 b and black uncut to $500. I have ne seen but one uncut copy, but have b told that three or four exist. All the inverted centers are too low, from my way of thinking are more of line with actual values than anyth else in the catalog among the Uni States issues. All of them have sold w over catalog and several such as

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY

HAITIAN AIRS, 1929

By HARRY E. HUBER.

In April last the Haitian postal authorities secured from the Pan-American Airways, Inc., some photographs of their planes on the Santiago de Cuba to San Juan leg of FAM No. 6, and these were forwarded to the American Bank Note Co. of New York, for use in working up a design for air mail stamps. This sketch was forwarded to Port au Prince in June, was approved, and early in July orders were placed for 100,000—50c de gourde, and 50,000—1 gourde air mail stamps.

The stamps will be in the same design, a monoplane over a Haitian landing field, with mountains in the background, and the size will be approximately that of the 35c de gourde, green, Cafe, issued on February 6, 1928, on the occasion of Col. C. A. Lindbergh's arrival at Port au Prince, from Santo Domingo City. The colors have been left to the good judgment of the printers, although mauve and blue, respectively, will probably be used.

The 50c de g stamp is for use on inland air letters, i.e., from Port au Prince to Gonaives, Port de Paix, Cap Haitien, and Jeremie, and vice versa; while the G.1 will be used on letters to countries of the Pan-American Postal Union. For other foreign destinations, the air letter rate is G.1.15.

According to the terms of a contract between the Government of Haiti and the Pan-American Airways, Inc., signed at Port au Prince, on February 22, 1929, and sanctioned by the President of Haiti, Louis Borno, on March 16, 1929, the Pan-American Airways, Inc., is authorised to establish a tri-weekly air passenger and mail service between Haiti and the neighboring countries, this service to connect with the one which the Company maintains to the U. S.

Under the terms of this contract, which although for 20 years is not an exclusive one, the Pan-American Airways, Inc., will carry the Haitian air mails addressed to Porto Rico, Dominican Republic, Cuba, the United States, and other countries, but Haiti reserves the right to enter into contracts with other companies offering lower rates or a more direct service than that of the Pan-American Airways, Inc.

Commencing Jan. 9, 1929, and continuing until direct service was established on Jan. 21, both Miami and San Juan dispatched air mails thrice weekly over FAM No. 6 to Port au Prince, Haiti, via Santo Domingo City. The Haitian Post Office, however, regularly dispatched air mails direct from the very start of the service, i.e., west on Jan. 9th, and east on Jan. 10th. The U. S. Marine Post Office at Port au Prince did not receive permission to dispatch air mails over FAM 6 until March, and then only to Miami and San Juan (not to Cuba or the Dominican Republic). The service was inaugurated on March 13th to Miami, and March 14th to San Juan, at the same rate in effect from Miami and San Juan, i.e., 12c per half ounce.

When service over FAM No. 6 was inaugurated on Jan. 9th the Haitian air letter rate was 60c de g (12c U. S.), but as the postal authorities were losing money paying the Pan-American Airways, Inc., $5 a pound (reckoned on the weight of the mail and the bag combined), it was raised to G.1 (20c U. S.) on February 20, 1929. The new rate, however, secures air treatment throughout the United States, for which Haiti pays the U. S. P. O. Dept. $2.50 a pound, additional to the $5 paid the Pan-American Airways, Inc.

In March, 1929, when the Port au Prince Post Office sent to the Banque Nationale de la Republique d'Haiti, for a fresh supply of G.1 to replenish its stock, it was furnished instead with the small remaining lot of 20c de p green, Nord Alexis, handstamped "Gl.O.Z.—7 Fev. 1914", 10,000 of which had been overprinted originally. I have two of these used on a double weight air letter, and postmarked 18 MR 29.

EDITORIAL

THE announcement by Mr. Philip H. Ward, Jr., that the postal officers at Washington are weighing the question of the desirability of installing a branch philatelic agency at Minneapolis during the convention of the American Philatelic Society at that city inspires the hope that the scales will tip in our favor. That we would welcome this gracious recognition by the authorities is a truth so self-evident that it is not to be discussed. With Mrs. Shaughnessy in charge the branch agency would be one of the most popular attractions at the convention, and we believe it is the wish of the authorities to show their willingness to coöperate with collectors on this occasion as they have twice in the past. Mr. Ward, as always, will give early notice of the developments in this particular.

* * *

MR. K. A. WALLQUIST, Chicago, has given us news of impending changes in the stamps of Sweden. He reports that because of the great similarity between the 15 ore and 115 ore and the 25 and 85 ore in artificial light, complaints have been made to the post office department of mistakes in handling these stamps. The post office department has now decided to change values, types and colors, and the new stamps will be prepared as promptly as possible. The 3 ore will bear the coat-of-arms of Sweden; the 5 and 10, the lion; and Gustavus, the Fifth, will be shown in profile on the 15, 20, 25, 30, 35, 40, 45 and 50 ore, respectively; and the emblematic posthorn will appear on the 60, 85, 90, 100, 115, 120 and 145 ore. New plates will be made of the 35 and 45 ore, which are now of the posthorn type, and also for the 85, 115, 145 ore, respectively, which have the profile of Gustavus V. A new 5k will be issued in violet ink on yellow paper.

THE convention of the American Philatelic Society and the National Philatelic Exhibition of 1929, Inc., draw near and if well-directed effort is to have its reward the success of the great undertakings is assured. The work that has been done to make the convention one of unusual character deserves recognition, and the labor spent in carrying out the plans for the exhibition must have its effect. We understand that the preliminary measures have proceeded to the stage that allows of the prediction that all is in readiness for the great events. What is necessary now must be supplied by the outside collectors, themselves, and that is a record attendance.

OCCASIONALLY, we publish a list of the Stamp Agencies in foreign countries that we compile from sources that we think are reliable, but as the bond circulars say, we cannot guarantee the authenticity of the information. There is a constant demand for the addresses of the various bureaus that presumably are maintained for the accommodation of collectors, and so we print the roster from time to time. As a consequence of this publicity there is usually a backwash of complaint in due course of time from collectors who report unsatisfactory experiences in isolated instances. We have said often enough that the collector here should write to the agencies for particulars as to the selling methods before sending prepaid orders. It is probable that confusion results from a misunderstanding of business customs. Pursuing this subject, we have received a letter from Captain A. C. Townsend: "You recently published a statement of countries that had established philatelic agencies, with their addresses. I wrote to the London one, so that I could order some British Colonies and help their suffering exchequer; and this is the reply I got." The following notice is from the Crown Agents for the Colonies: "Your letter addressed to the Controller, Colonial Department, General Post Office has been transmitted to us. In reply I have to inform you that no arrangements exist for the sale of British Colonial stamps from London to collectors residing abroad."

* * *

SPEAKING of Captain Townsend, we nominate him for something or other, preferably as holding the record for finding the needle in the hay-stack. The other day, he got a revenue with a stamped cancellation in his own name, and not only that, but with the day, month and year of his birth, "Townsend, Jan. 7, 187—." We trust that our readers appreciate our delicacy in not giving the exact year. Who is next?

* * *

TO commemorate the eleventh anniversary of the establishing of the permanent air mail service in the United States, the National Air Mail Society will hold a banquet at the Sherman Hotel, Chicago, with Captain B. B. Lipsner, the first air mail superintendent, as the guest of honor. Mr. Rotroff and Mr. Edwards, aviation editors of the Chicago Daily News and the Chicago Tribune, respectively, are invited guests.

* * *

AFTER a rather long wait as sometimes characterizes the appearance of a headliner, Dr. Carroll Chase's great work, "The 3c Stamp of the United States, 1851-57 Issue", makes its entry, and if ever the last word has been written about any stamp, Dr. Chase has that distinction. For intelligent and exhaustive treatment of a single stamp as we may consider the imperforate and the perforated first 3c to be, the book is a striking example. The years of study that the author has devoted to this 3c stamp have their complement in this elaborate volume of 370 pages, fully illustrated. The stamp is considered in all its phases and even suggestions and the historical value is enhanced by the numerous newspaper and other items on the subject of the issue. To review the volume fairly would require reams of paper, and we can only say that Dr. Chase's magnum opus will be consulted down the philatelic ages with the fullest degree of satisfaction by those who are friends of the first three-center, and their name is legion.

THE annual convention of the Society of Philatelic Americans at Cleveland, Ohio, on August 12, 13 and 14, 1929, bids fair to be a rousing occasion. The hosts, the Cleveland Stamp Club, have left nothing undone that will contribute to the success of the meeting, which is certain to attract a large attendance. The official program gives a foretaste of pleasures to come and contains a most interesting article by William Lycett, the secretary of the S. P. A., on the subject of "Stamp Collecting Twenty Years Ago", but as Mr. Lycett says, he would have felt more at home, if he could have told of his fifty years of activity. Miss Helen Hussey, one of the most enthusiastic of supporters of the society, tells of some of the "Experiences" in her crowded philatelic life.

THE newspapers printed interesting stories of the first day demand for the new Vatican stamps and graphically described the crowds that descended on the post office intent upon securing the new stamps. Tales of huge purchases were told and all in all, the day is worthy of the best traditions of the "veritable crushes" attending famous first days. The new stamps will be in hand by the time this notice appears as they were issued on the appointed day, August 1, 1929. Of the popularity of the s there is no doubt and as they may be a to usher in a new era, the historical gestions of the stamps alone will the issue of decided interest. Nev pers the world over gave space t coming of the stamps and we hav doubt but that they are doing muc make the public "stamp conscious."

PAUL P. MURRAY PASSES

Last week, the brief announcement made that Paul P. Murray of the ray Stamp Company of St. Louis died unexpectedly, even though Mr. ray's friends knew that his physical dition was not unimpaired. On occa in the past, it was apparent that he not in a bodily state that allowed the utmost freedom, but despite his icap, caused by an abnormal blood c tion, he did not withdraw from various activities. We feel the loss tha lecting has sustained by the death o young man of many graces of minc body, whose liking for stamps as a lector and later as a dealer was a and sustained. He knew the quiet deep, joys of collecting, and stamp fluenced his life to the end. T father and mother, we offer hea sympathy.

It is proper that we give here the ute that Mr. Walter H. Rauert, our nalistic friend of St. Louis pays Mr. ray, whom he knew so well. Mr. R writes: "Paul P. Murray was bo Illinois and was the only son of Mr Mrs. Phillip Murray, with whom he his home. The family had moved t Louis while Paul Murray was a boy in order that he might have educational facilities; and he was g ated from the Soldan High Scho 1920. Having already become prom in St. Louis' philatelic circles, he chosen by Mr. Fennell to manage Fennell Stamp Company, a position he held until 1926, when he engag business for himself under the nam the Murray Stamp Company. Alth he conducted a general stamp busine was an expert on U. S. issues an services were in demand in this field was quiet and unassuming, and his gaging personality quickly made fri Conservative in his business met honest and upright, he won success sl but surely, although retarded by his a tion. He was attached to his mothe sister to a degree that was infatua almost; and besides his parents and s Flora R. Harper, all of this city, a of friends will feel his loss and regre untimely end of this splendid young He was a member of the A. P. S. the A. S. D. A., and was especially a in the St. Louis Stamp Collectors ciety."

MINT AND USED "Mr. Cat" 20TH CENTURY ONLY

HOW ABOUT YOUR YOUNG FRIEND? IT'S NOT THE VALUE OF THE STAMPS YOU GIVE HIM — IT'S THE QUANTITY, THE VARIETY AND THE FACT THAT YOU GIVE THEM—
Young collectors count NUMBERS — "a stamp is a stamp" — and the "swap" is much of the fun—And if the MAKINGS OF A FUTURE COLLECTOR is there, it is UNUSUAL VARIETY that will stimulate his interest—Does any collector ever forget the good friend WHO GAVE HIM HIS FIRST REAL BOOST? Does any gift of later years ever look as wonderful as your FIRST PACKET?

HERE IS WHERE "Mr. Cat" COMES IN "Mr. Cat," IS PRODUCED FROM OUR OWN SURPLUS STOCK—To which are added all the fascinating oddments that are bound to gather in an office thru which THOUSANDS OF STAMPS PASS EVERY DAY—We put in broken sets, left-overs, samples, stamps from unwieldy foreign covers, many things of surprising value and always interesting—

YOU MAY FIND UNEXPECTED FUN IN "MR. CAT"
MANY COLLECTORS WRITE TO US OF "MR. CAT'S" VIRTUES—Play with "Mr. Cat" awhile and then pass him on just as you would a book that you liked — "Mr. Cat" will have a real thrill for the lad that you would like to see become a collector—

"Mr. Cat" JUST A REAL GOOD MYSTERY PACKET—300 ALL DIFFERENT, 20th Century, Foreign stamps—mint and used—Fully up to our "M.C." Standard—Good variety, good value, and just a little better than you expect $1.02

Air Mail News

Official Flights

Wonder if any of the rest of you ever get that sort of breathless feeling? Been away for a few days—got back today and found my desk simply overflowing with letters, news, and covers. If you don't get prompt answers to your letters to me, I'm extremely sorry, but things surely are piling up these days.

First night service on Route 9 finally came off Aug. 1st. St. Paul and Minneapolis used an octagonal cachet similar to that for the extensions of service on this route. Milwaukee covers were signed by P. M. Paisecki. Chicago covers had a smaller octagonal cachet. All cachets were by the contractors.Several probable new flights soon. Maj. E. A. Norton, Sec. Tucson Stamp Club, 2304 Speedway, Tucson, Ariz., says he'll be glad to hold covers till Tucson gets its expected new service. Don't send to post office, as they simply return.Pasco-Spokane-Seattle-Portland extension contract to be let Aug. 15, and service expected to start soon thereafter. Multnomah Stamp Co., 9 E. Russell St., Portland, offers to care for covers from Portland.Trial non-stop pickup at Youngstown seems to be still somewhat in the future. Covers may be sent to the Supt. of Mails, Youngstown, as well as to address formerly given.

First FAM 9 mail left Santiago, Chile, July 21. Bears black cachet. Covers from Arica, no cachet, and dated 22nd. Haven't seen other cities yet. 10,000 pieces from Chile, as well as 22,000 from other points en route, reached Miami the 29th.30,387 letters, 31,499 cards, or about half the number carried on the first trip, comprised the Zeppelin's mail cargo this time.Lots of round-the-world mail didn't get sent, not only because of the short official notice, but because many people overlooked the regular postage charge in addition to the special Zeppelin rates.

John Rausch shows me a Mexican cover, which has on it various Carranza stamps which show several definite hair lines in certain parts of the design. Got something out of that list of Mexican cities, at any rate. Route No. 5, Mexico-Tijuana, opened July 29, with appropriate cachets from Morelia, Tepic, and Mazatlan showing up thus far.

On July 31, the Pickwick Airways opened their route from Los Angeles to Mexico City, carrying northbound mail from Mexico City. Their contract requires them to carry mail to Mexico, from south of the border, but they actually have been carrying mail for U. S. points directly into Los Angeles, along with the passengers for that point. A special cachet was used for the first flight from Mexico City. It is expected that arrangements soon will be made for mail from Los Angeles south, and probably on short notice. F. R. Gellenbeck, 241 S. Maraposa, Los Angeles, who supplies the above details, kindly offers to receive and hold covers for whatever may turn up. Covers may be addressed care the Postmaster in Mexico City, who will return them to you if you send international reply coupons to cover the postage cost.

Just a tip—reported that the S. S. Ile de France is about to resume Ship-to-Shore service. Postal Bulletin should carry word on it—keep in touch with your post office.On the outgoing Bremen trip, only mail for European points was accepted for the ship-to-shore service.

First night flying on CAM 28 soon. Cachet for the 3 cities affected by the contractors, Universal Air Lines. Covers may go to J. W. Stoutzenberg, Maplewood, Mo., who has again offered his services for the general interest.

Unofficial Flights, Airport Dedications, Etc.

In connection with the last paragraph above, Mr. Stoutzenberg asks me to express his regret that the St. Louis C. of C. decided not to sponsor a cachet in celebration of the endurance flight. All those who sent him covers for this may have them back if they'll forward return postage and envelope; or they may be held for the 1st night flight, if you so notify Mr. Stoutzenberg.

On July 10 the Alaska-Washington Airways of Seattle inaugurated their express and passenger service to Alaska. They carried 125 covers, prepaid as any other package, at $1.00 per. A large oval cachet was applied in magenta. Covers are, of course, unstamped, but, I have seen them properly backstamped on the 10th both by the post office at Albert Bay, B. C., and that at Juneau, Alaska! A bit unusual, at least.

Trial flights between Pittsburgh and Washington were carried on for about a week a short time ago. An unofficial cachet was applied to covers carried over the first trip.Sioux Falls, S. D., returns covers and says no cachet for the Air fair Sept. 16-21.Waupaca, Wis.—nothing doing, also.Saginaw, Mich., dedicates soon—covers to Jr. C. of C. Western Air Express Terminal at Alhambra postpones dedication till September, so you can still get in covers—to E. J. Fluke, 117 W. 9th St., Los Angeles. Grinnell, Iowa, Oct. 18, 19, 20—covers to C. of C. or C. S. George.Ellensburg,

Appreciate Your Stamps

By Max Schachter.

My first contact with stamps came when a friend offered me some of his duplicates so that I might become a companion collector. After a while the boy moved from my neighborhood, and I lost my album with all my stamps, but a few valuable ones which were not in the album, and for a time, my interest in stamps ceased. A few years later, an interesting commemorative reminded me that there was such a hobby as stamp collecting. This, coupled with an illness which made my days long and lonely, caused me to once again take up stamps. The pangs of loneliness were forgotten in the interest and entertainment afforded me by my few remaining stamps. They became the nucleus of my collection of today. Thank goodness my illness is a thing of the past, but it has left me with a desire to remain a life collector.

Junior Dictionary

Rajnandgaon.—A feudatory state in the central provinces of India, which has an area of 905 square miles and a population of about 130,000. It issued its own postage stamps in 1890, but they continued in use but a few years, for in July, 1895, the State postal service was taken over by the Imperial authorities.

Rajpeepla.—A small district on the Deosatra Hills in Baroda, India, which issued stamps of its own in 1880. They became obsolete in 1886, when the Imperial authorities took over the postal service.

Raj Service.—An overprint found on certain Indian stamps. They were used by the Public Works Department of Jeypore and the overprint seems to have been more in the nature of a preventive of theft than as a mark to distinguish the stamps as a special issue for the State. The labels are, therefore, more of a private than an official nature.

Raleigh, N. C.—A small town in North Carolina, philatelically famous from the fact that special 5c envelopes were issued by the Postmaster in 1861, just before the general stamps for the Confederate States made their appearance

QUEBEC TERCENTENARY ISSUE

By A. C. LeDuc.

Of all the attractive issues of Canada, the Quebec Tercentenary issue stimulates the greatest interest in Canadian history. This issue came out in 1908, the year of the big tercentenary celebration. This affair commemorated the founding of the city of Quebec by Champlain, and was of international interest, the United States, Great Britain and France having representatives there.

The pictures used are interesting and the shape and color of each stamp is attractive. Four of the values, namely the ½c, 1c, 2c and 7c, are double portraits. The ½c shows the Prince and Princess of Wales of the year 1908, the present King and Queen of Great Britain. The 1c shows Jacques Cartier and Samuel Champlain. The reason for Cartier's portrait is plain enough. In 1534 he took possession of the country in the name of the French king, and in 1535-36 he went up the St. Lawrence River as far as Montreal, spending the winter in Quebec. In 1608, Champlain founded the colony of Quebec.

The 2c stamp shows the portraits of King Edward and Queen Alexandra, while the 7c shows Generals Montcalm and Wolfe. We have all read with interest how Wolfe, the daring British general, defeated Montcalm in 1759 and took Quebec for the English.

The 5c shows a picture of Champlain's house in Quebec. The 10c pictures Quebec as it was in 1700. The 15c shows Champlain leaving for the west, while the 20c pictures Cartier's vessels arriving before Quebec. In the entire set there are eight stamps. They are all the same size and shape, being quite large. Each one is a different picture and each one is interesting.

It Ain't So

These current stamps of the regular issue are misleading. According to them Franklin was "green", Washington was "red", Roosevelt always "blue", and Monroe "yellow." However, they are all "white" underneath.

Philatelic Philosophy

Thou hast a poor collection? It is the best thou couldst do? Then it is the best in the universe, for few there be that have one.

If thou hast not communion with thy stamps in thy chamber; if thou must gloat at the club to be happy, be sure thy prayers are all leaden and will faw down.

As a father knoweth not the faults of his son, so the worthy collector seeth no straight edges.

—Hill Billy.

I've heard a lot about the flight of the bumble-bee. Were any covers carried?

—Chester W. Hodgson.

(Yep, but the senders got stung, Ches. —Ed.)

An Ohio prize fight fan hustled into the P. O. to get some of the Sullivan commemoratives, but hustled out empty handed when he learned they were not issued in honor of the one and only John L.

—Everett Klaas.

When you were behind with your exchangers, and were snowed under with a pile of dealers' approval sheets and books a couple of feet high, and still had approximately a half ton of mission mixture to wade through, did your mother-in-law (who hates stamp collecting like poison) ever walk in on you for a three months' visit?

—Rev. Hiram N. Van Voorhis.

Some like blondes,
Golden-haired vamps;
But I prefer unbleached
Perforated stamps.

Blondes talk, brother,
Blondes flirt a lot,
Blondes want alimony—
Stamps do NOT.

The Post Office ought to boost its wares far more than it does. When are we going to have a Stamp Week? Would not the public be stirred by such a slogan as "Stick More Stamps?" There is nothing wrong with the goods; all they want is pushing. Here is a Punch suggestion:—

"It's such a bother to select
A present, is it not?
So at the Post Office inspect
Some tasteful gifts we've got.
May we suggest as always nice
A book of stamps at either price?"

Express Mail

In the American Philatelist for August, Mr. F. S. Eaton has a most interesting article devoted to the letters carried by the early Express Mail. He mentions that the earliest American Express Mail of which philatelic items exist, is that of 1837.

This method of carrying mail was established by Act of Congress, approved July 2, 1836, and section 39 of this Act reads as follows:

"In case the postmaster general shall deem it expedient to establish an express mail, in addition to the ordinary mail, on any of the post roads in the United States, for the purpose of conveying slips from newspapers in lieu of exchange newspapers, or letters, other than such as contain money, not exceeding ½ ounce in weight, marked 'Express Mail,' and public despatches, he shall be authorized to charge all letters and packets carried by such express mail with triple the rates of postage to which letters and packets, not free, may be by law subject, when carried by the ordinary mails."

Mr. Eaton states that a considerable saving in time was effected by sending letters by the express mail, and goes on to tell us of numerous routes then in existence. Those covers that he has seen all bear the "Express Mail" marking, in manuscript, together with the triple rate of 75c.

I have recently come into possession of a further cover, carried by Express, showing a printed marking, in addition to the manuscript. The letter in question was mailed from Milledgeville, Ga., on June 12, and bears a circular round postmark in red of that date. The letter shows us that the year is 1838. The communication which is addressed to Washington City, shows in addition to the stamped Milledgeville postmark, the word "EXPRESS" and "PAID" in red, and evidently these postmarks were applied at the same time, being in the same shade of red. In addition, there is a two-line marking in manuscript reading—"E. D. of Geo.—Express Mail." The first line evidently refers to the eastern district of Georgia. The price paid for carrying the letter, namely, 75c, is indicated in manuscript in red ink.

In recent months, I have had the opportunity of inspecting quite a good number of prestamp covers and it seems that almost every one carries a story of its own. Other unusual pieces will be mentioned in this column at a future date.

Boston Wants Stamp

Mr. Samuel Rosenberg sends us a clipping from a Boston paper in which we learn that Congressman John W. McCormack has requested a special postage stamp commemorating the three hundredth anniversary of Boston. In addition, he wants a special postmark, so that all mail going out of Massachusetts will bear a cancellation advertising the tercentenary celebration of that city. We are told that Congressman McCormack has beseeched the Postmaster General since last March to issue such a stamp, but he has not as yet met with any success. The fact that a special stamp has been issued in honor of the Edison Jubilee, as well as other special stamps of possibly less importance, has only served to increase the indignation of Mr. McCormack. It is stated that he will make further efforts to have such a stamp appear and if not successful through appealing to the Post Office Department, will introduce a bill in Congress. Numerous other bills have been introduced in Congress from time to time and they usually die a natural death in the Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads, unless the Postmaster General feels inclined to recommend issue.

When we were endeavoring to have the "Valley Forge" stamp issued, we could make little headway in getting it through this Committee, against the wishes of the Postmaster General, although the Chairman and two of the other members were of the Pennsylvania Delegation who had requested the issue. It was only after getting the consent of the Postmaster General that the stamp finally appeared.

Revenues

Mention has been made on several occasions of the fact that certain current revenues are now appearing perforated ten and there is no doubt that many other varieties that have not been noted are now in the hands of collectors.

Mr. John N. Luff reports the $10 Documentary overprinted "Stock Transfer" among others, so that our list today as known includes the following, all perforated ten. In giving them year dates, reference is made to the perforated 11 se-

ANNOUNCEMENT

The recent death of J. C. Morgenthau has left all Philately with a great sense of loss.

That the business which he created should also be allowed to lapse seemed to us to be an unnecessary calamity, for his name in business had long stood for ideals of competency and fair dealing of the highest order, a service and a knowledge freely given to all.

Therefore we have resolved to carry on in the name of J. C. Morgenthau & Co. the work that he did for so many years, and thus to do our part to keep his memory fresh amongst us, and the very much-needed work he did still available to Philately.

UNDER THE BUSINESS NAME OF

J. C. MORGENTHAU & CO.

Subsidiary of the Scott Stamp & Coin Co.

We will continue to carry on his auction business along the lines that he set down. The firm of J. C. Morgenthau & Co. will carry no stock of any kind. Its business will consist entirely of auctions and private sales and service in buying or selling on commission only.

THE DANZIG EXHIBITION

Medals Awarded C. W. Hennan of Chicago and Hans Lagerloef, N. Y. C.

Not much has been heard here of the Danzig Exhibition, and apparently there was no effort made by the organisers to secure any support from Great Britain. Had things been otherwise I should have been glad of a good excuse for paying a visit to the interesting Free City. The exhibition appears to have been well managed and the official catalogue is a handsome book, beautifully printed on toned paper. I see no English exhibitor in the list and only a couple or so of French entries. There are several from the U. S. A. My old friend, Mr. Nils Strandell, B.A., of Stockholm, was made president of the Jury on which Austria, Germany and Poland were represented.

The special prizes given by the Senate of the Free City were awarded as follows:—

Gold State Medals.—Woldemar Ruberg, Danzig, Danzig Collection; Dr. Albert Pauli, Djursholm, Sweden Collection. Silver State Medals.—R. Lerche, Naumberg, German East Africa in the world war; E. Becker, Tilsit, Memel; Jos. Goldberger, Danzig, brochure on Danzig postal history.

Among other collectors who received gold medals were Kurt-Grönke (Danzig), H. Starosk (Baden), Blümel (Wenden), E. R. Hellman (Finland). Awards to American exhibitors were: Clarence Hennan, Chicago, silver-gilt medal for his collection of proofs of Holland and Colonies; Hans Lagerloef, New York, silver for Monaco, and another for Bolivia.

The set of three stamps sold exclusively at the Danzig Exhibition post office are superior in design and general attractiveness to the average run of exhibition issues. They are in a design by Herr A. Buchholz, of Danzig, whose earlier designs included the elaborate arms type of 1921, the charity stamps of 1923, the second air stamp design, and others. The new stamps are bi-coloured, with a reproduction of a statue of St. George and the Dragon in the centre in black. They bear no mention of the exhibition.—Stamp Lover.

NEW AUSTRIAN STAMPS

Quoted from an Austrian paper:—

"The Austrian postage stamps at present in circulation will shortly be replaced by new ones. Active preparations are being made to produce them in the New Year. The execution of the new stamps will be entirely different from the present stamps—no expressionless portraits as before. They will show landscapes with the value in the corners. As Austria is a poor country now, dependent upon the visitation of foreigners, the new stamps may help to attract visitors. The new stamps have had a predecessor in the pictorial post cards.

"Charity stamps will also be issued in the New Year. The postal administration was prejudiced against charity stamps as several issues have had but ill success, but the Hainisch issue was more successful and has given a new confidence. The choice of subject causes difficulty as, after Dr. Hainisch, it is not possible to find a personage as popular as the first President."—Stamp Collecting.

"FALLEN TIMBERS" STAMP

The new commemorative stamp issued in honor of the "Battle of Fallen Timbers" went to press the morning of Aug. 6. Four plates were used, 19,825, 19,827, 19,829 and 19,830. There will be eight plates for the entire issue, running from 19,824 to 19,831 inclusive. It is probable that the stamps will be given first day sale in connection with the A. P. S. convention at Minneapolis.

OLD ORCHARD TO PARIS

Stamp Collecting says that there 100 covers carried across the Atlant the three French airmen, Messrs. lant, Lefevre, and Lotti, on the aero "Yellow Bird" with a special black re gular air mail cachet worded "1st Fr Transatlantic Flight, Assolant, Lef Lotti, Old Orchard—Paris." The c are postmarked "Old Orchard, June 9 a. m. Maine," and received the Sp Comillas postmark of June 14th.

It appears that the covers were ins ciently stamped, as upon arrival at P 2 francs postage due was charge each cover, and the postage due st was cancelled "Bourget Aviation, 16-6/29. Seine."

We would be pleased to have our readers glance over their collection and stock and see if any other denominations can be added. In looking over my own stock, I noted several that had escaped my attention, although they have possibly been in stock for many months.

Canal Zone

Mr. R. S. Carter kindly sends a first-day cover on July 1st, from the Zone, showing the new 12c and 50c stamps, which were placed on sale on that day. The cover bears postmark of Fort Davis, C. Z., and Mr. Carter writes that this post office was also established on the same day. The cancellation applied to the stamps, consists of two small concentric circles in magenta with the usual type of registered postmark in the same color.

In the vacation absence of Mr. Smith we quote these new issue items from Whitfield King & Co.'s Bulletin:—

Brunei.—The new 4c orange stamp has arrived, and we are informed that the stock of the old colour, claret, is no longer obtainable at the Post Office.

China. — Another new set of commemorative stamps has been issued, this time to the memory of Dr. Sun Yat Sen, who was the first President of the Republic, and whose remains were embalmed and interred in a wonderful mausoleum near Nanking City. There are four denominations, 1, 4, 10 cents and $1, all of the same design showing an illustration of the late President's last resting place. These stamps have also been overprinted for Manchuria, Turkestan and Yunnan, and we hope to be able to distribute the four sets as soon as our supplies come to hand. We are informed that new Air Mail stamps are to be issued shortly showing the "Blue Heaven and White Sun," which is the symbol of the Nationalist Government; the denominations are to be 15, 30, 45, 60 and 90 cents.

Danzig.—A set of three stamps has been issued in connection with the International Philatelic Exhibition, held in Danzig this month, the denominations and colors being as follows: 5pf green and black, 15 pf red and black, 25pf blue and black. The stamps were sold at double face value, the additional charge going towards the Exhibition expenses. The stamps are beautifully engraved, showing a view of the historic Neptune's Fountain. The denomination is shown in the upper corners, whilst at the base is inscribed "Freie Stadt Danzig"; curiously enough there is nothing on the stamps to show that they have been issued in connection with the Philatelic Exhibition.

Denmark. — Three new Charity stamps are to be issued this month for the benefit of the Danish Cancer Fund. The denominations are: 10, 15 and 25 ore, to be sold at 15, 20 and 30 ore respectively, the additional charge going towards the fund.

Fiji. — In a recent consignment of stamps from this Colony the 2/6 and 5/- denominations have arrived in new shades, the 2/6 stamp is printed in grey-black on pale blue paper from plate 13, whilst the old shade is printed in deep black on a more bluish paper from plate 11. The 5/- stamp comes on a deep orange paper, whilst the old one is on pale yellow. We can supply the new shades at 3/3 and 6/6 each, and the old shades at 4/- and 8/- each.

Jamaica.—We are officially informed that no more 3/- stamps are in stock at the Post Office, and that this denomination is to be discontinued.

Kenya.—We are informed that the 75c was withdrawn from use on the 1st of June owing to this denomination being of very little use.

Norway. — The 2 skilling orange stamp of 1867, type "4" in our catalogue, has again been utilized for the purpose of creating a provisional, this time it has been surcharged "14 ore."

Sierra Leone.—A further printing of the 3d stamps has been made and this time they are quite a different shade to those previously received. We now have three distinct shades of these stamps, first printing, pale blue, plate 11; second printing, deep blue, plate 16; third printing, bright blue, plate 21.

South Africa. — The Official stamps have now arrived. The ½d, 2d and 6d show the second overprint without the full stops after the words "Official" and "Offisieel," the ½d and 6d reading downwards and the 2d reading upwards; the latter denomination is on the pictorial issue, the King George stamps of this denomination with the Official overprint being out of issue. The 1d stamp is of the first printing showing the overprint reading upwards and with full stops after the words "Official" and "Offisieel," the next printing of this value will probably be the same as the ½d.

South West Africa. — We are informed on very good authority, although not official, that when the existing stocks of the overprinted stamps are exhausted no more will be issued and that ordinary South African stamps will be used in that territory. If this information should prove to be correct the market in South West African stamps should be worth watching during the next few months.

Sweden.—It was decided early this year to replace the current stamps between 15 ore and 50 ore with a new issue showing a portrait of King Gustav; the 40 ore stamp has just appeared and no doubt the others will follow in due course.

Syria.—Four new denominations of Air Post stamps have been issued by overprinting the current issue with an aeroplane device, 50c, 1 piastre, 15 piastres on 25 piastres, and 25 piastres. These stamps have also been overprinted for Alaouites and Lebanon Republic, and in addition a 50c on 75c stamp has been issued for Lebanon Republic. In the case of the 25 piastres Lebanon Republic we are informed that only 5,000 have been issued, and only 3,000 of the 15 piastres on 25 piastres.

JULY SUBSCRIPTION RECORD

We announced that we should merge July and August subscriptions, but so good a showing has been made in July that we shall take the space necessary to give the details. We are not, however, adding the ones and the twos that have been sent, but will hold these for our August total.

The Hawkeye Stamp Co. with a total of 30 subscriptions, has a clear lead over all its competitors. The Johnson Stamp Co. following with 17, and the Kolar Co. with 13. We desire to mention the work done by two new coöperators, Eugen LeBlanc and W. D. Peer. The following secured six or more subscribers during July, one of the slowest months of the year:

PRECANCELLED STAMPED ENVELOPES

mourn long over the good things that are born to blush unseen, what a lot of gray hair we'd get!

The Washington, Indiana, comes in three varying types on both the oval and round dies of the 1c manila wrappers. They were used in great quantities by a circus which wintered (and perhaps still winters) at Washington, and are quite common, either entire or cut square.

Milwaukee has used two such types, one large capitals without bars or lines, the other shown above. The former I have never seen, the latter was recently used on the 1½c wrapper by a Business College there, I believe. It is my impression that this latter one is not especially scarce.

The Virginia, Minnesota, futurist design was used on a size 13 1c white oval die. It has an interesting history, but I am not sufficiently conversant with the details to attempt to repeat it here. It is called among collectors the "Barber Shop" envelope. All I can give is the inscription on its face. In the upper left hand corner in medium size lower case is found, "You will be doing Your Friends and Customers a favor if you will hand them one of these cards". At the bottom, in one line of large caps, "Barber Shop (then an arrow pointing upward to indicate space for street address), Detroit, Mich.", in this case. If I ever get all the details of this envelope straight, I'll be glad to give them. Can you help out?

There are two types of Federalsburg envelopes, but they are very common, having been used by the Stowell Printing Company in mailing out notices to A. P. S. members.

This article makes no pretense to completeness. It covers only those envelopes in the writer's collection, and the Virginia, very kindly loaned me by Dr. H. P. Hoskins, and the Deer Lodge, by Mr. W. G. Bateman. If you know of or have other specimens that should be listed in this category, send them in with all information connected with them, and we'll put them in the list of very scarce and desirable precancelled items. No collector of this kind of precancelled envelopes will ever be overburdened with the number he has.

[We regret to say that one of the Carrollton and the Virginia and Bismarck types cannot be reproduced in type.—MAN. ED.]
